Cuban Bishop: 'I Didn't Say To Kill Them'

By JIM BISHOP
Herald Columnist

HAVANA, Cuba—The sun came straight down on the little square like a hot lid. It stilled the deep green leaves of the umbrella trees and the palms drooped with their arms at their sides.

They shouted in the heat and ran bases and each side had seven outfielders. Behind them stood the old Iglesia de Cerra. This is the Church of the Country. The stone is gray with age. In the dark cool of the doorway, the little man watched and smiled.

He is Alfredo Monsignor Muller, auxiliary bishop of Havana, the man who was quoted as saying that the execution of the Batista officers "is necessary."

He is 58, almost blond, and speaks confusing English.

He is one of the happiest men I have met. What makes him happy is that he was born in this poor parish, and he has lived to see himself become the bishop of the area.

I introduced myself and he said "Oh, yes" as though he knew the name. This was a courtesy.

He led me up the alley in the sun to his small, simple study. He motioned me to one of the two rockers and asked his secretary to bring us a small Cuban coffee.

It was served in tiny cups with gold rims and it was thick and hot and sweet. He spoke between the kissing sips, the words coming slowly, selectively, with spaces for thinking.

"I deed not say," he said with little jabs of the index finger, "ees necessary. De church Catolica is not for — how you say?—capital crime."

"Capital punishment," I said.

"No, no. Puneeshment is sometimes necessary. Like preeson. You know what ees preeson? Sometimes bad man must go away until he die. Preeson. No libertad. But to keel, to shoot de man, that is against Church Catolica. De reporters from United States, they mix up, they mix up my words" — he pointed to his chest—"you comprehend?"

"Yes," I said. He kept smiling politely. "You think that life imprisonment is sometimes necessary, but not execution."

The smile died. "Empreesonment? What is thees word?"

"Never mind," I said. "I understand. Tell me, is the new government Communist?"

The boyish grin came back. "You"—he pointed tentatively at my chest—"should know dat in Cooba Communism never een preponderance. Castro not Communist."

"Batista said he thought you were his friend. Was he a good man?"

The bishop thought about this. "I marry heem maybe twelf year ago. He not vary good man for Cooba. Is not very good Catolica too. Senora Batista, yes. Not him. Castro is better man as him. Mucho."

We finished the tiny coffees.

The old boards creaked underfoot. He led the way out. The boys saw him this time and stopped playing ball.

"De church," he said to me over the sea of brown and black faces, "always pardone. Never keel." He extended his hand. I took it. "When you home," he said softly, "you weel please to do de favor for me to say a prayer for me."

"Sure," I said. "Sure" . . .

Jukebox Tycoons Take 5th

Probers Eye Hood Tieups

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senate racket probers ran into a barrage of Fifth Amendment pleas Wednesday in questioning alleged underworld figures about their tieups with the coin machine business.

The non-talking witnesses were John Vitale of St. Louis, Frank Zito of Springfield, Ill., Mike Genovese of Gibsonia, Pa., and Joseph Salardino of Denver, Colo.

The committee is attempting to show that hoodlums have muscled into the lucrative jukebox-coin machine industry, often in connivance with corrupt union officials.

The four witnesses, who said they might incriminate themselves if they answered questions, were described by Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy as racketeers with long criminal records.

A fifth witness, Raymond Patriarca, Providence, R.I., rattled off answers to all questions. He acknowledged being a partner in a cigaret vending machine business in Providence.

Zito and Genovese both refused to tell whether they had attended a meeting at Apalachin, N.Y., which police raiders called a criminal convention.

Genovese refused, among other things, to talk about whether he had been involved in gun-running to Cuba during the Castro revolt.

Thee Italian-born Zito, 66, who spoke broken English, got into a hassle for saying he "refused" to answer questions.

Chairman John McClellan (D., Ark.) called Zito's replies disrespectful and ordered him to say "decline" instead, but Zito said he couldn't pronounce it.

"You'll have to excuse me," he said. "I recline (sic) to answer . . . I refuse to recline to answer." And he pronounced it "recline" from there on.

Zito refused to tell anything about his dealing with two labor unionists, Joseph Glimco of Teamsters Local 555 in Chicago, and Fred Tom Smith, also known as Juke Box Smitty, of Chicago Local 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Kennedy produced documents which, he said, showed that Glimco and Smith had financial interests in a juke box-coin machine firm known as the Automatic Phonograph Machine Co. of Illinois.

He also produced a copy of a letter from Zito dated in 1948 to a "Dear Mike" of the A.M.I. Phonographs, Chicago, stating that "we have received our charter for a union" and asking for copies of the bylaws and contracts used by Mike.

Kennedy said Mike is Michael Spagnola of Chicago.

The flight, airline spokesmen said, will be nonstop over the 1,600 mile London-to-Moscow route.

Israel Accepts Reid as Envoy

The New York Times Service

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector —Israel has accepted Ogden R. Reid, former president and editor of The New York Herald Tribune, as the next U.S. ambassador to Israel.

The State Department, following diplomatic procedure, submitted Reid's name to the Israel government for agreement. Reid's appointment still must be approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Transport Union Threatens Tieup

Strike Voted at PAA; Could Come March 1

Company Cites Cooling-Off Law

By CHARLES TAYLOR

The Transport Workers Union announced Wednesday some 7,000 employes of Pan American World Airways have authorized a systemwide strike "on or before" March 1, threatening Miami's tourist economy with a second major airline shutdown.

The union, however, did not say whether or when a strike would be called, and the airline held out hope of a fact-finding board being appointed by President Eisenhower in a last-minute effort to reach agreement.

Pan American flies some 2,000 passengers a day in and out of Miami, and a shutdown of the huge airline would be a severe jolt to Greater Miami's tourist season economy, still recovering from a 38-day Eastern Air Lines strike in November and December.

A strike would put some 8,000 Pan American maintenance workers, ground service employes, stewards and stewardesses out of work—about 3,000 of them based in Miami and another 1,500 at the crucial Cape Canaveral Missile Test Center.

The airline employs about 20,000 union and non-union workers throughout its system, with 4,750 in Miami and a payroll of close to 22 million dollars a year.

John Gibson, head of the Dade County Development Department, said that a Pan American shutdown might be just as much of an economic blow as the Eastern strike.

Gibson pointed out that other airlines were available to carry passengers during the EAL shutdown. But he said that since PAA is the only major American airline flying to Latin America, many of the 2,000 passengers a day would be entirely lost to Miami.

He said a strike would be "an extreme blow" to the airline — and to Miami's airline industry — because of the tough competitive situation Pan American now faces in Latin America.

Pan American would not say whether it would close down operations all over its ocean-spanning system in the event of a TWU strike, but a union spokesman here said, "They would have to halt operations. They couldn't fly safely without us."

The airline, which has some 150 planes that fly routes over the Atlantic, Pacific and to Latin America, warned that any strike before March 1 would violate the 30-day cooling-off period provided by the Railway Labor Act.

The 30-day period began Jan. 31, when mediation between the TWU and PAA ended without a settlement over issues of a new contract. The old TWU contract with Pan American ended Dec. 1.

The union in Miami said, however, that if Pan American violates the "status quo" of work-

Cuban Peso Rate to Be Maintained

By Herald Wire Services

HAVANA, Cuba — Cuba will maintain its peso at parity with the dollar despite depletion of gold and dollar reserves during Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship, the president of the National Bank said Wednesday.

Felipe Pazos, in a report to Provisional President Manuel Urrutia, expressed confidence the reserves soon will be built up. Sugar export prospects are good and reorganization of the government should effect savings, he asserted.

In the same vein, Urrutia emphasized there is no plan to curtail earnings of foreign concerns which have been a target of criticism from some other revolutionary leaders. The American stake is estimated to total more than a billion dollars.

The revolutionary government also pledged Wednesday that action toward reopening luxury gaming casinos will be taken at the Friday session of the Council of Ministers.

In view of the pledge, the Gastronomic Workers Union postponed a strike scheduled for this morning in all entertainment centers, including hotels and restaurants, in support of demands for the reopening of the casinos.

Blast Kills 5 French Miners

METZ, France — (UPI) — A fire damp explosion killed five miners in a coal mine in eastern France where 11 miners lost their lives last November.

The accident happened in the St. Charles Mine in Petite Rossell Coal basin near the Saar border.

Mr. Nixon, Find My Boy Friend . . .

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. —(AP)— Like so many of those summer friendships, this one seemed to have fizzled. The boy didn't write — until, that is, the girl located him by writing to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The principals, each 12, are Lynne Smith, Trenton, N.J., and Cort Kloke, 12, eighth-grader at South Pasadena Junior High.

Cort let it be known that he knew the vice president.

His mother, Mrs. Eloise Kloke, was on duty in Washington with the President's Committee on Government Contracts, of which Nixon is chairman.

Instead of returning to the capital at summer's end, Cort came here. His mother had been appointed West Coast regional director of the contracts committee.

Recently the vice president received this note:

"Mr. Nixon: I am a person who believes in getting right to the point. First of all I have a boy friend I met at day camp. His name is Cort Kloke (you know him). He didn't write to me when he had promised to.

"Could you send me the address of Mrs. Kloke's section where she works?

"Sincerely,
Miss Lynne Smith
413 Saxican Dr.
Trenton, N.J."

The vice president's staff forwarded the note to Mrs. Kloke here. Marilyn Matthews of the staff wrote, "I thought you'd know better than I how to handle it."

Mrs. Kloke says she decided Cort must have elaborated on the one-handshake meeting he had with her boss. She suggested Cort write to Lynne.

"Things kept getting in the way," he explained Wednesday between practice sessions with his basketball outside their home.

His letter to Lynne has not been disclosed. He got an airmailed reply Tuesday. It included Lynne's photograph, inscribed:

"'To Cort—with all my luck."

Protesting Parents Upset Auto

NEW YORK (AP) — An angry crowd of parents, blocking a Queens intersection in their demand for a traffic light, Wednesday overturned a car that tried to breach their barricade — and injured a diplomatic official.

Although the demonstrators obviously didn't know it at the time, the driver of the car was Georges Salomon, 30, first secretary for the Haitian delegation to the U.N. He said his left leg was hurt.

However, he refused medical aid at the scene. His damaged automobile was towed away. Three men were arrested on charges of malicious mischief.

The uproar was the latest in a two-year campaign by parents who have been insisting — in vain — that the intersection needs a traffic light.

Salomon, of South Jamaica, sought to drive through the blockade of people. Police said he spoke little English, and when he seemed oblivious to the group's protests, they overturned his car.

55 Uninjured As Plane Sinks

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — (AP) — An Argentine passenger seaplane carrying 55 persons hit an object in the harbor here Wednesday and sank in six minutes. All 49 passengers and the crew of six were saved. No injuries were reported.

Nearby boats picked up the 55, including some passengers who had jumped from the plane into the water.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The State Department press office reported Wednesday that Secretary John Foster Dulles had a restful day at Walter Reed Hospital and "is in a cheerful mood." Dulles is to undergo an operation for hernia.

2 Trawlers Disappear In Atlantic

HALIFAX, N.S. — (UPI) — A Russian fishing vessel gave searchers shortlived hope Wednesday that they had found one of two trawlers that disappeared with 48 men aboard in the midst of the winter's worst weather in the iceberg-studded North Atlantic.

A U.S. Navy plane reported sighting an overturned trawler about 60 miles from the point where the Icelandic trawler Judi radioed an SOS last Saturday that it was threatened with capsizing by a top-heavy load of ice and towering seas.

The Coast Guard cutter Castle Rock veered immediately toward the position of the sighting and reported that the "overturned trawler" is a Russian fishing vessel and was not in trouble.

A Newfoundland fishing boat, The Blue Wave, with 17 men aboard, also was missing in the same general area of the North Atlantic, south of the spot where a Danish passenger-cargo ship hit an iceberg and disappeared with 95 persons aboard 12 days ago.

Two other vessels also reported trouble from the bitter cold, freezing spray and gale-force winds that churned up mountainous waves.

Tremor Hits In Arizona

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. — (AP) — A jolt shook the Flagstaff area Wednesday morning, about 15 hours after a similar tremor rocked the Texas Panhandle and southeastern New Mexico.

Homes in all sections of the northern Arizona community bucked and swayed. Dishes rattled in the cupboards.

The Texas tremor, accompanied by two distinct blasts, shook an area from 100 miles northeast of Amarillo to Roswell, N.M., 200 miles southwest. Flagstaff is about 750 miles west of the Texas Panhandle.

Blower Blast Kills Four Men

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J. — (UPI) — A giant air blower exploded on a testing stand in a machine shop Wednesday, killing four men and injuring 28 others.

The blast shattered the turbine-powered blower and blew out the east end of a block-and-a-half-long building at the Ingersoll-Rand Co. plant and showered parts of the roof onto a highway about a quarter of a mile away.

We're Cheaper, More Courteous--and Warmer

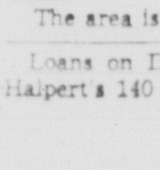
By LUCIA LEWIS

What's Florida like this year in the eyes of a tourist?

Lucia Lewis, travel editor of The Chicago Daily News, spent several days in the South Florida area and found things considerably different from last year. Here are her impressions.

There will be no more winter. Not here, anyway.

This is the kind of weather Florida brags about — and cried for last winter.



LUCIA

It's clear and sunny, temperatures range from 75 to 80, the breeze from the ocean is just right — refreshing but so balmy that you don't need a wrap even at night, unless you simply must show off that mink.

The area is swinging into its peak season now and prices will be at their highest in February and March. But Miami Beach is in a chastened mood and this looks like "Be Gentle to Tourists" year.

Last year's miserable weather which weaned many habitues to other areas, the airline strikes of early winter, new developments in other states and the Caribbean islands, all have taught that you can't shear a sheep too close.

In short, you get excellent value in room rates, with some attractive gimmicks added.

Many hotels are swinging to the "modified American" plan which includes breakfast and dinner with your rate. For two in a room, the really posh glitter places get $16 to $22 a day a person, varying with location of the room.

If you don't want to be a captive diner and eat in one place all the time, the rates range from around $14 to $18 or $20 per person. So it almost pays to take the modified American plan even if you eat elsewhere occasionally.

A third person in the room gets in for around $8 a day European or $10 a day with meals. Many places have half rates for children.

Now if you think this leaves you not knowing where your third meal is coming from you would be calorie-wise not to look for it. A reasonably late breakfast is a banquet in these parts that sees you cosily up to dinner time.

Get-acquainted cocktail parties, the elimination of irritating extras like charges for cushioned mats to keep you from getting corrugations while sunning on a chaise lounge, no required minimum at night clubs, lots of free entertainment, more parking lots at low rates so you don't pay a doorman every time, and many more courtesies generally make the Beach a lot more pleasant than it was in the dizzy and sky-high season of 1957.

The rates are not peanuts, of course, but there are hundreds of lower priced hotels, resorts and apartments all over town.

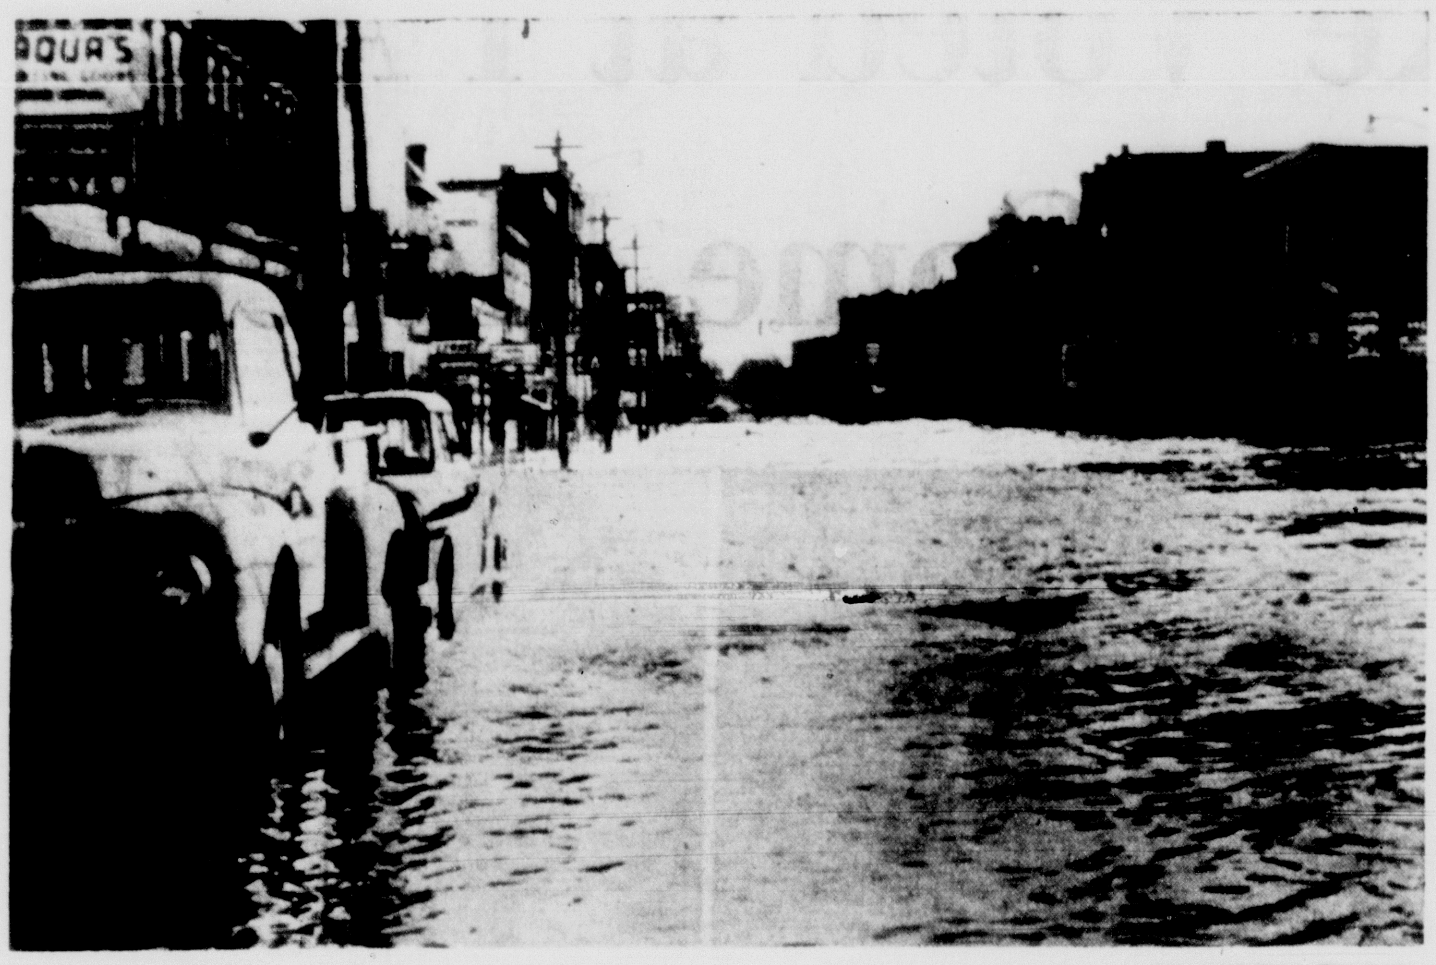
Flooding Wabash Smashes Into Cities and Hamlets



Associated Press Wirephoto

Main St. in Findlay, Ohio, Is Awash With Blanchard River Flood Waters

. . . it takes seven miles of driving to reach dry spot five blocks down street

Storm's Sweeping Into East

PERU, Ind. —(UPI)— Ice-jammed flood waters on their worst rampage in 46 years smashed their way into cities and hamlets along the famed banks of the Wabash Wednesday night.

More floods, spawned by four-inch rains and the second mammoth storm of the winter, invaded Ohio cities. Close to 4,000 persons were homeless in the two states.

The storm which hit the mid-continent with a deadly combination of floods, tornadoes, blizzards and ice was busy in the East, raking New England with its worst snow storm of the season.

The weather furies concentrated on the Wabash River town of Peru, noted as the home town of song writer Cole Porter and the site of the Bunker Hill Air Force Base.

The Wabash, backed up by a 10-mile ice jam downstream, burst through sandbag levees on both its banks at Peru. The waters swirled into the south portion of the city, where National Guardsmen and Bunker Hill airmen evacuated 1,000 persons, many of them by boat.

Temperatures slid to 26 degrees below zero at International Falls, Minn., and were well below zero from Montana and Wisconsin into Nebraska. Wisconsin dug out of a paralyzing 10-inch blizzard, while Chicago continued a week-long battle against ice which slicked the city's sidewalks and caused more than 1,600 injuries.

Thousands of school children continued to enjoy vacations through the frozen storm belt.

Major flood threats arose on Indiana's Wabash River and the swollen Sandusky River in Ohio. More flood dangers, however, built up in Michigan and Illinois.

In Indiana, the Wabash was at its highest point in 46 years. The crest moved slowly across north central Hoosierland, forcing 400 families — roughly 1,600 persons — to flee their homes.

At Logansport, Ind., the next city in the crest's path, five families were evacuated, portions of the business district were flooded, and Civil Defense crews worked around the clock to strengthen the levees.

Many Logansport homes were without heat and the city's schools were closed. Georgetown, eight miles downstream from Logansport, was cut off from the outside world. Sixty residents were evacuated.

The crest was not expected to hit West Terre Haute until Saturday, but residents already were asking Gov. Harold Handley for emergency shipments of 40,000 sandbags to repair a damaged levee. Throughout the state, evacuations were reported in at last 10 counties.

In Ohio, fighting its second major flood in less than a month, an ice jam was dynamited to take pressure off the beleaguered city of Fremont.

Garbage Pickups 4 Days Apart

Garbage pickups every four days for approximately 80,000 homes in unincorporated areas of Dade County will be instituted within the next month.

Harris N. Buckner, superintendent of the Waste Division of the Dade County Public Works Department, said Wednesday the change in schedule already underway will replace a once-every-seven-days collection.

The change is being brought about without an increase in the division's 80 trucks or 450 workers, Buckner said. It's mostly been a problem of better organization, he added.

The residential fee collected by the county is $12 a year. As announced two months ago, there is a possibility of an increase which may be reflected on the April quarterly billing, Buckner said.

It now costs approximately $18 a year to service each home and the question of how much the increase can be, and how much of the cost the county can continue to absorb, will shortly come before the Metro Commission, Buckner said.

Graham Arrives In Sydney

SYDNEY, Australia — (AP) — American Evangelist Billy Graham arrived in Sydney and said he hadn't come to talk about the national sins of Australia.

"We in America have our own sins and plenty of them," he said. "We have come to remind you in Australia of some old truths."

Graham flew here after recuperating in Honolulu from an eye ailment. He opens a 16-week crusade through Australia and New Zealand Sunday night at Melbourne Stadium, which holds 11,000.

Kennedy Gets Applause

By WILLIAM M. BLAIR
The New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower carried his "live within your means" fight into the camp of an enemy Wednesday.

He told the country's rural electric cooperatives their achievements could be torpedoed and the free enterprise system destroyed by continued reliance upon federal subsidies they and other groups now receive.

The President was followed to the same platform by a Democratic presidential hopeful, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. He said the administration lacked the leadership that developed the federal rural electrification program.

By contrast with the reception accorded Sen. Kennedy at the annual meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, the President got a cool one. However, nearly 8,000 persons heard the President, while only about 6,000 were there for Kennedy.

Eisenhower received four bursts of applause: One when he entered as the U.S. Marine Band played "Hail to the Chief," one when he was introduced and another as he finished.

He also won a light burst near the end of his 10-minute speech when he told the co-ops he liked to think their program, "which lighted the farm homes of America, will also help to illuminate the path to sound finance, good government and responsible leadership."

Kennedy was interrupted seven times by applause. He pledged Congress "would not go back on our word" in raising interest rates on federal loans to co-ops, the key issue between the administration and the Democrats controlling Congress.

Kennedy asserted that the administration had followed "one consistant theme: Slow down, hold back, stretch out.

"It is not a battle between the 'spenders' and the 'savers' —for REA is a form of saving —saving hours and lives on the farm, saving farms for our nation's needs, and saving and returning to the government every dollar it loans with interest."

Delegates to the meeting were expected to adopt today a resolution condemning the administration's proposal to raise interest rates charged by the REA and urge electric co-ops to get part of their financing from private sources.

The resolution asserts that the administration's proposals would "send the rural electric systems to Wall Street bankers." Another resolution calls for legislation to restore the independence of the REA administrator in the Department of Agriculture and free him from "veto" power by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson on big loans.

Bingo Bill Advances

DENVER —(AP)— The Colorado House of Representatives gave its final approval Wednesday to a bill legalizing bingo and raffles as a veteran legislator called for wide open gambling in the state.

The House action came by a 60-0 vote without debate.

The measure, which permits fraternal, charitable and religious institutions to conduct bingo and raffles, now goes to the Senate for approval. A constitutional amendment for bingo was ratified by Colorado voters Nov. 4.

Attorney Flies to Nye's Aid

A Chicago attorney flew through Miami Wednesday, bound for Cuba to plan the defense of Alan Robert Nye, a Coral Gables flier accused of conspiring to assassinate Fidel Castro.

While the lawyer, Joseph Sullivan, was en route to Havana where Nye is held, a top-ranking Cuban patriot leader said the former Navy pilot's ultimate punishment probably will amount to "being kicked out of Cuba."

Nye, according to the Castro government, has confessed a plot to kill the revolutionary leader for $100,000. Nye has denied the confession, but the rebels say they have tape recordings of the admission, and of his conversation with a U.S. embassy official who advised him to deny the confession and change his story.

Sullivan would not say whether he had been retained by Nye's mother. He said he will meet with government leaders and the prisoner and "decide then how long I will stay and what should be done."

Sullivan, who makes his home at Whiting, Ind., near Chicago, said he is a friend of Nye's mother, Mrs. Daniel Lynch, who sent a personal letter to Fidel Castro seeking mercy for her son.

The "reprieve" from earlier rebel declarations that Nye would be executed for his part in the conspiracy came from Commandante Ernest (Che) Guerva, who led the revolutionary forces in Las Villas province.

Since issuing a parade of conflicting stories and statements, Nye has refused to see newsmen. Guerva said Wednesday that no one will be permitted to see Nye before his trial, except his attorney, his family and officials of the U.S. embassy.

Here's Brief Rundown On PAA Strike Issues

Wages and hours are the main stumbling blocks in the efforts of Pan American World Airways and the Transport Workers Union to reach agreement on a new contract. Other issues have been agreed on except for minor details. Here's a rundown of the two chief issues:

UNION NOW GETTING	COMPANY OFFERS	UNION DEMANDS

The TWU announced in New York that some 7,000 maintenance workers and port stewards had voted four-to-one in favor of a strike. A mail vote among an additional 1,000 flight stewards and stewardesses has not been completed, the union said.

The union said about 90 per cent of eligible workers voted in 11 U.S. cities and at San Juan, Puerto Rico, Honolulu and Wake Island.

They rejected Pan American's offer of a 25-cent-an-hour wage hike over a two-year period, the union said, and voted to authorize the strike. The union negotiating committee recommended the action after collapse of mediation talks in New York.

Central issue in the dispute is the union's demand for a decrease in hours from 40 to 37½ a week, as well as a wage increase. The TWU said it wanted the reduction in working hours — so far not agreed to by the airline — to protect maintenance jobs threatened by the lower maintenance requirements of jet airliners.

The airline said its 40-hour week was "standard throughout the industry," and that its wage increase offer was "on a par with other airlines."

The union said, however, "it isn't enough."

If the union decides to call a strike, the only way to stall it beyond the 30-day cooling-off period would be for the President to appoint a fact-finding board, holding up a strike until the board can make a study and recommendations for a settlement.

A Miami TWU spokesman, however, said he considered this "highly unlikely."

Little Rock Head Sent Troop Plea

Document Shows Urgent Message

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The mayor of Little Rock, Ark., was disclosed Wednesday to have pleaded for the federal troops which President Eisenhower sent there in 1957.

Until now, for all the general public could tell, the bitterly controversial decision was the Eisenhower administration's own idea. It has hurt his party in the South.

The Justice Department released a document covering advice which Herbert Brownell, then the attorney general, gave Eisenhower on what to do in the crisis resulting from opposition in Little Rock to school integration orders.

The opposition, at its worst, included mob violence.

"The immediate need for federal troops is urgent . . . I am pleading to you as President of the U.S. in the interest of humanity, law and order, and the cause of democracy worldwide to provide the necessary federal troops within several hours."

At the time, Mayor Mann refused to confirm or deny that he had requested troops.

Mann was not immediately available Wednesday for questioning on the disclose of his appeal.

There were reports in Little Rock back in those tempestuous days that Mann had sent such a telegram, addressed to Brownell. The Justice Department denied this. The denial was technically true, since the request now is shown to have gone directly to the White House.

The White House press secretary, James C. Hagerty, declined to say why Mann's message was not disclosed at the time. He said:

"You will recall that when I was asked at the time about a report such a message had been received, I said I had no comment but I never denied there was such a message."

Thus Hagerty passed up a chance to explain why the White House has kept silent so long — almost 17 months — in the face of Southern denunciations of Eisenhower as a President who ordered federal troops to the scene of his own motion. Many Southerners contend this was in disregard of states' rights.

One possible explanation, at least for the time when feeling was red hot: Eisenhower wanted to protect Mayor Mann from possible harm, physical or otherwise.

Auto Insurance Hearing Put Off

From Our Capital Bureau

TALLAHASSEE — A hearing on the petition of the National Bureau of Underwriters for an increase in auto liability insurance rates was postponed until 1:30 p.m. Thursday in Tallahassee. It had been scheduled for Wednesday morning.

State Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson said the bureau requested the delay for more time to prepare its case. Larson previously had denied the petition on grounds it did not provide sufficient information.

National Summary

Snow occurred Wednesday morning over the northern and inter-mountain region while rain fell over California with scattered thunderstorms and some hail.

Moderate to heavy amounts of rain were observed over southern half of California.

Except for showers in the Gulf regions and snow flurries near the lee shores of the Great Lakes in portions of Pennsylvania and New York State, fair skies are expected over most of the region from the plains into the east.

A warming trend from the Rockies across the upper Midwest should spread across the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys while in the cold pattern over the east, temperatures are likely to dip to 15 to 20 below zero overnight in upper New England.

Moderate to heavy showers expected over southern California are likely to spread into Arizona while moderate snows spreading over Nevada are expected to contribute locally heavy accumulations in portions of Utah.

Greece, Turkey Agree on Independent Cyprus

Menderes

Karamancis

. . . a toast in champagne

ZURICH, Switzeralnd —(AP)— Greece and Turkey agreed Wednesday on a constitution designed to give independence and peace to the British-ruled island of Cyprus.

Wednesday night their plan for a republic of Cyprus won the eagerly awaited blessing of the British-exiled Greek Orthodox Primate of Cyprus, Archbishop Makarios.

The immediate hope is to end the nearly four years of bloodshed in triangular battles among British, Greek and Turkish forces and guerrillas.

If all goes well, the rival Cypriot communities of Greek and Turk origin may live side by side in peace, sharing responsibilities but keeping their communal identities.

The accord was reached here in hard bargaining between Premiers Constantine Karamanlis of Greece and Adnan Menderes of Turkey. They sealed it with smiles, handshakes and champagne and went their ways to further settle the future of the eastern Mediterranean island bastion of Britain and its half-million people.

Premier Karamanlis flew home to Athens and the suspenseful meeting with Archbishop Makarios. The meeting lasted 80 minutes and both emerged smiling.

After the meeting, Makarios told Athens newsmen:

"The agreement reached lays the foundation for an immediate and final solution to the Cyprus issue considering that Cyprus will become an independent sovereign state.

"The rapprochement of the governments of Greece, and Turkey over the Cyprus issue in a spirit of goodwill and understanding will pave the way to a new period of freedom and welfare both for the Greeks and Turks of Cyprus," he added.

In reply to a question asking for details, he said, "Both the Greek and Turkish governments have pledged themselves not to make any declarations before a set date."

But what he did say and his attitude — he was all smiles — were valuable props for Karamanlis, whose Zurich mission was drawing fire from his Greek political opposition.

On his arrival at Athens airport Wednesday night, Karamanlis was cheered by a crowd of 3,000 to 4,000.

Britain's blessing seemed assured. The reaction in Cyprus initially was reserved; Greek majority Cypriots were awaiting word of the attitude that was expressed late in the night by their archbishop in Athens. Initial reaction in Turkey also seemed reserved.

Archbishop Makarios had been expected to demure over details.

'Take Away My License, We Have Enough Killing'

MEMPHIS — (UPI) — Ruben Goin, 30, who drove for a living for 12 years, has voluntarily given up his driving license.

He explained that his vision is bad and that "we have enough killing on the highway considering everyone is healthy."

"I was downtown and the traffic light looked like . . . well, just a big blur. That's when I decided."

Last October near Jackson, Miss., a car crashed into his tractor-drawn rig killing the automobile's driver and impairing the vision of Goin's left eye.

"If it was just myself, I wouldn't worry," Goin said, "but I might hurt somebody else. So I told them to take my license until I can see right again."

Goin is married and the father of four.

Actress Suin' Mad Over Tummy Scar

By Herald Wire Services

BARBARA

BARBARA NICHOLS, the movie actress, has filed suit against three New York residents for one million dollars in damages for an abdominal scar resulting from an auto accident.

The blonde actress charged in Suffolk County Supreme Court that her earning capacity had been "greatly impaired" by the nine-inch scar which resulted from an operation for removal of her spleen.

The operation was necessary because of injuries received in a July 26, 1957, crash, she said.

The suit was filed against Lavarett S. Miller of Muttontown, N. Y., driver of the car Miss Nichols was in; Ava Miller, owner of the car; and Roland Tetrault, of New York, driver of the other car involved.

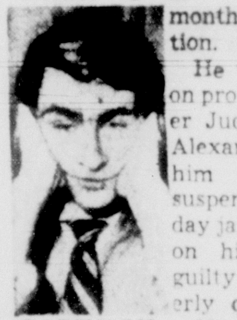
Edward G. Jr. On Probation



ROBINSON

EDWARD G. ROBINSON JR., 26-year-old son of the actor, will have to serve a jail sentence if he violates six months probation.

He was placed on probation after Judge Adolph Alexander fined him $100 and suspended a 30-day jail sentence on his plea of guilty of disorderly conduct.

He was arrested Nov. 21, 1958, in the lobby of the Beverly Hills Hotel on a drunk charge but the complaint was changed to disorderly conduct.

Einstein's Son Wins Award

DR. HANS ALBERT EINSTEIN, son of the late Dr. Albert Einstein, was one of four engineers honored by the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Dr. Einstein, on the staff of the University of California, Berkeley, Calif., was presented a research prize for his "contribution to the knowledge of transportation of sediment in flowing water."

Insurance Firm Ordered to Pay

A lingerie shop in the basement of the Eden Roc Hotel has won a $53,336 judgment against the Monarch Insurance Co. after the shop went into bankruptcy as a result of fire damage the company claimed it was not liable to cover.

The Federal Court jury ruled that the insurance company must pay fire damages, interest and attorneys' fees in the contest of liability on the policy held by the Ro-Ben, Inc., shop.

Fire destroyed the contents of the shop in 1957.

Anna Maria 'Hurt' But She'll Marry

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (AP) — "I love my mother very much," said Anna Maria Alberghetti Wednesday as he and Buddy Bregman made plans for the wedding her mother opposes.

"I'm very deeply hurt that my mother should disapprove. But I love Buddy very much — enough to marry him, despite all these difficulties."

Anna and Buddy

Mrs. Vittoria Alberghetti says she is going to be sick the day her daughter marries the young pianist and musical director, and won't attend the ceremony.

Bregman, a Jew, has been married before.

SEVITSKY

BITTER

Dr. Fabien Sevitzky, named conductor of the University of Miami Symphony Orchestra for the 1959-60 season, will leave Saturday for a six-month musical tour of Italy and South America.

He'll be back in time to start rehearsals at the university early in October, Dr. Sevitzky said as he prepared to leave for the first of two tours of Italy. A South American trip will be sandwiched in between.

"I may drop back in July to see my friends here on my way back from Buenos Aires," he said. "We'll want to discuss what will happen next winter."

Sevitzky will take the symphony reins from John Bitter, dean of music, who will devote his full time to the growing School of Music.

Bitter will coordinate an intensive study of the entire musical program at the university, "with a view to further strengthening our symphony orchestra and further development of our School of Music," said U-M President Jay F. W. Pearson.

Dean Bitter came to Miami in 1940 as conductor of the orchestra and has been with the university ever since, with time out for military service and a three-year European tour.

From 1947 to 1950, he conducted more than 200 concerts in Europe. He returned to the university in 1951 and held the dual post of music dean and symphony conductor.

Dr. Sevitzky came here last year as guest conductor. He was for 18 years mucis director and conductor of the Indianapolis Symphony.

His Italian appearances will begin in Milan next month with an all-Mendelssohn concert. He will appear in Santiago, Chile, and Buenos Aires in the summer and wind up a second Italian trip by conducting opera in Verona.

Loyola Head Will Speak At Brotherhood Dinner

DONNELLY

The Very Rev. W. Patrick Donnelly, S. J., president of Loyola University, New Orleans, will be the speaker at the Seventh Annual Brotherhood Dinner Monday in the Americana Hotel, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The other main feature of the dinner program will be the presentation of Annual Brotherhood Awards to Governor LeRoy Collins, Dade School Board member Anna Brenner Meyers and C. Clyde Atkins.

Father Donnelly replaces the Most Rev. Coleman F. Carroll, Bishop of Miami, who has been called out of the city.

TB Deaths Cut

GENEVA —(UPI)— Deaths caused by tuberculosis dropped roughly 50 per cent from 1952 to 1957, the World Health Organization announced. A report said the drop was attributable mainly to the use of new drugs.

'We Must Disenthrall Ourselves'

Abraham Lincoln: 1809-1959

SEVEN score and ten years ago today a child was born in a Kentucky log cabin who became one of the greatest leaders the world has produced. Abraham Lincoln's fame does not rest on leadership in war, although that leadership was wise, courageous and compassionate. He became the symbol of the American dream of freedom and justice for all. Lincoln's fame rests on an idea.

His ravaged face, his untidy suit of black broadcloth, became a part of this image of the man of sorrows, the man of homely philosophy bearing the burden of humanity. As his great biographer Carl Sandburg said, Lincoln foreshadowed something. "The people took him as a new figure of hope for them. This hope ranged around wider freedom, political and economic, for the common man."

ON this birthday — and an important one, being the 150th — the natural question is how Old Abe would stack up today. The world has changed from the simplicities of the 1860's. But no one can read the words of Lincoln without feeling that what he stood for is more needed today than ever before.

When nuclear fission and mechanical brains and rockets shot past the moon into unimaginable space seem to reduce man to the status of a button pusher, it is more important than ever to assert the dignity of the human mind and the immortality of the human soul. That is what Lincoln did so often and so well.

Lincoln, were he living today, would be just as great. For in his own words he disclosed that he had the capacity to grow; that the future, not the past, is the direction in which mankind must face.

"The dogmas of the quiet past are inadequate to the stormy present," he said in words that ring today as a bell. "We must think anew and act anew. We must disenthrall ourselves."

January's Jobs Were Down

UNEMPLOYMENT in the United States rose to 4.7 million in January, up more than 600,000 from December — an increase "about normal for this time of year," say the Labor and Commerce Departments in a joint report.

However, the January total of unemployment represents about 6 per cent of the labor force. Is the bloom off the trend to economic recovery?

A rule of thumb holds that 5 per cent unemployment is a national danger signal. At his press conference Tuesday President Eisenhower said that recovery was slower in certain areas than anyone liked, but that recoveries characteristically were "spotty."

This is true. It is true also that the December-to-January jump in joblessness was only half as great as the increase for the same period of 1957-58 which sent Congress pelting to the panic button.

Even so, it's disturbing.

For example, in the last quarter of 1958 the gross national product (GNP), or the worth of all goods and services, rose by $14 billion to an annual rate of $453 billion.

Five billion dollars of this, according to the Council of Economic Advisers, represented a pickup of consumption expenditures. Inventory developments accounted for another $5 billion of the rise in the GNP. Housing gained, too.

Thus the picture has lighter hues than employment figures seem to lend it. It may well be, as the current Guaranty Survey suggests, that "we are experiencing 'productivity unemployment' related to rapid labor-saving technological advance, and that, as a result, the unemployment problem may prove very persistent." In other words, jobs may lag behind general business improvements.

WHAT to do about it?

President Eisenhower had before him December unemployment figures when he drafted his 1959 Economic Report. Unlike last year's Report, there were no specific proposals such as liberalized unemployment benefits or wider unemployment insurance coverage.

This year Mr. Eisenhower merely emphasized changes in the Employment Act of 1946 "to make reasonable price stability an explicit goal of federal economic policy, coordinate with goals of maximum production, employment and purchasing power."

In all probability the real significance of the trend and the clue to action — if any — will not be clear until March, the traditional month when jobs pick up. Nevertheless, it is a depressing fact that the January increase in unemployment was the largest for any January since 1941.

Don't Blame It On The Weather

PEOPLE who get pinched for driving around with outdated Florida automobile license tags after the Feb. 20 deadline can blame it on the weather. The alibi won't work, of course. But it is true.

When Gov. LeRoy Collins extended the tag-buying time last winter, he gave weather as the reason. It had been abominable, by usual Florida standards. Crops were wiped out in the fields; citrus was badly damaged.

Those rascals, the tourists, were coming in and heading farther South or back home to get warm. Business was definitely chilled. Tag sales lagged. So the man in Tallahassee decided a little more time was needed for the folk to scrape up the money to exchange for the metal plates.

But not this winter. Everybody knows how wonderful the weather has been. Still, tag sales are lagging, perhaps because too many car owners are reluctant to take time out from soaking up the sun.

The governor doesn't see that as a reason for extending the deadline and he says he isn't going to do it. The weather alibi won't stand up in court this time. And neither will it be an excuse for missing these other deadlines:

Homestead exemption—April 1.
Income tax—April 15.

When Peace Found A Way

THE ISLAND of Cyprus, a piece of blood-bathed, British-owned real estate in the eastern Mediterranean, is going to be an independent republic.

This is the basis of an agreement between Greece and Turkey, speaking for their nationals who have made Cyprus a snakepit of international cussedness for years on end. Though the island is a British colony, its 500,000 residents are either Turkish (one-fifth) or Greek.

For years the Greek Cypriots have insisted that the island join Greece. Turkish Cypriots demanded partition, should Britain withdraw. Time and again British troops had to proceed with the unsavory business of exterminating terrorists — and getting shot up in return.

Per square mile (there are about 3,500 of them) the island probably has seen more violence and political excess than any area this side of the Iron Curtain.

INDEPENDENCE represents a handsome concession by the British crown. But it is a concession also by Greek and Turk who for years wouldn't sit down around the table and discuss some rational means of settling their differences.

Then, little more than six weeks ago, a series of conferences began that culminated in an agreement reached at Zurich yesterday. Greek Cypriots withdrew their demands for "enosis" (union) with Greece and Turkish Cypriots forgot about partition.

The agreement is all the happier because Cyprus is a powerful pawn in the cold war. Its shores stretch to within 40 miles of Turkey. The United States has at Adna, in Turkey, what is perhaps its strongest air base in the whole Middle East. Greece and Turkey are both members of NATO. A permanent falling out over Cyprus, which Britain found indispensable to the defense of the Middle East in World War II, could have had tragic consequences.

Cyprus pacified has perhaps one last lesson: When men of reason really reason together, no matter how long it takes them, peace will find a way.

A Hearing Hints Some Bad News

A HEARING in Tallahassee soon may spell out some bad news for Florida motorists. Unless the unexpected happens, auto insurance costs are going up steeply. Insurance companies are asking for 26.7 per cent increases statewide and a whopping 33.3 per cent jump in Dade County.

We hope approval of the requests won't be perfunctory, as has been the case in the past.

State Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson has indicated he will study the application with care. He is smarting under criticism that he has been too quick to see the insurance company's side of the argument.

There is another side. There has been a sincere effort to cut down on accidents, with some success considering the increased number of cars. That effort will continue.

But the insurance companies have a case. Auto accidents in Florida last year resulted in the loss of $139 million in property and personal injury. There were 99,261 accidents in the 12 months ending July 1—latest available figures—compared with 97,401 in 1957. For the same period there were 34,312 killed or injured compared with 33,648.

The National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters estimates that insurance company expenses exceeded income by $14.90 for every $100 of earned premiums, a loss margin that has been steadily widening.

"We are in the hole by more than $6 million on the basis of our automobile liability insurance underwriting in Florida in the past three years," said a Bureau witness. "In my judgment we are on the verge of a serious insurance crisis in Florida unless something is done to turn the tide."

This has an ominous sound but we can take comfort in the increasing public demand for more highway safety. Sen. Joe Eaton reports his legislative committee dealing with this subject has been getting heavy mail demanding action. The same thing is apparent in many forums of public expression. It is a hopeful sign because, after all, public and individual attitudes will determine whether accidents (and insurance costs) begin to show a downward trend. Safe driving is largely a personal matter. Human frailty, not mechanical failure, is responsible for the vast majority of crashes.

Today And Tomorrow--Flexibility On Berlin

Forget Formalities, Keep Roads Open

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Lippmann

THE NEW WORD in Western diplomacy is "flexibility."

It has become fashionable because just under the surface of official formulae there is going on in Washington, in London, and in Bonn, a reappraisal of the German problem. It is wholly false to suppose that the issue in this reappraisal is between surrendering and standing firm, between appeasement and principle, between being soft and being strong.

The real issue is whether to stand pat on positions that have become untenable or to move to new positions from which the Western Allies can recover the political initiative.

LET US take Berlin for a concrete example, remembering that it is only the focal point of the whole larger German problem. At present there are two streams of traffic between West Berlin and West Germany. One is civilian traffic. This is regulated by an agreement between the West German and East German governments and it is by this traffic that the civilian population of West Berlin lives and does its business.

The other traffic is military. It is between the British, French, and American forces in West Germany and their garrisons in West Berlin. This traffic is regulated by Allied agreement with the Soviet Union.

Moscow has now said that if there is no other negotiation about the status of Berlin, it will on May 27 turn over to the East German government its authority over the military traffic. If this is done, it will mean that at the check points on the highways and railroads and canals Allied military traffic will be met by East German rather than by Soviet officials.

The immediate and specific questions about Berlin are (1) what will we do when we meet these East German officials; and (2) what will the East German officials do about our military traffic?

THIS is where the difference between an "inflexible" and a "flexible" policy shows itself. The inflexibles say that we do not recognize the East German government, and that we cannot, therefore, allow them to have anything to do with our traffic to Berlin.

The flexibles reply that as long as no one interferes with our traffic to Berlin, it does not make any difference whether the official who stamps the papers wears an East German or a Soviet uniform.

They add that if Dr. Adenauer can allow East German officials to stamp his papers for the civilian traffic, he is in no position to insist that President Eisenhower be more inflexible.

IN SPECULATING about the use of force to keep open access to Berlin, the first question to be decided is whether we ought to be ready to go to war if we meet an East German official at a checkpoint on the highway. Do we fight because the official who wants to see the papers carried by the truck wears an East German uniform, or do we fight if he closes the highway?

The flexibles say that a blockade of West Berlin is a fighting matter but that whether the official is East German or Soviet is not a fighting matter.

They say, moreover, that to announce you will fight about the official at the checkpoint is not a strong policy but a foolish one, and because it is foolish, it is weak. It is weak because the people of the Western world cannot conceivably be united to fight a world war on such an idiotic issue.

THE MAYOR of West Berlin, the highly esteemed Willy Brandt, can be counted among the flexibles. He has suggested that the East German officials might be recognized as "agents" of the Soviet Union. An easier, and as good a way, to accomplish the same result would be to ask a Soviet guarantee of access to West Berlin until a new status can be arranged by negotiations covering the two Germanys and the two Berlins. What we want is that West Berlin should not be blockaded and strangled, and that Berlin should become again the capital of a reunited Germany.

This flexible position is a strong one. We stand firm on the substance, which is that West Berlin is not to be blockaded. We are indifferent to the formalities which do not matter as long as access to West Berlin is open. We keep alive our real objective, which is not to maintain West Berlin as an island within East Germany, but to restore its status as the capital city to which all parts of Germany must have equal access.

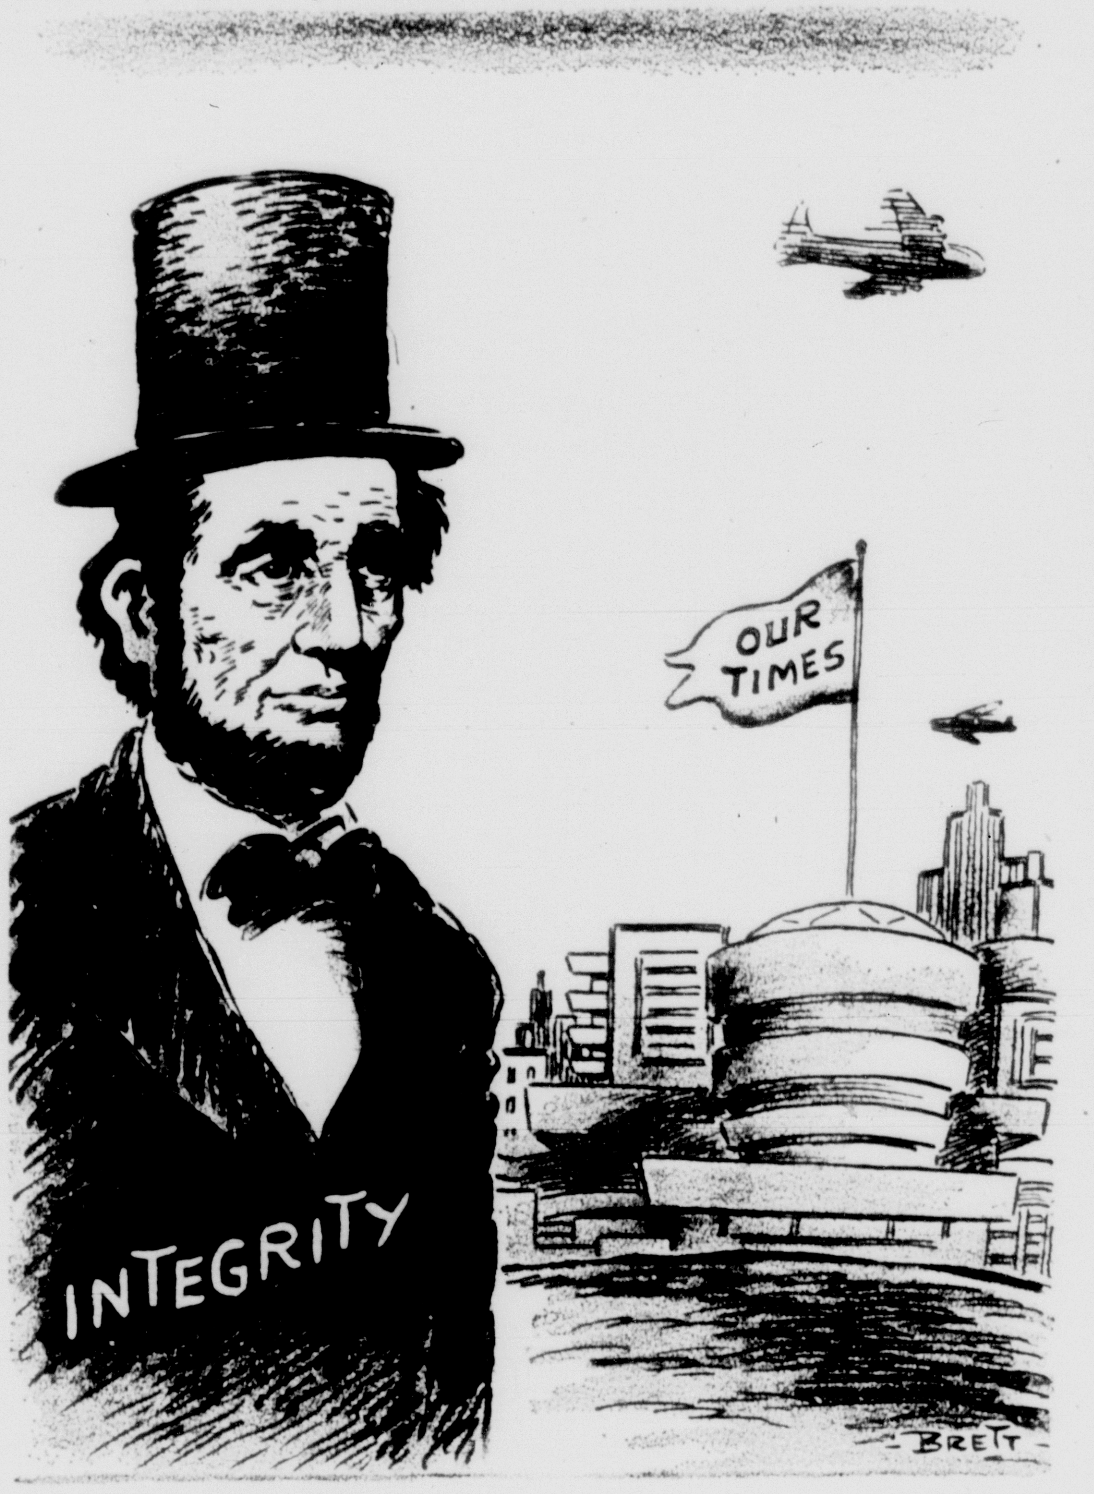
IT MAY well be that the Soviet Union will refuse to guarantee access during the period, which would have to be a long one, when the whole German problem is being negotiated. If that is what happens, the Soviet Union will find itself in a dangerous position. It will have given the East Germans a free hand to impose a blockade, which would be an act of war, and it will be committed to come to the defense of the East Germans if they provoke a war.

This is a much bigger gamble than Moscow ever has taken before, and we need not jump to the conclusion that it will take the gamble now.

A Quality That Never Is Old Fashioned



Voice Of The People

Attack Causes, Not Symptoms

Editor The Herald: Sen. George Smathers deserves the support and congratulations of all patriotic and intelligent Americans for his demand that our government withdraw our military missions from Latin America and substitute agricultural, public health, and educational assistance.

Only in this way can we be of real help to the people of this area and avoid the dilemma of aid and support of dictatorships and reaction instead.

This same policy would apply with even greater validity to Asia and the Middle East. There, too, the people are too poor to support and maintain modern military establishments even with our aid. In the end such aid serves only to maintain the status quo of feudalism, reaction and military dictatorships. Such allies are incapable of opposing Communism. In truth, the maintenance of these conditions makes the spread of Communism inevitable.

The conditions which promote violent social and political upheavals can be changed by adequate economic and cultural assistance, but the conditions which promote these upheavals are only aggravated by military aid and missions. The sooner the people and leaders of the United States recognize the basic fact that poverty, ignorance and bigotry are the real enemies of man, the sooner we will be ready to attack the causes instead of the symptoms of man's maladies.

New Approach To Farm Policy

Editor The Herald: We have been reading a lot about the mess our farm price support program has brought us. We are spending about 10 per cent of our enormous budget to store and enlarge our ridiculous surpluses that we cannot even give away without upsetting the economy of friendly nations. It is enough to bring in question the sanity or at least the intelligence of those responsible.

My suggestion would be: pension the farmers until the surplus is used up. Then tell them to go on their own according to the principles of the free enterprise system to which they give at least lip service.

CHARLES W. GHEER

A Newspaper Worthy Of Name

Editor The Herald: Congratulations! Feb. 10, 1959, will remain a memorable day to the readers of The Herald. Then The New York Times service was made available to those readers. The Times is not only a newspaper, but a great institution that has no equal in the great wide world.

This event, plus the regular columns by the great analyst, Walter Lippmann, surely will keep readers well informed in our world of confusion.

I want to express my thanks to the management for being progressive and set on building a newspaper worthy of its name.

Let Ladies Run Things

Editor The Herald: In a recent story in The Herald, West Palm Beach's City Manager James J. Mott was quoted as saying that "for the first time City Hall is not being run by a bunch of women."

As a woman, I resent that remark. It isn't the women who make the City of West Palm Beach look like a three-ring circus.

If we had more women and fewer men in government affairs, I am certain that we would have much more dignity and far less bungling. And I'm sure, too, that there would be little or no junketing.

Behind The Front Page

So Many Do So Many Things With Words

By JOHN PENNEKAMP

Such errors don't pass unnoticed. Several letters promptly called our attention to the slip.

Pennekamp

At another time recently the word "yoke" appeared as "yolk" and was promptly protested, but, so far as I know, by only one reader.

Yet I think the yoke error was a little more obvious that the necklace one.

Newspapers try mightily to avoid grammatical errors and misspellings, but both creep in.

The printed word you read emerges with the writer and usually passes through at least two readers on the copy desk. From there it goes to the typesetter, followed by the proofreader. In many instances it then is read again for errors in the news or editorial offices.

But, the occasional and inadvertent slips show up. Sometimes they inject themselves along the way from writer to print.

NOT SO LONG ago I wrote a piece which was reprinted in The Jacksonville Journal.

In it a typographical error had changed the word "selling" to "feeling" in The Herald.

The change made no sense, except that from the sentence structure it was obvious that the intended word was "selling."

Yet, in The Journal, it also turned up "feeling."

So that, even beyond the ordinary caution of one newspaper institution, such mistakes can persist.

While lamenting the errors it is a fact that so many persons do so many things with so many words in the daily production of a newspaper that I also wonder at times how we do as well as we do.

Which invasion of the field of semantics reminds me to enlist your aid in a cause which is sponsored by Dick Bothwell of The St. Petersburg Times in cooperation with Mortimer Graves of Washington.

It is to get rid of "whom."

Graves is the former executive director of the American Council of Learned Societies. Since it is made up of historians, philosophers and language experts, his leadership is weighty.

Bothwell asserts that "whom" is one of the dirtiest four-letter words in the language. He calls it who's arrogant elder brother.

He attempts to support his decision to get rid of it by telling when "who" should be used and when "whom." And, in the process gets too involved for me to follow.

I recall a discussion of the matter some years ago with two friends, one the most extensively educated man I know and the other a recently resigned university dean.

I asked for a simple rule, one that didn't involve juggling with half the rules in the grammar.

My educated friend said just to come to him when in doubt, and he'd keep me straight. The dear, said he had an easy rule to apply someplace, and would turn it up for me.

Next day he came by with a 24-page pamphlet explaining when to use "who" and when "whom."

I suggested to both of them that maybe we should start the campaign Bothwell and Graves now are fathering.

The dean asked, "Why, now that you can refer to my book?" But I think he was willing.

My educated friend was against it. He had learned the rules, he said, and refused to surrender to shallowness in his brothers.

Strictly Personal

Make Him Good, Or Miserable

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

PURELY Personal Prejudices:

A man used to be known by the company he keeps; now he is known by the company that keeps him.

Harris

To a college student who asks why Shakespeare used so many court fools in his plays, the answer is obvious — when Shakespeare wanted the truth to be heard, he employed a fool, for only a man with nothing to lose will speak the truth in high places.

Young people think that wisdom consists in seeing through things; but a large part of mature wisdom consists in seeing around things, and reaching our destination by detour rather than by direct assault.

ANOTHER lesson that youth needs to learn was tersely expressed by Goethe, when he said, "If you have called a bad thing bad, you have done no great matter; but if you call a good thing good, you have accomplished much."

The most difficult job in medicine, to my mind, belongs to the pediatrician, because he is treating three things at once: the disease, the child, and the parent. And, often, the disease is the least important part of the triad.

Virtue and charm so rarely go hand in hand because the people who are concerned with the cleanliness of their character pay little attention to the brightness of their personality, and vice versa.

THE PHILOSOPHY of a reformer soon degenerates into the belief that if you can't make a person good, you have a duty to make him miserable.

More citizens might enter politics if they could be given a contract assuring them that they would be excused from all banquets, cornerstone-layings and flag-raising ceremonies for the duration of office.

What our age lacks is not reason, but the passion to act on reason.

The President Said:

No Delays Hinge On Dulles' Illness

Due to widespread interest of readers in what the President says at his press conferences, The Herald prints these questions and answers which were heard in Tuesday's meeting.

Q(Marvin L. Arrowsmith, Associated Press) Could you size up the picture regarding Berlin from the standpoint of the Western allies, in the light of Mr. Dulles' latest report to you yesterday?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, I would think Mr. Arrowsmith, there is very little to add to his statement. As he came back, he made the statement at the airport, and he told that he detected a greater unified purpose among the Western allies about their firmness in their purpose of enforcing their rights and not accepting the theory that the Soviets could abandon their agreed responsibilities and transfer them to officials or to the GDR. (German Democratic Republic).

Now I think that the points he made speak for themselves, and I don't think there is much to add to it.

Conference with Soviet

Q (John Hightower, Associated Press) Do you think that Mr. Dulles' illness would in any way delay the preparation for possible negotiations with the Soviet Union, or delay the negotiations themselves?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, not so far as I know. Of course the doctors don't make any exact predictions as to when a satisfactory return to health will be achieved — But there has been suggested, for example, a foreign ministers' meeting between the Soviets and some of the Western allies. That would take some preparation. There has been no agreement and I believe the Russian themselves are very — more concerned, Mr. Khrushchev is concerned in a head of government meeting, as he calls an informal and without an agenda type.

Well, that would take still a great deal of preparation.

Actually, I think that Mr. Dulles is very hopeful that after he has the operation over, that he will get more time to do a little thinking at leisure about some of our European problems than he does normally here. I would really believe there would be no delay whatsoever in this kind of negotiation.

Education vs. Budget

Q(Edward P. Morgan, American Broadcasting Co.) From the school aid legislation that you sent up to the Hill yesterday, some people have concluded that you have decided that it's more dangerous to unbalance the budget now than to run the risk of more inadequately educated citizens later.

Could you discuss this dilemma with us in the context of determination between difficult fiscal values and human values?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, I am not so sure that you can differentiate. The human values in America are not going to be promoted unless we are sane and sensible in our fiscal policies. You can—I know of nothing that could injure the great population, 174 million people we have got, than to allow budgetary process to get out of control, fiscal measures going loosely, in such way that — just inflation would absolutely be inevitable.

Now, of course, we recognize the national need for better education, but also I am firmly committed to the idea that the primary and basic responsibility in these matters rests with the communities and with the states.

Visit With Khrushchev

Q(Robert C. Pierpoint, C.B.S. News) From reports that we get, sir, Premier Khrushchev seems rather anxious to have you visit the Soviet Union. I was wondering first of all if you think that might be a useful trip for you at this present time, or would you prefer to have him visit the United States, perhaps?

THE PRESIDENT: You say that it appears that he would like for me to come there.

Did you read the speech in which he suggested that I might come, and what he had to say, particularly about the United States as a whole, its leaders and some of the language he used to describe us as a nation — and others, even more than myself?

I would think that certainly I would have to wait for some more official type of, and more, let us say, persuasive kind of invitation than that.

Site of GOP Convention

Q (Carleton Kent, Chicago Sun-Times) In 1956 an expression of interest by you swung the Republican Convention to San Francisco.

The Republican National Committee is in the process of choosing the 1960 site now. Do you have any favorites this time?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, as a matter of fact, I start off questioning your premise, Mr. Kent, because I may have, I may have expressed that preference; I don't recall. Certainly so far as the next convention is concerned, the matter is completely within the hands of the National Committee, so far as I am concerned. I would not think it either desirable or useful to express any preference myself.

Unemployment Situation

Q (Lloyd M. Schwartz, Fairchild Publications) Mr. President, the Labor Department is reporting that unemployment is up around five million. I wonder if you feel that this is a level that we have to live with for awhile, or whether there is a chance for market improvement in the spring months?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, first of all it's not above five million, it's 300,000 below five million.

Secondly, I don't for one minute accept that as a satisfactory level of unemployment.

I believe thoroughly that we are going to have a pickup as the year goes on. There are certainly areas in which it is much more slow than we should like, any of us would like, but this is sort of characteristic of recoveries, they come, they get spotty.

Federal Spending Plans

Q Edward T. Folliard, Washington Post) Some people are worried because they say Russia's economy is growing much faster than ours.

Now you have taken your stand against what you regard as excessive federal spending in order to ward off inflation.

What do you think, sir, of the argument that we ought to switch the emphasis and step up federal spending and so — stimulate the growth of our economy?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, people apply this in many ways to all sorts of programs.

Right now, our GNP (gross national products) is about 453 billion dollars, that's it's rate, for procurement and services we get from the government are about 54 billion dollars. This is something on the order of 12 per cent of that GNP; certainly it is not the decisive part.

Therefore the expending or the expansion of your spending policies and the effects of them as compared, the deleterious effects compared to the advantages that you get by 2 or 3 billion dollars more expenditures in a 453 billion dollar GNP seems to me to be completely overbalanced in the side, or in favor of frugality and thrift and keeping your dollar sound.

I can't emphasize too often that when we have people, millions and millions of people are living today in the security that their pensions offer them for their old age, and if those pensions are going down in value each year by so much amount, as a matter of fact, I think, from '49—from 1940 —I have forgotten the exact year—but at any rate, in recent years we have gone down, our dollar has lost half its value.

If that continues, that kind of thing, it is going to be disastrous for our kind of economy and for the welfare of our people; and the expansion of your economy is not going to come out of that kind of spending.

I just don't believe that the benefit, if any, to be gotten from such an expending program, compared to the bad effects of deficit spending today, would have any weight with us at all.

Public Inflation Views

Q (John R. Gibson Wall Street Journal) In the past, in talking about inflation, you have said that you felt that if it got bad enough the people of the country will probably demand some sort of economic control. Have you or your advisors seen any hint yet that this sort of sentiment is building up in any fashion now?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, it's quite clear over some months now that prices have been remarkably stable. Actually we had this one period here right after, following '55, that we ran up about 6 per cent; but over the past six years it's been stable, very stable compared to what much of our history is; and in the last 10 months, or something of that kind, prices have shown a very very great stability.

Now this, therefore tends, I think to avoid looking to the long — tends to influence us to avoid looking ahead as far as we should. And I believe as we look ahead there are many factors that demand that we use every bit of influence, of every kind of leadership there is available in the press, in different organizations, business and labor organizations and in government to keep this possibility off our immediate future.

We must keep it back.

And, I am sure that the whole population would, if this thing got to bad, demand some kind of controls and this I would be — I would deplore with everything I have.

Foreign Affairs Emphasis

Q (Peter Lisagor, Miami-Herald-Chicago Daily News) In view of Mr. Dulles' leave, do you plan to devote more of your own time and energy to the conduct of foreign affairs?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, if I do something else is going to suffer because I don't know of anything that I give as much time to, every week and every day, as I do to foreign affairs.

And, actually, I don't know of any Cabinet officer that I give half the time to that I do to Secretary Dulles, and if I go in any more personal conduct of the thing then I am going to have to neglect a few other departments, that's sure.

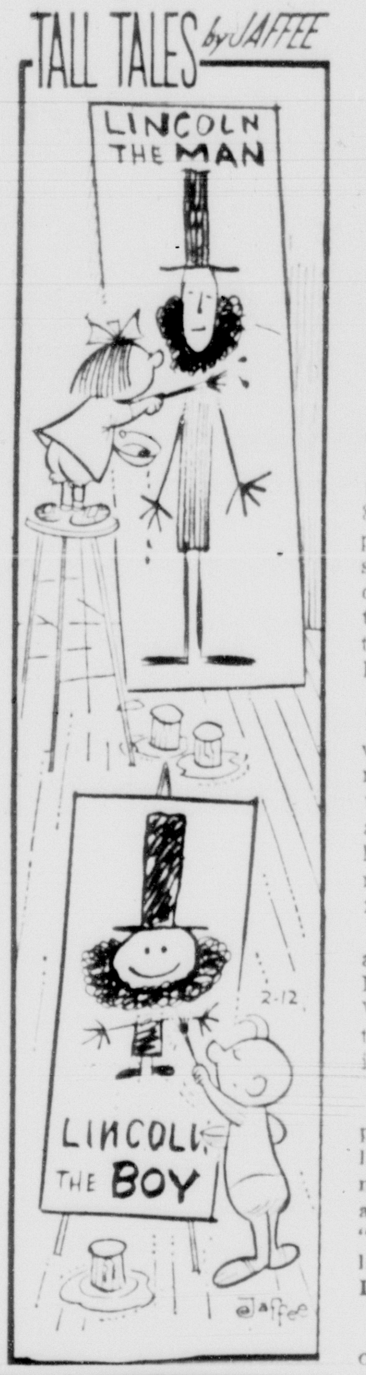
TALL TALES by JAFFEE



Last Word

By DR. BERGEN EVANS

QUESTION: Exactly what is "The skin of our teeth?" — J. I. S.

Its exact meaning, however is, one of the most disputed things in all literature. In the King James Version of the Bible, Job, lamenting the evil plight into which he has fallen, says (19:20): "My bone cleaveth to my skin and to my flesh, and I am escaped with the skin of my teeth." The Revised Standard Version has "by the skin of my teeth." The New American Catholic edition has: "my bone hath cleaved to my skin, and nothing but lips are left about my teeth."

Some scholars say this means that his teeth had fallen out. Some say it means he is so lean he can gnaw his own bones. Some say it means he has only the power of speech left. Some (extraordinarily learned) believe that it is a reference to Nasmyth's membrane, a cutaneous covering of the teeth of a foetus, and that it means "I have lost everything except my youthful integrity."

The Interpreter's Bible sums the matter up perfectly: "No certain interpretation seems to be possible."

Lincoln Religion Unique

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — I have sometimes wondered what Abraham Lincoln would do or say today about the fact that 84 schools and places of worship have been dynamited in two years over the same issue he fought for.

PEARSON

As far as I know churches were not dynamited during the Civil War, and it would have been impossible to dynamite Lincoln's church anyway, for he belonged to none.

In Illinois he once rented a church pew, but it was Mrs. Lincoln who usually sat in it. When invited to join, he said that he "could not quite see it."

"I doubt the possibility or propriety of settling the religion of Jesus Christ in the model of man-made creeds and dogmas," he once said. "It was a spirit in the life he laid stress on and taught, if I read aright."

And again, "I cannot without mental reservations assent to long and complicated creeds and catechisms.

"If the church would ask simply for assent to the Savior's statement of the substance of the law: thou shalt love the Lord, thy God, with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind and thy neighbor as thyself, that church would I gladly join with."

So Lincoln stayed away from the church as a formal member. But he loved a theological argument, and in them frequently quoted Robert Burns' poem, "Holy Willie's Prayer."

By accepting the line, "What! send one to heaven and 10 to hell?" he showed how he disapproved of the prevailing concept of hell.

This was heresy in Illinois in those days, since revivalist preachers made perdition seem very real and very popular.

* * *

BUT THOUGH Lincoln belonged to no church, he would have looked with approval upon the churchmen of today who have taken a courageous stand for better understanding in the South.

He would have approved, heartily, of Billy Graham's sermon at Clinton, Tenn., commemorating the raising of money for the new high school.

"We must recognize that love of mankind cannot be enforced by bayonets alone," Graham told those whose schoolhouse had been bombed. "The law in itself is powerless to change the human heart. Only love can do that and only Christ can bring that love."

Though Lincoln led a nation at war, "he was the only man in history," according to the late A. Powell Davies, "who ever led an army into battle loving his enemies more than he loved himself."

Lincoln would also have admired the courage of such clergymen as Ross Weston, the Unitarian minister of Arlington, Va., Monsignor Flaherty of Virginia, Rev. Colin Lile, rector of Christ Church in Alexandria where George Washington worshipped, Rabbi John Rothschild of Atlanta, who held an inspiring service in his temple immediately after it was bombed.

Lincoln would have given his blessing to the Henderson, Ky., Ministerial Association whose members were booed and jeered by a mob in front of the Weaverton Consolidated School when they appeared there to give moral support to parents.

Ply Needle Again

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—Man fresh back from Washington, and Capitol Hill, tells us a harrowing tale. We hope it's original.

Seems that somebody decided the waiters in the Senate's hallowed restaurant were due for a change of uniforms. Bids were let and the winning tailor chosen.

All was serene until a senator tried to improve on the product. He suggested that the plain front jackets needed more adornment.

So back the lot was sent to the tailor. He added a neat black piping to the lapels and cuffs, and an unnerving abbreviation of the legend on back.

Well, back to that old needle board.

Inflation Probes Multiply in D.C.

By WILLIAM McGAFFIN

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

WASHINGTON—The joint economic committee, headed by Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D., Ill.), is going to undertake a special inquiry into the problems of inflation, unemployment and the economic growth of America.

McGAFFIN

The political significance of this became clear when it was learned that the inquiry is being undertaken at the request of Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D., Tex.).

The Texan, who is the Senate majority leader and one of the leading candidates for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, asked Douglas if he would conduct the inquiry.

Douglas replied that he would. And although Douglas, a professional economist, will be in the chair, the inquiry fits into the pattern that Johnson has set in this session of Congress in other major fields of interest.

Johnson's aim seems to be to compete with the Eisenhower administration to try to make a record that will help both himself and the Democratic party in 1960.

* * *

IN THIS particular interest, the Johnson move comes only a short time after President Eisenhower tagged Vice President Nixon to conduct a similar inquiry at cabinet level for the administration.

Since the Democrats are the opposition party, it is conceivable that as a matter of practical politics their economic inquiry may make bigger headlines than the Nixon inquiry

This would be particularly true if Nixon and his cabinet colleagues should feel compelled to hold their session behind closed doors, for the Democratic inquiry presumably will be open all the way.

The Douglas committee just concluded Tuesday a series of hearings on the President's economic report to the nation. A report on these hearings is due in Congress by March 1 as preparation of it is expected to consume the time between now and then.

This means that the Johnson-requested inquiry cannot begin until some time next month.

It is expected that some extra staff members will have to be taken on to help conduct it. Also extra money, beyond the present appropriation of the committee, will be required—and will be supplied.

On or Off Dulles IS The Boss

By PETER LISAGOR

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

WASHINGTON — The ailing John Foster Dulles has put the top command of the State Department in an ambiguous position.

LISAGOR

A man who has been told by the branch manager to "watch the store, I'll be back in a little while," might pay a few bills, but he's very unlikely to change the prices or incur new obligations.

When he returns here Sunday from a two-week vacation, Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter will assume a role of "acting secretary" he has played during previous absences of Dulles.

* * *

DULLES, with President Eisenhower's permission, clearly put limits on the Herter role in his letter requesting a leave of absence for a hernia operation and physical recuperation.

Dulles said he wanted to concentrate during his convalescence on the Berlin crisis and the Allied response to it.

He conveyed the idea to Herter that he, Dulles, didn't regard his absence as anything more than an interim matter.

* * *

THE REPORT indicates that Dulles plans to keep as much of the policy-making function to himself as his health will permit.

* * *

IT IS AN OPEN secret here that when Herter came to the department two years ago, he was dismayed by the minor functions assigned to him.

He learned quickly that Dulles ran a one-man show.

Because Herter had known Dulles when both were young men at the Versailles Peace Conference in 1919, he decided early in 1957 to air his disappointment.

From that point on, Herter received more important work to do until today he has a considerable work load, making him conversant with key policy problems in many areas.

'Absolutely No Financial Interest'

No Printing Tieup, Says Ex-Partner of Collins

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Tallahassee Attorney Charles Ausley says he has "absolutely no financial interest" in printing and engraving firms owned by Charles Rosenberg.

Corporate records of the Secretary of State list Ausley, former law partner of Gov. LeRoy Collins, as an officer in five Rosenberg enterprises.
in five Rosenberg enterprises.

But Ausley said his only function is as legal advisor to Rosenberg. He said he has been the Tallahassee printing executive's personal attorney for 20 years.

Ausley was questioned by newsmen after Rep. John Mathews of Duval said he will investigate state printing practices to determine if all printing should be placed under a central purchasing set-up.

Collins recommended putting printing under central purchasing in 1957, but the Legislature rejected it. He said he will renew the proposal at the session which opens April 7.

Most public buying, including printing, is awarded on a basis of competitive bids and the records show Rosenberg was the low bidder on most jobs awarded his firm.

Collins recently investigated practices of agencies under his direction in awarding printing, and said no department or employe has violated any law.

He said he did not presume to vouch for the conduct of individual printers.

A Development Commission employe disclosed Walter Frank, a salesman for Rosenberg's Rose Printing Co. here, also brought bids of two competitors when he delivered Rose's bid.

Collins told Commission Chairman B. R. Fuller to look into this report and determine if the employe had conducted himself in a manner consistent with administration policies.

Rosenberg is listed as president of the Tallahassee and Jacksonville operations and treasurer of the Miami firm, formerly Publisher's Press of Miami.

Frank is a vice president of the Tallahassee and Jacksonville firms, Mrs. Rosenberg is secretary and C. G. Romig, assistant secretary.

Florida Photo and Plate Service, Inc., of Tallahassee, is also a Rosenberg property, with Ausley listed as assistant secretary-treasurer.

Other printing or related businesses with which Ausley is connected include Record Press of St. Augustine; Acme Paper Brokers, Inc., Capital Printers, Inc., Capitol Press, Inc., and Capital Engravers, Inc., all of Tallahassee.

Rosenberg is not an officer of these five corporations.

Faith Is a Light In Life's Darkness

By JIM BISHOP

Go With God

John Henry Newman (1801—1890), English theologian, contracted malaria in Sicily on a vacation trip in 1833. Still convalescing, he took passage on a sailing ship to Marseilles which was becalmed in the Mediterranean for a whole week. During this time Newman composed "Lead, Kindly Light." He was in a state of spiritual unease as well as bodily unrest. He felt there was much wrong with the Church of England and that the burden of reform would fall upon him. He finally accepted Catholicism in 1845; he rose to a Cardinal of the Church of Rome.

Lead, kindly Light, amid th' encircling gloom,
  Lead thou me on!
The night is dark, and I am far from home,
  Lead thou me on!
Keep thou my feet! I do not ask to see
The distant scene, one step enough for me.
I was not ever thus, nor prayed that thou
  Shouldst lead me on;
I loved to choose and see my path; but now
  Lead thou me on!
I loved the garish day; and, spite of fears,
Pride ruled my will: remember not past years.
So long thy power hath blest me, sure it still Will lead me on
O'er moor and fen, o'er crag and torrent, till
  The night is gone;
And with the morn those angel faces smile,
Which I have loved long since, and lost awhile.

Crash-Orphaned Boy Starts New Life With Grandparents

BOBBY

CHICAGO — (AP) — Little Bobby Sullivan, only member of a family of five to survive a plane crash that took a toll of 65 lives, has arrived in Chicago to take up a new life.

Eight-year-old Bobby was orphaned a week ago when an American Airlines plane plunged into the East River during an attempted landing at New York's LaGuardia Airport. Only eight persons survived.

Bobby wasn't told until Saturday that he was an orphan. Until then Bobby had believed his mother also had survived the crash.

Released from a hospital Monday, the boy was brought to Chicago to make his home with his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Murphy. He was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Nora Sullivan of New York, his paternal grandmother, and two uncles, Edward and Donald Sullivan, both of Chicago.

Funeral services for Bobby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan of Hempstead, N. Y., will be held in Chicago today. The bodies of his sisters, Patricia, 13, and Joan, five, have not been recovered.

Dodge Port Site Wins Support

The unofficial Dade County Development Committee of business leaders have endorsed the proposed Dodge Island site for Miami's new port.

Meanwhile, reports in Washington were that a federal grant of $3,800,000 to finance the port construction was undergoing heavy seas in legislative halls.

Parents Jailed In Boy's Death

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. —(AP)— Parents of a 12-year-old boy, who died without medical aid because they said they do not believe in doctors, were jailed on manslaughter charges.

Mr. and Mrs. Aulton Weems of nearby Jefferson Park said it was God's will when the boy died Christmas night after a three-day illness.

When the child went into convulsions, Mrs. Weems said, she called in a band of "believers" from Jefferson Park Holiness Church, where she and her husband are members, and prayers were said.

U.S. Balloon Found in Spain

BURGOS, Spain — (AP) — An American plastic balloon containing scientific equipment was found by two farmers at Grijalva village, 25 miles north of here. It apparently had floated across the Atlantic.

The balloon, 82 feet high and 16 in diameter, belongs to the Schjeldahl Co. of Northfield, Minn. There were two eight-inch boxes tightly closed. An inscription asked the finders to notify the American company.

'Psychic Temple' Pastor Defends His Church, Counseling

By GENE MILLER
Herald Staff Writer

Gilbert Newton Holloway, Jr., minister of the New Age Church of Truth, Wednesday took exception to parts of a Herald series of news stories on so-called "psychic temples."

In three parts of the four-part series, Holloway's beliefs in flying saucers, mental telepathy with the dead, his philosophy for treatment of cancer, and donations for his counseling services were reported in detail.

Said Rev. Holloway:

"Although the Board of Directors (of the church) voted the nominal salary of $5,200 to the minister for 1958, only $3,800 was paid because there was no more. Does this kind of money talk very loudly?"

"The New Age Church presents three regular religious services weekly, he said, on Sunday mornings and evening, also Tuesday evenings. These are supported, as in all churches, on an offering basis.

"On other evenings special classes and meetings are sometimes held that bear a nominal tuition. Sincere persons who cannot meet a tuitional donation are never excluded. The church has no large financial backers, and must meet its expenses from offerings, donations, gifts and sales of religious literature. Every dollar of income and expense is accounted for and audited periodically.

"Financially and morally," Rev. Holloway said, "the New Age Church is as clean as a hound's tooth.

"I have given thousands of interviews of personal counsel, and am known throughout North America for this spiritual help to people. It is always on a voluntary donation basis. Most people give five dollars—some give even more because they wish to do so—and of course many give less. Some give nothing at all but sincere thanks. It is entirely up to the individual receiving benefit of counsel . . ."

Holloway asserted that he is not preaching cancer cures. "The truth is that five years ago I wrote a booklet on the subject of natural healing of cancer, but do not preach or teach this from the pulpit.

"It is true that many of my ideas on health are unorthodox, but . . . is this America, or somewhere else? Don't you realize that thousands of people are interested in spiritual, natural and drugless therapy? I respect the medical approach where it seems to be indicated, but am also deeply interested in other avenues to health."

It's War On Stamps Once Again

A double-barreled effort to clamp down on the trading stamp industry is under way again.

Rep. Cliff Herrell of Miami and Sen. E. William Gautier of New Smyrna Beach are preparing legislation to place a tax on the stamps distributed by grocery stores and some other businesses.

Legislators report merchants themselves would like to get rid of the stamps.

But use of them by competitors forces them to keep distributing them as a come-on to housewives, looking for added incentives for buying.

2 Students Admit Thefts

Two Philadelphia college students have pleaded guilty to six grand larceny charges for looting swank Miami Beach hotel rooms. They will come up for sentence March 3 in Dade Criminal Court.

Henry Herskowitz, 20, and Stephen Rada, 21, of Temple University, were arrested last December during the Christmas holiday at the Americana Hotel.

Their companions, arrested later and charged with conceiling stolen goods — Bernard Friedman, also known as Barton Burke, 25, of Pennsylvania State College and Jacqueline Courtman, 19, Atlantic City medical lab technician — were freed by withdrawal of the cas-

Sen. McGee To Give Talk

U.S. Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming, ticketed as "one of three young Democrats in Congress having the greatest potential for a political future," will address the Dade County Bar Association Monday.

Parley With Campbell Feb. 18

What Next? Metro to Ask

Metro commissioners have set a "where-do-we-go-from-here?" conference for Feb. 18 with County Manager O. W. Campbell.

Out of it, they said, should come the first fi[illegible], priority-rated program for the county-wide government which went into effect 18 months ago.

Last week Campbell and commissioners swapped charges of foot-dragging on a master plan for the physical expansion of Metro services such as roads, transit, water and sewerage.

Then on Monday Campbell revealed an administration plan for a "top priority" Metro entrance into the field of water and sewer service extension and rate regulation.

Two more items on the agenda:

1—Correction of "defects" in the Metro charter. "We have a charter which is impossible to implement," Commissioner John McLeod said. "We'll never get Metro going with the charter we have."

2—Getting Interama — to which Metro has pledged $500,000 and Miami has dedicated the Graves Tract—on the road.

Van Fleet Talk Slated Friday

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, who was commanding general of the Eighth U.S. Army in Korea, will speak here in observance of National Defense Week.

Gen. Van Fleet will speak before the Miami Kiwanis Club on "Our Military Position in the World Today," at 12:15 p.m. Friday at the Columbus Hotel.

Love Private? Soviets Say No

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

BONN — The Soviet fleet newspaper says even such matters as "love, marriage and family" cannot be dealt with as private questions in the period of the "creation of Communism" on which the Soviet Union now is embarked.

"Body, mind and actions," it says, must be subordinated to the common requirements of society.

Balloon Soars to 28 Miles

The New York Times Service

FORT MONMOUTH, N.J. — The Army announced Wednesday the establishment of a new world's record of 146,000 feet — close to 28 miles — by an experimental Army weather balloon.

The new super-high altitude balloon launched at the Army Signal and Research and Development Laboratory here, is the product of a two-year Army Signal Corps study of improved synthetic rubbers.

The unmanned balloon, which measured 10 feet in diameter at its start, gradually expanded as it rose into the thinner upper atmosphere. At its record height the balloon had grown to a giant 65-foot sphere as tall as a six-story building. The flight took two hours.

The new altitude mark, several thousand feet above previous records, is the highest established altitude ever attained by a manned or unmanned balloon. The flight measurement was made by a special Army "Hytsometer" in a radio-equipped weather probe attached to the balloon.

Other instruments recorded a low temperature of 85 degrees below zero at an altitude of 10 miles. At higher altitudes the radio signal revealed a warming trend, reaching 40 degrees above zero at the record height. The announcement said such upper atmosphere measurements provide vital information for improved weather forecasts.

Sentencing Set for Ex-Chief

Criminal Court Judge Ben C. Willard has set March 17 for sentencing of Richard Kuiken, former Golden Beach police chief and town manager, for attempting to bribe police officers to overlook gambling casino operations at 277 Ocean Blvd. Kuiken pleaded guilty Jan. 27.

'Doesn't Allow Critical Pictures,' School Says

By Herald Services

WEST PALM BEACH — It has a policy which prohibits the taking of photographs of schools "which are critical," the Palm Beach County School Board explained in refusing to allow a Miami TV cameraman to take pictures of a Boynton Beach School. The school has been branded a fire hazard.

Boynton Beach city officials have complained there is no telephone or fire warning system at the school, clothing and burlap bags have accumulated inside the main entrance, and the building is in general disrepair.

"There's no doubt about it, that building is in pretty bad shape," Howell Watkins, school superintendent, said in explaining he would ask a general overhaul of the ancient building in the summer.

The board voted to write the TV station, explaining its policy, and inviting pictures "of any of our new schools."

Mother Poisons Self Over Love

FORT LAUDERDALE — An 18-year-old mother died Wednesday from poison she took while trying to get her husband to say if he loved her.

Medical Examiner Jack Mickley ruled a suicide the death of Mrs. Betty Susanne Gushee who had a one-year-old boy and expected another child.

Carter Allowed To Drive Again

Carter's license was returned to him Wednesday. It had been revoked by the State Highway Patrol after he flunked a re-examination on his ability to handle an automobile safely. Trooper Jimmy Hill, who refused to pass Carter Feb. 2, gave him a passing grade Wednesday after another test.

Batista's Out: Picken Still In

WEST PALM BEACH — Despite the change of regime, Embry Picken, private detective and breeder and trainer of bloodhounds, is still doing business in Cuba. Picken and seven of his dogs are reported working for the Castro government in Cuba.

About a year and a half ago Picken sold a number of his canine trackers to the deposed Batista regime and a Cuban plane picked up the dogs.

Boy, 16, Dies In Car Wreck

FORT LAUDERDALE — A 16-year-old boy was killed near Margate early Wednesday when his small car swerved out of control and hit an oncoming farm truck.

The victim was identified as Michael P. Moran, 1201 Atkins St. Petoskey, Mich. Police said the boy left his home in Michigan two days ago and was reported missing.

2 Arrested In Beating

Police have arrested two men for allegedly beating and robbing an accountant after a seal with his name on it turned up in a local pawn shop.

Held in the Saturday night beating of Albert Stokes, 46, at his 1820 SW Third Ave. office, are Hamill E. Doyle, 34, and Bernard R. Park, 36, both of 35 NW Second Ave.

Detectives Roy Peterson and J. F. Murray said the pawn broker refused to buy the seal, but took an impression from it while he was examining it. He recognized Stokes' name and called police.

He's in Recording Business

Mayor Takes on a Sideline

Miami's Mayor Robert King High has taken on a sideline. He is now in the phonograph record business.

HIGH

With James Peck, of the musical trio known as "The Novelaires," he has organized a company under the name of Vak. They have made and released their first record. Currently the firm operates from Mayor High's law office in the duPont Building.

"Jimmy Peck and I have been friends for years and we've often talked recordings," the mayor said. "I'm a sort of a musician myself. I made my spending money with a little band while I was in Chattanooga High School.

"Recently we decided to try it. We made a recording by Randy Lee, an 18-year-old Chattanooga boy who looks a lot like Pat Boone and who follows his song style, singing 'I Never Knew.'

"We peddled it around among the local disk jockeys. They gave it a good plug and it's selling pretty well. Now we're trying to get Roberta Sherwood to record 'Tomboy,' the song the Miami firemen wrote and which Perry Como used recently."

The new company has no recording equipment of its own. It makes a master tape here, and sends it to the Span recording company of Nashville, which is headed by one of the mayor's high school friends.

Traffic Talk Friday

George Kunde, Metro director of traffic transportation, will discuss Metro traffic control before the Miami Acacia Club, at 12:15 p.m. Friday at the Urmey Hotel.

Jewish Leader To Speak

The Combined Jewish Appeal's Young Men's division will hold its third annual fund-raising dinner today at the Saxony Hotel. Louis J. Fox, former president of the Jewish Welfare Fund of Baltimore, is scheduled to speak.

Dulles Stays, Ike Reiterates

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower made it crystal clear Wednesday that he has no intention of replacing his ailing friend, John Foster Dulles, as secretary of state.

Dulles is in Walter Reed Hospital awaiting an operation for hernia. He expects to be back at work in "a few weeks."

Eisenhower authorized James C. Hagerty, his press secretary, to deny in the strongest possible terms reports that he has discussed with intimates the possibility of naming a successor to Dulles.

Hagerty Tuesday night dismissed the reports as "completely cockeyed." Wednesday, he told newsmen the President called his attention to the reports and told him to "double" the denial.

"I said that these stories were 'completely cockeyed'," Hagerty said. "I want to double it — double it in spades."

Such stories, he said, are "entirely without foundation . . . they are just not true."

'Don't Tell Wife Saucers Ain't So'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Maj. Gen. William W. Dick Jr., Army special weapons chief, was asked at a congressional hearing if he had any information to substantiate flying saucer reports.

"I answer that question with fear and trepidation," the general replied, "because my wife believes in flying saucers."

Dick said he did not.

Honduran Fighting Spreads

LATIN
ROUND-UP

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — (AP) — The rebel forces fighting against President Ramon Villeda Morales' government of Honduras have opened four fronts, says the rebel radio.

The radio claims it broadcasts from the mountains of Honduras but other reports place it across the border in Nicaragua.

The radio said the Honduran rebels' first front is near the Nicaraguan border, where the leader of the revolt, Armando Velazquez Cerrato, is commanding.

The second front, according to the radio, is the Ocotepeque area, near the Salvadorean border, the third is in Copan, near the Guatemalan line and the fourth to the north of Tegucigalpa, the Honduran capital.

Castro Hedges On Presidency

HAVANA, Cuba — (AP) — Fidel Castro said he hadn't decided whether he wants to be president of Cuba — now that he's old enough.

But he didn't say he wouldn't like to be president.

Until Monday a Cuban president had to be at least 35 years old. Under a new fundamental law of the republic — based on the power of Castro's revolution — the president may be as young as 30. Castró is 32.

Castro was asked by a reporter whether he now would run or allow himself to be drafted for president. He replied: "I have made no decision over that matter."

Calypso Bands Fight; 30 Hurt

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad — (AP) — Two rival steel bands tangled during a carnival celebration and beat on each other instead of their oil-drum instruments. Thirty of the Calypso musicians were injured.

The bands had finished their annual parade for tourists and Trinidadians. The fight began conveniently near the General Hospital when one festively dressed group tried to march through the other's column.

Police arrived and seized a quantity of cutlasses, painted to look like wood but actually made of steel.

Unrest Mounts In Caracas

CARACAS, Venezuela — (AP) — Disturbances and arrests are mounting in Caracas with the approach of President-elect Romulo Betancourt's inauguration Friday.

At least 500 persons have been rounded up in the past few days. Caracas is filled with supporters of former Junta President Wolfgang Larrazabal, who was defeated by Betancourt in the election last fall.

National Guard troops fired into a crowd of agitators stoning pedestrians and automobiles in the heart of the capital. Five persons were wounded and 85 agitators were arrested.

Liver Ailment Hits Sailors

HEIDELBERG, Germany — (AP) — Seventy-six U.S. Navy men from units in the Mediterranean area are being treated for hepatitis, an infectious liver ailment, in U. S. Army hospitals at Landstuhl and Muenchweiler.

Headquarters of the U.S. Army in Europe said the patients are in strict quarantine. One death has occurred among the patients evacuated over the last five days to temporary centers in the two hospitals.

Estranged Wife of Dupont Heir Asks Court for Higher Support Payments

WILMINGTON, Del. —(AP)— Mrs. Debra Eldredge Dupont says her estranged husband is heir to 56 million dollars, but is giving her less than $70 a month to support herself and their three children.

In These U.S.

Mrs. Dupont filed a complaint in Family Court asking for a judgment requiring her husband, William Henry Dupont, to make reasonable support payments. She did not ask a specific amount.

She said her husband, an heir to the Dupont chemical company fortune, sent her $66 on Nov. 1; $63.25 on Dec. 1; and $63 on Jan. 1.

The last payment included a letter, she said, specifying that $60 was a living allowance; $3 was for church donations, and 25 cents was an allowance for their oldest child, a nine-year-old daughter.

Temperature Low—She Dies

NEWPORT, R.I. —(AP)— Mrs. Rose Bondell, 63, whose body temperature dropped so low a hospital thermometer could not record it, died in a Newport hospital.

Mrs. Blondell was found Monday in a semi-conscious condition in her unheated apartment. She had lain helpless without food or water for four or five days.

Efforts to take her temperature failed because the hospital thermometer did not go below 94 degrees fahrenheit—4.5 degrees below normal body temperture.

U.S. Non-Whites Increasing Fast

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The number of non-white Americans increased 50 per cent faster than the white population since 1950, the Census Bureau reported Wednesday.

The increase for non-whites totaled 22 per cent compared with about 14 per cent for whites. Non-whites numbered 19,300,000 as of last July 1 — up 3½ million from 1950. The white population increased 19½ million to 154,800,000 in the same period.

Non-whites now make up 11 per cent of the total population compared with 12 per cent in 1900, the report said.

The bureau also said that in mid-1958 there were 98 males for every 100 females in the country. However, men and boys outnumbered women and girls by 1,300,000 in the under-25 age group — the group in which most marriages occur.

Trade Fair Eyed

Just the Perfect Blendship, Says She; No, Love, Says He

Associated Press Wirephoto

Loran and Pauline
. . . romance or what?

That's why he was trying even harder Wednesday to convince reluctant Pauline Giles, a comely English lass, that she should marry him and forego her declared intention of flying back to London this weekend and into the arms of her British suitor.

Miss Giles, a 26-year-old brunette, came here with Shaffer, 23, a Chicago Tribune advertising salesman, to do some night-clubbing and meet some of his friends. They had been visiting his parents in Lansing, Mich., since their impromptu arrival from London last Thursday.

This transatlantic, one-way romance began in South Bend, Ind., in 1957. Loran was a student at Notre Dame. Pauline was there to divorce Frank Niemier, of South Bend, who was a sailor when she married him in London in 1954. Pauline and Loran met and, so far as Loran is concerned, love blossomed out all over. Pauline isn't saying much about that.

Anyway, Pauline returned to London six weeks after she met Loran and says she fell in love with Louis Gaches, a real estate salesman who lives in Ruislip, Middlesex, near Pauline's hometown of Eastcote.

Loren flew to London a couple of weeks ago to try to persuade Pauline to fly back to the U.S. and marry him. Casting romance aside for a minute, Loran told a reporter he had to borrow $700 for the trip.

London reporters, says Pauline, dared her to return with Loran. Pauline did. They flew in last Thursday.

Now she says she's sorry she's here. She has talked to Louis twice by trans-Atlantic telephone, she said, and is returning home this weekend. It will be wedding bells in Eastcote this spring, she says.

Loran, though hasn't given up.

"She says it's friendship. But I swear it's love," he said.

Driver Wins $76,000

Harry O. Filer, of 1145 NW 109th St., former Air Force pilot, was awarded $76,000 damages by a Circuit Court jury as a result of a 1957 collision between his small foreign car and a City of Miami dump truck.

But Filer said his right-of-way down Biscayne Blvd. was encroached by Truck Driver Willis Gunn, of 3127 SW 68th Ave., who drove the truck out of NE 70th St. Filer said the collision did $925 damage to his car, broke his nose and injured his eyes.

Fox Skin Slips

MONTREAL — (AP) — The Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association says the once-popular fox skin has slipped from its high perch but will stay on the fur market as a prestige item. The association estimates only 1,000 to 1,500 pelts will be offered by Canadian breeders in 1959.

It'll Test Your Breath

CHICAGO —(UPI)— Local dentists scoff at "antidisestablishmentarianism," allegedly the longest word in the English dictionary, and came up with a jawbreaker of their own: "psychostethokytographmanometer."

Dr. Harry C. Peake of Parkhill, Ontario, told the dentists of the psychostethokytographmanometer — an instrument to measure changes in respiration which occur in a patient as he reacts to sound.

Does BLADDER IRRITATION MAKE YOU NERVOUS?
NEW YORK—Special: Thanks to new, scientific laboratory formulation, thousands of men and women now escape feeling old, tired, irritable and depressed from losing sleep and worrying about "Bladder Weakness"—too frequent, burning and itching urination, Bed Wetting, Getting Up Nights—or Strong Cloudy Urine, due to common Kidney or Bladder Irritations, which often result in secondary Backache, Headache and Nervousness. In such cases New Improved CYSTEX usually gives quick, calming relief by combating irritating germs in acid urine; and by relaxing, analgesic pain relief. Safe for young or old. Get CYSTEX at druggist. Feel better fast or money back.

...when you travel NORTH on the SILVER METEOR or SILVER STAR
SEABOARD'S EXCLUSIVE "HOSPITALITY HOUR"
Each afternoon, all passengers are invited to the dining car for complimentary Florida orange juice and coffee — a delightful accent to your always-comfortable and interesting Seaboard trip.
Dining is always a treat on the Seaboard—and easy on your pocketbook! Make your own selection from the wide variety of delicious, just-right dishes; dine leisurely in a charming setting of the traditional "Old South" courtesy for which Seaboard is noted.
Traveling is always a treat on the Seaboard—in modern private-room sleeping cars, or de luxe coaches with reserved, individual reclining seats. Spacious lounge facilities for all!
OTHER SEABOARD "EXCLUSIVES"—
A REGISTERED NURSE is aboard the SILVER METEOR and SILVER STAR ... reassuring if you're traveling with small children. A Passenger Service Agent is on hand, too, to aid you with travel details. The glass-topped SUN LOUNGE for Pullman passengers on the SILVER METEOR is a delightful "club" decorated in the Florida patio manner.

PANCAKE QUEEN of Britain is Bridget Lowrie, 26, shown crossing the finish line all alone in the Shrove Tuesday Pancake Race at Olney, England. But she didn't take the international cake. Mary Collingwood ran a similar course at Liberal, Kans., in eight fewer seconds to win the world title.

Complaints Raged Over Altimeters Before Air Crash

By DAVID J. KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Federal Aviation Agency disclosed Wednesday that prior to last week's crash of an American Airlines Electra the agency had received numerous complaints on the prop jet's new altitude measuring instrument.

But no action was taken to ban or modify the new-type altimeters until the accident, FAA officials added. Exact cause of the crash is not known.

The surviving flight engineer said after the crash:

"The only thing I can suggest is that there might have been a mixup with those new altimeters. They are a new type and there was some difficulty reading them."

The FAA has since announced that American and Eastern — the two carriers which fly the new plane — could resume normal operations with the Electras if the new altimeters were replaced with an old type instrument.

An FAA spokesman added that the altimeter on the new Boeing 707 jets is "about the same" as the one used on the Electras.

Electra Headed Here Lands for 'Caution'

A Miami-bound Eastern Air Lines Electra with 70 passengers on board, made a "precautionary" landing at Atlanta Municipal airport Wednesday with oil leaking from one engine.

The four-engine propjet en route from Chicago to Miami, via St. Petersburg was on the ground for two hours while repairs were made, then resumed its flight to Miami.

Paper Stealer Jailed for Year

Ike: Abe Deplored Spending

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower, in a seeming appeal for his balanced budget, urged Americans Wednesday night to keep in mind Abraham Lincoln's distaste for government spending and an "overwhelming, crushing system."

The President incorporated the appeal in a simple and moving tribute he paid Lincoln with a few brief remarks at a dinner celebrating the Civil War President's 150th birthday anniversary. It was part of nationwide observances honoring Lincoln.

The President said that as Lincoln led the nation through the tragedy of civil war, he insisted that "the struggle of today is not altogether for today — it is for a vast future also." Then he quoted Lincoln still further:

"The tendency to undue expansion is unquestionably the chief difficulty. How to do something, and still not do too much, is the question . . . — I would not borrow money. I am against an overwhelming, crushing system.

"Suppose, that at each session, Congress shall first determine how much money can, for that year, be spared for improvements; then apportion that sum to the most important objects."

Eisenhower did not elaborate on Lincoln's words, nor did he link them specifically with his own economy campaign. But it is the same kind of thing he has been saying on other occasions in trying to fight off congressional attempts to boost his delicately balanced budget.

The remainder of the President's remarks was an account of how Lincoln, the humanitarian, had won immortality in the hearts of men everywhere. He noted that each year two million persons pay homage at the capital's Lincoln Memorial.

In New Delhi, he said, a Lincoln Society is establishing a museum in his honor. Last summer, high school students in Tokyo ranked him as the most respected of all world figures. Russian author Leo Tolstoy called him the only "giant" among history's statesmen.

Ex-Officer Found Guilty

A Criminal Court jury Wednesday convicted Miami's "praying cop," Jackson Holloway Hooper, of first degree arson for setting a fire in the Roberts Hotel, 26 W. Flagler St., last June.

Hooper himself did not take the stand, but his mother, Mrs. E. D. Hooper, brought a piece of bone to court and testified it was taken from her son's head during an operation following an automobile accident. Hooper had pleaded insanity.

Assistant State Attorney Arthur Huttoe told the jury that Hooper struck a match to a rug in a hotel storeroom last June 19, then telephoned for firemen in a station half a block away.

Judge Williams said he would pass sentence Feb. 20. He set appeal bond at $10,000.

Truss Named To UM Post

Dr. Carroll Vance Truss, University of Miami psychology professor since 1955, has been named assistant dean of the UM graduate school.

DR. TRUSS

He will assist Dean J. Riis Owre in the expanding graduate program which next year will include doctor of philosophy and doctor of education offerings.

Dr. Truss received his M.S. in psychology from the UM in 1950 and his Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins in 1955. His specialty is experimental and industrial psychology.

$50,000 Damage Suit Dismissed

A Circuit Court jury Wednesday blamed the death of Mrs. Irene Douglas on her own negligence in walking in front of an automobile, and dismissed her husband's $50,000 damage suit.

Mrs. Douglas, 51, had left funeral services for a friend at Van Orsdel's Coral Gables Mortuary last April 18 and was within one step of the center line at SW 8th St. and 46th Ave., when she was struck and killed.

Her husband, Samuel A. Douglas II, 54, a U.S. Customs inspector, 75 NW 33rd Ave., sued Arthur F. Hackney, 2301 S. Bayshore Dr., as driver of the car.

Calls for Showdown

U.S. Secret Plan On Berlin Claimed

CHICAGO — (UPI) — A secret plan has been prepared by the U.S. and approved by its allies for a showdown with Russia on the Berlin issue, The Chicago Sun-Times said Wednesday night.

According to a Washington dispatch written by Frederick Kuh, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles won support of the project from Great Britain, France and West Germany during his tour of Europe last week.

The main purpose of the project would be to mobilize world opinion, Kuh wrote.

Under the plan, The Sun-Times reported, on the deadline set by the Communists for the Allied withdrawal from Berlin, May 27, the Allies would launch a major test, sending a column of trucks from West Germany into Berlin.

The column would be composed of only U.S., British and French trucks and personnel, the newspaper said.

If the Allied convoy is permitted to travel safely along the route without challenge, it would be regarded as a precedent in the cold war, Kuh wrote.

But if the East German Communists try to halt the convoy or inspect it, the Allied commander would be instructed to refuse and return the convoy to West Germany if the Reds still insisted, the story said.

Then the Allies would throw the Berlin issue into the U.N., carrying it either to the 11-nation U.N. Security Council, or possibly asking for a special session of the 82-nation General Assembly, The Sun-Times said.

Ike and Mamie To Join Queen

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President and Mrs. Eisenhower will fly to Montreal, Canada, June 26 to join Queen Elizabeth for ceremonies marking the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

2 Youths Given Year in Prison

James Green, 19, of 4433 E. 10th Ave., Hialeah and Harry Lester, 18, of 940 E. 40th St., Hialeah, were each sentenced to a year in state prison Wednesday for breaking into Thelma's Grocery, 4060 NW 167th St., Jan. 5, and taking about $100 worth of candy, chewing gum and razor blades. Criminal Court Judge George E. Schulz cited a long record of thefts and previous suspension of sentences in pronouncing the terms.

Havana Placed 'Off-Limits' for Stars Making Film in Key West

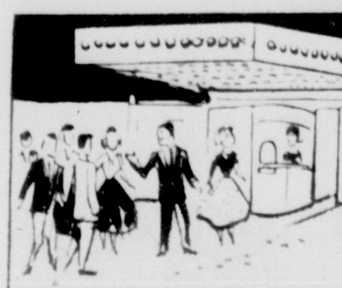
WE DON'T KNOW whether it is because of the political situation or in recognition of other possible pitfalls, but Havana — only 90 miles away across the Florida straits — has been placed off limits for members of the Universal company making "Operation Petticoat" at Key West.

That's the project which has Tony Curtis, winner of this year's Photoplay award, and Cary Grant, who was runner-up, and Dina Merrill, the famous Post (cereal) Toastie queen, heading the cast.

Incidentally, if you boatmen are cruising the waters down thataway this week and think you are seeing pink sea elephants don't SOS Alcoholics Anonymous right away. It might merely be the shrimp-pink "tin fish" used in the filming. Story of "Operation Petticoat" is concerned with the submarine service.

On the subject of Cuba, Fidel Castro had better get those gaming casinos going by mid-March or he's apt to hear from Spyros Skourous of Twentieth Century-Fox. Some months ago Dick Powell changed the locale of "No House Limit" from Las Vegas to Havana and the name to "Casino."

Then came the revolution and there was some talk of changing the locale again and taking the company (in which Cary Grant might appear) to Portugal. But last week Powell spoke via phone to Castro reps in Havana and a first or second week in March starting date was set.



Amusements

Movies Night Clubs Drama

Tony Curtis . . . barred

Marie McDonald . . . body

Paul Whiteman . . baptismal

Just as a matter of reciprocity, wonder if Powell will put Key West off limits for his cast and crew during the filming?

* * *

'The Body' on Vacation Here

MARIE McDONALD has parked "The Body" at the Eden Roc for a vacation . . . Singer Nancy MacDonald, no kin, will fill in at the Carillon Hotel Tambourine Room while Ruth Wallis is doing a New Orleans date . . . Coral Gables Jaycees will stage its annual Orchid Ball and Model Queen contest at the Coral Gables Country Club this Friday night. Woody Herman's band for music! . . . Earl Bostic, Rocking MB Lounge musician, records for King label . . .

It was a girl stork dividend for Mrs. Frank (Rayemarie) Deusinger, able associate of The Herald's radio, television and entertainment departments . . . movie producer Robert Webb arranged for complete color photography on the Gasparilla Festival up in Tampa this week.

Harris-Kubrick, who will produce the movie version of "Lolita," lost out on protest against another producer titling a film "Nymphet" so isn't taking chances. Firm just registered "Twelve-year-old Woman" as a title for protective purposes. Story is about affair between septuagenarian and 12-year-old girl.

'Rhapsody in Blue' 35 Years Old

TODAY is the 35th anniversary of the first playing of "Rhapsody in Blue" by the Paul Whiteman-Roy Bargy team recently reunited for the Newcomers of 1928 revue at the Deauville Hotel. Debut of the George Gershwin number, we are told, was on Lincoln's Birthday at Aeolian Hall in 1924. Aeolian Hall, we are told was on 44th St. in New York. We had thought it was on 42nd St.—but thinking back we may have been confusing it with Aeolian Building. At any rate, Paul and Roy were together on it.

Alfred Barrow, rushes in with a tip that limbo contests (see last Sunday's Fun in Florida magazine of The Herald) are a feature of the Granada Club, where Lad Richard's Latin-Calypso band plays such things as "The Big Bamboo" . . . Dancer named Blaze Starr hits the trail into the Gaeity on Feb. 20 . . . Judson Smith and his racy ditties due at Tuscany Lounge in Hollywood Friday . . . That parody on "Tea for Two Cha Cha Cha" which Jerry Lester introduced at the Variety Show of Shows was penned by Jack Ross—just before showtime.

Tony Bennett, now at the Diplomat, dropped in at Julius LaRosa's restaurant in Hollywood recently — but no Julius. But he is due down soon for a vacation prior to his opening at the Diplomat . . . Harold Winston won't be able to play an admiral opposite Cary Grant in "Operation Petticoat." Shooting schedule has been changed and the admiral sequence will be made at the studio. Winston was assistant on "Arsenic and Old Lace," which starred Grant in 1944. He now lives in the Gables.

Jon Hall, Raquel Torres To Wed Soon?

THE LATE SHOW: Democratic biggies Carmine De Sapio and Chas. Buckley, gleefully discussing Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, were overheard saying: "Let him pile on all the taxes he wants" . . . Charles Revson, owner of Revlon, made over $800,000 (after taxes) disposing of some minor stocks last week . . . Singer-dancer Johnny Bachemin was held over 3 months at the Vegas Dunes. Such a hit . . . AGVA pulled Tempest Storm out of her $2,000 a week strip job on 52nd Street because the night club wouldn't post a bond. Amateur strippers are getting the jobs . . . Lovely Temple Texas, once a showdoll (then an actress), is now press-agenting the show-gals in "Gypsy," Ethel Merman's next . . . Mary Montoy of "Suzie" and Michael Lawrence of "Gazebo" are uh-huh . . . Jon Hall and Raquel Torres Ames are expected to merge soon . . . Don't invite Jimmy Durante and Buddy Hackett to the same benefit . . . Correction: In the suit filed by Rebecca Wells against Brad Goldberg (to have a Mexican divorce declared null and void) the Supreme Court has not, as yet decided this issue . . . The dissension between France Nuyen and her leading man at "Wong" has the producers nervous.

MOVIE STAR Margaret O'Brien's fiance, Robert Allen, is taking instructions in her faith . . . All those items about Eva Gabor marrying Richard Brown are exaggerated. He's separated, but not legally free . . . June Havoc is happiest with H. Finsness, a Norwegian, who owns smart shops in Bermuda and Jamaica . . . Myrna Loy's steadiest date at the Voison is a Dr. Hecker . . . "Disenchanted" stars Rosemary Harris and George Grizzard are very enchanted off-stage. He does her zipping up . . . Scott Brady's in town challenging Vic Damone for possession of lovely Gloria Caldwell . . . Lane Turner's ex, Lex Barker, and Eda Cielli of the Italian violin clan make sweet music together . . . Tom Pryor of the N.Y. Times' H'wood Bureau can be Variety's new H'wood Editor . . . Wealthy "Baby" Pignatari's current flame is Gwen Velos, who has her own mint . . . Arnold Grant was quietly divorced in Acapulco last week. Mrs. Grant got a huge settlement. His next bride will be Audrey Meadows.

HOPE HAMPTON'S stone lions (which guard the portals of her Park Avenue town house) were thefted for the steenth time the other ante meridian . . . Butler Miles, the Grosse Pointer, stopped dating an Ebony star because his kin do not approve of people "in show business" . . . Former ballerina Maria Gambarelli is studying actressing at Actors' Studio . . . Two big business execs tangled outside of El Morocco over a beautiful society woman. The loser phoned her husband at 3 a.m. and demanded to know why he allowed her to date "such a crumb" . . . Candy Nelson is ill at Beth Israel Hosp. . . . Lisa Kirk, who started the Persian Room season, is booked to close the swank spot for three weeks starting May 25th . . . Eileen Barton's secret beau is very rich but not free . . . The James Roosevelts call their cat "Truman."

* * *

HUGH ("WYATT EARP") O'Brian's big date in Britain was actress Jackie Lane. In Italy she was luscious Rossano Rory. The reports from Paris are not in yet . . . George Chickaris, dancing star of London's "West Side Story," is smitten with Lady Juliette Inverness, 23 . . . Adrienne Angel, red-haired beauty in "First Impressions," gets daily orchids from Wilton Taylor, Wall Streeter .

MacMurray in Western with 'Senior Prom'

College, Colts in Lively Twin Feature

Movie Review

"Senior Prom" and "Good Day for a Hanging," at the Town Theater, present a mixture of cactus and campus capers which add up to fair returns in the entertainment division.

"Prom" is frail in the story department telling a standard yarn about college girl preferring handsome lad to lad with loot. It is of sufficient durability, however, to serve as a framework for the recording star offerings which are intended to be its principal appeal.

Jill Corey, Paul Hampton, Jimmie Komack, Tom Laughlin and Barbara Bostock play the dramatic leads and double in song as well — Miss Corey in "Big Daddy" and "One Year Older," and Komack and Miss Bostock in some zesty vocals.

"Good Day for a Hanging" is stronger in the story department, with Fred MacMurray doing nicely with the role of a frontier town figure who takes on the marshal's job when the latter is killed in action.

His first assignment involves a likable lad accused of murder and MacMurray is made to appear a sadistic lawman—to the townspeople.

'Stranger's' Love Story Has Impact

IN BRIEF—Romance of a widow and the man with whom her husband went down at sea, hampered by a mother whose aim is glorifying the son's memory.

By MARION AITCHISON
Herald Staff Writer

Movie Review

Robert Wilder's novel, "And Ride a Tiger," has been turned into prime screen fare under the title of "Stranger in My Arms," now at the Carib, Miami and Miracle.

We don't recall reading the book, so we can't say how faithful the translation may be, but it makes absorbing viewing.

Suspense, romance and high drama are combined in the screen story, told both in current mood and in flashback.

It boasts a super cast, each player scoring, with perhaps the richest role going to Mary Astor, whose life story you probably have been reading recently in The Herald.

As a domineering, selfish and possessive mother, she's able still to win your sympathy while remaining consistenly in character.

June Allyson, always adept, is the hapless widow of the son, lost in the war, whose memory the mother is determined to venerate.

Jeff Chandler is quietly effective as the fellow-flier who conceals the story of what really happened when he and the son spent days in a life raft at sea during which the son was, he reports, swept overboard.

He is silent, that is, until his interest in the widow and realization of her situation under the domination of the mother, changes his viewpoint.

'Sleeping Beauty' Full of Magic

By GEORGE BOURKE
Herald Amusement Editor

Right at the start it should be stated that except for purposes of identification of a format it is sheer misrepresentation to refer to "Sleeping Beauty," Walt Disney's newest offering opening today at the Sheridan Theater, as an "animated cartoon."

IN BRIEF — Another triumph in the world of ageless make-believe by Walt Disney's artists.

Movie Review

The richness of color, the illusion of depth achieved by the combination of Disney's own animation processes and the Technirama - 70 color photography in which the 75-minute feature has been made, and the additional quality of "reality" given the images through meticulous care in matching voice with figure make "Sleeping Beauty" a thing of full dimension instead of wavering line-drawing.

Disney and his writers have not toyed too extensively with the basic story of "Sleeping Beauty." Erdman Penner's screenplay has been adapted from Charles Perrault's 17th Century version of an even then centuries-old folktale about the daughter of a king who is doomed by an evil witch to die from the prick of a spinning wheel.

All the familiar elements of the story are retained: The hateful Maleficient who invoked the spell; Flora, Fauna and Merryweather, the good fairies, who try to forestall the curse, and Prince Philip, whose kiss is to raise Aurora up from the protective sleep into which the good fairy has cast her.

But Disney's artists have endowed the medieval figures with characteristics more in tempo with the television-tempered tastes of today's younger set. Maleficient, for instance, is a blood-and-guts creation of brimstone and electronic fire.

The kings of the Disney script, too, are less pompous and designed for comedy relief, and even Princess Aurora and Prince Philip behave in more modern boy-meets-girl style.

"Sleeping Beauty" is a magnificent achievement, offering suspense, action and happy humor, in a truly giant-size package.

Rubbish! Court Can Err, Bankers Told

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D., N.C.) charged Wednesday that on many occasions during recent years the Supreme Court has usurped and exercised the power of Congress and the states to amend the Constitution while professing to interpret it.

Ervin said, "In so doing, the Supreme Court has encroached upon the constitutional powers of Congress as the nation's legislative body and struck down state action and state legislation in areas clearly committed to the states" by the Constitution.

The senator is a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee and a former North Carolina Supreme Court justice. His charges were contained in a speech to the American Bankers Association trust division.

Ervin also said it is "sheer intellectual rubbish" to say that Americans must believe in the "infallibility of judges" or to accept their "judicial aberrations."

He said the people "have an inalienable right to think and speak their honest thoughts concerning all things under the sun, including the decisions of Supreme Court majorities."

Ervin said many recent court decisions have caused him to wonder whether the court should not change the inscription on its building from "Equal justice under law" to "Not justice under law, but justice according to the personal notions of the temporary occupants of this building."

Gas Station Wins Fight

Some 100 Hialeah home owners have lost a battle to prevent construction of a service station at E. 49th St. and Eighth Ave.

The city council voted 5-2 authorizing construction, but property owners near the site said they would go to court to block the permit.

Sarit Elected Premier of Thailand

Sarit is the strongman leader of the ruling Revolutionary Party. He headed the coup which ousted longtime Premier P. Pibulsonggram late in 1957 and last October disbanded the national assembly and put Thailand under full military rule.

Since October the military, ruling by decree, has made considerable progress in improving government services.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

EVERY DAY I learn something. Now I know why people give me a dirty sneering laugh when I say: "No, I can't get your traffic violation voided. It can't be done." Evidently they knew better.

BELL

For all at once we hear of 1,800 voided traffic tickets by Metro judges since they started work last March.

I was in Municipal Court Wednesday morning, listening to the craziest trial of the semester. A filling station operator thought a man stole a used tire. After about 30 minutes of wasted questioning the man admitted the tire wasn't worth anything anyway.

"It had a hole in it," he explained.

Asked Judge Francis Sobieski: "Would it have worked if copies of The Herald, which told about me fixing traffic tickets while I was in the hospital, were placed over the hole?"

'Twas an ambiguous attempt at sarcasm which nobody understood; and nobody laughed except a few court attaches who are duty-bound. But for the record, The Herald never used such a story, but did tell of Judge Sobieski's wife's traffic ticket being voided by a Metro judge.

He's Still Spry

Jim McMartin of Miami Shores golf club is 74. He met me as I came off the ninth green with a bit of cheerful information relative to the facts of life on the links. "I played 36 holes Sunday and 27 yesterday," he said pridefully. "I wanted to go 36 yesterday but the young fellows conked out on me." The boys in the clubhouse told me Jim shot 81-79 to win the seniors tournament. How do you feel?

Show Success

Last week's big Show of Shows looked (Bob) Hope-less, but came along just dandy without the Hollywood ace. Figures are just about in, with the scuttlebutt: $20,000 gross and about $3,000 expenses. Those expenses include musicians, stage hands and $1,500 to the Theater Authority fund for indigent actors. This leaves a goodly sum for Variety Children's Hospital.

The show was set up by Sammy Walsh, ably aided by Paul Bruun. Arnold Friedman and Marvin Guberman handled tickets, Abe Schoenfeld the transportation. Charlie Marx and Alvin and Arnold Rubenstein of the Charlie's delicatessen chain donated the food and Pepsi-Cola the soft drinks.

Plus which 'twas a real nice clambake and they all had a real good time.

Proper Intro

We all know that Circuit Judge Pat Cannon isn't exactly slender. And it remained for comedian Guy Rennie to give Pat the proper introduction at a recent meeting of Footlighters: "The only wall-to-wall judge in Dade County."

* * *

'Far Superior'

Hialeah Jaycees modestly admit their Miss Hialeah Pageant at the auditorium Saturday night is going to be "so far superior to the usual shindig, the other just don't count." The queen is to be selected from some two dozen entrants, the winner to be eligible for the state beauty pageant finals.

* * *

Success Story

There's a story of grit 'n determination behind the accordion mastery displayed by Tony Lovello of the Three Suns, at Americana Hotel. A child of six, on his way to appear on a Major Bowes show, both his arms were broken in a bus accident. Nine years later, still eager to play, he forgot his doctors, started practicing — and is rated tops on the instrument.

Beach Doctor Gets 60 Days

Dr. Abraham Silver, 61, Miami Beach physician, was sentenced to 60 days in jail Wednesday for misleading the court in a damage suit.

Silver was accused of telling the jury that he was a member of the Dade County Medical Association and that he had treated Mrs. Pearl Solomon during 184 visits to his office.

State Attorney Richard Gerstein, in the hearing before Circuit Judge J. Fritz Gordon, said the actual number of visits, according to Silver's records, was 121. He also said Silver was not a member of the medical association.

Silver's attorneys said he would appeal.

Making Ends Meet

Gerstein: Voiding 'Abused'

Prosecutor Tells His Own Actions

What are grounds for voiding a traffic ticket?

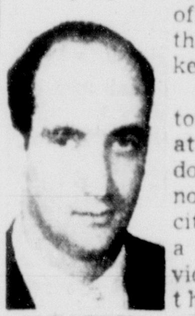
Insufficient evidence will be the only justifiable reason for voiding tickets from now on, he said.

But Metro records showed Wednesday the state attorney himself approved voiding a ticket for a Miami doctor who was, purportedly, a three-time offender — so the doctor could keep his license.

An explanatory statement attached to the doctor's ticket noted that the citation was for a third moving violation and that it was withdrawn with this note over Gerstein's signature: "So the doctor can continue driving his car, necessary for practice. Feel warning is sufficient."



GERSTEIN

Gerstein also has approved voiding of an array of tickets on grounds of "hardship."

The prosecutor took voiding of tickets on moving violations under wings of state attorney's office in November and each voided ticket now must be approved by his office.

In the case of the doctor, Gerstein said he personally would not have withdrawn charges but would have placed the matter before a judge to decide merits of the case.

He approved the statement personally, but pointed out the state attorney's office follows the policy of approving withdrawls at the request and upon recommendation of the arresting officers.

"We have relied on their judgment but it looks as if there is no other course but to put our foot down hard," he declared.

Thus the new policy.

A check with the Miami doctor involved, as well as with state records in Tallahassee, shows only one previous violation. Both were for speeding.

The first was in May of 1958 when the doctor was cited for speeding 70 in a 40 mile zone. He said he protested the 70-mile figure in a letter but paid the $15 fine.

The second violation, dated Jan. 1, 1959, which was voided, cited him for going 50 mph in a 30 mph zone.

The doctor said he spoke to the chief of the highway patrol about it and he, in turn, talked to the officer. But, he said, he did not tell them it was a third violation "because it wasn't."

Autos listed in the violations voided for "hardship," were in many cases expensive brands. One was a Cadillac, another a '58 Ford convertible.

One cited with a '59 Oldsmobile and a good address, said paying the $15 fine for speeding would not have bothered him financially.

"I've lived and driven in Dade for years and never had a ticket. I felt I was caught in a speed trap — and I went down to the sheriff's office and protested. It wasn't the money but the principle of the thing."

He said he didn't know anyone in the office, had no pull, and did not plead money troubles.

But the ticket was withdrawn by the officer and voided with approval of the state attorney's office. Reason: hardship.

Ex-Mrs. Wright Blasts Auction at Old Estate

'Going Once, Going Twice, Sold!'
. . . while former owner fumes

The former Mrs. Warren Wright, owner of Calumet Farms, charged Wednesday that an auction going on at her old oceanfront homestead is "disgraceful, horrible and outrageous."

The widow, now socialite and sportswoman Mrs. Gene Markey, said she was astounded to read ads in the newspapers implying her old furnishings were for sale.

"When I sold that house in Dec., 1951," she said, "I didn't leave a stick of furniture. I gave it away to my friends. I sold it for next to nothing. I even burned some of it.

"I feel awfully sorry for the people buying things there."

The sale, which started Monday and ends today, is being run by Lester Hart, long-time Beach auctioneer.

The ad, which appeared in The Herald last Sunday, said:

"New Era for Miami Beach
A 14-story Oceanfront
Luxury Apartment House
Will Replace
This Fabulous Oceanfront
Mansion Known to Everyone as The Former
WARREN WRIGHT ESTATE

"Therefore, the entire contents of the 25-room main house and its two guest houses will be sold on the premises at 5255 Collins Ave."

Late Wednesday night Mrs. Lester Hart, running the auctions with her husband, said, "Yes, these furnishings are from the Calumet Estate. But maybe some things were moved in from their northern estates."

"Oh, no," he said after Mrs. Hart was informed of Mrs. Markey's statement. "These things are not from the original estate."

He said he didn't think the ad was misleading. He pointed out that it said, "on the premises of the former Warren Wright estate."

For the third straight day Wednesday, buyers jammed cars onto the front lawn, trooped through the home to a tent set up in the backyard, and bid on hundreds of items.

For example:

"I never owned a magnificent old English concert grand piano," said Mrs. Markey heatedly. "I would like to sue, but I am afraid there is nothing I can do about it."

Warren Wright, a baking powder tycoon, died in 1950. His widow went to California, returned a year later, and sold the home for $300,000 to Irving Kipnis, owner of the Biscayne Terrace Hotel. She married Markey in 1952.

Kipnis said Wednesday night he refurnished the entire home and sold it to the Eastern Corp., represented by former Beach Councilman Sam Halperin. The firm approved the auction before the home is torn down.

The home hasn't been lived in since.

Body Discovered

A body found floating in the Miami River near the Fifth St. bridge Wednesday was identified as that of Adelard Duchaine, 56, whose last known address was 326 SW Fourth St.

Electrician Arrested In Attack

Safety Director Thomas J. Kelly identified the man as Robert R. Manning Jr., of 1101 NW 143rd St., and said he was arrested on a warrant issued by Peace Justice Hugh DuVal.

Kelly said Detectives Harry Marcus and John Esty picked up Manning at his home. Manning has a wife and two children and another child on the way, Kelly said.

Police said the rape of the 38-year-old woman occurred Tuesday afternoon when a man came into her yard, pulled a gun on her, forced her inside the house and assaulted her.

Kelly said Manning was given a suspended sentence after a charge last October of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

But Students Find It Has Its Returns

Their History Sure Is a Taxing Subject

By JOY WINANS
Herald Writer

Bet you'd never guess what the pupils at South Dade High School are studying in American History these days.

William Jennings Bryan? The Battle of Bull Run? Tippecanoe and Tyler, too?

A total of 10 hours in American History II, a senior course, is being devoted to income tax forms and exemptions, said teacher Henry Cieslinski. Fifty-two pupils in his class and that of Mrs. Julia DeMilly are getting the special instruction.

"The average student who graduates from high school has no knowledge of income tax," said Cieslinski. "All he learns, he has to get from his parents, and they may not be up on all the latest deductions."

"I hardly think we'd do that," said Mrs. A. C. Bennett, 643 Krome Ter. "My husband usually fills out the tax forms anyway."

"I wish my son could understand how to fill out all those forms," said Mrs. George Wallace Sr., 10020 Haitian Dr., Cutler Ridge. "But I don't know whether he could manage the whole thing or not."

First four hours of the tax course were taught by Homestead tax attorney James McDonald. His services are sponsored by the Homestead-South Dade Jaycees.

History instructors will fill in the other six hours, according to Cieslinski.

"We're about halfway through already," he said. "The purpose of it isn't really to enable kids to fill out their parents' income tax forms, but rather it's to give a quick background on how to fill out their own."

Many of the students hold part-time jobs, he explained.

20th Street Opening

All Airlines But Eastern In Terminal

Full Scale Operations In Swing

Transfers Made During Night

By JAMES BUCHANAN
Herald Staff Writer

Twenty-two airlines began full-scale operations today at Miami's new 26 million dollar International Airport terminal, right on schedule despite a labor dispute that threatened to delay complete opening of the facility.

The move from the old 36th St. Terminal went on all through Wednesday night as the airline personnel toted schedule boards, furniture and paperwork to the new quarters on NW 20th St.

Only Eastern Air Lines, delayed in moving by its 38-day strike, remained in operation from its old 36th St. location.

But the other three of Miami's "Big Four" airlines — Pan American, National and Delta — were in position at the new terminal early this morning.

The switch from the overcrowded old terminal to the new jet-age facility had to take place in most cases between the let-up of heavy traffic late Wednesday night and its start again early today.

Opening of the new terminal for full-scale operations was threatened last week by a union jurisdictional dispute that touched off a walkout on construction jobs. A Circuit Court order, however, but workmen back on the job.

Parking facilities for 4,600 cars were ready and waiting, along with 1,400 spaces set aside for airline employes working at the Terminal.

Those taking their own cars to the Terminal will pay 25 cents for their first hour of parking, 10 cents for the second hour, and then a downward sliding scale for time beyond that.

What will happen to the old 36th St. terminal building, through which millions of passengers passed during the growth of Miami avaition, still is in doubt.

The Port Authority said "our main concern was getting the new terminal occupied and we will turn the old building's problems now."

Many offers have been received, a spokesman said, to rent the entire building outright; other firms have said they want office or storage space in the old facilities.

New Plan Set This Year

Missiles Grounded Hurricane-Hunters

By EDDIE GONG
Herald Staff Writer

During last year's hurricane season Navy and Air Force hurricane-hunter planes were grounded during Cape Canaveral missile firings to avoid air collisions, the Miami Weather Bureau revealed Wednesday.

"But we hope things will be different this season under a new plan to halt missile launchings so that the planes can probe danger areas and actual hurricanes more uniformly," said Chief forecaster Gordon Dunn.

Dunn explained that due to lack of coordinated planning, the planes were grounded to avoid being hit by missiles fired into the hurricane breeding ground where reconnaissance probes are concentrated.

The new plan was a result of a two-day hurricane conference between military and civil heads of agencies which supply valuable hurricane information.

Dunn said the conference made other plans to effectively assemble and interpret hurricane information.

They include:

ARRANGEMENTS to supply hurricane bulletins to news media 15 minutes before the four daily bulletins are broadcast.

SPEEDING up of relay communications with the San Juan Weather Bureau.

Attending the conference were: Col. R. F. Long, of the Air Force Weather Service; Capt. J. F. Tatom, U.S. Navy; J. B. Whiteside, Federal Aviation Agency, Washington; Norman A. Matson, weather bureau Headquarters, Washington and civilian weather officials from New Orleans, San Juan and Miami.

Dunn, who headed the conference, leaves today for Washington for a four-month study of new meteorological techniques.

"I'll get back just in time for the hurricane season," said Miami's head weatherman.

Raise Pay? Never, Says Commission

Metro commissioners recoiled Wednesday from the thought of giving themselves a pay raise as if it was a suggestion they shout "Viva Batista" in the streets of Havana.

"I'd vote no if it came up in the commission," Chairman Walter Weiss said. "The people elected us to $6,000 jobs, and they certainly don't expect us to raise our own pay."

Arthur Patten said "the people may someday decide their county commissioners are worth more than $6,000, and vote for a charter change. But it's not for me to say."

The issue was raised at Tuesday's meeting by the commission's most proficient needler, John McLeod. He is one of the five "old" members with a $15,000 salary until their terms run out in 1960.

After the next election, all commissioners will receive $6,000, the yearly salary now drawn by the six newcomers.

"I move we raise everybody's pay to $15,000," McLeod often pipes up when "new" commissioners are criticizing actions of the "old" crew. McLeod did it again Tuesday.

The closest he came to getting a second was when Ben McGahey said, in an aside to Alex Gordon, "I wish there was some way we could do it."

"Don't fool with it, boy," Gordon said. "It would be political suicide."

Teague's Death Is a Reminder Drivers Take Calculated Risks

IT WAS a saddening surprise Wednesday—news that Marshal Teague had been killed while driving his Sumar Special at Daytona Beach's International Epeedway.

I just had returned from Daytona, where Tuesday I not only watched Teague attempt to set a speed record, but also sped around the track with Bill France, the man who built it. That experience now seems inconsequential, even if it was scary at the time.

We chatted with Teague briefly after he halted his record bids for the day. Observers had noted something was wrong with one of the tires of his intriguing racing machine.

Prior to this, I told France I had become an auto race fan. It seemed the only way of making Bill concentrate exclusively on his driving while we were hurtling around the Speedway.

FRANCE

It was an unsolicited indoctrination in speed, as France took me on a tour of the modern $3,000,000 racing plant which is certain to become a popular tourist lure for Florida. The International Speedway with its 31-degree banked two-and-a-half-mile track will become the same thing to auto racing that Hialeah is to the turf sport.

"We'll try out the track in a few minutes," Bill confided as he drove his convertible along the outside rim road, circling above the track. It is used for safety and maintenance and workmen were getting in last licks on the fence as Teague warmed up his Sumar Special, a speedway type car with an Offenhauser motor.

Urging us back into his car, France explained, "If Teague blows something we ain't gonna be here." He drove on around, warning the workmen to take cover behind trucks when Teague warmed up and put his foot down in an all-out effort.

Teague, who Monday had attained a speed of 171 m.p.h., fell short in this test. On one lap his speed was announced as 170.068 m.p.h., and his car sounded like an angry hornet.

When Teague went to the pits for a checkup, France, who handles a car as accurately as Cary Middlecoff does a putter, drove down off the rim road.

This Is It, Fellows

FOR A moment, I hoped Bill would forget the promised ride around the track. Instead he wheeled through a tunnel, leading under the track to the infield, and eased onto the track.

On the straightaway everything seemed fine, although the wind whipped into the rear seat where Grayson and I clutched each other for comfort. Then we hit the first curve and the striped asphalt seemed to be coming into the car.

France turned halfway round and inquired, "How is it, fellows—you aren't scared?"

In weak voices we replied, "No," and then we hit the straightaway again and as a repeat trip around the curve loomed, France popped a question at me. "Are you a race fan now?"

"Yeah," I replied, hoping this would make Bill face the track and keep both hands on the wheel.

When we came off the track to let Teague make another bid for a record, I asked Clive Hansard, the front seat passenger, how fast we'd been going.

"When I quit looking the speedometer needle had hit 135," he replied.

And, believe it or not, the wind suction in the rear seat was so great that it pulled an envelope from my side coat pocket onto the front seat.

* * *

Why France Built Speedway

PHYSICAL CONSTRUCTION of the track on 448 acres, near the Volusia Kennel club, was started last April. France exhausted seven years of planning and six different financing plans in getting ready.

"How'd you get the idea for such a track?" Bill was asked.

"I tired of having people tell me they would become race fans if there was some way of seeing the racing cars all of the time," Bill, whose own stock car driving dates back into the 30s, said.

"You can see every minute of the action here from the five grandstands and bleachers, with seats for 30,000. You have a good view from the infield, where you sit in your own car."

* * *

Bill's Friends Co-operated

IN DEVOTING a lifetime to driving cars and later promoting races, France made hundreds of friends. Their co-operation helped make his dream come true. The city leased him the land which includes a mile-long lake and a sports car course. Sixteen hundred persons bought 430,000 shares of stock at a buck each.

HULMAN

A favor rendered Clint Murchison, Texas multi-millionaire was repaid many fold. France approached Murchison about borrowing some machinery. Clint learned Bill was having trouble financially and helped him to get a $500,000 loan.

Don Smith of Pompano gambled in moving the dirt, a tremendous undertaking. Tony Hulman, owner of the Indianapolis Speedway, instead of regarding this track as a rival sent his superintendent, Clarence Cagle, here to help with the opening. Now Daytona will have big-time racing five months of the year.

The first big program is upcoming Feb. 20-21-22. The 500-mile International Sweepstakes will be held on the latter date, a Sunday, and France thinks 60,000 will attend.

Champ Avenges Miami Beach Defeat

Brown Floors Busso, Retains Title

HOUSTON — Joe Brown knocked down Johnny Busso in the ninth round, made his face a gory mask and went on to a 15-round unanimous decision that retained his world's lightweight championship Wednesday night.

It was age triumphing over youth once more and Brown gaining revenge for the only defeat on his record in two years — Busso's overweight decision at Miami Beach in November.

It was the sixth defense of the 33-year-old Brown's title in two years and it was even more decisive than the last one — the decision here over Kenny Lane last July.

Busso's nose bleed from the third round on and in the 14th Brown opened a cut on Busso's cheek. In the 15th Busso was fighting with his left eye almost closed.

The knockdown came on a hard right counter punch. It knocked Busso over the ropes onto the ring apron. He climbed back immediately and took after Brown, indicating he was not badly hurt.

"What held that guy up, I'd like to know?" Brown said in his dressing room.

"I think I broke his nose—I'm not sure. He was strong but no stronger than our last fight."

The champion was in a light mood but over in Busso's dressing room the New Yorker sobbed. His father, Joseph Busso, tried to console him.

"He never hurt me," Busso said. But his lips, both eyes, left cheek and nose showed the effects of a terrific beating, discolored and swollen.

Busso chased Brown much of the way and landed plenty of blows, but few were effective. The New York lad was missing more than he landed. He appeared very tired in the last two rounds.

Brown fought with a grin on his face most of the time while Busso was a grim youngster—he's only 24, and is supposed to be the strongest challenger Brown has met.

The knockdown was caused partly by Brown's straight right to the chin and the momentum caused by a Busso swing that missed. Busso fell over the lower rope and Brown retreated to a far corner.

The champ appeared surprised when Busso arose and rushed across the ring so quickly. Busso drove him into a corner with rights and lefts but could not puncture the amazing defense of the skinny Negro from Baton Rouge, La.

Brown won a wide decision on the officials' cards. Referee Jimmy Webb scored it 148 for Brown and 131 for Busso. Judge Bill Cornelius had it 149 for Brown and 140 for Busso. Judge Ernie Taylor gave Brown 147 and Busso 138.

A crowd of about 10,000 that paid about $60,000 turned out for the fight. Television added $40,000, so Brown, who got 40 per cent of the receipts, came up with about $40,000. Busso earned about $20,000.

Two left jabs in the seventh struck Busso on the nose but Busso came through with a long right. Brown then dodged another, nearly fell, but recovered quickly for a strong right to the head. Hard rights then were exchanged and Brown landed two lefts to the chin.

Sooners' Demand of OB: Satisfy Us 'In Writing'

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

University of Oklahoma officials Wednesday threw the second punch in their cross-country "newspaper fight" with the Orange Bowl Committee.

Again, the startled OB Committeemen were caught with their guards down.

The Oklahoma regents demanded — in a statement to newspapermen — assurance "in writing" of a satisfactory solution to problems which they say have come up in the Sooners' recent appearances in Orange Bowl games.

Otherwise, proclaimed the regents, Oklahoma's football team will not play in the Orange Bowl following the 1960 season or any other time.

Stephen A. Lynch Jr., new Orange Bowl president, in Boston Wednesday, replied:

"When either the University of Oklahoma or the Big Eight Conference gets in touch with us by the proper method . . . in writing . . . then the Orange Bowl committee will consider their protest on its merits.

"I was unaware," added Lynch, "that any problems existed before the last game (Jan. 1 of this year)."

A white-hot controversy was touched off in the last game when ground-level spectators complained Oklahoma players blocked their view by refusing to sit in the dugout.

Guarantee of a solution of the problems, OU's Regents ruled, most be signed by the Orange Bowl Coroton, a representative of the Big Eight Conference and Sooner Athletic Director Bud Wilkenson.

Fumed Ernie Seiler, OB general manager and vice president:

"We haven't received the first word or line of complaint from Oklahoma or the conference.

"We don't know what they're protesting.

"If Oklahoma has a gripe why don't they let us know about it directly?"

In a Jan. 15 recommendation to his Regents, Dr. George L. Gross, Oklahoma's president, said, "I want to go on record to this board (regents) that our team will not go back to Miami until such time as there is a clear understanding about our behavior on the sidelines."

Dr. Cross added the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at ground level. He also criticized what he termed inflated prices charged Oklahoma fans.

Although the Regents refused Wednesday to list any specific "problem," an OU spokesman reiterated that Oklahoma fans were complaining of high prices and poor hospitality.

Said John R. Willoughby, general manager of Ivanhoe Hotel in swank Bal Harbour where the Sooner players and official family was quartered: "They certainly could have charged them only $16.45 per person daily. And that includ-

Idun won the $26,975 Columbiana Wednesday, but First Landing, in his Hialeah and 1959 debut, finished second in the Coral Reef purse.

A throng of 19,599 watched Octopus beat First Landing by a good two and three quarter lengths in the afternoon's sixth race. First Landing, juvenile champion of 1958 and winner of 10 of 11 starts, was handled by Jockey Eddie Arcaro.

Idun, champion filly of 1957 and 1958, also was making her '59 debut. But Bill Hartack was luckier than Arcaro as Idun raced the seven-furlong Columbiana in 1:23.1.

Woodlawn, handled by Sammy Boulmetis, finished second with Happy Princess third. Mare's Beau was fourth in the 15-horse field.

Teague's Car Loses Its Streamlined Look

Marshall Teague
... after Monday record

...As Car Flips At Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH—Veteran race car driver Marshall Teague was killed Wednesday in a spectacular crackup of his Sumar Special which gained him prominence in the 1957 Indianapolis Speedway Classic.

Officials said the Sumar Special, the same type car Teague sped to seventh place in the Indianapolis "500" two years ago, flipped end-over-end during a warmup run over the 2½-mile lighting-fast asphalt track.

The Daytona Beach driver was just preparing to set a world enclosed race track record of more than 177 miles-per-hour when the front end of the big car nosed into the surface and somersaulted.

Only two days earlier, Teague set an American record of 171.82 MPH. He said he planned to make some adjustments before trying to break the old world mark of 176.818 MPH set by Tony Bettenhausen in Monza, Italy last June.

The wreck was a tragic opening to the annual NASCAR Speed Weeks which winds up Feb. 19-22 with championship races for modified and regular track models.

The new track had just been completed and replaced the old four-mile beach and road track used in previous years. It was the first fatality here in several years and one of the few in the history of this resort city.

However, Teague, national stock car champion in 1952 and 1954, was not entered in the program which began with time trials Feb. 7. He was practicing for a big-car race scheduled here in April.

Joe Eppman, NASCAR timer, said Teague was only warming up the car which had developed trouble Tuesday when one of the innter-tubes balooned. The car was owned by Chapman Root, wealthy Ormond Beach sportsman.

As Teague came into the first turn the car flipped. Teague, married and father of a 14-year-old daughter, was hurled through the canopy of the machine.

Harland Fengler of Dayton, Ohio, chief stewart of the U.S. Automobile Club, said "it looks like he lost it." In racing slang this means the driver lost control of the car.

Baseball Stars Open Golf Play

By EDDIE STORIN
Herald Sports Writer

Baseball (the names) and golf (the game) become intertwined this morning at Miami Springs as the 19th annual National Baseball Players golf tournament gets underway.

Two former champions — Albie Pearson and Alvin Dark — head a field of 40 major league entries. But Wednesday's practice-round scores indicate a wide-open tournament.

Pearson, diminutive American League Rookie of the Year from Washington, is defending champion. The five-foot, six-inch outfielder ousted John Gray (Philadelphia) on the 19th hole in the 1958 finals.

Veteran Dark, who takes golf almost as seriously as baseball, seeks to become the tournament's second four-time champion. The Chicago Cubs third baseman won in 1951, 1955 and 1957. Only Wes Ferrell ('34, '35, '38 and '39) holds more championships.

"I haven't been playing much," said Dark, "and I'm off my game. I can think of several baseball players who play the kind of golf that would win this thing."

Among Dark's "possibles" were Al Lopez, Chicago White Sox pilot who has been a runner-up three times; Jim Hearn, 1951 finalist who pitches for the Phillies; Darrell Johnson, New York Yankee catcher; Gray, a three-time medalist; and Pearson.

Dark ventured that a 75 would be good enough for medal honors today. Last year, when the first round was played in gusty weather, Pearson and Lopez led the qualifiers with 81s.

A total of 125 golfers are expected to compete. The meet is divided into six divisions—major league, minor league, inactive majors, guests, press, radio and television.

Top 16 scorers among the big leaguers will move into the championship flight when match play begins Friday. Quarterfinals are slated Saturday with the semifinals Sunday morning and finals that afternoon.

A hole-in-one tournament is scheduled for Sunday while players will be guests at a barbecue tonight at the Green Mansions Hotel, headquarters for the meet.

Celtics Win, 120-118

BOSTON — (P) — Boston nipped a great Philadelphia rally, 120-118, Wednesday night on Bill Sharman's jump shot at the final buzzer. Bob Cousy who contributed 31 points to the National Basketball Association triumph recovered a juggled pass and set up Sharman on the play.

EDWIN POPE

The Sooners Speak, In Calm Voices

Almost all parties involved in Oklahoma's Dugout Rebellion and subsequent war of words with the Orange Bowl have had their day in the papers except, apparently, the one group most heavily involved.

That is the Sooner squad itself.

We asked OU Publicist Harold Keith to find out from the players exactly how they felt about their biennial junkets to Miami and the Orange Bowl.

Here is what they said:

Dick Corbitt, guard—"On the whole, people have been pretty nice to us there. Only thing I disliked was the attitude of fans who didn't like the way we knelt along the sidelines. But they didn't realize we do that every game we play."

* * *

'Like a Vacation'

DAVID ROLLE, fullback—"The part I liked best was fishing . . . especially when I caught a 6-foot, 3-inch sail! They did a great job of showing us a good time."

Ross Coyle, end—"I consider myself lucky for having such an experience. Of course, the thing I'll remember most was my 79-yard touchdown run on a pass play against Syracuse. We enjoyed the climate, and relaxing on the ocean. It was just like a vacation."

Dick Gwinn, guard—"Just being at the game was a thrill. That was what we were there for, really—to play ball."

Mickey Johnson, center—"I don't like the gripes some fans put up about us not sitting on the benches . . . but the people who ran the bowl treated us fine."

Joe Rector, end—"It's wonderful just to be able to go. My wife made the trip, too, tnd she enjoyed herself. They had something planned for wives all the time, like fashion shows. It's sure a lot different from how we live in Oklahoma."

* * *

A Big Difference

IF neither profound nor startling, the comments contrast pleasantly with increasingly bitter exchanges between Sooner officials and Orange Bowlers over the prospects (or lack of them) for an Oklahoma return in the 1961 game.

The players' views are noteworthy simply because they represent the honest reactions of a group of honest young men—with no coaching from the sidelines.

Yale Sets Swim Mark

NEW YORK — (P) — Yale's swimmers hung up a dual meet winning record Wednesday night when they defeated Columbia, 57-29, for their 176th successive triumph under 68-year-old Coach Bob Kiphuth.

The old record of 175 was established by Yale between 1924 and 1937. It was broken by Harvard in the final meet of the '37 season.

Under Kiphuth, who retires this year, Yale swimmers have won 526 dual meets and lost only 12.

Sugar Ray Here To Discuss Bout

He'll combine a Miami-and-Nassau vacation with talks with various promoters on a possible match with Light Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore.

"I definitely want to go after Moore's title," said Robinson. "But we've got so many offers from so many people that it's going to take a while to study them over. Naturally, we want the money fight."

Co-Managers George Gainford and Harold (Killer) Johnson said five groups are trying to make the Robinson-Moore match.

They include one from Los Angeles, one from New York headed by Teddy Brenner, one using Movie Actor George Raft as its spokesman, one led by Sam Rose of Philadelphia, and finally, the International Boxing Club. IBC President Truman Gibson is due here this week.

Miamian Doc Kearns, Moore's manager, also will take part in the talks.

"We'd like to fight Robinson this summer in New York or Los Angeles if the money's okay," said Kearns. "But if we don't, we'll take on Yvon Durelle again. And we may line up a Moore-Durelle fight even before one with Robinson. We'll just have to see what breaks."

Navy Wins, 68-58

knocked Busso off his feet and almost through the ropes in the ninth but the challenger brushed the referee aside and charged back.

Brown landed a strong left to the stomach late in the first round but the challenger replied with a right to the head. Both earlier had missed frequently at long range while shooting for big punches. Busso opened by landing two lefts and a right to Brown's body but without damage.

Busso opened the second round by landing two sharp left jabs to the champion's nose and Brown came back with two good hooks to the chin. A strong right by Brown glanced off Busso's jaw. Both fighters kept pressing hard.

Busso landed a right to the stomach before both fighters landed frequently while slugging away in the center of the ring midway in the third.

Brown followed with a terrific right to the chin and the champion smiled broadly. Brown followed with several good punches and Busso's nose began to bleed.

Octopus Beats First Landing

Edna Allen, Miss J. G., A Glitter, Paris Picnic and Ramadel.

Idun paid $5.30, $3.90 and $3.70, Woodlawn was $19.40 and $9.80, and Happy Princess returned $4.70.

First Landing was not extended in his seven-furlong trek and Arcaro worked him a mile in 1:37.3.

Octopus, hero of the recent Hibiscus, never tarried a step. Octopus raced the distance in 1:22.3, fastest seven-eighths time of the meeting and only three fifths of a second off the track record.

Octopus, well-handled by Steve Brooks, paid $8.10, $2.50 and $2.20. First Landing returned $2.30 and $2.10. Moony was $2.40 to show.

Brooks said, "I figured if we were going to beat First Landing, this was the day. I had a hunch he would not run his first race out."

"We had no excuses in the running," said Arcaro. "I thought the horse ran as well as could be expected after his long layoff. This race should do him a lot of good."

THANKS to a "boo-boo" by Jockey Calvin Stone in misjudging the finish line in the fourth, some fans were richer by $107.

Stone, riding Toni Mia, stood up in the saddle three strides from the wire and was beaten a nose by the longshot Beaureve 2nd, ridden by John Ruane.

BOBBY USSERY, who vacated a sick bed last Sunday, won both ends of a $57.70 daily double. His first was the longie Pore Jim ($18.90). Ussery won the second, his 25th as Hialeah's leading rider, with Cut and Run ($7).

Wednesday's crowd bet $1,777,615. On the corresponding day last year, a throng of 21,990 wagered $2,045,786.

ed three meals from their no complaints with us. We own menu, and tips."

Under the present three-year contract with the Big Eight, Oklahoma would be eligible to return just once more — on Jan. 1, 1961.

The conference has a rule that no member may appear in a post-season game two consecutive years. Thus the second-place team represents the conference when one team wins two years in a row.

Because the recent game was the "silver anniversary" contest, the rule was waived at the request of Orange Bowl officials this year when Oklahoma met and defeated Syracuse, 21-6. The previous New Year's Day, the Sooners had defeated Duke, 48-21.

Actually, the Sooners have no negotiating powers — the OB's contract is with the Big Eight.

Wednesday, one Orange Bowl committeeman said flatly:

"It seems fairly evident Oklahoma doesn't want to come back under any circumstances . . . and is looking for every excuse to get sentiment on its side."

These Prices High?

How would you like to stay in a first-class Miami Beach Hotel during the holiday season for $16.45 per day and have room, food and tips included in the price?

That's what University of Oklahoma officials paid at the Ivanhoe Hotel in Bal Harbour during their Orange Bowl visit. Wednesday they appeared to be complaining about it.

"Inflated prices" was one of the problems that OU's Regents Wednesday demanded must be solved before they'll permit their football team to return.

"They certainly could have no complaints with us," said John R. Willoughby, the Ivanhoe's general manager.

"We charged the entire party only $16.45 per person daily. And that included room, board by their own menu and gratuities.

"In addition, we set them up in parties to attend shows at such hotels as the Eden Roc and Americana without a minimum or beverage charge."

University of Syracuse, which complained only about being defeated on New Year's Day, paid $18 per person, including gratuities and sales tax, at the new Carillon Hotel.

Each team was paid approximately $182,000 for an hour's work on New Year's Day in the Orange Bowl. — LUTHER EVANS.

Minors Hire Ed Stumpf

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — Eddie Stumpf, former minor league catcher, and Miami Marlin General Manager was named a field man by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Stumpf, the 1954 "minor league executive of the year" as general manager of Indianapolis in the American Association, will aid in the association's intensified promotional program for 1959.

A campaign to revitalize the minors, built around the theme of "it's fun to be a fan," is being launched on a country-wide scale by the association. Stumpf will work with clubs in the western portion of the United States.

an Important Message about Florida Real Estate

This message is aimed directly at all residents of South Florida and every investment minded visitor to our Sunny State. We sincerely hope you take the few minutes to read every word on this page, as there is a lot of valuable information about buying Florida Real Estate — useful to you today, tomorrow and in the years ahead.

During the past 4 years, more than 150 million dollars worth of sub-divided Florida lots have been sold to northerners, Floridians and visitors to this State. During the next 4 years, we can expect AT LEAST another 150 million dollars worth of sales. In fact, Florida Real Estate, is today considered the most marketable product in Florida — next to the Sun, Sea and Climate, which we cannot package and sell!

Because of the $10 down, $10 a month type of lot sales, the person of average means suddenly discovers that he can now own his own land in Florida because of the low monthly payments. Not too many years ago, it took an awful lot of "CASH DOWN" to buy land.

And before that it was usually the Rockefellers, Vanderbilts, Harrimans and Woolworths who were in a position to buy real estate — hold it — and sell later for great profits.

You have all read many advertisements about homesite developments, both here in Florida and in most every newspaper and magazine in the country. In fact, we are even advertising our property in Alaska! Yet we have discovered that very few people actually know the "mechanics" of real estate, such as plats, agreement for deed, abstracts, Title insurance, drainage, street building, county specifications, surveying, etc. This is understandable since the average person has actually been unable to invest in real estate until the past few years.

NOW, LEISURE LAKES, AT LAKE PLACID, FLORIDA, EXTENDS A CORDIAL INVITATION TO A

Bandel Seeks Race Days For State Stakes Fund

By RUSS HARRIS
Herald Turf Writer

Louis Bandel, president of the Florida Thoroughbred Breeders Association, plans to seek the state legislature's approval for an 11-day non-profit extension of Florida's racing season.

Purpose of the extra racing days would be to provide funds for establishing additional stakes races for Florida-bred colts and fillies, Bandel said.

"If we don't do something to make Florida more attractive to breeders, the people with mares in this state are going to take them to states which are taking steps to attract them," he said.

The former Miami judge said he believed a rental agreement could be worked out with one of South Florida's three major tracks for the association's 11-day meeting. All money earned in the added racing days, after taxes, would be used for Florida-bred stakes.

"It would not matter whether the 11 days came at the beginning, in the middle, or at the end of the present racing season," he said.

"We have fine stallions, extensive breeding establishments and 12 months of sunshine in Florida," he said. People in the racing world have learned that they can buy Florida-breds and compete with horses bred anywhere.

"But we cannot stand still. Our major problem is to attract many more top quality mares to this state," Bandel added.

He pointed out that Illinois recently launched an impressive program of providing numerous stakes events for Illinois breds in a campaign to aid breeders in that state.

Rocca Wrestles At Beach Friday

Argentine Rocca headlines Friday night's wrestling card at Miami Beach Auditorium. Rocca will team with Don Eagle in a tag-team match against the Graham Brothers.

Olympic weightlifting champion Paul Anderson will take on Dick the Bruiser, who is under threat of suspension if and out-of-the-ring tactics of last week are repeated.

Ray Villmer and Mr. America Stanley will tangle in the opening bout at 8:5 p.m.

568	13	Nicole	J. Block	x113	20-1
526	10	Marilina	L. C. Cook	110	20-1

FALCULA is sharp, must give her preference; WAY-LADY closed fast to be runnerup recently; BONNIE HEATON lost rider in last, has a chance with better luck; HASTY FLIGHT has a chance for a share here.

596—SECOND—Purse $4,000, 4-year-olds and up, claiming $6,000, 1 3-16 miles. Post 1:58.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds

b—R.W. Fincher & P. R. Peroni entry

CONFUSE finished second in last, will improve; JOHN'S QUEST's workouts have been good; CHARLIE'S ADMIRAL is liked by clocker; SEA SLIDE is nicely bred.

598—FOURTH—Purse $3,500, 3-year-old fillies, maidens, 6 furlongs. Post 2:54.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds

a—Calumet Farm entry; b—Sanford Stud Farm entry

RARE TREAT's light package should help; SANDY'S JOY should be factor on recent good races; ROSEWOOD is the best of the Calumet entry; NOVITA may make amends for recent disappointment.

603—NINTH—Purse $5,000, 4-year-olds and up, claiming $12,500-$10,500, 1⅛ miles. Post 5:14.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds

Dottie Metzger Leads Women In Pin Action

By DICK EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

Dottie Metzger, after four failures, Wednesday won the woman's scratch division of The Herald Bowlers of The Week contest.

She joins Roger Wyatt (men's scratch), Milton Pendexter (men's handicap) and Ollie Moore (women's handicap) as the week's outstanding bowlers.

Also honored with a special Herald Bowler of the Week certificate was Miles Robison. He posted a 300 game early in January but his secretary neglected to enter the perfect score.

Dot Metzger has hit 603, 634, 608 and 603 this year, but each time she finished second.

This week she registered the two best sets in the city — 183-258-202—643 in Women's Masters at Palace, 190-198-223—611 in Skip Mufflers at Bowlerama.

Wyatt was away ahead of his nearest competitor with a 265-236-233—733 in the Men's Traveling League at Hialeah.

Pendexter's 235 - 231 - 223 —689 scratch set in the Biscayne League at Palace was good for a 752 handicap set. He averages 169. In close pursuit were Frank Cameron, Paul Valenz, Ed Straub, Gene Dormer and William Bolic.

Moore posted a 657 handicap set in the Chatterbox League at Hialeah. The 115 average rolled a 169-118-235—522.

The week's nominees:

BOWLAND: Frank Cameron (678 handicap)

THE GREATER MIAMI Woman's Bowling Association will elect officers Sunday at 2:30 at the McAllister Hotel . . . D & L Garage is averaging 901 in the Coliseum Classic League . . . Louis Bottieri, Felix Rakstic and Eve Bottieri were busy split makers in the Johnson Street Mixed League at West Hollywood . . . Mary Lee Charles came up with 13 red pin strikes to take second place behind Evelyn Tietz in Tropical's tournament.

Horace Mann Wins Track

Horace Mann won the Dade County junior high school track meet at Moore Park Wednesday with 37 points. Kinloch Park placed second with 27.

Class A winner was Kinloch Park with 26 points with Ponce de Leon, 9½ points, next. Horace Mann won Class B with 16 points to Riviera's 12. In Class C, West Miami was tops with 17.

Six records were set in Class C and B. In Class C the Madison 300 yard relay team posted a 36.5 time; E. Cook of West Miami high jumped 4 feet, 9 inches, and J. Barlow of South Miami threw the softball 233 feet, 4 inches.

G. Willis of Henry Tyler broke the 100-yard dash mark and the broad jump record in Class B. His century time was 11.1 and his jump was 18 feet, 4¾ inches. R. Greenberg of Nautilus broke the Class B 75 yard dash standard with a time of 8.4.

Rout North Miami

Joe Swartz and Elaine Rubin each posted easy victories Wednesday at Flamingo Park as Miami Beach High's boys and girls tennis teams posted identical 14-0 victories over North Miami.

Functionalism Key to New Boat Styling

Outboard motor exhibitors are stressing the idea that there are no innovations just for the sake of innovation this year.

They point, for example, to engineering advancements designed to increase efficiency, added conveniences meant to bring about easier handling, and styling that takes functionalism as well as looks into account.

DUNAWAY

Twelve manufacturers, including one from England, are using a record amount of exhibit space at the Chicago National Boat show to put these ideas across.

One development the engineers are talking about is the greater use this year of thermostatically controlled cooling systems for better performance, fuel savings, longer plug life and better lubrication.

The engineers also continue to be concerned with quieter operation. Silencing devices this year include sealed motor covers, improved air intakes, better ways of attaching powerheads and better balancing.

There has been no boost over last year in top horsepower. Motors range from 1.7 to 70 horsepower.

Safety, Convenience Features Added

PROPELLERS ARE being given more attention this year. Counter-rotating props are offered, for instance, to cancel out the effect of torque on a boat powered with two motors, and thus make steering easier. Attention is also being given in the propeller department to changes in ratio of diameter and pitch, and to use of new alloys.

From the standpoint of convenience — and in some cases this has implications of greater safety — offerings for 1959 include: generators as standard or optional equipment on more motors; starter motors which give greater spinning power with less battery drain; safeguards against motor damage in waters where snags and other obstructions are likely to be a problem; switches designed to prevent over-revving in neutral and reverse gears; and a revamping of horsepower offerings to give better coverage over the whole range of outboard use, with some models being dropped and other sizes added.

with Vic Dunaway

In commenting on styling, manufacturers seem more inclined to tell how style affects operation and usefulness rather than appearance. The sound-proofing achieved in a new powerhead, for instance, is emphasized over the eye-appeal of the new silhouette thus created.

Color is widely used, but soft shades predominate. The color matching of the motor with the boat is a favorite topic in manufacturers' descriptions of the new lines.

World Tuna Record Didn't Last Long

TWO SOUTH FLORIDA members of the International Womens Fishing Association may now mourn the youthful demise of a double world record on Pacific bigeye tuna.

Fishing in a tournament at Cabo Blanco, Peru, Miss Beulah Laidlaw of Islamorada came up with a 13-lb. tuna in the 30-pound line class, and happened to note that the IGFA record in that class was vacant. She filed an application.

The day the ladies left Cabo Blanco, John Cassulo got in from Oyster Bay, N.Y. Cassulo arrived in Miami 10 days later, having caught two black marlin, a striped marlin, a sailfish — and a 21-pound tuna on 30-pound test.

Race Field Reaches 35

Entries are pouring in for the second annual running of the South Florida Midget Championships Sunday at 2:30 at Hollywood Speedway.

Added to the growing list are Bob Hare of Cicero, Ill., Ed Bowman of Melmon, Ill.; Steve McGrath of Titusville, and Tommy and Steve Elliot of Boynton Beach.

These entries bring the starting field to 35 cars.

Game Board Backs 11 Proposals

Cane Pole Licenses Okayed

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The Game and Fish Commission Wednesday gave its backing to an 11-point legislative program proposed by the Florida Wildlife Federation.

Proposed legislation includes a uniform cane pole fishing license for all persons between the ages of 15 and 65, a special $1,000,000 appropriation for fish management, water access, construction of boat ramps and noxious vegetation control.

The commission also said it would back legislation to enable the federal government to buy land in Florida for wilflife refuges. Such a law was repealed in 1951, but the commission said it would be desirable in view of proposals to provide federal money for waterfowl management purposes.

It said the price of duck stamps was recently upped from $2 to $3, and Congress earmarked all funds from duck stamp sales for land acquisition.

'Robbery' A Rhubarb On Pesos?

Inquiry Ordered In Vasquez Case

By STEVE TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

Was the recent affray at the swank Miami Beach home of Cuban Politico Daniel Vasquez and his actress wife a routine armed robbery?

Or was it gun-flashing intrigue concerning a phony fortune in some obsolete Cuban pesos from the distant Machado regime—now about as valuable as the currency of the Confederate States of America?

The peso theory drew the nod in some quarters Wednesday when State Attorney Richard Gerstein revealed he has ordered a preliminary inquiry in a peace justice court before his office will press armed robbery charges against three suspects now under arrest.

"There is a tremendous conflict of theories in this case," Gerstein said. "The entire affair seems to be involved in foreign intrigue and in the recent Cuban conflict.

"I think it needs the sort of a preliminary airing it could get before a peace justice, and I have asked that this be done in Miami Beach. Then, if the prosecuting witnesses hold up in their charges, we can go ahead."

Gerstein would not comment directly on the Machado peso theory. He would only say there are "many, many theories."

Immediately after the affair on Feb. 3 at their walled-in, two-story home at 727 E. Di Lido Dr., Vasquez and his wife said the bandits entered during the negotiation for the sale of $175,000 in Cuban pesos. They did not say what kind of Cuban pesos.

Pesos from the former Batista regime, normally on a par with the U.S. dollar, were fluctuating at the time of the robbery, but were still worth from 75 cents up. These are marked "Banco Nacional."

But there are still some pesos around from the old Machado regime, marked "Republico de Cuba"—which were canceled long ago and which were now valueless.

An informant whose past information has been highly accurate told The Herald that the gunplay in the home came after the armed intruders charged that they had been sold the wrong kind of pesos.

Vasquez was closely allied with the Batista regime. His wife was charged by Castro sympathizers with being a "Mata Hari" Batista, and was "convicted" by a kangaroo court trial here in Miami at the apartment of ex-Cuban President Carlos Prio Socarras.

She did not, of course, go back to Cuba to serve the sentence.

Castro forces later charged that it was Vasquez who made the contact with Alan Robert Nye to go to Cuba for the avowed purpose of killing Castro. Nye is now under arrest there.

Vasquez has no listed telephone. When a reporter tried to get his story first hand he was refused admittance to the house.

The three under bond in the reported robbery are Dave Yaras, described as a small-time Chicago hood; Benjamin Husick, with a record of 16 previous arrests, and Abe (Red) Katz. Husik was named by Vasquez as the one who had been negotiating with him for the pesos before the robbery.

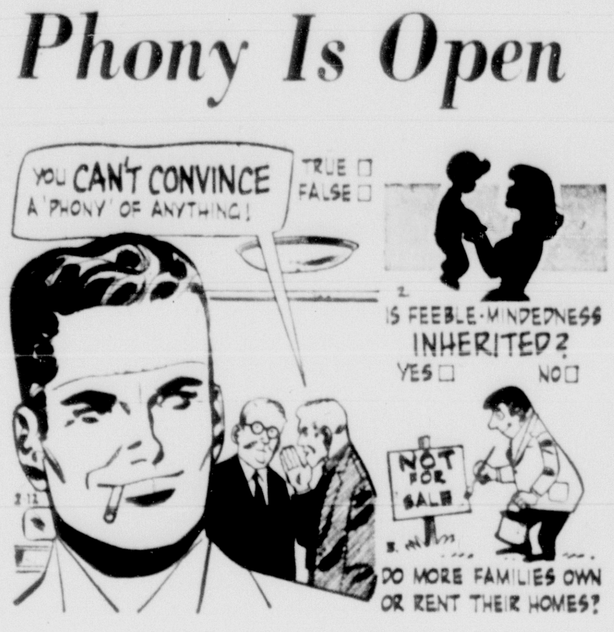
EXPLORE YOUR MIND

Phony Is Open



YOU CAN'T CONVINCE A 'PHONY' OF ANYTHING!
TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐
IS FEEBLE-MINDEDNESS INHERITED?
YES ☐ NO ☐
NOT FOR SALE
3.
DO MORE FAMILIES OWN OR RENT THEIR HOMES?

By S. M. DUVALL and EVELAN M. DUVALL, Ph.Ds

FALSE. IT ISN'T easy but it can be done. Our first tendency, in dealing with a phony, is to debunk his alibis. This may make us feel better, or superior, but it won't help him or our relationship with him. The phony clings to his alibis for the same reason that a drowning man clings to a plank; he is afraid, and that is all he has. The first essential is to relieve his fears, and build up as much confidence as possible in something else. If you can show him how the boat of truth can rescue him, he may be glad to get rid of his plank.

2. Yes. Feeble-mindedness runs in families and has a genetic basis. Yet parents of low grade intelligence sometimes produce normal or even unusually able children, while brilliant parents can have children who are feeble-minded. All children, whatever their intellectual capacities, need stimulating environments in order to develop into normal adults.

3. The U.S. Census for 1950 shows 54.9 per cent of American families living in their own homes. The other 45.1 per cent rent. In 1940 the situation was reversed, 56.4 per cent of the families rented, and 43.6 per cent owned their homes. Why? In many areas it is difficult to find suitable rental units. Also it may be that in times like these people feel more secure in homes of their own.

HERE it is. Our just traded in 1955 RAMBLER 2 door club coupe for only $595. As you probably already know, every now and then we offer a just traded in automobile to you folks that like to "do it yourself" for a price that is way below the actual market value. This one needs a valve job. It's finished in two tone classic white and Tahitian Green. The interior including doorpannels, headliner and floormats is factory original and the seat covers are the original that were put on by the former owner when the car was new. Incidentally there's excellent white wall tires too. Better be 1st in line for this one, because at this price it will sell to the 1st person that sees and drives it. Enough said!

HERE'S your opportunity to purchase our 1955 CHEVROLET CONVERTIBLE BEL-AIR for the extra low price of only $895. You'll find the popular two tone India Ivory and Canyon Coral set off with an excellent white top. The factory original interior include matching color solid Naugahyde seats and panels that you can wipe dry in a minute in case you've left the top down and it was rained on. And — there's POWERGLIDE automatic transmission, the big "8" tube Chevrolet radio, clock directional signals and excellent white wall tires. We're giving it our special "4 STAR" rating. You will too when you see and drive it. No cash needed — Just trade in your 1950 model for the down payment.

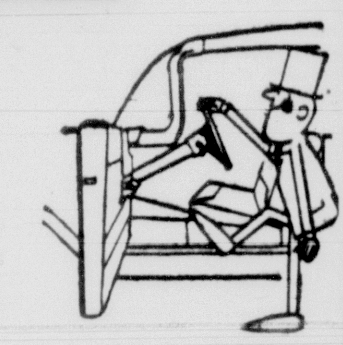
'59 MERCURY INVITES YOUR FIRST INSPECTION

WANTED TODAY:
THE MOST CRITICAL NEW-CAR BUYERS IN GREATER MIAMI

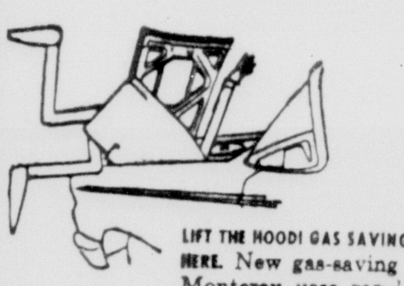
GRILL OUR SALESMEN! GET ALL THE FACTS. Look at the prices. 2 out of 3 new-car buyers can now afford a Mercury.



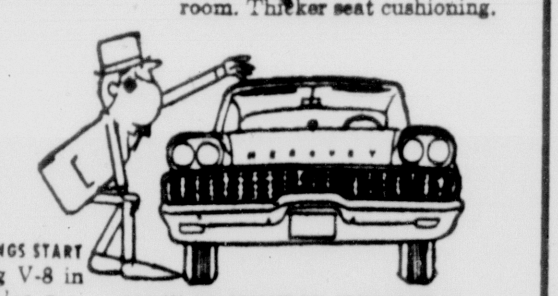
STEP IN! 6 INCHES MORE ROOM MAKES IT EASY. You don't bump your knees. Mercury's doors are the widest in any car.

TAKE A LOOK! ALL-CLEAR VISIBILITY. Windshield curves into the roof, so you can see high traffic lights. Windshield wipers clear center.

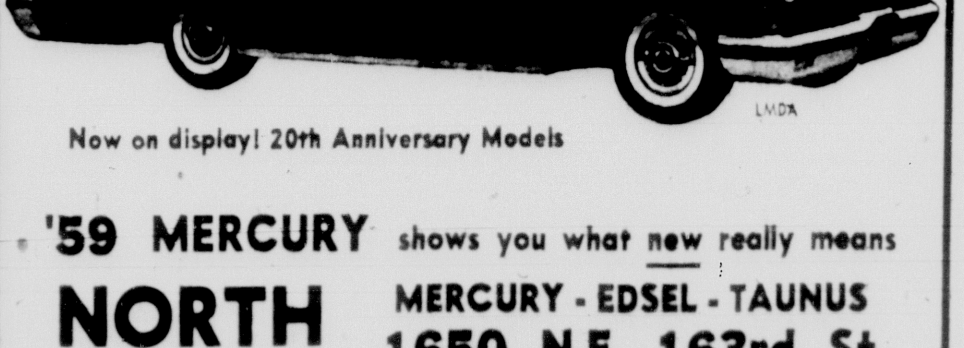
STRETCH OUT! EVEN THE "MIDDLE MAN" HAS ROOM. Mercury cuts the hump in the floor in half for extra foot room. Thicker seat cushioning.



LIFT THE HOOD! GAS SAVINGS START HERE. New gas-saving V-8 in Monterey uses regular gas, not premium—lets you "ride free" 10 miles in every 100.



NOTICE! NO DRESSED-UP, "LOW-PRICE 3" BODY. Mercury's styling is exclusive. Other cars in field share bodies used by lower priced cars.



Now on display! 20th Anniversary Models

Tint Rosy For Dade Farmers

Only Potato Outlook Dim

By NIXON SMILEY
Herald Farm and Garden Editor

Dade County tomato farmers have enjoyed good prices this week, despite fears that shipments from Cuba would depress the market.

Some 70 to 80 carloads of tomatoes have been moving each day this week from South Dade farms, and prices have been between $3 and $7 a bushel, depending on the quality.

Nolan Durre, assistant Dade County agent, said Wednesday that farmers are picking from 8,000 to 10,000 acres, and added that another 8,000 acres will begin maturing in the weeks ahead. Altogether Dade growers have planted 21,000 acres this season.

But while tomato prices have been fairly good, the market has been poor for new potatoes, which Dade growers have just begun to harvest. Durre said prices are around $1.70 a bushel. Growers have 7,500 acres this season.

Pole bean prices, however, have been good, and were around $5 Wednesday for the best. It has been a record season for pole beans, with Dade farmers planting 8,000 acres.

Although this hasn't been a get-rich-quick season for farmers, it has been the best season they have enjoyed in three years.

C. R. Bull, of the Dade County Growers Exchange, said that the prospect looks very good, provided the area is not hit by a freeze before farmers can harvest the rest of their crops.

Most farmers were at the peak of harvest Wednesday, and from now on their income will be "gravy." Or, at least, they will be able to pay off some of their debts incurred as a result of last season's serious losses.

Shipments of tomatoes from both Cuba and Mexico offered some competition to local farmers, but the feeling is that the market will be able to absorb the total crops without anyone being seriously hurt.

Scientist Sees Doom For Soviet

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The Soviet drive for world domination may carry within itself a threat to the Kremlin's iron control of the Russian people, an official of the National Science Foundation said.

Harry C. Kelly, assistant director of the NSF, said the Russians, like the ancient Egyptians, "are trying to build pyramids of economic, cultural and military domination by the use of technically trained slaves.

"The Soviet leaders," he said, "may find it difficult to know how much education to give a slave and still control him, or how to inspire a love of learning without a love of freedom."

In an address to the annual convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, Kelly said one of the reasons for Russian emphasis on technical training and factory work for all students "may stem from the political need to have everyone consider himself in the worker class to help minimize the dangers of the love of freedom of an educated man."

Van Doren To Retire

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Mark Van Doren, holder of the Pulitzer Prize for poetry and one of the nation's most esteemed literary critics, announced he will retire in June as professor of English at Columbia University.

Van Doren, a member of the Columbia faculty since 1920, said he is stepping down from his teaching post to be "free to do more writing and, when I feel like it, not to do anything."

New Enzylac Milk Is Ideal for Young or Old

The McArthur Dairy now is producing a new milk product that has been described as "the most important thing that has happened to milk since the discovery of pasteurization."

This milk, the result of years of laboratory and clinical research, is called Enzylac, a delicious, dairy fresh milk that has been activated with natural, pancreatic enzymes, the same enzymes that nature uses as its "digestive helpers." Enzylac is so easily digested that it can even be enjoyed by those individuals who otherwise can't drink milk.

Enzylac is defined as "enzymes in milk." The body produces these enzymes to aid the digestion of food. The enzymes are vital to health because without them digestion would be almost impossible. However, recent medical research has shown that many people do not produce enough enzymes, especially the protein digesting enzymes, to completely digest their food.

The natural enzymes, added to milk by the McArthur Dairy during a special warming process, prepare the milk itself for easy digestion. The action of the enzymes on the milk "break down" the protein molecules, doing much of the work the stomach otherwise would have to do.

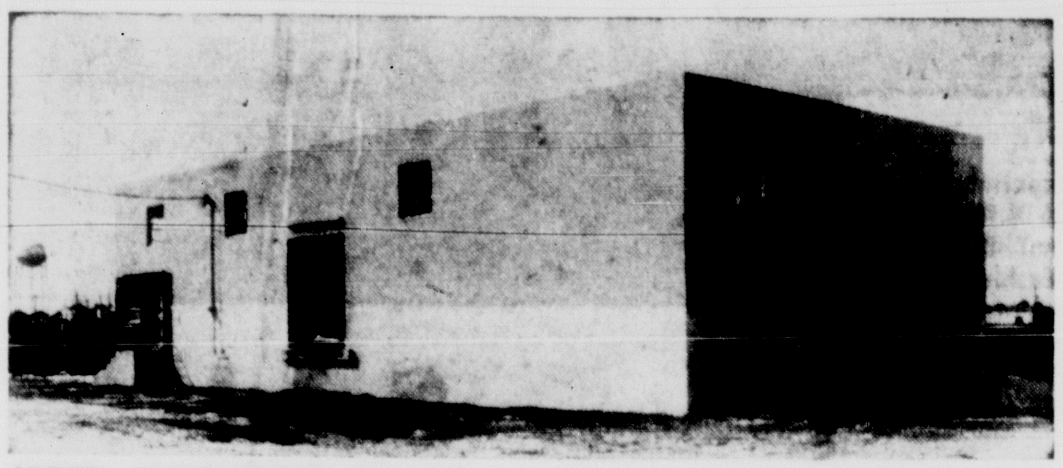
The same enzymes are carried into the digestive tract where they help digest other protein foods. The stomach seems more comfortable as the "enzyme action" helps completely digest the food, sending the good of the protein into the bloodstream and on to the tissues and muscles. For many people this complete digestion means better nutrition and improved health.

Enzylac milk has been clinically tested throughout the United States in leading hospitals. Many physicians also recommend Enzylac for infant feeding, as well as for adults who cannot drink regular milk. Often Enzylac is used as a dietary supplement for patients with ulcers, certain allergies, general disorders of the digestive tract, and even low cholesterol diets.

It is recommended that an individual trying Enzylac should drink two glasses a day for 30 days.

Home delivery of Enzylac and all McArthur Dairy products may be secured by calling PLaza 4-4521 in Miami, CEdar 5-4441 in Perrine, LUdlow 3-4341 in Fort Lauderdale, WAbash 2-4061 in Hollywood or OVerland 3-2728 in West Palm Beach.

Florida Silica Sand Announces New Aggregate and Material Warehouses



ADDED CONVENIENCE for pick-up and delivery of all types of sand and aggregate products will be provided by this new warehouse of Florida Silica Sand Co., Inc., at 8500 NW 36th Ave. Another new plant is in Dania.

"We are happy to announce the opening of our new bagged materials warehouse and bulk-graded aggregate yards at 8500 NW 36th Ave.," says Vic Keller, general manager of Florida Silica Sand Co., Inc.

"A much larger inventory and an expanded line of specification blasting sand, graded aggregates and filter media will be stocked," he said, "to better serve your needs.

"Among the long list of stocked materials are Red River gravel, Lake Wales sand, graded building rock, mason sand, white silica sand, and decorative silica rock.

"Under the specification heading, we have water filter sand, sewage filter sand, silica filter gravel, slag, and blasting sand which is graded in sizes to cover all jobs. It also is fine graded for hydro-blasting. We have silica flour, too.

"Our sewage filter sand, water filter sand, silica filter sand and gravel meet the specifications of the Florida State Board of Health and the American Water Works Assn.

"Another new plant also has been opened in Dania to serve the people of Broward County. This new plant, located at Bryan and Stirling Roads, will stock mason sand, plastering sand and white sand for sand-finish plastering. The plant is open from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and a half day on Saturday. Orders may be placed 24 hours a day.

"Other materials featured at our plants are Red River or Chattahoochee rock for decoration or driveways, various sizes and colors of silica rock for decoration, colored silica gravel in various sizes for making panels and small or large coral rocks for many uses, such as landscaping.

"The most important advantage of the two new plants is immediate service to all customers. We are set up to quickly handle all orders, whether they be F.O.B. or delivered to your home of business address.

"The new Miami warehouse is open from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and a half day on Saturday. For delivery or additional information, call Florida Silica Sand at FRanklin 7-3584 in the Miami area or WAbash 2-2385 in the Dania and Fort Lauderdale area."

For Cars with Power Accessories . . .
The Answer to Your Battery Problems
An inadequate generating system is the basic cause of battery troubles. The increasing load of accessories takes more current out of the battery than a conventional d.c. generator can put back in. On vehicles, slow driving, long idling periods and short trips aggravate battery trouble. The result is a dead battery — frequent recharging and resulting in short battery life. A costly, heavy-duty battery is no solution.
The Answer Is Replacement Of The Conventional D.C. Generator With The Revolutionary L-N ALTERNATOR SYSTEM.
Your vehicle will always start easily because the battery will be used for starting only. And the battery will last much longer. L-N Alternator Systems generate ample current for the electrical load. POWER 2-WAY Radio and electrical accessories without battery troubles.

'Do You Feel That Nobody Loves You?'

Industry's Brain-Picker: Personality Tests

By SYLVIA PORTER

This year, over 1,000,000 jobseekers at America's biggest, most reputable corporations will take a battery of personality tests before they are hired. If their personalities don't "pass," they'll not be given the privilege of a pay check.

Another 500,000 already employed will have their personalities "evaluated" in 1959 to determine whether they should be promoted, shelved or fired. Whatever the results, these will join the 5,000,000 Americans whose lives and livelihoods already have been affected by the personality testing mill.

For personality testing, only a fad in World War II, has now been parlayed into an industry grossing $25 million a year.

A full 60 per cent of our major corporations and countless smaller ones use the tests to measure everything from our emotional stability to latent homosexuality, to decide the fitness of individuals in categories ranging from file clerk to company president.

* * *

IF THE HOLY roller fervor over personality testing continues, it's estimated that within five years, almost every one of us — salesmen, truck drivers, pilots, executives — will have to get the approval of the professional testers to get and stay at work.

"There is no doubt that the tests are a threat to every wage-earner," Martin L. Gross will say in the March issue of "True," to be released next week.

What are these personality tests? If you're old-fashioned — meaning you got your first job by fighting for it and you've advanced by simply working hard and persistently — the tests may be news to you. But read on. . .

There are about 150 published personality tests in use by industry today. Firms of the caliber of Westinghouse, Johnson & Johnson, Celanese Corp., and Borden Co. use them to test new applicants. Firms of the stature of Sears Roebuck use them to evaluate people already on the payroll.

Business-Finance

—Complete Market Tables

James Russell, Editor

* * *

THERE ARE TWO BASIC types of tests. The most common is the question and answer type which is scored like any exam. (Sample questions to weed out neurotics: "Do you feel that nobody loves you?" "Do you hate more than four people?" Better answer "NO" on both or you're out fast.)

A second variety is the supposedly cheat-proof "projective" test and these "employ supposedly clinical techniques fresh out of mental institutions where they were invented to diagnose psychotics." (Illustrations: The draw-a-man test, stories of what you see in uncaptioned pictures, sentence completion teasers, even the famous Rorschach "Ink Blot" test.)

Gross clearly detests the whole concept and, with what I found comforting insolence, he suggests how you can "learn to beat the probers—with reasonable success — at their own head-hunting game."

* * *

(1) Admit little or nothing about your own weaknesses, for "your scores are compared with those of a great many liars before you . . . Everyone understands you, you are loved to distraction, you like almost everyone."

(2) Before answering "interest" questions, keep in mind that "although you love the ladies, you dislike anything they like, and vice versa . . . Remember, your virility is at stake."

(3) You are a "get-up-and-go" and "strong backbone" American — but you have these native American traits "in moderation."

(4) You are near perfect but not perfect. You're no saint, you're just superior, good, calm, truthful.

(5) Reveal as little of yourself as possible. "Complete your sentences with socially acceptable, routine answers."

* * *

IS THERE ANY HOPE that industry's enthusiasm for the personality test will fade?

Gross thinks that "as the number of people who can beat the testers grows, industry's faith in test results will diminish" and he sees some encouraging signs of disenchantment among industrialists and active resistance among employes told to take the tests.

And I see a hopeful sign in this disclosure itself—which should do a good job of infuriating any red-blooded, girl-loving, get-up-and-go man who ever claimed to be a stable, healthy, normal American.

55,000 Are Polled

'Do You Want Natural Gas?'

By STAN JOHNSON
Herald Business Writer

Some 55,000 Miamians are going to be asked what they think of natural gas.

The poll is a prelude to the arrival here of the Houston Corp.'s 1,600-mile natural gas pipeline which is scheduled to start pumping in June.

The University of Miami's Bureau of Business and Economic Research is currently interviewing 55,000 potential gas users for the company to find out if they will want natural gas when it is available.

Houston Gas Manager Ted Bergman says the firm expects to add 20,000 new customers in Miami this year, and at least as many next year.

The company now serves about 16,000 accounts with the manufactured gas system it bought from Florida Power & Light Co.

A casualty of the switch to natural gas will be the firm's old gas manufacturing plant and storage tanks at 16th St. and Miami Ave. They will be torn down and the land converted to other uses, Bergman said.

"We expect to start expanding the system in April or May," Bergman added. "We'll spend about two million dollars for line expansion in the coming year, about eight and a half million over the next three years."

The Houston Corp. also controls distribution systems in Lakeland, Daytona Beach, Orlando, Winter Park, Jacksonville, Eustis, Mount Dora and Umatilla, all but one of which will be expanded with conversion to natural gas.

Peoples Gas Co. hopes to more than double its 96,000 accounts in the area north of 79th St., Miami Beach and Broward County by spending 13 million dollars for expansion over a five-year period.

Although Peoples will buy 2.15 million cubic feet of natural gas from the Houston Corp. this year, it plans to continue operating its manufacturing plant in North Miami Beach as a source of supplementary and standby fuel.

To facilitate natural gas hookups, the FHA is requiring builders in areas which have, or will have, service to install rigid piping in new homes.

Thus, the residents will have only to pay for a connection from the meter box to their homes once gas is available.

Another Little One

The Toyopet, Japan's sturdily-built entrant in the U.S. foreign car sweepstakes, will go on sale here in April.

The car, which will cost about $2,500, was exhibited this week at at private showing in the Dupont Plaza Hotel.

A four-cylinder, overhead valve engine pushes the Toyopet along at speeds up to 80 miles an hour and gets 33 miles to the gallon with normal driving, Distributor Erik J. Hansen said.

Standing beside the car in the above picture is Sachiko Okumura, a native Japanese who lives here now with her American husband.

Glass Strike End Sighted; New Car Ignition Ready

Dow Jones, AP, UPI

The end of the four-month old strike at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. plants appeared in sight Wednesday. The company reached an agreement with the United Glass and Ceramic Workers union.

Terms of the agreement were withheld until the union membership acts on them in a forthcoming referendum.

The strike has idled 13,000 glass workers and held up production in the automobile and other glass-using industries.

Union President Ralph Reiser said the agreement was not approved by the union's wage committee. Reiser dismissed the committee and submitted the proposal to the company without its approval.

How Sears Profit Plan Paid Off

CHICAGO —(AP)— A profit-sharing fund started by the nation's biggest merchandising firm 43 years ago is paying big dividends to retiring workers.

James M. Barker, chairman of the board of trustees of Sears Roebuck's profit-sharing fund, said Wednesday a study of the fund's operations showed these returns to workers who participated in the program and retired during 1958:

Employes who retired after more than 40 years' service who had contributed $6,321 to the fund, withdrew an average of $154,767. Among these was a truck driver with 44 years of service, who amassed $289,000 on a total of $5,928 invested in the profit-sharing pool.

The average withdrawal of workers with 35 to 40 years of service was $123,054 for a $6,092 investment; $93,019 for 30-35 year workers who invested $5,791; $67,089 for 25-30 year workers with a total investment of $4,899; $36,695 for workers who contributed $3,593 during 20 to 25 years employment.

Employe members of the fund contribute a straight five per cent of their wages and salaries up to a maximum of $500 a year. The company contributes up to 10 per cent of its net income before taxes.

Started in 1916, the fund now has over 140,000 employe members and total assets in excess of a billion dollars, Barker said.

Eastern's Net Cut By Strikes

Hard hit by a slow Florida season and crippling strikes, Eastern Air Lines' net earning dropped to about 7 million dollars, or $2.31 a share, in 1958 compared with $9,378,000 or $3.21 a share the year before.

Increased competition from other airlines will be reflected in a reduction of Eastern's load factor to 53.1 per cent for 1958, compared with 60 per cent in 1957, the company said.

Total operating revenue is expected to be $246,228,000 compared with $262,477,000 for the previous year.

Change Rail Work Rules, Assn. Asks

ST. LOUIS —(AP)— The railroads Wednesday started an assault on rail labor work rules which they claim are "rooted in the horse and buggy era of 40 and more years ago."

Daniel Loomis, president of the Association of American Railroads, was the railroads' spokesman. The controversy over work rules — which management says permit "featherbedding"—could tie up the nation's rail system in a strike this autumn.

Loomis called upon leaders of train operating brotherhoods to join with railroad management in asking President Eisenhower to name a non-partisan group to study the roads' work rules.

In Cleveland, Guy L. Brown, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said he just received Loomis' proposal and will give it serious consideration.

"For several years I have been of the opinion that many of the working rules on the railroads of the United States are, in effect, obsolete and are is need of revision," Brown said. He added:

"The thought of revising them in the way Mr. Loomis suggests hadn't occurred to me, but I'm going to consider it carefully."

I spent 10c and SAVED $100!

"It cost a dime to call you. And am I glad I did. For years, I had always waited while my girl retyped copies of business facts and figures. I'd even tried expensive, complicated and wet duplicating methods. But they were still too slow.

"The very same day I called you, I saw a demonstration of the 'Thermo-Fax' Copying Machine. I bought it. Those copies in 4 seconds saved me $100 in time alone last month."*

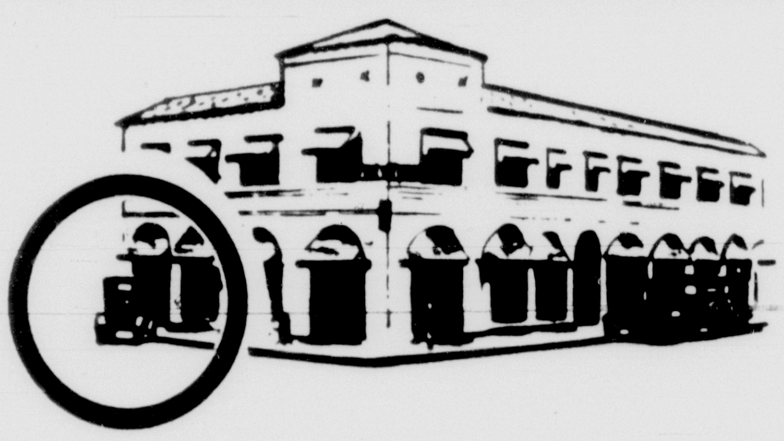
25 Years of Service at Coral Gables Federal



...Chartered February 12, 1934

THERE'S A BRIGHT NEW PENNY BEING ISSUED DURING OUR 25th ANNIVERSARY MONTH

It's because of the date, of course ...not because of us...that the new LINCOLN MEMORIAL COMMEMORATIVE PENNY is being issued this month... the 25th Anniversary of our Charter, and the 150th Anniversary of Lincoln's birthday.

This is the first major change in the Lincoln-Head penny since 1909...and we have thousands of them on hand at our offices to give to anyone and everyone who would like to be among the first to see and have this newest coin. Just stop in at any office of Coral Gables Federal for your new Lincoln Memorial Penny.

From small, one-room rented quarters at Alcazar and Ponce de Leon Boulevard to four complete and modern buildings today...from some $15,000 in capital to resources over $83,000,000... that is the story of Coral Gables Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Such growth did not...does not...come easily. It is possible only with sound management... with ever-increasing services to the community...with a spirit of friendly helpful interest in serving your needs.

Take advantage of the experience, the conveniences, the services of this Association now...for your savings program, for the financing of your home, for many of your other financial requirements. You will like the warm welcome and personal attention you receive.

See the 1934 newspaper displays in our lobbies!

Blue Chips Gain on Light Day

NEW YORK — (AP) — The stock market Wednesday carried a recovery move through its second session but lost about half its best gains in late selling.

Turnover continued relatively light at 3,000,000 shares compared with 2,960,000 Tuesday.

Key stocks showed mingled gains and losses running from fractions to a point or so. More speculative or specially situated stocks made wider moves.

Oils, steels and rubbers made lower by the close. Chemicals, farm implements, tobaccos and drugs were mainly on the upside. The tone was irregular for motors, rails, aircrafts and utilities.

Some of the blue chips did well. Among them, American Telephone rose 1 5-8, Eastman Kodak 2, Allied Chemical 1 and Air Reduction 1 7-8.

Fruehauf Trailer was the most active stock, unchanged at 22 on 66,500 shares. Second was Aluminum Ltd., off ½ at 29¾ on 42,100 shares. Third was Electric & Musical Industries, up 3-8 at 8 on 40,700 shares. Next came American Motors, off 3-8 at 33¾.

COPPERWELD STEEL:
IMPORTANT NEW PRODUCT SHARPENS EARNINGS POTENTIAL

A new and highly informative Creative Research Study from Goodbody & Co. favors the stock of Copperweld Steel Co. for purchase. Currently the Steel Division is operating at well above the average rate for the industry. The company's earnings reflect a dramatic gain over the first half of 1958. Furthermore—and this may be most important — Copperweld has scored a major breakthrough with an important new wire product which could strongly accelerate future growth. Demand for this product is so great that capacity is being expanded four-fold this year.

According to Goodbody & Co.'s analysts, Copperweld has now established a higher earnings base which we believe will continue. Present results by no means afford an adequate measure of earnings potential, in our opinion.

This Study—available to investors—fully outlines the company's basic position and traces the outstanding progress made in recent years. Our analysts recommend purchase of this stock at current prices. To learn all the facts, send for our Study. For your free copy, fill out and mail the coupon below.

Advice to a Young Shrimp

If you want to get on in the world you need a lot of ambition. So prepare to go places ...be introduced into polite society, and you may even end up with a title...such as a LUAU Shrimp Special. When next you hear the Shrimp boats coming, remember, you're practically on your way to fame!... So think big...you're really quite a dish at LUAU.

TO OUR FRIENDS AND POLICYHOLDERS:

We, the undersigned members of the insurance industry, are asking every person who has a savings account or a mortgage with the Miami Beach Federal Savings and Loan Association to sign a proxy card for the present management of the Association.

We feel sure that you will agree with us that the present management is sound. Therefore, we urge you to sign only the proxy containing these names:

CLAUDE A. RENSHAW
A. LOUIS BROWN, JR.
RADFORD R. CRANE
B. P. G. HARIG
RITTER LEVINSON
ARNOLD LEVY
MARCUS O. SAROKIN
MITCHELL WOLFSON
JOHN E. SHUEY
CARL WEINKLE
MILTON WEISS
HENRY D. WILLIAMS
MYRON H. WILLISON
PAUL C. WIMBISH

If you fail to sign this new proxy, your old proxy which you signed when you originally opened your savings account will be a vote against present management. If your new proxy is to be counted in the election on February 18, it must be received at any office of Miami Beach Federal Savings and Loan Association by 5 P.M. today, February 12, 1959.

If you wish us to deliver and pick up your proxy card, or if we can assist you in any way, please call any one of us.

Delicious Fish For Lent

By Jeanne Voltz
Herald Homemaking Editor

The lenten season turns good cooks' thoughts to different and interesting ways of serving fish.

And this year is your opportunity to become better acquainted with Florida fish. For mullet, mackerel and kingfish are expected to be the most plentiful, reasonably priced fish through Lent. Snapper supplies also will be good.

Basically cooking methods are the same from Cape Cod to Cape Sable. Fish are fried, baked, broiled, boiled or steamed. Any recipe for fish is a variation of one of these methods.

The only allowance is for fat or lean fish. More fat is added in cooking lean fish. Mullet, for instance, can be sauteed with little or no fat added. Lean flounder needs a good measure of fat in the pan.

Some fat fish found in local markets are bluefish, halibut, kingfish, mackerel, pompano, porgies, sea trout and swordfish. Lean fish are grouper, haddock, snapper and sheepshead.

If in doubt ask your fish dealer if a fish is fat or lean.

Fish can be a bright new dish everytime you serve it. And dress-ups are so easy.

Snipped parsley, a sprinkling of paprika or watercress sprigs give it color. Lime or lemon wedges add flavor zest plus a spot of color to a fish platter.

In the color picture are fish fillets broiled with perky seasonings — dried mint leaves and oregano. Mackerel or mullet fillets can be used this way.

Or your dish may be a Florida style fish broil, planked whole fish or filets bonne femme.

The downfall of many a good fish is overcooking. Fish tissues are delicate, never tough. If cooked too long the flesh is dry and flat tasting.

Cook fish only until it flakes easily, a brief few minutes in most cases. Your fish will be juicy, moist and delicately flavored.

Light Seasoning with Mint Leaves and Oregano Give Golden Broiled Fillets Different Flavor

Seafood Dishes at Their Best

One way to cut time in the kitchen is to serve fish and seafoods often.

Because they are at their best cooked briefly, many fish dishes fit into a tight cooking schedule. You can have dinner on the table a half hour with many of these recipes.

Italian Broiled Fillets

1 pound fish fillets
3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
1 tablespoon lemon or lime juice
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
½ teaspoon crushed dried mint leaves
½ teaspoon crushed oregano

Arrange fish fillets on greased broiler pan. Blend soft butter with lemon juice, salt, pepper, mint and oregano. Spread mixture on fish fillets. Broil in preheated broiler 3 inches from source of heat 3 to 5 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Sprinkle with paprika. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

* * *

Broiled Fish Florida Style

1 pound fish fillets
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Juice of 1 lime
½ cup (1 stick) butter or margarine

Sprinkle fish with salt, pepper and lime juice. Let stand about 20 minutes. Melt butter in shallow pan with no rack about 6 inches from source of heat in broiler. (Use reduced broiler heat if pan cannot be lowered.) Heat butter until bubbling. Place fish in hot butter. Broil 3 to 5 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Sprinkle with paprika. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

* * *

Planked Red Snapper

1 3-to-4-pound red snapper
Melted butter or margarine
Salt, pepper
2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes
4 to 6 firm, ripe tomatoes

Have snapper dressed but left whole. (Other fish such as mullet or sea trout can be used.) Place fish on wooden plank. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Broil about 3 inches from source of heat for 10 to 12 minutes.

Turn fish. Brush with more melted butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spoon potatoes around border of plank. Arrange tomato halves attractively around fish. Return plank to broiler. Broil 10 to 15 minutes or until potato border is lightly browned and fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Garnish with cucumber slices. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

* * *

Filets Bonne Femme

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 shallots, finely chopped
¼ pound mushrooms, minced
4 fish fillets
Salt, pepper
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
½ cup white wine (or fish stock or water with lemon juice)
½ teaspoon flour
Few drops lemon juice

Melt 1 tablespoon butter in a saucepan, spreading it over bottom of pan. Add shallots and half the mushrooms. (If you do not have shallots use 1 medium-size onion.) Place fish on shallots and mushrooms, then add remaining mushrooms. Season with salt and pepper and sprinkle half the parsley over top, then wine.

Cook over a fairly quick fire so liquid will reduce to about one-third original quantity. Cook 10 to 12 minutes, basting often. Remove fish to platter. Cream together flour and remaining butter. Stir into liquid in pan. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Add more salt and pepper, if needed, and lemon juice. Pour over fish. Sprinkle with remaining parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Sauteed Pan Fish Amandine

4 pan fish, ½ to ¾ pound each
Butter or margarine
½ cup blanched almonds
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Few drops lemon juice

Have fish dressed but left whole. Melt a generous quantity of butter in fry pan. Heat but do not allow to smoke. Add fish and cook over low heat 5 minutes on one side. Turn and cook until fish is light brown and flakes easily when tested with a fork. Remove to warm platter and sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Slice almonds lengthwise. (Slivered almonds also can be bought.) Brown 2 tablespoons butter in a small, heavy skillet. Add slivered almonds and toast gently. Add lemon juice and pour over fish. Makes 4 servings.

* * *

Oven-Fried Fish

2 teaspoons salt
Dash pepper
1 cup milk
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
4 fish steaks or fillets
¼ cup melted butter or other liquid fat

Add salt and pepper to milk and pour in a shallow pan. Spread crumbs on waxed paper. Dip fish first in milk, then in crumbs. Place in a buttered shallow pan. Drizzle butter over fish. Bake in a very hot oven (500 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Makes 4 servings.

Tartar Sauce That Is Terrific

Herald Staff Writer Steve Trumbull probably knows fishing holes in more Florida counties than any man alive. And he sometimes catches fish.

Steve also likes to prove he catches fish.

He invites his friends over to admire and help eat the catch. At one of his recent fish dinners, the fish were superb, broiled Florida fashion by Steve. But the tartar sauce, made by wife Jane, was what had everybody exclaiming.

So we begged Jane's recipe.

If we hadn't tasted it we wouldn't have believed it. Melted butter and mayonnaise are blended as base for the sauce. And it contains no pickles, only snipped chives or green onions as greenery.

Jane Trumbull's Tartar Sauce

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup mayonnaise
Juice of 1 lime (or more to taste)
½ teaspoon salt
Dash freshly ground pepper
¼ cup finely chopped green onion or snipped chives

Melt butter in a small skillet. Remove from heat and blend in mayonnaise, beating with spoon until smooth. Blend in lime juice, salt, pepper and green onion or chives. Serve with fried or broiled fish. Makes 6 servings.

A Guide for Cooking Our Florida Fish

Listed below are the more common commercial fish from the area as well as game fish which cannot be sold, and the best ways to cook each.

BASS (Fresh water)—broil, fry or bake.

BLUEFISH—bake, broil or fry.

CATFISH—fry or bake, fresh water cat preferred.

COBIA—cut in steaks, bake, broil or fry.

DOLPHIN—bake, and rated a delicacy.

FLOUNDER—broil or bake.

GRUNT—pan-fry.

JEWFISH—broil, fry or bake, smaller ones best eating.

KINGFISH—bake or broil.

MACKEREL—bake or broil.

MULLET—bake, broil or fry, sweet flavored fish, budget priced.

PERMIT—broil or bake.

POMPANO—broil or bake, aristocrat of Florida fish.

PORGY—fry, bake or broil.

SAND PERCH—pan-fry.

SEA TROUT—bake, broil or pan-fry.

SHEEPSHEAD—fry, bake or broil.

SNAPPERS—broil, bake, fry or steam. Red snapper is the favorite, but other snappers fine eating.

SNOOK—bake or broil.

SWORDFISH—broil.

TUNAS—steam for salads, broil or bake.

YELLOWTAIL—broil or fry.

Salvation Is a Gift From God

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: I have been trying desperately to become a Christian. It seems that the more I try the farther away I am from being one. Why does it seem so easy for some and so hard for others to be saved?

My Answer

ANSWER: The real reason is, we do not become Christians by trying. You are not the only person who has been frustrated in the attempt to become a Christian by self-effort. First, I would remind you that you are already convinced that you should be a Christian. Don't forget that, and don't be satisfied until you are.

GRAHAM

But you must stop trying because that is not the way. It is by the way of faith. Christ had done all that is to be done to secure salvation for us. The work of redemption is finished.

You can neither add to it nor take from it. It is a gift to be received. The Bible says that it is "A gift of God, not of works lest any man should glory." (Ephesians 2:9)

If you could become a Christian by trying, then you could boast and say that you had accomplished it by your own determination. The Bible says, "As many as received Him, to them gave He the right to become Children of God, even to those that believe on His name." (John 1:12)

Bad Omen

FT. HUACHUCA, Ariz. — (AP) — Company E of the Arizona National Guard was hampered by a steady rain during maneuvers at this southeast Arizona base.

Keeping Up to Date

What Ever Became of . . .

ELLIOTT WHITE SPRINGS—one of America's leading air aces of World War I? A 1917 Princeton graduate, he destroyed 11 enemy planes, became a top U.S. war hero. After the Armistice, he was inveigled into learning the family cotton mill business. For kicks Springs bounced into writing, hit the big time again as author of nine books, many about flings and fliers.

Today at 62, Springs is married and living in Lancaster, S.C. He is president of three banks and the multi-plant Springs Cotton Mills with 12,000 employes. Springs hasn't written any books since 1928, but keeps his hand in by penning uproarious ads for his own Springmaid sheets.

Chemical Curbs Wrinkles

Wash-Wear Cottons Are Smooth Success

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Wash-and-wear cottons that stay white through repeated launderings and have "outstanding crease retention and wrinkle resistance" are one of its latest success stories, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced here.

Working with various compounds trying to make cotton flame-resistant, USDA chemists G. L. Drake Jr. and J. D. Guthrie found an organic phosphorus compound that also made fabric samples wrinkle resistant.

Currently the cost of the compound APO, or tris (1-aziridinyl) phosphine oxide, is the major obstacle to its use as a commercial treatment for cotton. Although most of it is now imported, limited production of APO in this country indicates it can be produced at lower cost.

The finish is applied by dipping the cotton fabric into a water solution of APO, removing the excess, and drying and "curing the fabric at relatively high temperatures for short periods of time.

3 States Eye Stiffer Laws for Teenage Drivers

The New York Times Service

The situation is one of special interest in the New York suburban area where there are about 75,000 drivers at the minimum allowable age.

In New York the joint legislative committee on traffic violations is sponsoring a bill that would raise the age for a junior license from 16 to 17 years.

The Connecticut legislature has a bill that would require engine governors limiting automobile speed to 50 miles an hour on all cars driven by persons under 18 years of age.

In New Jersey the state coordinating council on traffic and safety has endorsed a proposal that licenses should be withheld from minors with serious delinquency records.

All of this, of course, is based on the contention that teenagers as a class are poor drivers. The statistics support this view.

Highway safety, while a major element in the controversy, is by no means the only one. There are the questions of driver training in the schools, parking space for pupils' cars, the effect that car ownership may have upon pupils' scholastic achievements and participation in extra-curriular affairs.

There is the deeper question of how much the junior or teenage driver has become part of a way of life, particularly in the suburbs.

The present regulations are these:

In New York State — except in New York City — A youngster can get a junior license at the age of 16. It is good only for daytime driving and not in New York City. He can get a senior license at 17 if he has taken approved driver training courses. The regular age for a senior license is 18.

In Connecticut a provisional license may be obtained at the age of 16 if the youngster has completed an approved course of driver training. The license becomes a regular license when the driver reaches 18.

In New Jersey there is only one class of license, and the minimum age is 17. A youngster who has had approved training can get a license on his 17th birthday.

A youngster who has not had this training can get a learner's permit good for 60 days on his 17th birthday, but the license may not be issued for at least 10 days afterwards.

Lawmaker Would Pay U.S. Debt

Texan Offers Legislation

By WILLIAM MCGAFFIN
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

WASHINGTON—An individual citizen can run up just so much debt. Then he has to pay it off or else.

MCGAFFIN

But, a paradox of the difficult world we live in, the citizen's national government is not bound by any such rules when it comes to piling up debt. The sky seems to be the limit.

Various economists keep saying that a good way to stop the inflation would be to start paying on the colossal national debt.

But it's so big now that Congress thinks it's doing pretty well just to pay the interest on it (8.1 billion dollars in the new fiscal year.)

One thing seems sure. Congress, in its present mood, is not going to do anything so drastic as to pass a law making the federal government do what an individual would have to do if he were up to his neck in debt — make regular payments on it.

He introduced a resolution that would provide for an annual payment on the debt of one per cent of the present amount — about 283 billion dollars.

Even if 2.8 billion dollars were paid on the debt each year, it would take 100 years to pay it off, Wright pointed out. During the same period, he said, we would have paid about 495 billion dollars in interest.

This would make the total for interest and debt retirement over the 100 years come to 778 billion dollars.

If we don't make these regular payments on the debt, however, we will still owe 283 billion dollars at the end of 100 years, said Wright — and, in addition, we will have paid 980 billion dollars in interest.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R., Mass.) came up with a debt reduction proposal a couple of years ago. He wanted to amend the second liberty bond act to provide that the ceiling on the national debt be reduced certain percentage each year.

He would reduce it the first year by two per cent of the government's net revenue and gradually work up until it would be reduced by five per cent annually.

The senator estimated this would mean an annual lowering of the debt by four billion dollars.

Saltonstall's bill had a hearing in the Senate finance committee — but it was never reported out for Senate action.

Wright's proposal is not expected to get any farther.

Saltonstall's office, however, says he is planning to introduce a new proposal at this session.

An aide said the senator feels that his bill might have gotten farther two years ago if the nation had not been heading into a period of deficit financing to counter the 1957 recession.

And "at least he succeeded in drawing attention to the mounting problem of the debt," the aide said.

Wright would have his proposal go into effect in fiscal 1961.

Asked where he would get the money for the 2.8 billion dollars annual payments on the debt, he said he would favor increasing taxes if necessary.

But he thought there were enough places for saving money — putting into effect, for instance, Hoover Commission recommendations not yet acted upon — so that a tax boost would not be necessary.

Funds Asked For Bases In Florida

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department has asked Congress to authorize construction of $6,364,000 in "operational facilities" at Homestead Air Force Base.

Outside of the $8,402,000 requested for McCoy Air Force Base at Orlando, this was the largest single military construction request in the state.

Patrick Air Force Base at Cocoa came in for $1,822,000 to be spent on operational and research facilities and real estate acquisition.

Other Air Force requests:

Tyndall Field, Panama City, $4,266,000; Eglin, $833,000; MacDill Field, Tampa, $866,000.

Requests for naval construction:

Pensacola, $462,000; Whiting Field, $2,811,000; Corry Field, $1,000,000; Naval Reserve unit at Tampa, $391,000.

The requested authorization was for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960.

Farm Problem Faces Everyone

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

CHICAGO — At the meeting of the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor in Washington last week I was particularly interested by the fact that this type of hearing permitted differences of opinion to be heard in an objective atmosphere.

MRS. FDR

And in the evening, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell's speech was significant because he came out for a minimum wage for all farm labor, including migrant labor.

I think I am convinced that the trend is going to be toward either more commercial farms on a large scale or cooperative farms, where a number of farmers run their farms as a cooperative business. The small, one-family, single farm unit, which we have always thought so important in this country, seems from the economic standpoint, judging by the testimony given, not to be very practical.

My Day

* * *

IT IS true that there are a great many people who have small farms, but they gain much of their income from work not done on the farm. This was the idea that underlay the subsistence homestead, which was one of the projects established during the depression.

If the work that provided most of the livelihood for the family disappeared, they still had a farm land holding and were growing a good part of their own food.

Thus, they would at least have enough to eat and during any unemployment period they could make their land holding more productive. Since foodstuffs are one of the essentials, even in times of depression, they could, perhaps through barter or sale, obtain some of the other necessities of their lives.

As a matter of fact, however, I did not think that it was conclusively established that farm labor should not also form unions. The one objection made was that a union would find it very difficult to serve the interests of a population that moves around as much as farm labor does. This, however, does not seem to be an insurmountable objection, because unions can certainly have representatives that move into areas where there are great movements of farm labor.

* * *

I AM afraid, though, that I did become convinced that the small family farm is on its way out, and that a great many people felt that if you could not earn a decent living you were not compensated by a way of life that was only preferable if it gave you freedom which you could enjoy.

We also heard some of the same old arguments advanced about standards for the employers of migrant labor being set too high as far as housing, sanitation, etc., went.

But these arguments reminded me of the early arguments made against slum clearance, and I think the facts in the history of the labor movement show that when people earn enough to live decently they soon learn the advantages of cleanliness and comfort.

I certainly felt that this committee's meeting served a very good purpose, and I hope that the large attendance meant that information on this subject would be carried back into communities all over the country.

Two Elected

L. B. Anderson, president of the Exchange National Bank of Winter Haven, and Jack S. Carey, St. Petersburg attorney, have been elected to the state board of directors of the Children's Home Society of Florida. Anderson, already a state director, was reelected.

Critics of Cuban Executions Cost U.S. Good Will

By ROBERT GRUENBERG
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

SANTIAGO, Cuba — From Havana, the capital, to Santiago, birthplace of the Cuban revolution — and all stops between—you are plied with the same question:

"Why are Americans calling us criminals and criticizing us for what we are doing?"

The question is put to you by every Castro soldier you talk to, every Cuban civilian from taxi driver to lawyer and every American volunteer you encounter in Castro's army.

Some ask it hesitantly, some are angry; some are shocked, but none understands the American criticism of Cuban developments, especially the war crimes trials.

As a result, there is a good bit of responsible opinion among educated Cubans, and especially those who know the American mind, that the U.S. is throwing away its good will not only in Cuba but Latin America.

Yet there still remains an opportunity to achieve understanding between the Latin and the North American and through the understanding bolster a common bulwark against totalitarianism.

Nobody with whom this correspondent has spoken has been anti-American in a broad sense —neither Fidel Castro, nor his trusted lieutenants, nor highly placed civilians.

But there is a considerable undercurrent of resentment, sometimes flaring into anger, among people at all levels against the U.S. government.

This springs from what many Cubans feel—rightly or wrongly — was the partiality shown the Batista government by ex-U.S. Ambassador Earl T. Smith and the American military mission.

It springs from what many Cubans feel were the unjust attempts by the U.S. to control rebel arms buying and gun running from American shores.

It springs from what many Cubans feel was a deaf ear turned their way at the height of their suffering during the last two years under Batista.

They call it "the terror," not a "civil war" as it has been referred to in the U.S.

They recall the beatings, the tortures, the bombings of villages in the mountains by the Cuban air force, the burning of homes, the missing relatives and hundreds—thousands — of other instances of inhuman treatment by the army and the police.

You hear the figure of 20,000 persons killed by Batista forces —not including rebel casualties in warfare. Allowing for the wildest kind of exaggeration, any figure is enough to freeze your heart.

Cubans are unaware that news of "the terror" never gained wide circulation in the U.S. Even when told that most of the facts now being learned by American correspondents are new, they still cannot understand why we did not know it before.

Now Cubans ask, "In the light of what you have seen and heard yourself, how can Americans protest the trials and executions?"

It is difficult — if not downright impossible—to explain the principle of nonintervention, sovereignty or neutralism to a man who tells you he was beaten in a police station for no reason at all except being on the street after dark.

Conversely, Venezuela and Mexico—especially the former —enjoy the greatest status and affection of the Cubans: Venezuela because it actively and loudly aided the cause of the revolution, and Mexico because it was a tolerant training ground for so many rebels.

Union Member Families Feel Almost as Strongly

Public Believes Present Labor Laws Are Not Strict Enough

Gallup Poll

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J. — As the battle in Congress over two programs for labor-management reform takes shape, a nationwide survey finds that a considerably larger proportion of the public believes present labor laws are not strict enough than think they are about right or too strict.

What is more, union member families themselves feel almost as strongly as the general public about the need to tighten up labor laws.

The Gallup Poll has just completed an intensive study of U.S. attitudes toward labor union practices and the "images" people have of both labor union and business leaders.

The first question asked both of the general public and of union member families was:

"Do you think the laws regulating labor unions are too strict, or not strict enough?"

Too strict	6%
Not strict enough	49
About right	20
No opinion	25

Here is the vote of union member families on the same question:

Too strict	9%
Not strict enough	43
About right	30
No opinion	18

One bill, recently proposed by President Eisenhower and backed by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, would go further in some respects than the other major labor reform bill, known to the public as the Kennedy-Ives bill, defeated last year in the House but re-introduced by Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr. of North Carolina and 12 other Democrats.

WHEN voters were asked if they were familiar with the Kennedy legislation, one voter in four, or 25 per cent, said he had heard or read about it. Among union member families, 23 per cent said they were familiar with the proposal.

Among those persons who said they were familiar with the Kennedy bill and had an opinion about it, sentiment runs 5-to-1 in favor. Among union member families familiar with the Kennedy bill and having an opinion, there is a vote of 2½-to-1 in favor.

The question:

"Do you think Congress should or should not pass this bill?"

Should	53%
Should not	10
No opinion	37

The vote of union member families:

Should	46%
Should not	18
No opinion	36

Whether specific provisions of the Kennedy bill have more support or less than the administration's bill will be determined in future surveys. Several of the key features for labor, union reforms are included in both proposals.

One such provision would require a full accounting to the government of all funds entrusted to union leaders.

Kindness Chases Hussies

By ANN LANDERS

ANN

DEAR ANN: A few weeks ago my husband (age 40) took a woman from the office dancing. It was after someone opened a bottle to celebrate the arrival of a first-born son.

He told me about it the following day — said he was ashamed of himself and promised it wouldn't happen again.

This woman has called my husband on the phone three times since to ask questions about the office. I heard him tell her the matters could wait and never to bother him at home again.

Last week he brought home a package and said "The screwball gave this to me. Please open it, honey." It was an album of mushy records. Attached was a note saying "This could be us if you weren't such a coward." I handed him the note without saying a word.

He asked me to please drop her a line from us and say thanks for the records.

What shall I do? Do you think there's anything going on that I'm too dumb too see? Please advise me. — MYRTLE

The note made it abundantly clear that there's nothing going on — which is what the hussy is complaining about. Furthermore, only a man with a crystal clear conscience would have brought the gift home for his wife to open.

Since he asked that you say thanks from the family, by all means, do so. Make sure the honey fairly drips from your pen and I can promise she'll pull in her net — for keeps.

* * *

DEAR ANN: I am 14 years old and it takes a lot of courage to write this letter.

I saw a gift in the store window I wanted to buy for my mother. It costs $4.50. I've been doing without hot lunches and saving my money to buy the present. I wanted to surprise her.

I saved $3.75 when my mother picked up my little black purse and opened it. She asked me where I got all that money. Before I could say anything she said "You can't give me an honest explanation, can you?"

I felt so bad I didn't answer. Now I don't know if I should save the rest and buy the present, or give her what I have and tell her the whole story. — E. O. (P.S. My grandmother was right. She used to say "Money always brings trouble".)

Dear E. O.: Save the $4.50 as planned, buy the present, then tell your mother the whole story. Too bad some parents don't show more confidence in their children. I have the feeling your mother may learn a valuable lesson from this incident. If we let others know we expect the best from them we usually get it. The same can be said for the worst.

* * *

DEAR ANN: I'm 20, and in love with a gal 18. She loves me very much, but is not very demonstrative.

I'm a college student with no dough and a part-time job. I can't take her to fancy places, send gifts, or put on the dog. The best I can manage is a movie once a week.

She used to be satisfied, but last night she said she was fed up on not going anywhere and that we should call it quits. I know she still loves me, but her social-climbing mother is putting ideas into her head. What do you suggest? RANDY

Dear Randy: That's love? She caught a pretty light case.

If the girl really loved you she wouldn't be interested in fancy places and all that jazz. Accept the fact that the feeling is not mucilage and she doesn't wish to stick with you.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO HURT: Forget it. You lived this long without Wedgwood dishes. Ben Franklin was right when he said "If you want to know the true character of people, watch them divide an inheritance."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Miami Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fights Right-to-Work Law

'Communist' Paper Calls Indiana Legislators Names

INDIANAPOLIS —(UPI)— Hoosier lawmakers are scratching their heads over an allegedly Communist pamphlet urging repeal of the Indiana "right to work" law and calling for a mass march on the statehouse.

Copies of the broadside, purportedly issued by the Communist Party of Indiana, were received through the mail by Indiana legislators.

The mimeographed pamphlets were entitled "Workers' Advance" and called for Hoosiers to march on the statehouse to "expose the do-nothing politicians, bring them to heel, force them to cough up or eat their words."

The publication listed as Communist aims in the state the killing of union reform measures and the "right to work" law, and spoke out in favor of more unemployment compensation, a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour, a compulsory Fair Employment Practices Commission, legalized supplemental unemployment benefits, greater public welfare and old age assistance payment, lower taxes for low income groups and legislative reapportionment.

The pamphlet stated further that "only a socialist reorganization of our entire society can finally solve our many vexing problems."

There were no names of Communists mentioned in the broadside, however, nor was a return address given.

Spellman Leads Mexican Mass

Scholarly Refugees Find a Haven

Two of Buildings at Israel's Institute of Technology

. . . Winston Churchill Auditorium at top and Albert Einstein physics building below

Israel's Institute of Technology — one of the world's finest — is providing a scholarly retreat for about 200 students and 20 professors who fled Communist tyranny.

HAIFA, Israel —(AP)— Trachtenberg . . . Taman . . . Reichman . . . Malinovski.

A short time ago they were behind the Iron Curtain.

Today, as students or teachers, they are playing an important role in building democratic Israel.

At Israel's Institute of Technology — "The Technion" — they are among the 200 students and 20 professors who fled Communist tyranny.

As a Communist in Warsaw, Poland, Trachtenberg had glorified the ideology at every chance — in demonstrations, parades and discussion groups.

But, he says that in trips to Russia with his father — a top Polish Communist — he saw how forbidding the political system is.

His father, too, lost faith and accompanied young Trachtenberg to Israel. The father, a onetime member of a committee watching over the ceasefire in Viet Nam, found private employment in Tel Aviv.

Lhea Taman and Dina Reichman, both attractive young women, were studying construction engineering in Vrotslav, Poland. They longed to be with their own people and fled to Israel with their families last fall.

Roman Malinovsky was a distinguished Polish specialist in concrete technology. He, too, tired of communism. Now he teaches the same subject at the Technion.

But regardless of their reasons for coming, these students and their 2,800 classmates are important to Israel's future prosperity.

Israel needs technologists, and the institute on the slopes of Mount Carmel is already one of the world's finest technological institutes.

To care for its growing enrollment, the Technion is building a new campus on the worn and steep slopes of Mount Carmel, just outside this Mediterranean seaport. Formerly it was located in downtown Haifa.

The Technion offers study in a dozen technological fields: architecture, civil, mechanical, electrical, mineral engineering; and agriculture, aeronautics, and metallurgy.

The new campus, with gleaming buildings and modern libraries and laboratories, is the result of gifts from around the world. Technion authorities say gifts from the U.S. alone already total six million dollars, with another $250,000 coming in annually from a trust fund.

The Israeli government pays about 40 per cent of the institute's way.

Head of the school is Gen. Yaacov Dori — one of Israel's most distinguished citizens. He led Israeli forces as chief of staff during the war of liberation in 1948.

Dori, now 59, basically is an engineer. But he also is an administrator, showing the same fervor in directing the school as he did in the totally different job of heading the country's underground defense forces a decade ago.

Some of the world's top scientists teach and do research at the Technion.

Two are Professor Markus Reiner, founder of the new science of rheology — the study of flow and deformation of matter — and Professor Franz Ollendorf, a world renowned electronics engineer.

There is little question but that the Technion already ranks among the world's great technological institutes and that in the future this research and educational organization will make Israel one of the world's most important centers of applied science study.

One of the newer fields the Technion is working on is nuclear engineering. Engineers are being trained already for work on Israel's first atomic reactor which is yet to be built.

Trachtenberg, the onetime Communist activist, typifies the other students who fled communism. He has a zeal for study and hard work — and takes pride in his newly-adopted country.

Israel, to him, is far from the "pressure-cooker" life and culture he says communism led him to believe it would be.

Instead, he explains happily, it is developing a new and distinct "cohesive" society — with democracy.

Alexandria, Egypt, Is the Scene

Country Clubs Waging Battle

By GEORGE WELLER
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

NICOSIA, Cyprus — United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser's painful peace-making with Britain has broken down over something every American city dweller can understand. It's the old trouble about two country clubs that are rivals in the same city.

The city is Alexandria, Egypt, but it might almost have been Alexandria, Va., of Alexandria, La.

President Nasser
. . . seized clubs

The two country clubs are the sedate, swish "Sporting Club," and the not quite so silken and much younger "Sports Club."

Egypt and Britain have been quarreling for more than a century over anchorages, canal passage, airfields, forts, oases, weapons, espionage, hashish and statutes.

Now both parties want American peacemaker Eugene Black, president of the World Bank, to return to Cairo and tranquillize 25-million-dollars worth of difference about a country club.

Both Alexandria's clubs have golf links girdled by race courses. To escape taxes, they called their fairways, sandtraps and turf "agricultural land," though it was plowed only by niblicks, thundering hoofs and human heels.

The snooty "Sporting Club" was dominated by British and French members and admitted only a few Egyptians and Jews.

The "Sports Club" was founded in the 1930s before the Palestine troubles, to accommodate flourishing Jewish, Levantine and Egyptian businessmen unable to crash the No. 1 club.

A South African named Smouha, himself of the Jewish faith, bought 1,000 acres of marsh land edging the swank villa area of Alexandria, where members of the elder club resided.

Smouha started with homesites for quick cash and branched out into a country club and race course.

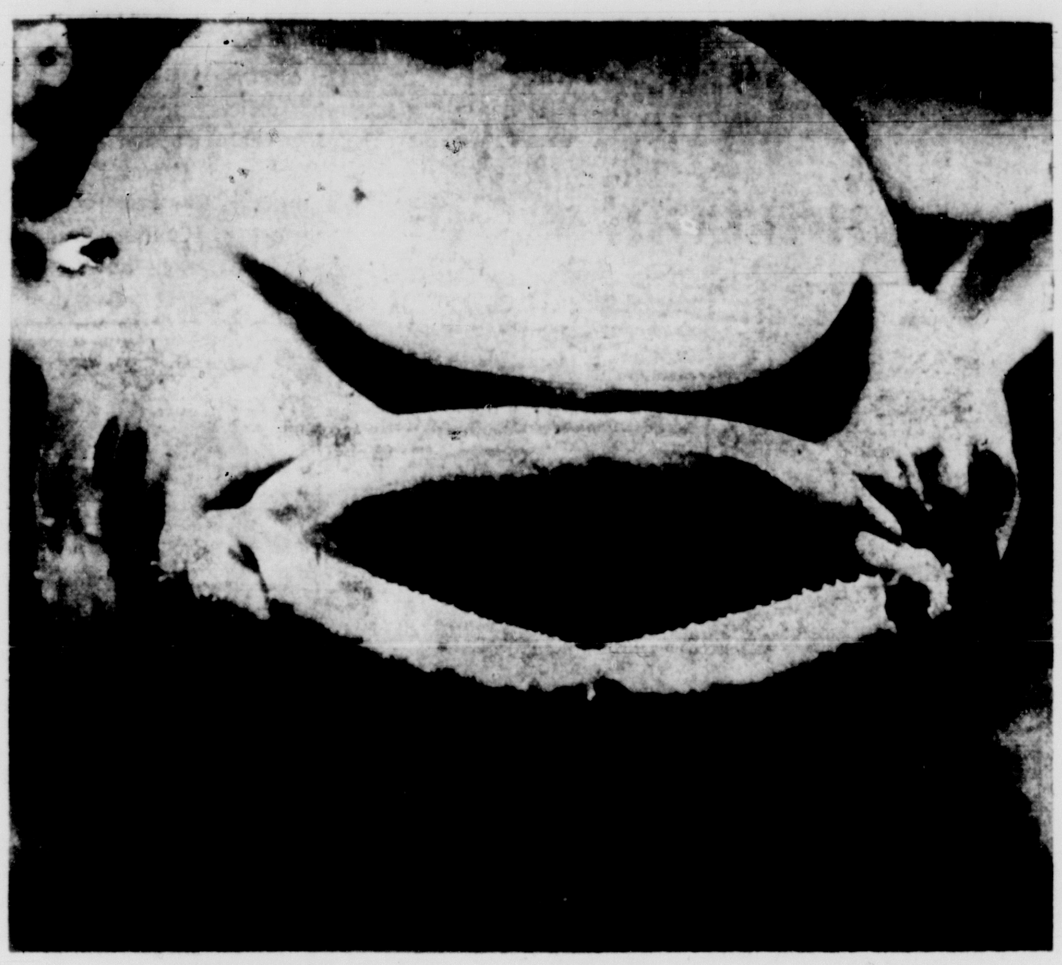
Since the only membership qualification was friendship the "Sports Club" soon was run by the Jewish owners of Egypt's cinemas and department stores, with many Egyptians, Armenians, Greeks, Italian and Lebanese.

The club's Jewish and Christian membership, under Egypt's tradition of tolerance, survived the Palestine war, but the Suez attack was too much. President Nasser seized both clubs and top officers became Egyptians, with Christians and Jews demoted to a secondary role.

When seizing farmland from the big Egyptian pashas, Nasser "pays" in promissory bonds, unredeemable even as tax payments. His extra ironic twist in making payment is to value seized land at the same artificially rigged low assessments which the influential former owners were able to wangle.

Under Nasser's law the government is able to take some 289 acres of Smouha's turf at about $1,100 per acre. It's conservatively worth 15 times that much but has been paying picayune taxes at the old rate.

The elder Smouha is dead but his sons in England are trying to collect also for their improvements to the land, which run it up to around 25 million dollars.



BOO!

"Here's looking at you!" says this fellow at the Seaquarium. He's a remora. On top of his head is a large suction cup with which he attaches himself to large fish, usually sharks. Besides a free ride, the remora gets to clean up leftovers after his "host" eats. Hency the fellow's nickname: "hitchhhiker of the seas." —United Press International Photo

Mobile Mace Due In Europe

BALTIMORE — (AP) — The Mace missile, highly mobile, almost jam-proof and capable of skirting radar, is going to U. S. troops in Germany in the spring, to replace the Matador.

The Martin Co., which built both missiles, said the Mace is a much improved version of the Matador — first operational guided missile delivered to the Air Force and now in front-line service in Germany, Korea and Formosa.

Exact operational ability is classified but Mace, like Matador, is a surface-to-surface missile with a range of more than 650 miles and a speed in the neighborhood of 650 mph.

Dishpan-Desert Takes Sand, Stone, Charcoal

By CAPPY DICK

Hobby Club

Here's how to build a miniature desert.

Ask Mother for a dishpan or a big cake pan that she will donate for this fun-project. At a florist's or dime store buy a few very small cactus plants. Get a supply of gravel, two handsfull of charcoal which can be bought at a dime store, pet shop or florist's and two pounds each of fine sand and coarse sand. The sand may be bought at a bird store.

Wash the gravel and spread a two or three-inch layer in the bottom of the pan for drainage. Spread a one-inch layer of coarse sand on top of the gravel.

* * *

CRUSH the charcoal with a hammer or an old rolling pin and mix the particles with the fine sand. Place a one-inch layer of this mixture on top of the coarse sand, completing the soil of your little desert. Figure 1 shows the layers.

To represent a mountain, pile some small stones in one corner of the pan; also scatter a few rocks over the sand.

The planting is done next. First water the sand. Use a spoon to do the digging. When removing the cactus plants from their pots be careful not to touch the roots; especially don't break off any root hairs. Leave any dirt that clings to the roots. After planting the cacti, pack the sand down firmly. Don't place the plants too close together or too near the sides of the pan. The completed desert will look like Figure 2.

You won't have to water the desert very often. Florists say one good watering every two weeks is enough. Use water only when the sand has become thoroughly dry.

Double Trouble

MINEOLA, N.Y. —(UPI)— When police arrested William Obergsell, 19, on burglary charges, they said he told them he needed the money to pay for a lawyer who was representing him in another burglary case.

Ship's Supply Officers Invited

Southeast Florida ship's supply officers, up to the rank of lieutenant commander, are eligible to attend Division 6-2 meetings. The unit meets every second and fourth Wednesday of the month at 7:30 p.m., Navy Reserve Center, 1151 NW South River Dr.

Members of the unit are on pay status and entitled to two weeks training duty each year with pay. For further information, contact Cmdr. R. P. Kelley, commanding officer, at FR 1-6456.

New idea for Lent!
TUNA PIZZA

Hearty meal for 4 to 6 people
Star-Kist TUNA PIZZA

A brand-new and really easy yeast-dough recipe for pizza. Timely, and sensationally delicious with Star-Kist Tuna as the 'meat.'

¼ cup warm (not hot) water—105° to 115°
1 pkg. Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
2½ cups Bisquick
¼ cup chopped onion
2 cups tomato sauce
8-oz. can mushrooms, sliced, sautéed in butter
6½-oz. can* Star-Kist Tuna, drained and flaked, salt and pepper to taste
2½ cups grated Cheddar cheese
Orégano
*9¼-oz. Family Size can may be used if desired

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add Bisquick. Beat vigorously. Turn dough onto Bisquick-dusted surface. Knead until smooth; about 20 times. Divide dough into 4 parts. Roll each part into a paper-thin circle about 10" in diameter. Place on ungreased baking sheets or in shallow piepans.

Filling: Mix onion, tomato sauce, mushrooms, Star-Kist Tuna, salt and pepper. Spread on dough. Sprinkle grated cheese over all. Sprinkle with orégano to desired taste. Heat oven to 425° (hot). Bake 15 to 20 minutes or until crust is brown and filling hot and bubbly. Serve immediately.

Easiest way yet to cut your pizza! Just use your kitchen shears.

New German Army Downright Bookish

By DAVID M. NICHOL
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

NICHOL

BONN — West German officials have been surprised and pleased by the results of a check of the reading habits of soldiers in the new German army.

The survey, in the Hannover military district, shows that one soldier in two is a steady patron of the libraries that are growing in the various barracks and installations. There are 470 of these libraries already in existence.

There is no index, or proscribed list of books which may not be purchased. Foreign books, in translation, are also to be found. They were rare in earlier times. The normal limits are that anything which is to be bought in representative book stores is permitted.

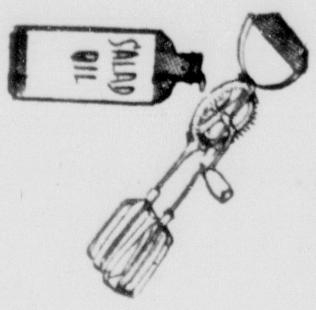
Company or battalion commanders usually decide what will be purchased.

The most popular books among German soldiers are science and detective novels.

Poles' Parley

WARSAW — (AP) — Poland and West Germany have opened long-postponed negotiations looking to a new trade treaty between the two countries. The last agreement expired in November 1958.

Slick Trick



WHEN the egg beater or any other small kitchen tool that touches food needs a drop of oil, use salad or cooking oil. No harm is done if a little oil touches the food.

Nordic Nations To Invite Nikita

OSLO — (AP) — Prime Minister Einar Gerhardsen said that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will be invited to visit Norway, Sweden and Denmark this year.

Negative Thinking Can Make You Nervous Wreck

Joe was obsessed with fear of TB. He was a brilliant college graduate, too, yet he fell victim to negative thinking. So don't get the idea that hypochondriacs and "worry warts" lack a high I.Q. In fact, the smarter you are, the easier it is for you to become a nervous wreck. Send for the helpful booklet mentioned below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

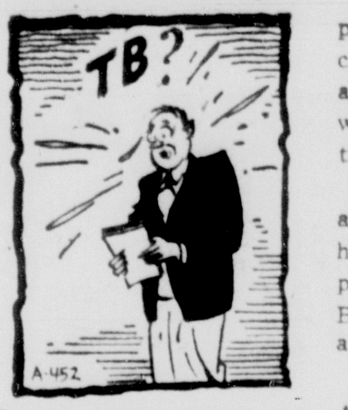
This unscientific doctor asked Joe if he didn't have night sweats, and then told Joe he should have them, for one of his lungs was entirely consumed by tuberculosis.

That night Joe finally fell asleep. But about 2 a.m. he awakened in a terrific night sweat. Perspiration was actually dripping off his face.

His wife informed me his pajamas were so saturated that she had to get him a dry pair.



Joe, of course, was not positive he was dying of TB, for hadn't the doctor asked him about night sweats?

At about 4:15 a.m., he again awakened with sweat trickling off his face and body as if he were chopping wood on a hot summer day.

* * *

HIS WIFE not only had to get him a third pair of dry pajamas, but she told me she changed both the upper, as well as the lower, sheets for they were saturated with perspiration.

Well, Joe refused to consult a reputable doctor for he told his wife those night sweats proved he was dying of TB. But his wife insisted he go to a chest expert, anyway.

This physician gave Joe a through examination and pronounced him OK.

"Joe, you are as sound as a dollar," he added. "There's not a sign of TB anywhere in your chest."

"Doc, I hope you don't think I'm disrespectful," Joe replied, "but you've made a mistake somewhere for I know I have TB."

So this medic performed the delicate and refined sputum test which involves injecting the patient's sputum into a guinea pig, which is a very susceptible creature if TB bacteria are present.

The laboratory report was negative. Still Joe denied the facts and demanded a second lab test. It was negative. Joe then insisted on a third.

When the third lab test reported no tuberculosis at all, Joe reluctantly conceded "Maybe I don't have TB."

But please notice those terrific night sweats that rivaled a Turkish bath.

* * *

JOE HAD NEVER had a night sweat before in his whole life. But that quack doctor's suggestion in mid-afternoon that Joe should have night sweats, percolated through Joe's brain.

That night, even when he was sound asleep, this negative idea got across into Joe's autonomic nervous system that controls the sweat glands and Joe perspired heavily.

If you and I tried our best, with our full conscious mind on the task, we couldn't turn on a shower of sweat. Even if we were baited with a $1,000 bill, we still could not produce sweat by conscious effort.

Yet Joe, who was a brilliant college graduate, produced two terrific night sweats even when he was fast asleep, just by his negative thinking.

So please keep an open mind about the matter of psychosomatic medicine.

And send for my booklet, "How to Prevent Nervous Breakdowns," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20c (Non-profit).

* * *

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Miami Herald, enclosing a long four-cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.

Unfortunate Timing for Briton's Visit

Macmillan's Moscow Mission a New Munich?

By FRED SPARKS

As a reporter who has covered the struggle against Soviet imperialism for 15 years I believe Prime Minister Harald Macmillan's mission to Moscow will be one of the Free World's most shameful hours.

SPARKS

What unfortunate timing! The pilgrimage was announced as we heard the recorded documentary of how Russian fighter planes blasted a flimsy helpless transport, murdering the 17 American boys inside. It was, for the Russians, a jolly turkey shoot.

It is said Macmillan wants to speak to the Soviet leaders; find a way to better understanding, particularly on Berlin. Who will he trust? Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan, a few weeks ago in Washington, said — face as firm as a poker player with four aces — that our plane crashed, an accident.

It is a pilgrimage that for too many will recall prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's mission to Munich.

It is a pilgrimage that will chill the fast dying hopes of men enslaved in Poland, Hungary, North Korea . . . Pictures of the state dinner, the flowing vodka, the caviar buttered thick as jam on black bread will hardly entertain those who were buttered into the gutters of Budapest by Soviet tanks.

Macmillan
. . . Moscow traveler

It is an unneccessary pilgrimage. There are formal channels of diplomacy, ever active, quite competent of exploring the misty, devious minds of Soviet leaders. I do not want to believe that one reason for the pilgrimage—as reported from London—is political, internal. It is said Macmillan will thus win votes for the Conservative Party.

The pilgrimage will come at the end of a period when, from a hundred Communist forums, the West has been insulted, degraded.

Khrushchev struts like a baggy-pants vaudeville ham and shrieks: "The U.S. has a mercantile approach . . . merchants of death prepared to sell out not only their friends but their fathers."

Our soldiers on duty in Germany are held and released by the Communist police like so many pieces of lost-and-found baggage. Marshal Malinovsky shouts that his ICBMs can strike any U.S. target, his Ivans can land on our coasts.

How does the West respond? Do we tell Malinovsky his troops might land here—but they'll be buried here?

No. The prime minister consults with Secretary John Foster Dulles and prepares his pilgrimage to Moscow. How can one blame the captive European peoples, and those living in terror on the hem of ambitious Red China, if they ask:

"The West is spat upon, tweaked, insulted, manhandled. And still it talks of understanding. The only language the Soviets understand is power; the fear of our power.

"Are we not being softened by another prime minister? This time not at Munich, over Poland, but at Moscow, over Berlin?"

Dental Speaker

Variety Children's Hospital President Dr. Clifford C. Snyder will speak on "Plastic Problems in Dentistry" at a meeting of the Miami Dental Society at 8 p.m. Feb. 16 in the Miami Women's Club.

Missing Wallet Found in Asia

TOLEDO, Ohio — (UPI) — Edgar T. Harris, an export parts packager in an automobile plant here, searched his home and the factory, then gave up hope of ever finding the wallet he had lost.

Six months later, a package postmarked Chittagong, East Pakistan, arrived for Harris. It contained the missing wallet.

The billfold had fallen from his pocket into a box of parts destined for shipment overseas.

Dear Friends:

THANK YOU! for inviting me to your store. It was a pleasure meeting your many nice customers and talking with them about Black Hawk Meats.

As an Indian, I am very proud of my ancestry and heritage, and it gives me great pleasure to talk with people and their children about my people.

I wish you would thank them for coming in while I was with you and extend to them my warmest greetings.

COTTAGE OVEN LOAF

The most delicious thing that ever happened to a meatless meal! New, savory, flavor-y main dish that looks lovely, tastes lively, and is wonderfully satisfying. You'll be "encoring" it all year 'round!

2 eggs, beaten
½ tsp. salt
2 (7-oz.) cans tuna
1 cup packaged herb-seasoned bread stuffing
1 cup (8-oz. can) tomato sauce
½ cup chopped onion

Blend cottage cheese, eggs and salt. Place 1½ cups cheese mixture in greased 9"x5"x3" loaf pan. Mash tuna smooth; blend thoroughly with remaining cheese-egg mixture, stuffing, tomato sauce and onion. Place tuna mixture on top of cheese layer; press down lightly. Bake in moderately hot (375°) oven, 45-50 minutes, until firm. Allow to stand 5 minutes before unmolding. Serve hot with tomato sauce. Serves 6.

SAVORY COTTAGE TOMATO PIE

Combine 1 1-lb. pkg. Breakstone's California Style Cottage Cheese. 3 beaten eggs, ½ tsp. salt, 2 Tbsp. onion flakes. Pour in unbaked 9-inch pie crust. Bake in 450° [illegible] minutes; lower heat to 300°; bake till filling is firm, 30-40 minutes. Mix ½ cup tomato sauce, 3 Tbsp. tomato paste, ½ tsp. oregano. Pour over pie filling; top with slices of Swiss, American or Mozzarella Cheese. Garnish with sliced stuffed green olives, canned mushroom slices or anchovy fillets. Return to 450° oven; bake till cheese melts. Serves 4-6.

CALIFORNIA COTTAGE CASSEROLE

Combine 1 8-oz. pkg. Breakstone's California Style Cottage Cheese 1 8-oz. pkg. Breakstone's Temp-Tee Whipped Cream Cheese, ½ cup chopped scallions, 2 Tbsp. minced green pepper. Reserve ¾ cup cheese mixture for topping. Cook 1½ cups elbow macaroni; drain. In 2 qt. casserole alternate layers of macaroni and cheese, ending with macaroni. Top with 1 1-lb. can drained red kidney beans. Pour on 1 10½-oz. can Spaghetti-Mushroom Sauce. Spoon reserved cheese mixture in circle on top. Bake in 350° oven, 45 minutes. Serves 6.

COTTAGE CHEESE

WHAT a wonderful salad Sealtest has made for you . . . a complete SPRING GARDEN COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD, tempting and tasty and fresh as Spring itself. Pure creamy-smooth Sealtest Cottage Cheese—with a delicious variety of tantalizing Spring Garden vegetables added . . . everything you'd put in your own favorite Spring Cottage Cheese Salad—except the work.

It's all ready for you, now, at your store or delivered to your door.

SOUPER IDEA

Prepare your favorite tomato soup the usual way, but before you serve, mix in vigorously a quarter cup of Sealtest Spring Garden Salad Cottage Cheese for each cup of soup and heat only a minute more. Adds a zip and tang that turns even bland soups into real taste treats! Try it with plain bouillons, too.

SPRING GARDEN OMELET

Lenten favorite with a new lift! Beat two eggs, with fork or whisk, adding salt, pepper and 3 tablespoons of Sealtest Milk or Cream. Fry omelet over low heat. Turn, then spread a quarter cup of Sealtest Spring Garden Salad over half. Fold omelet quickly and serve.

Friends Stave Off Fisticuffs at Met As Socialite Dander Rises Over a Lady

By Cholly Knickerbocker

NEW YORK — Dramatic pyrotechnics took place off the Metropolitan Opera stage the other night when Society's E. Haring (Red) Chandor and Dr. John F. MacGuigan almost came to blows in the lobby. Friends parted them before anything more serious than insults were hurled.

The reason, naturally, is DuPont heiress Lisa Chandor from whom "Red" is currently separated. Intimates believe the beautiful Lisa's interest in well-known Park Ave. gynecologist MacGuigan precipitated the Chandors' marital fracas.

CHOLLY

Lisa's marriage to "Red" in 1953 was her first, but Chandor is already a two-time loser on the marriage-go-round. And it just happens, so is the good doctor.

IF YOU WONDER why newspapermen grow cynical, you might consider the case of Lady Adele Beatty. When reporters asked her on arrival from London if she were here to visit Frank Sinatra, the Oklahoma-born beauty said, "How could anyone possibly say that?" and told reporters she'd be off for Nassau in a few hours time.

However, Lady Beatty then dined with friends who later put her on a midnight plane for Beverly Hills. As you read this, she's doubtless lapping up sunshine in Palm Springs with — that's right, Frankie Boy.

Russell Forgan Jr. and some of his other young Social Register pals want to take over the current El Morocco site when John Perona moves his nightclub oasis in September. Forgan would convert it into an informal boite with canned music for the young Social Set.

As soon as Eva Gabor planed in to New York fresh from her triumph at the Palm Beach Playhouse, Venita Radcliffe flew straight to Palm Beach from the West Coast. Five-Minute Job

Your Gums Grab That Vitamin C

By ARTHUR J. SNIDER
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

CHICAGO — The vitamin C in your morning orange juice is absorbed by your gums five minutes after you drink it.

This is where dentists want it to go, for vitamin C is a good protective and treatment for inflamation of the gums.

SNIDER

Dentists have long suspected this speedy absorption but it took the research of Dr. Seymour H. Yale of the University of Illinois and his associates to prove it.

Dr. Yale was awarded the centennial research award of the Chicago Dental Society at its 94th midwinter meeting here Wednesday.

Using radioactive vitamin C in guinea pigs, his research team was able to check not only the speed of absorption but the exact location of the vitamin in the mouth tissues.

Dr. Yale is professor and head of the department of radiology in the dental school.

Other members of the team are Dr. Henry Jeffary, biochemist; Dr. C. I. Mohammed, now at the University of Puerto Rico, and Dr. Edward C. Wach.

Mayor Kenneth Oka will speak on "Israel as I Saw It," at noon Feb. 17 at the DiLido Hotel. A brotherhood program will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Feb. 18 at the Algiers Hotel. The Rev. Bill Williams, executive director of the Dade County Council on Community Relations, will speak.

Etiquette

Tips a Courtesy Not Obligatory

By AMY VANDERBILT

AMY

DEAR Miss Vanderbilt: I am a maid and I have occasion to sign for room service in a first-class hotel. How do I sign—'Mr. John Doe (Mary Jones)' or what is the right way? Also, how do I add a $2 tip? — M. S., Philadelphia."

You sign it "John Doe per Mary Jones" and then "Tip $2" (or whatever is appropriate, approximately 15 per cent) below the listed total.

* * *

"DEAR Miss Vanderbilt: Isn't a counter waitress entitled to a tip the same as a table waitress? I have found that 'I get a friendly 'hello' and a big 'thank you', but very few tips. Maybe the public doesn't know that we counter waitresses make no more salary than table waitresses. — C. W., Chicago."

The public feels that a counter waitress does not give the same kind of service as does a table waitress because she is able to serve many people at the same time from her station.

I do find, however, that men particularly do leave tips for counter waitresses, especially in big cities, at airports and so forth, although the tip is usually smaller than the usual 10 to 15 per cent of the bill for table service. If you want to encourage this kind of tipping, be sure to give thanks for it even if it is only the despised nickel.

Waiters and waitresses should keep in mind that tipping is not obligatory. It is a matter of courtesy on the part of the guest. More and more people are, rightly I believe, omitting a tip where they have not really received service, or where the service has been bad or rude.

Game Aids Plant Safety

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — A game which is a cross between Bingo and safety is helping to cut industrial accidents at a large manufacturing plant here.

The game is called SAFGO. Each month every person in the B. F. Goodrich Co. plant is issued a SAFGO card. There are 24 numbers on each card, and every day one number is drawn. The first employe whose numbers chosen in the drawing form a green cross representing safety wins a $100 U.S. Savings bond — unless he has had an injury during the month which resulted in loss of time.

"Interest in the game is mounting," said J. M. Robbins, plant manager. "We expect this interest and the safety ideas printed on the SAFGO card to help measureably in keeping accidents from happening at our plant."

That's a Grand

WOONSOCKET, R.I. — (UPI)— For eight years, Antonio Valois, an electrical contractor, saved zinc-covered pennies. The other day he took his hoard down to the bank for deposit. There were 102,000 pennies.

'We Jettisoned All We Could As We Plunged Toward the Sea'

By ROSEMARY MUDIE

Just the moment before, our balloon "The Small World" had been rising so rapidly that we didn't know if we could halt it.

ROSEMARY

Now we were plunging down towards the sea so fast that I could only call out the altitudes at 200-foot intervals.

Bushy Eiloart, our balloon commander, already had ordered his son Tim and Colin, my husband, to be prepared to throw our 56-pound radio transmitter and one battery over the side to lessen the impact when we hit the sea.

We had to work rapidly because when we hit the 500-foot altitude mark our trailing hose and line would strike the water and then we would have to start throwing ballast overboard. If we didn't have it dumped by the 300-foot mark —or 20 seconds later—the sheer momentum of the added weight would increase our impact on the water.

"Get those sleeping bags ready to go over," Bushy commanded. "It's warm enough so in this stretch of ocean we'll manage without them and stand by to drop the starboard propeller unit (the other had been jettisoned earlier)."

We broke through the base of the cloud in our downward rush at 800 feet. The conical cups of our wind gauge began to revolve at such a rapid rate that we knew we would be hitting the waves in a strong wind. But we welcomed being clear of the cloud even though we were faced with the slate gray rollers and wind-tossed sea.

* * *

Radio Transmitter Tossed Overboard

As soon as we cleared, I dropped the altimeter and started tossing out ballast while Colin heaved the battery over. Tim followed up with the radio transmitter — our last contact with civilization. The propeller unit was dropped. Next went the sleeping bags, followed by items in the food bags that we had labeled "luxuries" — 10 tins of pineapple and peaches.

* * *

Three Englishmen — and one Englishwoman started in a balloon named "The Small World" from the Canary Islands on Dec. 12, 1958. They planned to retrace the trade winds route of Columbus to the West Indies.

It became a voyage involving 1,200 miles of buffeting in the air, loss of radio contact with the world and 20 days of drifting 1,500 miles in the hostile ocean. And, of course, there was the continuing intensely human story of three men and a girl existing for 24 days in a 15 by eight-foot combination balloon car and boat.

Rosemary Mudie, the female member of the expedition, continues her first-person narrative of the daring adventure and brings the account to the third day in the air. This is the first publication of her full account of the expedition.

* * *

Then, almost before we realized fully that it was happening, we crashed into the sea. There was a grating, keening noise from the tension wires which reinforced the hull and we hung on desperately as the car lurched drunkenly to the starboard.

Like a giant-size rubber ball, we careened back into the air while Bushy shouted: "She's going to hit again — toss the other battery over, Tim, and you might as well throw out the generator, too, for we won't have any use for it now the radio's gone."

The water on our port side had turned a brilliant green; obviously the polythene bag in which we carried our fluorescent dye, which served as a windspeed marker, had ripped. So this, too, was jettisoned.

But this next time when we hit the sea, it was with the impact of a tender kiss. As we recovered, we jettisoned a few tins of the nut pemmican—of which we had an oversupply—and then were able to stay in the air with the trail rope and hose dragging the water's surface.

* * *

Bushy Jettisons False Teeth

"My God! It's only 11:15 a.m.," Bushy said, glancing at his watch. "We've only been in this mess for 15 minutes and here I could have sworn it was at least four o'clock!"

The rest of the day was uneventful as the wind dropped considerably and we were able to devote ourselves to repairing the water-lifting bag which had been severely damaged. That evening, still tense from our morning adventure, we broke out the brandy for the first time and we each had a small tot — no more than a mouthful.

The reason? We had covered a quarter of the distance to the New World.

The fourth day was our best to date: weather heavenly sunny but not too hot. The water-lifting bag was working smoothly. Our only mishap was that Bushy bit into one of the fresh tomatoes we had brought with us from the Canary Islands, only to find it had turned bad. He spat it out and, in so doing, got rid of two of his false teeth, too.

"Look here, Bushy," I said, "that's carrying jettisoning too far."

With the water-lifting bag repaired and our hoisting technique perfected, we had no more fear of "superheat" caused by the sun striking the canopy in the morning or late afternoon and resulting in a rapid expansion of the gas that would force us upward. Colin took several navigational fixes and predicted we would be in the West Indies within nine days.

* * *

Another Thermal Rocks Balloon

We had been working for nearly 19 hours straight, so that evening three of us decided to get some sleep while Bushy stood watch. It was dark aboard as all of our electrical equipment had been jettisoned except for some small batteries with tiny bulbs attached with wires for reading the altimeter.

"Get up, kids, we're in another thermal," I recall Bushy shouting out. The car was swaying back and forth like a giant pendulum, reaching as much as a 45 degree angle on its back and forward swings.

As Bushy told us later: "There was no light on board and I could barely make out the phosphorescence on the altimeter dial. It went to four, then to five, and I was wondering whether to get out the water bag, when it suddenly went up to six and then to seven hundred feet.

"I tried to put the water-lifting bag over the side but we were rising at the rate of 30 feet per second which was faster than I could play out the line."

Tim, who by now was reading the altimeter, thrust it into my hand and then did a very plucky thing: he climbed the violently swaying rope ladder, while the car lurched from side to side, up to the load ring to open the neck valve. We were at 3,400 feet and if he had not done this the rapidly-expanding balloon bag would have burst and we would have been goners.

* * *

'You Must Gas,' Tim Cries Out

"You must gas, you must gas," Tim cried to Bushy as we rocketed upward through the darkness and pelting rain.

Bushy jumped for the gas valve rope and hung on to it, feet off the deck, tossed like the clapper in a tolling bell, while our previous gas supply escaped. I was calling out that we were at 3,800 feet, then 4,000. At 4,600 feet we stopped rising but by then we knew we had no other alternative: be prepared to ditch or die.

Colin had his knife out and was hacking at four of the eight suspension lines while Bushy went after the other four so that when he pulled the quick release the car would separate from the balloon. Tim had clambered down from the load ring and was throwing over every piece of ballast available.

We were plummeting downward at more than 20 feet per second. By the time we

A Girl
Against The Sea

had dropped to 700 feet, my torch failed and I was no longer able to read the altimeter. But our frantic ballasting had started to slow our rate of descent.

"Don't worry, Rosemary, don't worry," Bushy reassured me, "it's all right, I can see the ocean now that we've broken out of the cloud. It's fairly smooth."

Tim and I lay down on the deck for the moment of impact. Colin stood while Bushy stood with one hand on the quick release and with the other braced against the side of the car.

One hundred feet. Fifty feet. We could hear the sound of the waves now. Thirty feet. Ten feet.

With a magnificent sense of timing, Bushy pulled the release handle at three feet and the car gently dropped onto the sea.

I turned my head and could just make out our balloon careening upward to be lost forever in the clouds. And with it our dream vanished into reality.

Transports Hit Safety Peak

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. —(AP)— The Military Air Transport Service set a new low for aircraft accidents last year. Lt. Gen. William H. Tunner, MATS commander, made the announcement.

The command's accident rate was just over three per 100,000 flying hours last year compared to almost four per 100,000 in 1957.

Dead Man Kills Woman in Car

MILAN, Italy — (UPI) — The body of the victim in a traffic accident killed a woman near here.

Gino Gorgerino was driving with his wife, Maria, when he struck cyclist Giuseppe Bernardi, 54. Bernardi was killed instantly.

The impact hurled the body of Bernardi through the windshield of Gorgerino's car. It struck 34-year-old Mrs. Gorgerino, killing her instantly. Gorgerino was unhurt.

New Meters Vandal-Proof

CHICAGO — (AP) — Vandals damaged some 22,000 parking meters last year so the city has been offered new and heavier ones — described as vandal resistant.

The company holding the contract for servicing the city's meters offered to install the new meters as replacements if it is granted a new contract. The number of meters damaged in 1958 represented a 400 per cent increase over the preceding year.

Castro Invited To Boston Fete

BOSTON — (AP) — Cuba's Fidel Castro has been invited to take part in South Boston's traditional March 17 parade.

The celebration does double duty, both Evacuation Day and St. Patrick's Day. The event commemorates the departure of the British form Boston during the Revolution.

The invitation to Castro was extended in a telegram from Joseph Alecks, chief aide to the chief marshal for the parade.

Nobody makes macaroni like Mueller's
It's more delectable...so digestible

SECRET!
"CONFIDENTIAL" CASSEROLE
1—8 oz. pkg. Mueller's Ready-Cut Macaroni. 2 tbsp. butter. 1 onion, chopped. 1 cup leftover meat, ground. ½ tsp. salt. ⅛ tsp. pepper. 1—16 oz. can of tomatoes. 1 tsp. sugar.
Sauté onion in butter till lightly browned. Add meat, seasonings and tomatoes. Cook macaroni according to package directions. Arrange alternate layers of macaroni and meat mixture in baking dish and brown in a moderate (375°) oven 30 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

They'll never even think of the word "leftover" when you serve 'em a Mueller's "Confidential" Casserole.

What makes Mueller's Ready-Cut Macaroni so much more delicious, so digestible? It's the blend! Not just Semolina but Semolina plus easy-to-digest Farina. Vitamin-enriched. High in protein, too.

Mothers Learn Modern Dance

Back, Back, Back They Go to the Beat of the Tom Tom

. . . modern dance class is composed of members of North Beach PTA. Mrs. Eugenie Schein , beating the rhythm, is instructor

—Herald Staff Photos by Ray Fisher

Touching Head to the Floor Isn't Easy

. . . at least not on first try, but these mothers are quite limber by now.

North Beach Parents Take Sample Classes

Parents of North Beach Elementary PTA decided they ought to have some of the advantages they give their children — dance lessons, music lessons, arts and crafts.

So they set up a series of sample classes to get a taste of these activities. Modern dance was the first sampler and six mothers turned up to learn how bend and sway.

The classes are just for fun, but maybe some hidden talent will be discovered. Next classes are painting pictures and making copper enamel jewelry.

Why Do I Have Bad Breath?

By DR. J. G. MOLNER

DEAR DR. MOLNER:

What can I do for bad breath? It isn't from my teeth. I have false ones and brush them often.

—MRS. A. H.

Not all bad breath is from the mouth by any means. Infections in the nose or throat (infected tonsils, for example) are often the cause, so have your nose and throat examined.

* * *

DEAR DR. MOLNER:

I am 45 and still have my period as regular as a clock. When I mention this, someone always says, "Not really! Not at your age!"

You'd think I was a freak. Tell me, is this unusual? Am I breaking the law of averages?

— V. M.

No, you're not breaking the law of averages.

Your friends are ignorant. Average age for menopause is in the middle to latter 40's, and usually before 50.

Occasionally it does not come until after 50, and 55 is about the latest. The statistical average is 47.

* * *

Are you considering the removal of your child's tonsils? If so, remember that nature provided them for a purpose, and this is explained in my pamphlet, "Don't Trifle With Tonsils." To receive your copy, write to me for it in care of The Miami Herald, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

'We Need More Gals'

HELP! The Young Hopefuls' Thursday night dance sessions at the YWCA need, of all things, WOMEN! "We are deluged with men," say Ed and Argella Howell, host and hostess, "But not women."

Girls, if you're 18 to 35 and are interested in equalizing this ill-proportioned ratio, report to the YW auditorium, 106 S.E. First Ave. from 8 to 11 o'clock tonight.

Fee is little, and dance instruction is included.

It's 91 For Fred Gates

This was comedian Joe E. Lewis's advice to Mr. Gates on his 90th birthday last year. Wednesday Fred Gates was 91, and for the second year in a row Mr. Lewis entertained at his birthday party in the Eden Roc's Pompeii Room.

Fred Gates

Many out-of-town friends flew in especially for the celebration, just as they did last year. Among those attending the party given by Paul Casters, 10240 Collins Ave., Bal Harbour, were Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoover, Harlan H. Pigott and Steven Kovak of Pittsburgh, John H. Darby of Buffalo, N.Y., and Dr. Loutrell Timanus of Baltimore, Md.

Southeast GFWC To Meet in Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — (AP) — The Southeastern Council of the General Federation of Women's Clubs will holds its mid-winter meeting here March 3-5, with 200 delegates from 10 states scheduled to attend.

They'll represent clubs in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland.

Mrs. George B. Bartlett of Annapolis, general chairman of the conference, said a program is being arranged to include tours of old Annapolis homes, the U.S. Naval Academy, and a tea by Mrs. J. Millard Tawes at the governor's mansion in addition to conference meetings.

Miss Chloe Gifford of Lexington, Ky., president of the general federation, will be one of the principal speakers for the three-day affair.

Close to 400 Christened Pool At Ann's House

By HELEN WELLS
Herald Society Editor

There were almost 400 people at Ann Van Sciver's home on NE 89th St. Tuesday enjoying the party given by Ann and Olive Wofford.

The party christened Ann's new swimming pool,

Standing with Olive and Ann was Ann's house guest, Edith Fownes of Palm Beach and Newtown, Conn. It is Edith who painted the giant (7'x4') oil portrait of John Astor which hangs in his New York home. (John says he isn't sure whether he likes it.)

Olive Wofford

And speaking of artists, never knew before that Ann wields a brush with great skill. The almost life sized nude which hangs over her pool bar is signed "Ann Van Sciver." It shows good composition and nice skin tones.

Ruth and Al Smith brought her brother Tom Tirrell of Charlottesville, Va. Baron Amedeo Cacace of Rome Italy, accompanied Nancy and Bob Greene.

Annie Loys Smith, there with Rouse, greeted all arrivals on the front terrace where tall flares lighted the scene. Irene and Ralph Crum have tentative plans for a weekend at Coral Harbour club in the Bahamas.

Down from Fort Lauderdale were Olive's friends, Pat and Jim Bennett; Larry and Wilbur Haugen's guest was Angel Guarello of Santiago, Chile, importer just back from Europe and en route to Jamaica. He was escorting Mary Striet Preston.

Ida and Walter Olson were recalling their late friend, poet Eugene Field. Practically destitute and depressed after the loss of his little son, he skyrocketed to fame when he wrote "Little Boy Blue" at 2 a.m. one sleepless night.

New State, New Trip

Florida in Washington

Let the snow fall and the icy winds blow, thought Floridians in Washington. They felt they were back in sunny Florida with baskets of prize citrus fruit and other tropical decorations when the Florida State Society threw its annual Congressional reception.

Mrs. Robert L. F. Sikes, president of the FSS, and her Congressman husband who is dean of the Florida Congressional delegation, of Crestview, greeted guests in the House Ways and Means room of the new House Office Building.

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, was all smiles when he was presented with a basket of fruit; early arrivals included Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy and his attractive silver-haired wife in chic navy and white.

Tall, good-looking Gen. Nathan B. Twining, USAF, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, was resplendent in his Air Force blues. He hopes to be in Florida before long.

In line with the Sikeses were Mary and Sen. Spessard Holland, she in a becoming blue ensemble; Rosemary and Sen. George Smathers, she in black silk and velvet and picture hat.

Here's loyalty for you! The Charles Eastmans have been coming down from Union City, Pa., for four months every winter for the last 32 years. And each of those winters since 1927 they've stayed at the Urmey.

They'll be among the guests at the Urmey's annual Valentine's Day tea for hotel guests and their friends on Friday from 4 to 5 p.m. in the East Lobby.

Do's and Don't's For Wearing Lovely Orchid Corsages

By BEVERLEY WILSON
Herald Fashion Editor

Did you wear an orchid to the last formal function you attended? Or did it wear you?

Some people just don't know how to wear orchids, we hear on top authority: the South Florida Orchid Society.

The group, which is busy working on its 15th annual International Orchid Show at Bayfront Park Auditorium Feb. 20-23, has a few hints on how you can keep the upper hand when you wear your glamor corsage.

First hint: if you're a small woman, don't wear too large an orchid.

A very young girl also looks much better with a small orchid or a small design of spray-type orchids.

Then there's the awful faux pas of wearing your corsage upside-down.

Most people know that a flower should be worn the same way it grows naturally.

(Except of course when the corsage is made with some blooms going one way and others the opposite.)

But how many people know which way an orchid grows on its plant?

Here's how to tell: The orchid most people get as a corsage, the Cattleya (pronounced CAT-lee-uh), opens— artistically speaking — with the weight at the bottom. Therefore, the lip of the orchid should hang down, so that the color up inside it can be seen.

The Cattleya will last longer in that position too, because nature gives the top petals and sepal more strength to hold up with than the lip has.

Orchid show will be open to the public from 3:30 to 10 p.m. each day. Events will include a fashion show at 4 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 22, with clothes from Don Mullen.

TO THAW FISH

If you want to thaw frozen cod fillets enough to separate them before using, let the package of fish stand, opened, at room temperature for about 15 minutes.

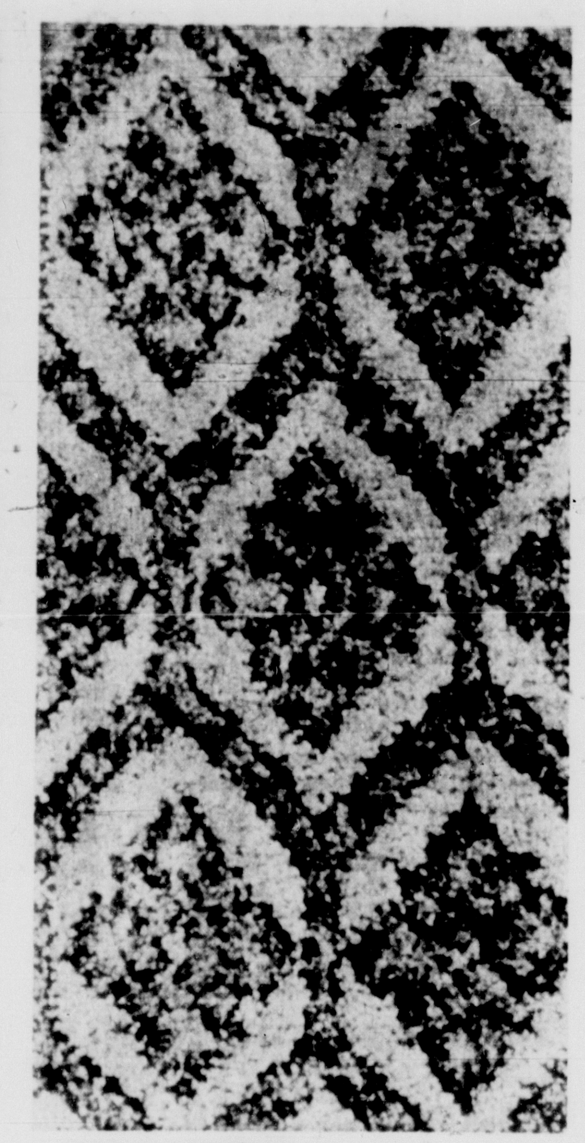
BORDERS ARE BACK—to enhance new carpet designs. This one has a Chinese mandarin cipher as part of its pattern. Colors are soft and subtle, teakwood on antique ivory, tea leaf beige on pagoda white and cedar on ancient manuscript beige.



TRIBAL SYMBOL of the Persian Nomads inspired the all-over repeat pattern in this carpet. Scissor cutting points up the pattern.

FORGET YOUR MOTHER-IN-LAW

Decorating? Be an Individual

BY KAY MURPHY
Herald Decorating Editor

Maybe you really do love your mother-in-law. But that's no reason for you to enroll in the "mother-in-law school" of interior decoration

After all, you have your own personality and she has hers.

Ed Donohue

This reminder comes from Ed Donohue, designer, researcher and assistant to the president of a widely-known carpet manufacturing concern. He's also the author of several books on interior decoration.

Donohue was in Miami this week to introduce the company's newest carpet designs.

* * *

THE TERM, mother-in-law, is used loosely, Donohue admits. "What I really mean is women should be individual in their living schemes. They wouldn't buy identical hats or copy each other's hairdos down to the last curl. Why is it they doubt themselves so much when it comes to exerting individuality in their homes?"

Don't borrow someone else's tastes is what Donohue's driving at.

He has a few other don'ts to offer, too.

Don't try to live up to a decorating scheme. Make it live up to you instead. Always consider it as a background, a setting for you and the members of your family.

Don't pick colors the way you pick a new hat or a new evening dress. These are "special occasion" items usually — not something you'll be wearing day in and day out.

"At least no woman I know wears an evening gown day in, day out," says Donohue with a smile.

Don't economize on the important things. Since Donohue is in the carpet business, naturally he places carpet at the top of the list.

Then, in descending order of importance: Wall and window treatments, the utilitarian items — a sofa for the living room, a table for dining, beds for the bedroom.

Donohue considers these basics. If you're going to splurge, splurge on these. Pinch pennies when you buy accessories.

* * *

WHEN IT COMES to the item that tops his list, Donohue suggests you buy the best carpeting you can afford since it's subjected to more wear and tear than any other item in the house.

"You don't tromp across your living room sofa a million times a year," he interjects.

"A carpet is an investment in living," Donohue adds. "That's why you should chose color, texture and pattern carefully if you want returns on your investment."

"You'll change other things in the home more frequently. Their colors and their styling. That's why its wisest to pick a carpet that will adapt itself to these changes."

Another reason for care in carpet selection is that it occupies more space than any other item in the home.

To the woman who engages the services of an interior decorator, Donohue has these words of wisdom.

"Don't tell him how to do it. You wouldn't tell your doctor how to operate. A decorator is a professional, too. But do tell him your "symptoms."

'Get Help Before You Wed'

"People should come to us BEFORE marriage rather than afterward," Walter Wilson, Family Service Consultant, told the Marriage Clinic, sponsored by Protestant Service Bureau, at Grace Methodist Church Tuesday night.

The doors of Family Service, a United Fund agency, are always open for pre-marital counseling, for "this indicates a healthy willingness to seek help later if difficulties arise.

"We think in terms of family counseling rather than marriage counseling," Mr. Wilson continued. "For if one or two people are upset, the whole family unit is affected. Basically, we help people to get along more comfortably with themselves, for to get along with others you have to be comfortable with yourself."

Family Service, located at 395 NW First St., is open for appointments Monday through Friday. On Wednesdays appointments are taken until 7 p.m. to accommodate working people.

A Dog's Life? It Costs Less

Women's News Service

It's small consolation to the American housewife that prices of dog food actually fell off 12 per cent in the past year.

For the cost of food for the two-legged members of the family went up 8 per cent.

Memo for Men

By BERT BACHARACH

PERSONAL: If your job requires that you look downward constantly — at a desk, reading, or other close work—relax the muscles of your eyes with this exercise: Several times a day, raise the eyes and look at the right corner of the ceiling. Hold them in that position a few seconds, then lower them. Now raise them and look at the left corner of the ceiling. Repeat this four times—alternating right and left.

'I Was a Happy Teen-Age Bride, But I Often Wish We Had Waited'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

This letter is a word of advice for teenage girls who are considering marriage.

I went with my husband through my senior year. After graduation, he enlisted in the service. We were married shortly after his boot training.

It wasn't easy. We now have a lovely baby boy, but many times I've wished we'd waited. For no matter how much you love him, you can't help but feel a little tied down.

Luckily, I haven't had to go out and work. But I know many other women with children, who have to and must leave their children to someone else to raise.

Teenagers, wait awhile before you get married — you have plenty of time.

TEENAGE BRIDE AND MOTHER

Going-steady high schoolers, please note!

* * *

'My Husband Gives Me a Pain'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I've got a husband who's giving me a pain in the neck. He's out all night and my patience is about through.

He's been hanging around bars and yapping insults at the customers. The past week he's been coming back sick as a dog . . . all over the rug, too.

He has such a guilty look, I think maybe there's a woman. Should I get a divorce, or something?

GAY DOG'S WIFE

Sick dog would be more appropriate, in more ways than one. After you take up the rug, concern yourself with learning WHY he's driving himself to drink . . . that is, if you're even faintly concerned with helping HIM.

* * *

'Anything But Another Woman'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

After weighing the pros and cons of happy marriages and good husbands, I think my words will echo the sentiments of many women.

I could put up with anything from my husband BUT another woman. That is where I draw the line.

My husband does not earn much money, and we have six children. He does not help with the housework. But he is thoughtful about birthdays, anniversaries, etc.

I do not have enough fingers to count the kisses I receive in one day! Incidentally, I do not brush him off with, "Can't you leave me alone, I'm busy."

I think my marriage is happy because I realize my husband is not perfect.

I used to try and change him, but I am older now and have learned more in nine years of marriage than I ever suspected I would.

Some people go into marriage with the expectation of too many material things. If a woman has a husband who comes home from work to be with her instead of chasing other women, she should thank her lucky stars. I do.

DOROTHY

* * *

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

My husband is being transferred (civilian) to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

I would appreciate if some of the readers would tell me what kind of clothes to take, what would be expected of me socially and locally.

We will be living on the Navy Base in a homoja hut, and I would especially like to know what that is.

PINK MERINGUE HEARTS

Do you have some special parties or family occasions coming up in February? If you do you'll want to try the good looking, good eating desserts shown on the cover of February Better Homes & Gardens. Here's one.

½ package (1 packet) meringue mix
Few drops red food coloring
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 10-ounce package frozen strawberries, thawed (but with a few crystals remaining), or 1 pint fresh strawberries sliced and sugared.

Prepare meringue mix according to package directions for meringue shells. Tint delicate pink with red food coloring. Cut heart pattern from a 4½-inch square of paper. Cover baking sheet with plain ungreased paper; draw 6 hearts from pattern. Spread meringue over each heart shape, making a ¼-inch layer. With pastry tube, pipe on rim about ¾ inch high. Bake at 400° according to package directions. At serving time, scoop ice cream with a large spoon and pile into meringue shells. Top with berries.

This delicious dessert is just one of 71 recipes in February Better Homes & Gardens. When you get your copy of this big issue, turn to the article on prize-winning roses for your 1959 garden. It shows them in brilliant color, tells you when and how to plant. These gorgeous rose developments are available now.

Sex and Jazz Added To TV Western Hit

By CHARLES MERCER

LOLA

STEVENS

In its story line the NBC-TV weekly series Monday at 9 p.m. (locally WCKT) is routine, run-of-the-mill private eye stalks criminal and gets his man after close brush with death.

But a couple of ingredients have been added that are creating "Peter Gunn" fan clubs among the cool younger set.

The ingredients are (1) jazz and (2) sex, in that order. Before (2) impels alarmed parents to drag Jane or Junior from the set, it should be said that it's pretty harmless stuff.

One of their kisses has been timed at 10 seconds, a brief kiss in the movies but something of an intoxicating eternity in the annals of television's ordinary brush and beat it kissing.

* * *

BY FAR THE MOST important ingredient of this series' popularity, however, is jazz.

The show's producer, Blake Edwards, credits 50 per cent of the program's success to its live, original music—as opposed to the canned, old musical scores of other filmed TV series.

The composer and director of the music is a young fellow from Aliquippa, Pa., named Henry Mancini who came to town the other day and modestly said, "Blake Edwards has set up an extraordinary combination of moods in 'Peter Gunn.'

"When you stop to analyze it, you can't find the boundaries where the music stops and the show takes over."

His modesty is commendable but unnecessary. If some of the excellent music he composes for many Peter Gunn scenes were silenced some of the situations and lines would fizzle into the sound of corn popping.

* * *

THE MUSICAL MOTIF of the series is sparked by the fact that Gunn is forever hanging around a jazz spot called Mother's, of all things, where Miss Albright is employed as a singer.

The songs she sings are recognized pop numbers. Mancini composes all other music heard on the show, a total of 10 hours for 39 weeks — which, he agrees, is a great deal of original music for a show that is studied closely and critically by most popular composers.

He doesn't begin composing until a show has been filmed. Then his music is scored into the film. Frequently there are stretches of two minutes or so without a word of dialogue when music alone builds and sustains mood.

The fact that it's popular music is evidenced by the fact that a recorded album of "The Music From Peter Gunn" by Mancini is now near the top of the trade journal sales charts.

* * *

IS JAZZ REALLY that popular? If so, why is it that special television jazz shows featuring prominent artists generally fail to attract a large TV audience?

"The jazz audience is not a vast one," Mancini said. "It's specific and special. We've reached it—and beyond it into a larger audience by associating jazz with story and characters."

Zionist Women To Meet Here

The first Florida conference of Mizrachi Women, a women's religious Zionist group, will be conducted here for two days, Feb. 23-24.

Mrs. Simcha Rabinowtz, past national president of Toms River, N.J., will report on the emigration of Romanian Jews to Israel.

The conference will begin at 8 p.m. Feb. 23 at the Deauville Hotel, and on the second day will meet in Beth Israel Synagogue, 40th St. and Prairie Ave., Miami Beach.

Bardot Film Ban Upheld in Court

FORT WORTH, Tex. — (AP) — A federal judge ruled a ban on a Brigitte Bardot movie is legal. He also ruled that the uncensored film couldn't be shown in court.

U. S. District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson upheld the city censor board's ban of the movie "And God Created Woman," which stars the sexy French actress.

The court ruled organizations set up to censor on the basis of obscenity are legal and that the board had not acted arbitrarily or capriciously in forbidding the movie to be shown.

HOROSCOPE

By CARROLL RIGHTER

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be very friendly now with all those with whom you wish to be allied or have important matters to discuss. Go into detail, especially with relatives, and you will get much fine support and encouragement. P.M. have fun with friends.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Good day to increase sources of revenue, and particularly by taking the constructive criticism and ideas of experienced and expert persons. Get your real estate in better condition.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Vital you go with right associate to place where you can put into operation the plans decided upon earlier. Be objective, broadvisioned and eager to learn about modern trends.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A secret conference with that financier or supporter today will bring added revenue and backing. But it is up to you to make the effort to bring this about.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Instead of expounding own theories and experiences now, make a point of listening to those of others and profit by them immeasurably. Set up a plan of campaign.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Think and act in terms of the public today: how to gain greater prestige, fame and fortune by taking the right steps now. The aspects are fine for acting or singing careers.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Inspired as you are to get ahead today, it is wise to ally yourself with those persons of a modern and New Era consciousness for the best and most successful results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Impress all higher-ups with true ability by getting right to work on important chores or matters that have to be attended to immediately. Daytime TV Shows

7 — ELECTRICITY — "Electronic Charge and Mass."

7

8:45

4 — MOVIE — "Powers Girl," (1943), George Murphy, Carole Landis, Anne Shirley. A comedy about a photographer who becomes involved with two sisters, one a demure school teacher and the other a glamour girl aspirant.

1

7 — MOVIE — "Hotel Sahara," (1951), Yvonne DeCarlo, Peter Ustinov. Story of a hotel situated in the North African desert and how the owner and his fiance must adapt to occupation during World War II.

10 — SALUTE TO BEAUTY — A special film made this past Sunday at the luncheon-fashion show of Greater Miami Hairdressers' Association in honor of National Beauty Salon Week.

7 — CONGRESS CELEBRATES — The program includes Carl Sandburg's address to the joint session of Congress and Fredric March's reading of the Gettysburg Address.

5

7 — MOVIE — "Black Glove," (1954), Alex Nicol. A famed trumpet star is under suspicion of murder and has only two slim clues to prove his innocence.

The Best On Radio

11:30 A.M. — Galen Drake, WGBS — Highlight of the show is Lincoln's poetry set to music.

12:55 P.M. — Doctor, WCKR — Ellen B. Crockett on "Bug of Dental Decay."

4 P.M. — Stereo Adventures, WVCG — Dukas' "Sorcerer's Apprentice" and Beethoven's "Fidelio Overture."

6 P.M. — Twilight Concert, WVCG — Grieg's "Waltz" and Brahms' "Waltz No. 15 in A flat."

7 P.M. — Command Performance, WVCG — Wagner's "Flying Dutchman Overture" and Chausson's "Symphoney in B flat."

7:15 P.M. — So Florida Builders, WCKR — An on-the-spot tour of a Hialeah factory which makes cotton dresses and playclothes.

8:30 P.M. — Image Russia, WCKR — "Is Co-existence Possible with the U.S.S.R." . . . Capitol Cloakroom, WGBS — Sen. Frank Carlson discusses the possible revision of U. S. policy on Germany . . . Opera Highlights, WWPB — Highlights from Verdi's "Rigoletto."

9:15 P.M. — Symphony Hall, WVCG — Tchaikovsky's "Symphony No. 5 in E Minor."

Cliff Arquette Will Be Tied Up
. . . . with Ernie Ford at 9:30 on 7

7 p.m.

2 — FOCUS ON ART — A new series dealing with the fundamentals of art.

7:30

2 — MUSIC FOR YOUTH — First of 13 programs designed to introduce young people to instruments in the string, woodwind, brass, percussion and keyboard sections of the orchestra.

4 — WHIRLYBIRDS — The pilots become involved with U. S. Treasury agents.

7 — HUCKLEBERRY HOUND — A cousin in India sends Jinks the Cat a wonderful gift with which to catch mice.

10 — LEAVE IT TO BEAVER — Beaver considers an attack of chicken pox the least of his misfortunes when trouble comes to two pet birds he has paid "two fifty centses" for.

8

4 — MACKENZIE'S RAIDERS — A renegade American threatens resumption of war between Mexico and the United States.

7 — STEVE CANYON — Canyon pilots the Boeing B-52 that drops an H-bomb at Bikini.

10 — ZORRO — Estevan's plan to marry Margarita Cortazar for a father's wealth again hits a snag.

8:30

7 — COULD BE YOU — film.

10 — REAL McCOYS — Grandpa sticks his neck out for Little Luke, who finds it difficult to restrain himself when the talk gets around to war heroism.

2 — MONTAGE — The intimate recollections of Abraham Lincoln.

4 — ZANE GREY — Danny Thomas pops up on tonight's Western-flavored Dick Powell show, but it isn't really a Western. It's more of an emotional piece about an Italian immigrant in an alien world. He has his son with him and tries desperately to find a place in that world. There are cruel people who taunt him, of course, and eventually he has to take a stand.

7 — BEHIND CLOSED DOORS — Tonight's program has a tale of spies of four nations at work in Macao. It's a nice change of pace, on this intensely nationalistic show, to see that it's the local Macao cop who does most of the heavy work in breaking up a fantastic plot designed to sneak a detachment of Red troops onto Quemoy.

10 — PAT BOONE — Pat and his friend and summer replacement, Andy Williams, fill the show with song tonight. They'll sing singly and doubly and in a big production number on "Do It Yourself" with the assembled choruses of dancers and singers. The two work well together, with Andy almost like Pat's boone companion.

9:30

2 — NEW DIMENSIONS — "Man's Quest for Freedom and Security."

4 — PLAYHOUSE 90 — A good English trial play will occupy our attention tonight.

Best Bet

It offers the stock characters you expect in an English court-room — bewigged lawyers, crusty judges, handsome heroes, a few cockney accents for variety's sake. The one major exception is that the defense counsel is a woman. Margaret Leighton plays this bright and excitable lady, working on her first murder case. James Mason and Hugh Griffith are her associates. Kenneth Haigh is the accused and Diana Wynyard the custodian of the most damaging testimony. This is standard English courtroom drama, well-written and with a fine cast.

7 — ERNIE FORD — Cliff Arquette, alias Charlie Weaver, and Ernie Ford, alias Tennessee Ernie, should have a bucolic ball tonight. The two, great ad-libbers, have scheduled 10 minutes in which they'll let the quips fall where they may . . . color.

10—ROUGH RIDERS— Flagg, Kirby and Sinclair encounter a group collecting taxes in the center of the U.S. for the benefit of an independent nation, and decide to investigate.

7 — GROUCHO MARX — film.

10:30

11:10

10 — MOVIE — "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," (1940), Raymond Massey, Ruth Gordon, Gene Lockhart. Story of Lincoln as a peace-loving backwoodsman, his love for Ann Rutlege and romance with Mary Todd.

11:20

11:25

4 — MOVIE — "Mr. Winkle Goes to War," (1944), Edward G. Robinson, Ruth Warwick. Comedy about a 44-year-old mild-mannered bank clerk, whose induction into the army gives him a long sought opportunity to change his way of life, both professionally and domestically.

LIFE WITH LARRY THOMPSON

Flying's Simple, But . .

NEW YORK CITY— When we got on the plane in Miami at 9:30 a.m. it was 79 degrees warm. When we stepped off the plane at Idlewild airport exactly three hours later it was 40 degrees cold.

That, in brief, is the story of air travel today in a turbo-prop plane (which uses the jet principle to turn its windmill-sized propellers).

If you take a "pure" jet, which doesn't have propellers, the trip would take almost an hour less time, but the change in weather would be the same. Since it's 1,092 air miles between Miami and New York, I don't consider the difference between two and three hours of much importance.

The time in each case is short.

But the difference of 40 degrees temperature in such quick time is something I can understand and believe. It is not, however, something of which I approve.

* * *

NATURALLY THERE WAS more to our trip than merely getting on a plane in Miami and getting off of it three hours later in New York.

It might be that simple for most folks, but the Thompson family has a way of making things more complicated.

Despite our best efforts to be packed and ready for an early start from our house so we'd be at the terminal by the prescribed time, we ended up in frantic chaos.

This was caused partly by the fact that our children helped us pack. In helping, they were taking things out almost as fast as we were putting things in, and it turned out that they were packing their own boxes or sacks with things we intended to take with us.

We finally got things into some sort of order and arrived at the airport minutes before departure time.

While my wife parked the car, I went in to get the tickets and check the luggage. Then, as I could imagine that I heard our plane warming up outside, my wife was lost.

I went outside to search for her, and it turned out that the parking lot was full and she had been forced to practically go into hysterics to get a kind attendant to crowd it into the overcrowded lot.

* * *

WE GOT ON THE PLANE just before they pulled in the stairs, and settled down expecting a quiet, relaxed trip.

The fact that we weren't relaxed wasn't the plane's fault.

We were upset because after we settled down we realized we were one bag short. We had packed the family suitcase, a flying bag, and an overnight case. This last one was missing.

We couldn't remember if we had left it in the terminal or in the car. I said it was my wife's fault for leaving it in the car, but she said it was my fault for leaving it in the terminal.

The only thing we could agree on was that we didn't have it with us.

It was a small bag, with only a few things in it, but during our time in New York, everything we needed and didn't have with us we decided was in that bag. If it had held all the things we said it did, it would have been a steamer trunk.

* * *

AS I SAY, THOUGH, the plane wasn't responsible for the fact we couldn't relax on the trip.

We were in one of Eastern's new Electras. These are a cross between a jet and prop plane, with some of the best features of each. The first of the Electras went into service only a few weeks ago and Eastern has invested $100,000,000 in 40 of them.

The Electras have received plenty of publicity recently, but much of it wasn't the kind of publicity Eastern and American, another Electra customer, had in mind.

An American Electra went into the East River while landing at New York, and another lost a wheel and got banged-up while making a practice landing in Miami.

So far, nobody has hinted that the planes were to blame for these mishaps.

I know that I had no qualms about the plane I was on, and certainly nothing on the trip caused me to change my mind.

The Electra gets up in the air very fast, without giving you an empty stomach. We went most of the trip at 25,000 feet and at 400 to 420 miles an hour, but with the exception of one rough spot there was never any sensation of climbing or speed.

That rough spot gave us a slight shaking up, but it wasn't enough to scare an old maid aunt.

My wife suggested that we were flying over Washington and that the hot air rising from there caused the turbulence.

That theory sounds logical to me.

One of the cardinal defensive sins in bridge is giving declarer a "ruff and sluff." Yet East could have employed this play to great advantage in defending today's slam contract had he been thinking clearly.

The final contract was reasonable, tho we would have been inclined to open North's hand with one heart. Observe the awkward rebid problem that would have confronted him had South responded with one diamond.

We have no fault to find with South's leap to slam. His hand had an original valuation of 12 points which is increased to 13 by the addition of a point for the fifth heart, after the suit has been supported. North may be expected to produce at least 20 points and South has two first round controls.

West opened the queen of diamonds which was taken by declarer. He made an effort to drop the queen of trumps, but East proved to have a sure trick in the suit. Declarer then ruffed the remaining diamond. He now cashed the top clubs. East was thrown into the lead a moment later with the queen of trumps. Observing that either a diamond or club continuation would permit declarer to ruff in one hand while he discarded a spade from the other, East chose to lead the deuce of spades.

South put in the nine, forcing West's queen. The king was played from dummy and the suit returned, declarer finessing the ten. When West followed the rest of the tricks were his.

It is true, as East reasoned, that a diamond return would have provided declarer with a spade discard, but he had failed to calculate that the discard would not be helpful to South for, he would still have a spade loser.

The count on the hand is relatively easy. Declarer is known to have had five hearts, one diamond and three clubs. He, therefore, held four spades, and since one discard would not help him, East should have led a third round of diamonds.

Jack Kofoed Says

Our Foreign Policy Forgets Americans!

ONCE UPON an old fashioned time we held to a theory that a primary function of government was the protection and welfare of its citizens. The idea seems to have fallen apart at the seams.

On July 14, 1958 three American businessmen in Iraq were torn to pieces by a blood hungry mob. Their mangled bodies were never recovered.

Eighteen days later the United States recognized the new Iraqi government, which distainfully refused to make an apology for the murders, or pay indemnities to families of the dead men. Ever since we have been supplying arms to that country.

We gave in supinely to the Status of Forces treaty, and permit foreign governments to try and punish American service men, instead of deciding thier guilt or innocence by our own courts martial.

American soldiers are still held prisoners by Communist Chinese years after guns ceased firing on the Korean front. Our efforts to repatriate them have been weak and ineffectual.

We have thrown away billions of dollars, under the guise of foreign aid, on boondoggling projects like roads to nowhere, plants which manufactured nothing, slide-rules for people who can't figure, dress suits for undertakers, free plane rides for Mohammedans bound for Mecca.

We have poured more billions into South Korea, and watched German industrialists underbid American business men for projects, which will be be paid for by those dollars.

Apparently foreign policy means taking care of foreigners, and to hell with what happens to Americans!

* * *

RECENTLY I wrote about prisoners at the Deep Lake road camp. They are being rehabilitated, and rehabilitation is much more important than punishment. The men have graded a soft ball diamond, and find in the game release for physical energy and unhappiness.

Unfortunately, they have practically no equipment. I had hoped sporting goods people, or teams with excess bats and balls, would give them what they need.

So far there has been no response, except from Mrs. Blanche Andrews of Lake Worth, who sent $10 to help buy some.

How about it? Won't some sportsmen offer to help?

THE SEASON is at its height. Joe E. Lewis has come to town. In my book the "King of Clubs" is the greatest of night club comedians. More than that, he is a wonderful human being, and I say that out of full knowledge, because we have been friends for many a long year.

Joe limits his engagements these days for two reasons. One is taxes, the other the fact that he isn't in the best of health.

Mr. Lewis is at the Eden Roc for too short a stay.

As could be expected, he appears in Miami when Hialeah is running full blast, since there is no better friend of the business known as improving the breed (at the pari-mutuel windows, of course) than this wonderful pixie.

SOME PEOPLE have a genius for getting into trouble, and no one is more adept at it than the Hawaiian-Swede, Bobo Olson, once middleweight champion of the world. When Olson lost his title, he went back to his old job of bartending. Another man might have gotten by, but not Bobo.

He had neglected to keep up with income tax payments when he was in the money, and the Bureau of Internal Revenue has a long memory.

Olson is also a careless Don Juan. He had four children by his wife, Dodo, and five by a girl friend, Judy. The women and their nine children have a habit of getting hungry if not fed regularly, need clothes and other necessities. Though over the hill as a fighter, the ex-champion decided something drastic had to be done.

He accepted a bout with a promising newcomer named Don Grant, and won. The purse figured to iron out some financial difficulties.

Bobo never saw a penny of that money. The tax boys annexed it.

However, it must be said the quaint and mixed up Olson family is the non-worrying kind.

From a hospital bed, where she was recovering from a major operation, Dodo said:

"I guess Judy and I ought to get the kids together, and picket the Internal Revenue Bureau."

Of course, it wouldn't have worked, but the thought indicated that Mrs. Olson holds no hard feelings toward her rival, and was not bitter against the tax boys. After all those years she probably had it figured that whoever is tied up with Bobo Olson can expect rough sledding.

I'M A GREAT hand for soup. When I was a kid, mom used to make it almost every day, from vegetables, with 20 kinds of garden delights in it, to Danish grape.

There's one thing that puzzles me, though. Some of the world's finest eating places are on Florida's Gold Coast.

By JIM BISHOP
Herald Columnist

HAVANA, Cuba—The sun came straight down on the little square like a hot lid. It stilled the deep green leaves of the umbrella trees and the palms drooped with their arms at their sides.

They shouted in the heat and ran bases and each side had seven outfielders. Behind them stood the old Iglesia de Cerra. This is the Church of the Country. The stone is gray with age. In the dark cool of the doorway, the little man watched and smiled.

Near his feet a rooster strutted, the neck thrusting forward with each step, the coxcomb trembling with belligerence. Behind this man, up the alley, white doves cooed.

He is Alfredo Monsignor Muller, auxiliary bishop of Havana, the man who was quoted as saying that the execution of the Batista officers "is necessary."

He is 58, almost blond, and speaks confusing English. He is in a poor section of Havana and he administers a primary school for "pauperes."

He is one of the happiest men I have met. What makes him happy is that he was born in this poor parish, and he has lived to see himself become the bishop of the area.

I introduced myself and he said "Oh, yes" as though he knew the name. This was a courtesy. I told him that I would like to ask him about his endorsement of the executions, and he escorted me up the alley in the sun, smiling and nodding and holding my arm, and through the ancient back door to the cool of his study.

It is small and simple. He motioned me to one of the two rockers and asked his secretary to bring us a small Cuban coffee.

It was served in tiny cups with gold rims and it was thick and hot and sweet. He spoke between the kissing sips, the words coming slowly, selectively, with spaces for thinking.

"I deed not say," he said with little jabs of the index finger, "ees necessary. De church Catolica is not for — how you say?—capital crime."

"Capital punishment," I said.

"No, no. Puneeshment is sometimes necessary. Like preeson. You know what ees preeson? Sometimes bad man must go away until he die. Preeson. No libertad. But to keel, to shoot de man, that is against Church Catolica. De reporters from United States, they mix up, they mix up my words" — he pointed to his chest—"you comprehend?"

"Yes," I said. He kept smiling politely. "You think that life imprisonment is sometimes necessary, but not execution."

The smile died. "Empreesonment? What is thees word?"

"Never mind," I said. "I understand. Tell me, is the new government Communist? We hear stories that some of the Castro men are Communists."

The boyish grin came back. "You"—he pointed tentatively at my chest—"should know dat in Cooba Communism never een preponderance. Castro not Communist."

"What is this word preponderance?" I said.

"English," he said. "No Communist problem here. Never."

"Batista said he thought you were his friend. Was he a good man?"

Capsized Trawler Is Sighted

NEW YORK —(UPI)— The Coast Guard said a U.S. Air Force plane reported sighting an overturned trawler Wednesday in the iceberg - studded North Atlantic in the area where two fishing boats with a total of 48 men aboard disappeared in the midst of the winter's worst weather.

Tht Coast Guard said the sighting was reported about 60 miles from the last known position of the Icelandic fishing vessel Juli which radioed an SOS Saturday that towering seas and heavy icing were threatening to capsize it, endangering the 31-man crew.

A Newfoundland fishing boat, The Blue Wave, with 17 men aboard, also was missing in the same general area of the North Atlantic, south of the spot where a Danish passenger-cargo ship hit an iceberg and disappeared with 95 persons aboard 12 days ago.

Two other vessels also reported trouble from the bitter cold, freezing spray and gale-force winds that churned up mountainous waves.

Strike Voted At PAA

Walkout Could Come March 1

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

The Transport Workers Union announced Wednesday some 7,000 employes of Pan American World Airways have authorized a systemwide strike "on or before" March 1, threatening Miami's tourist economy with a second major airline shutdown.

The union, however, did not say whether or when a strike would be called, and the airline held out hope of the possibility of a fact-finding board being appointed by President Eisenhower in a last-minute effort to reach agreement.

Pan American flies some 2,000 passengers a day in and out of Miami, and a shutdown of the huge airline would be a severe jolt to Greater Miami's tourist season economy, still recovering from a 38-day Eastern Air Lines strike in November and December.

A strike would put some 8,000 Pan American maintenance workers, ground service employes, stewards and stewardesses out of work—about 3,000 of them based in Miami and another 1,000 at the crucial Cape Canaveral Missile Test Center.

Pan American would not say whether it would close down operations all over its ocean-spanning system in the event of a TWU strike, but a union spokesman here said, "They would have to halt operations. They couldn't fly safely without us."

The airline, which has some 150 planes that fly routes over the Atlantic, Pacific and to Latin America, warned that any strike before March 1 would violate the 30-day cooling-off period provided by the Railway Labor Act.

The 30-day period began Jan. 31, when mediation between the TWU and PAA ended without a settlement over issues of a new contract. The old ~~TWU~~ contract with Pan American ended Dec. 1.

The union in Miami said, however, that if Pan American violates the "status quo" of working conditions and wages before the 30-day period is up, the union can disregard the cooling-off regulation.

The TWU announced in New York that some 7,000 maintenance workers and port stewards had voted four-to-one in favor of a strike. A mail vote among an additional 1,000 flight stewards and stewardesses has not been completed, the union said.

The union said about 90 per cent of eligible workers voted in 11 U.S. cities and at San Juan, Puerto Rico, Honolulu and Wake Island.

They rejected Pan American's offer of a 25-cent-an-hour wage hike over a two-year period, the union said, and voted to authorize the strike. The union negotiating committee recommended the action after collapse of mediation talks in New York.

Central issue in the dispute is the union's demand for a decrease in hours from 40 to 37½ a week, as well as a wage increase. The TWU said it wanted the reduction in working hours — so far not agreed to by the airline — to protect maintenance jobs threatened by the lower maintenance requirements of jet airliners.

The airline said its 40-hour week was "standard throughout the industry," and that its wage increase offer was "on a par with other airlines."

The union said, however, "it isn't enough."

Hoods Won't 'Play' In Jukebox Inquiry

Witnesses 'Recline' To Answer

They Take 'Fifth' At Rackets Probe

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senate racket probers ran into a barrage of Fifth Amendment pleas Wednesday in questioning alleged underworld figures about their tieups with the coin machine business.

The non-talking witnesses were John Vitale of St. Louis, Frank Zito of Springfield, Ill., Mike Genovese of Gibsonia, Pa., and Joseph Salardino of Denver, Colo.

The committee is attempting to show that hoodlums have muscled into the lucrative jukebox-coin machine industry, often in connivance with corrupt union officials.

The four witnesses, who said they might incriminate themselves if they answered questions, were described by Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy as racketeers with long criminal records.

A fifth witness, Raymond Patriarca, Providence, R.I., rattled off answers to all questions. He acknowledged being a partner in a cigaret vending machine business in Providence.

Zito and Genovese both refused to tell whether they had attended a meeting at Apalachin, N.Y., which police raiders called a criminal convention. Zito also refused to tell whether he knew anything about "the penalty levied on Mr. Lombardozzi, who attended the meeting at Apalachin." Kennedy did not elaborate on that question.

The Italian born Zito, 66, who spoke broken English, got into a hassle for saying he "refused" to answer questions.

Chairman John McClellan (D., Ark.) called Zito's replies disrespectful and ordered him to say "decline" instead, but Zito said he couldn't pronounce it.

"You'll have to excuse me," he said. "I recline (sic) to answer . . . I refuse to recline to answer." And he pronounced it "recline" from there on.

Zito refused to tell anything about his dealing with two labor unionists, Joseph Glimco of Teamsters Local 555 in Chicago, and Fred Tom Smith, also known as Juke Box Smitty, of Chicago Local 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Kennedy produced documents which, he said, showed that Glimco and Smith had financial interests in a juke box-coin machine firm known as the Automatic Phonograph Machine Co. of Illinois.

He also produced a copy of a letter from Zito dated in 1948 to a "Dear Mike" of the A.M.I. Phonographs, Chicago, stating that "we have received our charter for a union" and asking for copies of the bylaws and contracts used by Mike.

Kennedy said Mike is Michael Spagnola of Chicago.

German Advisers At Talks?

West to Urge They Be Asked

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Western powers will recommend to Russia that East and West Germany be permitted to send advisers to the proposed Big Four conference on Berlin and Germany, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

The plan to give Communist East Germany and free West Germany advisory roles will be spelled out in an Allied note expected to be sent to Moscow next week. As of now, the note does not say whether the German representatives actually would sit at the conference table.

Diplomatic informants said the idea would be for the West Germans to advise the British, French and U.S. delegations. Similarly, the East Germans would be present for consultations with Russian officials.

The plan, it was emphasized, in no way implies recognition by the West of the East German Communist government. It merely recognizes Russia's right to consult with the East German officials as the talks proceed.

The Allied proposal was disclosed as Mayor Willy Brandt of West Germany reported that President Eisenhower had assured him the U.S. "will defend the people of Free Berlin against any effort to destroy their freedom."

Brandt said after a meeting with the President that Eisenhower told him no Communist

All but EAL In Terminal By Friday

All but one of Miami's major domestic and international airlines will be doing business Friday from the new 20th Street Terminal.

Three of the "Big Four"—Pan American, National and Delta — will be handling all their arrivals and departures from the new 26-million dollar International Terminal, along with a multitude of domestic and Latin American carriers.

Only Eastern Air Lines, which operates its own terminal on 36th St. and has no international flights from Miami, will be absent when the new building opens. Eastern has said its recent strike shutdown "set it back several weeks" and it will move "within about two weeks."

Regents Want No More 'Insults'

Sooners Want OB to Put It in Writing--Or Else

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

University of Oklahoma regents Wednesday demanded assurance "in writing" of a satisfactory solution to "problems" which they say have come up in recent appearances of Sooners in Orange Bowl games.

Otherwise, proclaimed the regents, oklahoma's football team will not play in the Orange Bowl following the 1960 season or at any subsequent date.

Stephen A. Lynch Jr., new Orange Bowl Committee president, promptly replied that no complaints would be considered until such are received "in writing."

Surprisingly, the Oklahoma Regents expressed dissatisfaction with "problems" that have arisen during their team's last four appearances in the OB classic.

Both Lynch and Van C. Kussrow, schedule committee member, said they were unaware any problems existed until this year's Jan. 1 game.

Then a controversy was touched off by complaints of ground-level spectators that the Oklahoma players blocked their view of the game by refusing to sit in the dugout.

Contacted by telephone in Boston, Lynch said:

"When either the University of Oklahoma or the Big Eight Conference gets in touch with us by the proper method . . . in writing . . . then their protest will be considered on its merits."

The Oklahoma regents stipulated that the assurance that multi-problems will be solved must be in writing by the start of the 1960 season and "must be signed by the Orange Bowl corporation, a representative of the Big Eight Conference and Oklahoma Athletic Director and Head Coach Bud Wilkenson."

One disgruntled Orange Bowl committee member said:

"Oklahoma seems determined to have a fight in the newspapers rather than work through proper channels toward a cordial solution."

On Jan. 14, President George L. Cross asserted:

"I want to go on record to this board (regents) that our team will not go to Miami until such time that there is a clear understanding about our behavior on the sideline."

He added that the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at ground level.

Between that date and Wednesday, the OB committee had neither protested failure of OU's players to remain seated, nor had it heard from Oklahoma officials.

Admitting he was "shocked" by the newest "newspaper statement" from Oklahoma's officials, Kussrow said:

"How can we reply to something which we know nothing about?

. . . But the Players Had Wonderful Time

Here's how University of Oklahoma players feel about Miami and their Orange Bowl appearances:

DAVID ROLLE, fullback—"They did a great job of showing us a good time . . ."

* * *

DICK CORBITT, guard—"The only thing I disliked was the attitude of the fans who didn't like the way we knelt along the sidelines. But they didn't realize we do that every game we play, including the Orange Bowl last year. On the whole, the people were pretty nice to us."

* * *

JAKIE SANDEFER, halfback—"The whole thing was pretty near perfect as far as I'm concerned."

MICKEY JOHNSON, center—"The people who ran the bowl treated us fine . . . but I didn't like the gripes some fans put up about us not sitting on the benches in the dugout. That's tradition with us."

JOE RECTOR, Oklahoma—"It's a thrill just to be able to go. It's sure a lot different from how we live in Oklahoma."

Bingo Bill Advances

DENVER —(AP)— The Colorado House of Representatives gave its final approval Wednesday to a bill legalizing bingo and raffles as a veteran legislator called for wide open gambling in the state.

The House action came by a 60-0 vote without debate.

The measure, which permits fraternal, charitable and religious institutions to conduct bingo and raffles, now goes to the Senate for approval. A constitutional amendment for bingo was ratified by Colorado voters Nov. 4.

How Tourists Look at Us After Last Year

We're Cheaper, More Courteous--and Warmer

By LUCIA LEWIS

What's Florida like this year in the eyes of a tourist?

Lucia Lewis, travel editor of The Chicago Daily News, spent several days in the South Florida area and found things considerably different from last year. Here are her impressions.

There will be no more winter. No here, anyway.

This is the kind of weather Florida brags about — and cried for last winter.

LUCIA

It's clear and sunny, temperatures range from 75 to 80, the breeze from the ocean is just right — refreshing but so balmy that you don't need a wrap even at night, unless you simply must show off that mink.

The area is swinging into its peak season now and prices will be at their highest in February and March. But Miami Beach is in a chastened mood and this looks like "Be Gentle to Tourists" year.

Last year's miserable weather which weaned many habitues to other areas, the airline strikes of early winter, new developments in other states and the Caribbean islands, all have taught that you can't shear a sheep too close.

In short, you get excellent value in room rates, with some attractive gimmicks added.

Many hotels are swinging to the "modified American" plan which includes breakfast and dinner with your rate. For two in a room, the really posh glitter places get $16 to $22 a day a person, varying with location of the room.

If you don't want to be a captive diner and eat in one place all the time, the rates range from around $14 to $18 or $20 per person. So it almost pays to take the modified American plan even if you eat elsewhere occasionally.

A third person in the room gets in for around $8 a day European or $10 a day with meals. Many places have half rates for children.

Now if you think this leaves you not knowing where your third meal is coming from you would be calorie-wise not to look for it. A reasonably late breakfast is a banquet in these parts that sees you cosily up to dinner time.

Get-acquainted cocktail parties, the elimination of irritating extras like charges for cushioned mats to keep you from getting corrugations while sunning on a chaise lounge, no required minimum at night clubs, lots of free entertainment, more parking lots at low rates so you don't pay a doorman every time, and many more courtesies generally make the Beach a lot more pleasant than it was in the dizzy and sky-high season of 1957.

The rates are not peanuts, of course, but there are hundreds of lower priced hotels, resorts and apartments all over town.

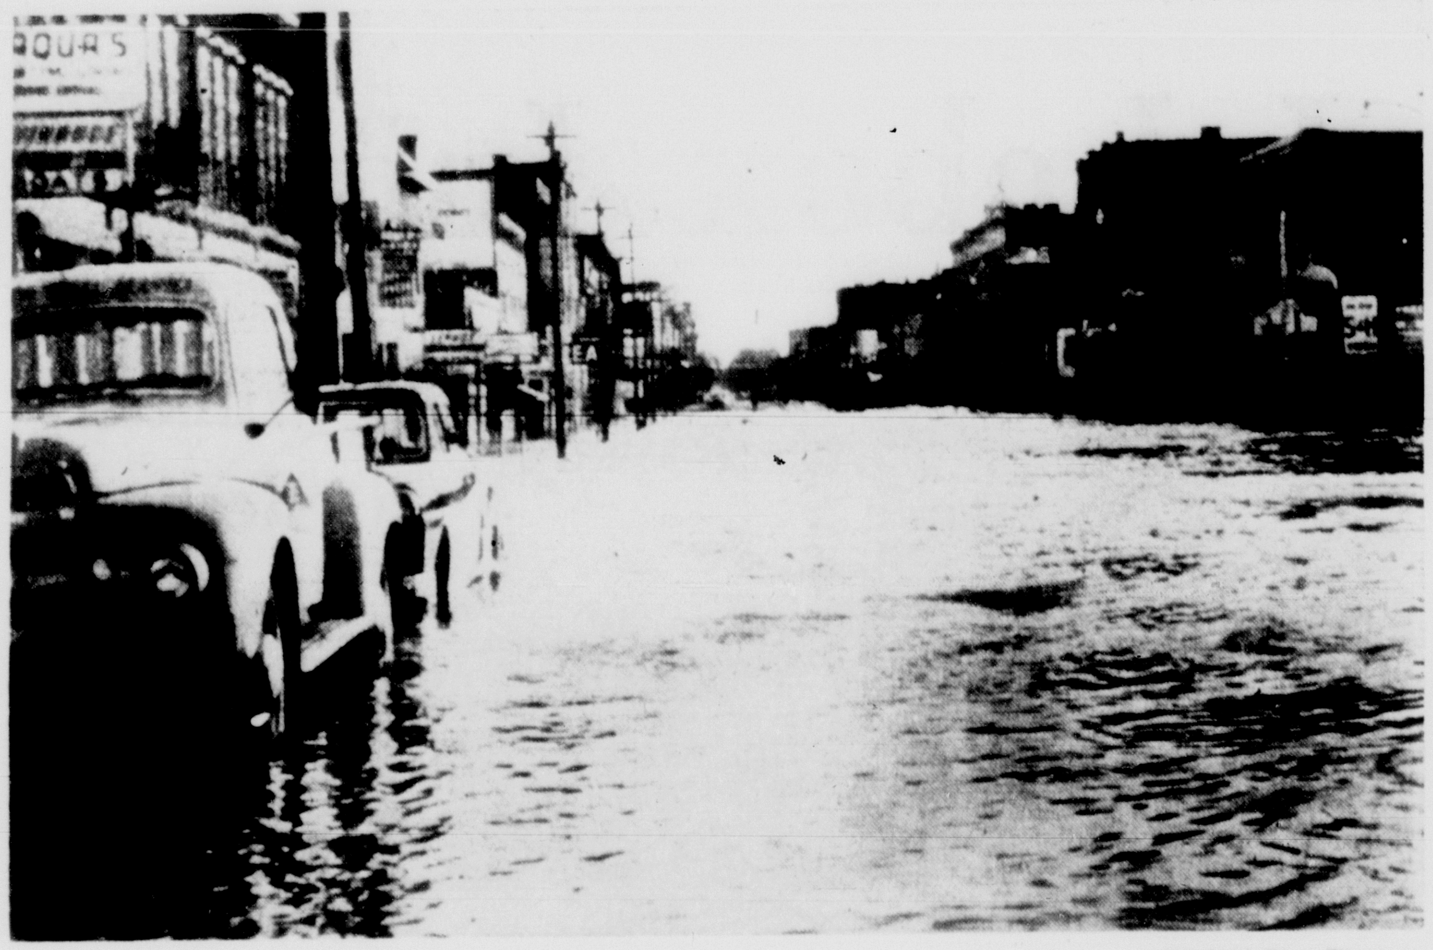
Swollen Rivers Pounding Levees in Indiana and Ohio



Associated Press Wirephoto

Main St. in Findlay, Ohio, Is Awash With Blanchard River Flood Waters
. . . it takes seven miles of driving to reach dry spot five blocks down street

Storm's Sweeping Eastward

COLUMBUS, Ohio —(UPI) — Flood crests spawned by the second mammoth storm of the winter pounded against levees and kept more than 3,000 persons from their homes in Indiana and Ohio Wednesday.

The storm, which hit the mid-continent with a deadly combination of floods, tornadoes, blizzards and ice, had moved off to the East, giving way to numbing cold.

It left a heavy legacy of death, including 22 persons who perished in a tornado which swept St. Louis as it slept Tuesday. There were also three weather-blamed deaths each in Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin, two each in Arizona and Indiana, and one each in Iowa, New York state and Pennsylvania, for a total of 41.

Temperatures slid to 26 degrees below zero at International Falls, Minn., and were well below zero from Montana and Wisconsin into Nebraska. Wisconsin dug out of a paralyzing 10-inch blizzard, while Chicago continued a week-long battle against ice which slicked the city's sidewalks and caused more than 1,600 injuries.

Thousands of school children continued to enjoy vacations through the frozen storm belt.

Major flood threats arose on Indiana's Wabash River and the swollen Sandusky River in Ohio. More flood dangers, however, built up in Michigan and Illinois.

In Indiana, the Wabash was at its highest point in 46 years. The crest moved slowly across north central Hoosierland, forcing 400 families — roughly 1,600 persons — to flee their homes.

At Logansport, Ind., the next city in the crest's path, five families were evacuated, portions of the business district were flooded, and Civil Defense crews worked around the clock to strengthen the levees.

Many Logansport homes were without heat and the city's schools were closed. Georgetown, eight miles downstream from Logansport, was cut off from the outside world. Sixty residents were evacuated.

The river also was going down at Wabash after hitting its greatest crest since 1913. Thirty-five persons were given overnight shelter, but the flood waters even invaded a Red Cross evacuation center set up in the city's armory.

The crest was not expected to hit West Terre Haute until Saturday, but residents already were asking Gov. Harold Handley for emergency shipments of 40,000 sandbags to repair a damaged levee. Throughout the state, evacuations were reported in at last 10 counties.

In Ohio, fighting its second major flood in less than a month, an ice jam was dynamited to take pressure off the beleaguered city of Fremont.

Batista? No Credit To Florida--Collins

DAYTONA BEACH — (AP) — Gov. Collins says he doesn't think Fulgencio Batista would be a credit to Florida if he came here to live.

The governor made his statement in a letter to L. W. Faulkner, president of the Highway Association which adopted a resolution protesting inviting the former Cuban president to live here. Batista, who has a home here where some members of his family are now living, is in exile in the Dominican Republic.

The association adopted the resolution after B. F. Brass, attorney for the Batista family, began circulating a petition in this area suggesting that Batista be invited to come here to live.

Our 'Praying Cop' Guilty of Arson

Jackson Hooper, Miami's "praying cop," was found guilty of first-degree arson by a criminal court jury Wednesday. He was on trial for setting fire to the Roberts Hotel at 28 W. Flagler St. last June 9.

Judge Gene Williams said he will pass sentence Feb. 20 in the first-degree arson case. Last December, a jury in the same court could not agree and Judge Williams declared a mistrial of a fire at 3900 Biscayne Blvd.

Attorney Flies to Nye's Aid

A Chicago attorney flew through Miami Wednesday, bound for Cuba to plan the defense of Alan Robert Nye, a Coral Gables flier accused of conspiring to assassinate Fidel Castro.

While the lawyer, Joseph Sullivan, was en route to Havana where Nye is held, a top-ranking Cuban patriot leader said the former Navy pilot's ultimate punishment probably will amount to "being kicked out of Cuba."

Nye, according to the Castro government, has confessed a plot to kill the revolutionary leader for $100,000. Nye has denied the confession, but the rebels say they have tape recordings of the admission, and of his conversation with a U.S. embassy official who advised him to deny the confession and change his story.

Sullivan would not say whether he had been retained by Nye's mother. He said he will meet with government leaders and the prisoner and "decide then how long I will stay and what should be done."

Sullivan, who makes his home at Whiting, Ind., near Chicago, said he is a friend of Nye's mother, Mrs. Daniel Lynch, who sent a personal letter to Fidel Castro seeking mercy for her son.

The "reprieve" from earlier rebel declarations that Nye would be executed for his part in the conspiracy came from Commandante Ernest (Che) Guerva, who led the revolutionary forces in Las Villas province.

Since issuing a parade of conflicting stories and statements, Nye has refused to see newsmen. Guerva said Wednesday that no one will be permitted to see Nye before his trial, except his attorney, his family and officials of the U.S. embassy.

threat could push the U.S. out of Berlin or block it from carrying out its responsibilities to the people there.

The Allied note on Germany has been hammered out during the past week at a meeting here of American, British, French and West German experts. It is a reply to Russia's Jan. 10 proposal for a 28-nation German peace conference.

The Allies will reject the Soviet call for a treaty that would isolate and neutralize Germany, perhaps putting the country under a U.N. protectorate. They contend this would only perpetuate division of Germany.

Instead, they will suggest a foreign ministers conference sometime this spring to discuss the Berlin problem within the framework of the overall issue of German unity and European security. It will be left to Russia to suggest a specific date for the meeting.

BELL

For all at once we hear of 1,800 voided traffic tickets by metro judges since they started work last March.

I was in municipal court Wednesday morning, listening to the craziest trial of the semester. A filling station operator thought a man stole a used tire. After about 30 minutes of wasted questioning the man admitted the tire wasn't worth anything anyway.

"It had a hole in it," he explained.

Asked Judge Francis Sobieski: "Would it have worked if copies of The Herald, which told about me fixing traffic tickets while I was in the hospital, were placed over the hole?"

'Twas an ambiguous attempt at sarcasm which nobody understood; and nobody laughed except a few court attaches who are duty-bound. But for the record, The Herald never used such a story, but did tell of Judge Sobieski's wife's traffic ticket being voided by a Metro judge.

Ticket Voiding

One Metro judge was quoted as saying he wishes he didn't have the power to void tickets. But County Attorney Darrey Davis says he hasn't, that "nobody has." But State Attorney Dick Gerstein says his office has such power.

Who's confuseder than whom?

Metro is asking how to get a void-proof law. It's simple, as they do it in City of Miami. The traffic officer must account to three departments for every ticket in his book. Once he writes it he cannot void it. Nor can the Chief of Police, the state attorney, or anybody else.

It must go through Municipal Court and a record made of its disposition. The Chief can recommend that a trial be delayed, if a quick trial would be an obvious hardship. He can stand good for appearance bond. He can point out to the city attorney that a mistake has been made. And the attorney in turn can point out this error to the judge. But the judge's decision—and only his—is final.

I happen to be a critic of our state law which takes a man's license for three moving violations within a 12-month period. It should be easier on minor offenses, tougher on recklessness. But that doesn't excuse wholesale voiding. In fact, nothing does.

He's Still Spry

Jim McMartin of Miami Shores golf club is 74. He met me as I came off the ninth green with a bit of cheerful information relative to the facts of life on the links. "I played 36 holes Sunday and 27 yesterday," he said pridefully. "I wanted to go 36 yesterday but the young fellows conked out on me." The boys in the clubhouse told me Jim shot 81-79 to win the seniors' tournament.

National Summary

Snow occurred Wednesday morning over the northern and inter-mountain region while rain fell over California with scattered thunderstorms and some hail.

Moderate to heavy amounts of rain were observed over southern half of California.

Except for showers in the Gulf regions and snow flurries near the lee shores of the Great Lakes in portions of Pennsylvania and New York State, fair skies are expected over most of the region from the plains into the east.

A warming trend from the Rockies across the upper midwest should spread across the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys while in the cold pattern over the east, temperatures are likely to dip to 15 to 20 below zero overnight in upper New England.

Moderate to heavy showers expected over southern California are likely to spread into Arizona while moderate snows spreading over Nevada are expected to contribute locally heavy accumulations in portions of Utah.

Ex-Governor of Georgia's Brother Dies in Store Fire

JACKSONVILLE — (UPI) — Grocery operator L. H. (Howard) Griffin, brother of former Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, suffocated in an early morning fire which swept through his one-story establishment Wednesday.

The 54-year-old victim, who came here from Bainbridge, Ga., two years ago, was found sprawled on the floor of the Buffalo Ave. Supermarket after fire had spread from the building to an adjoining garage.

Griffin also was a brother of Georgia State Rep. R. A. (Cheney) Griffin of Bainbridge and Carl of Montgomery, Ala.

It was the second fire death in the Griffin family in recent years. Marvin Griffin, whose gubernatorial term expired last year, lost a child in the tragic Winecoff Hotel fire in Atlanta Dec. 7, 1946.

Rather than Integrate

State Leaders Cater To Public, Dean Says

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — A Florida State University professor blamed "die-hard members of the State Legislature" and other state and local officials for delays in solving racial problems.

Dr. Harris Dean of the FSU school of education said "in all areas of this country where integration has worked, state officials have rendered assistance and encouragement to school officials in carrying out the program."

But he told the Council on Human Relations here such a condition does not exist in Florida "because most officials prefer to cater to the demands of the public rather than apply pressure to force obedience to law and order."

Dr. Dean said the hopes of preserving the public school system rests on such men as Gov. LeRoy Collins, Attorney General Richard Ervin and School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey. Bailey told the inter-racial group they must add their support to these "sincere" men who he said have shown leadership in the crisis.

Dr. Charles R. Stanley of the graduate school of education at A & M University agreed state officials must give more leadership in Florida is to be integrated.

The Negro professor said "if principals in this state wanted to mix the races, it would be position disappeared completely."

Only Attorney for Rose

No Printing Tieup, Says Collins Friend

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Tallahassee Attorney Charles Ausley says he has "absolutely no financial interest" in printing and engraving firms owned by Charles Rosenberg.

Corporate records of the Secretary of State list Ausley, former law partner of Gov. LeRoy Collins, as an officer in five Rosenberg enterprises.

But Ausley said his only function is as legal advisor to Rosenberg. He said he has been the Tallahassee printing executive's personal attorney for 20 years.

Ausley was questioned by newsmen after Rep. John Mathews of Duval said he will investigate state printing practices to determine if all printing should be placed under a central purchasing set-up.

Collins recommended putting printing under central purchasing in 1957, but the Legislature rejected it. He said he will renew the proposal at the session which opens April 7.

Most public buying, including printing, is awarded on a basis of competitive bids and the records show Rosenberg was the low bidder on most jobs awarded his firm.

Collins recently investigated practices of agencies under his direction in awarding printing, and said no department or employe has violated any law.

He said he did not assume to vouch for the conduct of individual printers.

A Development Commission employe disclosed Walter Frank, a salesman for Rosenberg's Rose Printing Co. here, also brought bids of two competitors when he delivered Rose's bid.

Collins told Commission Chairman B. R. Fuller to look into this report and determine if the employe had conducted himself in a manner consistent with administration policies.

Rosenberg is listed as president of the Tallahassee and Jacksonville operations and treasurer of the Miami firm, formerly Publisher's Press of Miami.

Frank is a vice president of the Tallahassee and Jacksonville firms. Mrs. Rosenberg is secretary and C. G. Romig, assistant secretary.

Florida Photo and Plate Service, Inc., of Tallahassee, is also a Rosenberg property, with Ausley listed as assistant secretary-treasurer.

Other printing or related businesses with which Ausley is connected include Record Press of St. Augustine; Acme Paper Brokers, Inc., Capital Printers, Inc., Capitol Press, Inc., and Capital Engravers, Inc., all of Tallahassee.

Rosenberg is not an officer of these five corporations.

Two Plead Innocent

ST. AUGUSTINE — (AP) — Two men charged with trying to break open a safe — one whom was shot in an escape attempt — have pleaded innocent and are under $5,000 bond.

The two are Michael Pabis, 21, shot in the right leg as four policemen fired at him when he ran from the St. George Pharmacy early Tuesday. His condition was not serious.

The other, captured Tuesday night, hiding in a taxi, is George Hartman, 28. Both are from Elmira, N.Y.

They are charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit grand larceny.

Police Chief Virgil Stuart said the two are wanted in Elmira, Miami, and St. Petersburg on suspicion of armed robbery.

Health Officers Urge Shots

JACKSONVILLE — (AP) — The Florida Health Officers Conference Wednesday recommended that teenagers and adults be immunized against typhoid fever and smallpox.

It also recommended that use of dangerous insecticides be controlled by regulation or law; and that a study be made by the State Health Department of types of equipment and tests used in public schools for eye testing.

Othr recommendations were that health officers exercise care in recommended hospitalization of indigents to keep within available funds:

Regulations be made clear as to requirements for lifeguards and equipment at beaches.

The sanitary code be modified to strengthen it, especially in kindergartens, schools, migratory labor camps and places for child care.

In-service training and professional improvements be sought in various categories of health workers.

Directors of mental health clinics be encouraged to confer with health officers.

Regulations be set up for homes and schools for retarded children.

Regular physical examinations of infants and pre-school children be encouraged.

Accused with 2 Convicts

Two Businessmen Charged in Holdup

PENSACOLA — (AP) — Two Pensacola businessmen were arrested Wednesday on charges of being accessories before and after a $2,000 holdup, staged by two escaped Georgia convicts.

Officers had withheld a report of the robbery for two months while working on the case.

Those charged were identified as Thomas Earl Pearson, 47, who operates a small jewelry manufacturing business, and William Woodrow Doyle, 45, connected with a dry cleaning and laundry firm.

Sheriff Emmett Shelby and Police Chief Crosby Hall said the men admitted in written statements they helped plan the holdup and waited in a car about a block from the scene. The officers quoted Doyle as saying he received $300 of the loot and Pearson as saying he got $200.

Both men live in moderately priced residential sections.

The arrests stemmed from the robbery of Eugene Taylor and his son, John Taylor, at their home Dec. 18. The elder Taylor, operator of building materials supply company, said he had the large sum in his home because he had not had a chance to deposit business receipts.

Shelby and Hall said the men who held up the Taylors were Herman Knight, 45, and Howard Henley, 22, held at the State Prison in Reidsville, Ga.

Interstate Jobs Total 157 Miles

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The State Road Department said Wednesday more than 157 miles of multi-laned interstate highway has been built, or is under construction, in Florida.

But the report showed there has been no change since November, 1958, in interstate highway open to traffic it stands at 4.31 miles.

Since November, the department has added 45 miles to current construction on the huge program, which, when completed, will provied more than 1,164 miles of limited access highway.

Interstate Project Administrator Wilber Jones said, in addition to the 157 miles completed or under way, there are 260 miles for which planning has started, and 60 miles under survey.

The longest stretch completed is 2.8 miles, from just west of the Hillsborough-Polk County line to Lakeland.

Car-Truck Crash Kills 16-Year-Old

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — A 16-year-old boy was killed near Margate early Wednesday when his small car swerved out of control and hit an oncoming farm truck.

The victim was identified as Michael P. Moran, 1201 Atkins St., Petoskey, Mich. The Highway Patrol logged the time of death as 12:10 a.m.

Trooper William McCrary said Moran was headed south on State Rd. 7 about three miles north of Margate.

His vehicle swerved across the center line into the side of a truck driven by Charles Hemphill, 22, of Delray Beach. McCrary said Hemphill, a laborer for Dell farms, was reported unhurt.

Capt. Frank Ridenour of the Sheriff's Road Patrol, said the boy left his home in Michigan two days ago and was reported missing. He was believed to have fallen asleep at the wheel.

Reaction Strong To Speech

By the Associated Press

Two state legislators Wednesday strongly criticized Gov. LeRoy Collins' leadership in the state's efforts to stave off or slow down public school integration.

Reaction came after a speech by Collins at Tampa in which he said there is no legislative magic by which Floridians "can make ourselves immune from the laws of the U.S. or cause some disagreeable Supreme Court decision to go away."

Sen. W. Randolph Hodges of Cedar Key commented, "it's mighty hard for a Legislature to do anything to maintain segregation without the help and leadership of a governor who is honestly interested in maintaining it."

And Rep. George Stallings of Duval County charged Collins is violating his campaign promise "to do everything in his power to keep the school system segregated."

Collins proposed a course on the racial issue "by which we will not permit ourselves to be so hopped up by racial antagonists that our energies will be exhausted . . . and our state's progress perverted."

Sen. Verle A. Pope of St. Augustine, who has been a legislative leader for the Collins' administration, said he didn't think the people should be misled about what could be accomplished by legislation "but I do feel we can enact legislation that will serve to greatly delay the day of public school integration."

Pope and other legislators said they felt the people themselves should make the decision whether they want to accept some integration.

Attorney Gen. Richard W. Ervin and School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey have proposed a plan whereby parents would be given the right to withdraw their children from an integrated school and send them to a private school with help of a state grant. Such a plan would have to be voted on by the people.

Collins has declined to comment directly on the Bailey-Ervin plan pending receipt of recommendations from his racial advisory committee.

Senate President Designate Dewey M. Johnson of Quincy said he felt it was the responsibility of the Legislature to exhaust every avenue to carry out the will of the people "and we all know what that is now."

House Speaker Designate Thomas Beasley said Collins' remarks "lend comfort to the enemies of our way of life.

"I'm no more willing to say the forces trying to push integration on us can prevail than I would say we would have to bow down to a decision outlawing religious freedom."

Beasley said if Collins continued talking along this line "he'll incur such bad feeling in the Legislature his chances of getting anything through the Legislature would be slim."

Young Mother A Suicide

'If You Don't Love Me, I'll Drink . . . Poison'

FORT LAUDERDALE — (AP) — An 18-year-old mother died Wednesday, from poison she took while trying to get her husband to say if he loved her.

Medical Examiner, Jack Mickley ruled a suicide the death of Mrs. Betty Susanne Gushee, who had a one-year-old boy and expected another child.

Officers quoted Gushee as saying that after the argument she asked him repeatedly if he loved her and he declined to answer.

She handed him a note reading "I have in my hand a glass of poison. Arsenic poison. If you don't answer me I'll know you don't love me. If you don't love me, I'll drink this poison and kill myself."

She drank it.

Spotlighting Sports

JIMMY BURNS

Herald Sports Editor

Herald Sports Editor Jimmy Burns has been at Daytona Beach looking over the new speedway layout. Today's column was written before the tragic death of driver Marshall Teague. Burns left Dayton, en route to Miami, shortly before the fatal accident occurred.

Sports Editor 'Converted.' He's Auto Racing Fan Now

DAYTONA BEACH — After years of shunning auto race thrills, I became an enthusiast in a few scary moments here Tuesday.

Public admission of having become a race fan appeared to be the only way of making Bill France concentrate exclusively on driving, while we were hurtling around his Daytona International Speedway track at 142 m.p.h.

FRANCE

It was an unsolicited indoctrination in speed, as France took me on a tour of the modern $3,000,000 racing plant which is certain to become a popular tourist lure for Florida. The International Speedway with its 31 degree banked two and a half mile track will become the same thing to auto racing as Hialeah is to the turf sport.

"We'll try out the track in a few minutes," Bill confided as he drove his convertible along the outside rim road, circling above the track. It is used for safety and maintenanace and workmen were getting in last licks on the fence as Marshall Teague warmed up his Sumar Special, a speedway type car with a Offenhouser moteor.

Urging us back into his car, France explained, "If Teague blows something we ain't gonna be here.' He drove on around, warning the workmen to take cover behind trucks when Teague warmed up and put his foot down in an all out effort.

Teague, who Monday had attained a speed of 171 m.p.h., fell short in this test. On one lap his speed was announced as 170.068 m.p.h., and his car sounded like an angry hornet.

When Teague went to the pits for a checkup, France, who handles a car as accurately as Cary Middlecoff does a putter, drove down off the rim road.

* * *

This Is It, Fellows

FOR A moment, I hoped Bill would forget the promised ride around the track. Instead he wheeled through a tunnel, leading under the track to the infield, and eased onto the track.

On the straightaway everything seemed fine, although the wind whipped into the rear seat where Grayson and I clutched each other for comfort. Then we hit the first curve and the striped asphalt seemed to be coming into the car.

France turned halfway round and inquired, "How is it fellows — you aren't scared?"

In weak voices we replied, "No," and then we hit the straightaway again and as a repeat trip around the curve loomed, France popped a question at me. "Are you a race fan, now?"

"Yeah," I replied, hoping this would make Bill face the track and keep both hands on the wheel.

When we came off the track to let Teague make another bid for a record, I asked Clive Hansard, the front seat passenger, how fast we'd been going?

"When I quit looking the speedometer needle had hit 140," he replied.

And, believe it or not the wind suction in the rear seat was so great that it pulled an envelope from my side coat pocket onto the front seat.

* * *

Why France Built Speedway

PHYSICAL CONSTRUCTION of the track on 448 acres, near the Volusia Kennel club, was started last April. France exhausted seven years of planning and six different financing plans in getting ready.

"How'd you get the idea for such a track?" Bill was asked.

"I tired of having people tell me they would become race fans, if there was some way of seeing the racing cars all of the time," Bill, whose own stock car driving dates back into the 30s, said.

"You can see every minute of the action here from the five grandstands and bleachers, with seats for 30,000. You have a good view from the infield, where you sit in your own car."

IN DEVOTING a lifetime to driving cars and later promoting races, France made hundreds of friends. Their co-operation helped make his dream come true. The city leased him the land which includes a mile-long lake and a sports car course. Sixteen hundred persons bought 430,000 shares of stock at a buck each.

HULMAN

A favor rendered Clint Murchison, Texas multi-millionaire was repaid many fold. France approached Murchison about borrowing some machinery. Clint learned Bill was having trouble financially and helped him to get a $500,000 loan.

Don Smith of Pompano gambled in moving the dirt, a tremendous undertaking. Tony Hulman, owner of the Indianapolis Speedway, instead of regarding this track as a rival sent his superintendent, Clarence Cagle, here to help with the opening. Now Daytona will have big-time racing five months of the year.

Expect 60,000 Feb. 22

The first big program is upcoming Feb. 20-21-22. The 500-mile International Sweepstakes will be held on the latter date, a Sunday, and France thinks 60,000 will attend.

"If we can gross $750,000 a year, we can make a little money," France mused hopefully.

Right now, he's happy over the fact he can meet bills through a $200,000 advance sale of tickets.

Marshall Teague Dies In Daytona Smackup

By Herald Wire Services

DAYTONA BEACH—Veteran race car driver Marshall Teague was killed Wednesday in a spectacular crackup of his Sumar Special which gained him prominence in the 1957 Indianapolis Speedway Classic.

Officials said the Sumar Special, the same type car Teague sped to seventh place in the Indianapolis "500" two years ago, flipped end-over-end during a warmup run over the 2½-mile lighting-fast asphalt track.

The Daytona Beach driver was just preparing to set a world enclosed race track record of more than 177 miles-per-hour when the front end of the big car nosed into the surface and somersaulted.

Only two days earlier, Teague set an American record of 171.82 MPH. He said he planned to make some adjustments before trying to break the old world mark of 176.818 MPH set by Tony Bettenhausen in Monza, Italy last June.

The wreck was a tragic opening to the annual NASCAR Speed Weeks which winds up Feb. 19-22 with championship races for modified and regular track models.

The new track had just been completed and replaced the old four-mile beach and road track used in previous years. It was the first fatality here in several years and one of the few in the history of this resort city.

However, Teague, national stock car champion in 1952 and 1954, was not entered in the program which began with time trials Feb. 7. He was practicing for a big-car race scheduled here in April.

Joe Eppman, NASCAR timer, said Teague was only warming up the car which had developed trouble Tuesday when one of the innter-tubes balooned. The car was owned by Chapman Root, wealthy Ormond Beach sportsman.

As Teague came into the first turn the car flipped. Teague, married and father of a 14-year-old daughter, was hurled through the canopy of the machine.

Although no official word as to the cause of the accident was known immediately, observers said it looked as if the vehicle was too heavy in front.

Harland Fengler of Dayton, Ohio, chief stewart of the U.S. Automobile Club, said "it looks like he lost it." In racing slang this means the driver lost control of the car.

Bill France, president of the speedway, said "we think the track is designed for the utmost safety. We can see no more possibility of other fatalities than there would normally be."

First Landing 2nd in 6th Race

Idun Romps Home In Columbiana

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

Idun won the $26,975 Columbian Wednesday, but First Landing, in his Hialeah and 1959 debut, finished second in the Coral Reef, sixth race on the program.

A throng of 19,599 watched Octopus beat First Landing by a good two and three quarter lengths. First Landing, juvenile champion of 1958 and winner of 10 of 11 starts, was handled by Jockey Eddie Arcaro.

Idun, champion filly of 1957 and 1958, also was making her '59 debut. But Bill Hartack was luckier than Arcaro as Idun raced the seven-furlongs Columbian in 1:23.1.

Woodlawn, handled by Sammy Boulmetis, finished second with Happy Princess third. Mare's Beau was fourth in the 15-horse field.

Florida-bred Betty Linn took fifth, and then came Wonder Star, Big Effort, Mlle. Dianne, Dandy Blitzen, Indian Maid, Edna Allen, Miss J. G., A Glitter, Paris Picnic and Ramadel.

Jockey Tommy Root, aboard Mare's Beau, claimed foul against Happy Princess, alleging his horse was carried out in the stretch turn. The stewards, after viewing the film, disallowed the claim.

Idun paid $5.30, $3.90 and $3.70, Woodlawn was $19.40 and $9.80 and Happy Princess returned $4.70.

First Landing was not extended in his seven-furlong trek and Arcaro worked him a mile in 1:37.3.

Octopus, hero of the recent Hibiscus, never tarried a step. Octopus raced the distance in 1:22.3, fastest seven-eighths time of the meeting and only three fifths of a second off the track record.

Octopus, well-handled by Steve Brooks, paid $8.10, $2.50 and $2.20, while First Landing bet to 35 cents on the dollar, returned $2.30 and $2.10. Moony was $2.40 to show.

Brooks said "I figured if we were going to beat First Landing, this was the day. I had a hunch he would not run his first race out."

"We had no excuses in the running," said Arcaro. "I thought the horse ran as well as could be expected after his long layoff. This race should do him a lot of good."

Thanks to a "boo-boo" by Jockey Calvin Stone in misjudging the finish line in the fourth, some fans were richer by $107.

Stone, riding Toni Mia, stood up in the saddle three strides from the wire and was beaten a nose by the longshot Beaureve 2nd, ridden by John Ruane. A similar mistake cost Willie Shoemaker the 1957 Kentucky Derby aboard Gallant Man.

Stone told stewarts he "just misjudged the finish line." Since the Shoemaker incident, "bullseyes" calling attention to the wire have been installed at most tracks.

Ussery, who vacated a sick bed last Sunday, got into winning action by snaring both ends of a $57.70 daily double. His first was the longie Pore Jim ($18.90). Ussery won the second, his 25th as Hialeah's leading rider, with Cut and Run ($7.).

Mark of Honor was second and Cape Canaveral third. Brickwork was timed in :34.1 and paid $11.30.

Wednesday's crowd bet $1,777,615. On the corresponding day last year, a throng of 21,990 wagered $2,045,786.

Dark Sights Fourth Title As Baseball Golfers Drill

By EDDIE STORIN
Herald Sports Writer

Baseball (the names) and golf (the game) become intertwined this morning at Miami Springs as the 19th annual National Baseball Players golf tournament gets underway.

Two former champions — Albie Pearson and Alvin Dark — head a field of 40 major league entries. But Wednesday's practice-round scores indicate a wide-open tournament.

Pearson, diminutive American League Rookie of the Year from Washington, is defending champion. The five-foot, six-inch outfielder ousted John Gray (Philadelphia) on the 19th hole in the 1958 finals.

Veteran Dark, who takes golf almost as seriously as baseball, seeks to become the tournament's second four-time champion. The Chicago Cubs third baseman won in 1951, 1955 and 1957. Only Wes Ferrell ('34, '35, '38 and '39) holds more championships.

"I haven't been playing much," said Dark, "and I'm off my game. I can think of several baseball players who play the kind of golf that would win this thing."

Among Dark's "possibles" were Al Lopez, Chicago White Sox pilot who has been a runner-up three times; Jim Hearn, 1951 finalist who pitches for the Phillies; Darrell Johnson, New York Yankee catcher; Gray, a three-time medalist; and Pearson.

Dark ventured that a 75 would be good enough for medal honors today. Last year, when the first round was played in gusty weather, Pearson and Lopez led the qualifiers with 81s.

A total of 125 golfers are expected to compete. The meet is divided into six divisions—major league, minor league, inactive majors, guests, press, radio and television.

Top 16 scorers among the big leaguers will move into the championship flight when match play begins Friday. Quarterfinals are slated Saturday with the semifinals Sunday morning and finals that afternoon.

A hole-in-one tournament is scheduled for Sunday while players will be guests at a barbecue tonight at the Green Mansions Hotel, headquarters for the meet.

UF's MacBeth Likely to Play

JACKSONVILLE—(UPI)—Only one of the four University of Florida football players ineligible to take part in spring drills because of poor grades is expected to regain his eligibility by fall.

That was the word from Florida Coach Bob Woodruff at a local sportsmen's club dinner Tuesday night.

Woodruff said Fullback Jon MacBeth of Pensacola had the best chance of making the grade because the other players were entering their senior year scholastically.

He said academic standards of students who have been in school six semesters are more strict than on underclassmen. MacBeth will be a junior next fall.

The other players declared ineligible were Fullbacks Sonny Giles of Jacksonville and Clive Yates of Miami and Guard Vic Miranda of Miami.

"I expect MacBeth to be eligible by next fall," Woodruff said, "But the requirements on the other three are going to be harder for them to meet."

By JIM BISHOP
Herald Columnist

HAVANA, Cuba—The sun came straight down on the little square like a hot lid. It stilled the deep green leaves of the umbrella trees and the palms drooped with their arms at their sides.

They shouted in the heat and ran bases and each side had seven outfielders. Behind them stood the old Iglesia de Cerra. This is the Church of the Country. The stone is gray with age. In the dark cool of the doorway, the little man watched and smiled.

He is Alfredo Monsignor Muller, auxiliary bishop of Havana, the man who was quoted as saying that the execution of the Batista officers "is necessary."

He is 58, almost blond, and speaks confusing English.

He is one of the happiest men I have met. What makes him happy is that he was born in this poor parish, and he has lived to see himself become the bishop of the area.

I introduced myself and he said "Oh, yes" as though he knew the name. This was a courtesy.

He led me up the alley in the sun to his small, simple study. He motioned me to one of the two rockers and asked his secretary to bring us a small Cuban coffee.

It was served in tiny cups with gold rims and it was thick and hot and sweet. He spoke between the kissing sips, the words coming slowly, selectively, with spaces for thinking.

"I deed not say," he said with little jabs of the index finger, "ees necessary. De church Catolica is not for — how you say?—capital crime."

"Capital punishment," I said.

"No, no. Puneeshment is sometimes necessary. Like preeson. You know what ees preeson? Sometimes bad man must go away until he die. Preeson. No libertad. But to keel, to shoot de man, that is against Church Catolica. De reporters from United States, they mix up, they mix up my words" — he pointed to his chest—"you comprehend?"

"Yes," I said. He kept smiling politely. "You think that life imprisonment is sometimes necessary, but not execution."

The smile died. "Empreesonment? What is thees word?"

"Never mind," I said. "I understand. Tell me, is the new government Communist?"

The boyish grin came back. "You"—he pointed tentatively at my chest—"should know dat in Cooba Communism never een preponderance. Castro not Communist."

"Batista said he thought you were his friend. Was he a good man?"

The bishop thought about this. "I marry heem maybe twelf year ago. He not vary good man for Cooba. Is not very good Catolica too. Senora Batista, yes. Not him. Castro is better man as him. Mucho."

We finished the tiny coffees.

The old boards creaked underfoot. He led the way out. The boys saw him this time and stopped playing ball.

"De church," he said to me over the sea of brown and black faces, "always pardone. Never keel." He extended his hand. I took it. "When you home," he said softly, "you weel please to do de favor for me to say a prayer for me."

"Sure," I said. "Sure" . . .

Congress Space Group Visits 'Cape'

CAPE CANAVERAL —(UPI)— Chairman Overton Brooks (D., La.) and 14 other members of the House Space Committee arrived here Wednesday for a "field trip" to the missile test center after hearings on the state of the nation's missile program.

Brooks, who presented the House bill to create the Air Force Missile Test Center 10 years ago, said he and his group are "interested in seeing the facilities — the launching pads, and other things."

Brooks reiterated his conviction that "we are behind Russia in missile development and we are very anxious to catch up." He said that "anything we can do to speed up this program, we want to do."

Brooks said that after two weeks of hearings in Washington on the nation's missile progress, "we are summing it up by making this field trip."

Jukebox Tycoons Take 5th

Probers Eye Hood Tieups

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senate racket probers ran into a barrage of Fifth Amendment pleas Wednesday in questioning alleged underworld figures about their tieups with the coin machine business.

The non-talking witnesses were John Vitale of St. Louis, Frank Zito of Springfield, Ill., Mike Genovese of Gibsonia, Pa., and Joseph Salardino of Denver, Colo.

The committee is attempting to show that hoodlums have muscled into the lucrative jukebox-coin machine industry, often in connivance with corrupt union officials.

The four witnesses, who said they might incriminate themselves if they answered questions, were described by Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy as racketeers with long criminal records.

A fifth witness, Raymond Patriarca, Providence, R.I., rattled off answers to all questions. He acknowledged being a partner in a cigaret vending machine business in Providence.

Zito and Genovese both refused to tell whether they had attended a meeting at Apalachin, N.Y., which police raiders called a criminal convention.

Genovese refused, among other things, to talk about whether he had been involved in gun-running to Cuba during the Castro revolt.

Thee Italian-born Zito, 66, who spoke broken English, got into a hassle for saying he "refused" to answer questions.

Chairman John McClellan (D., Ark.) called Zito's replies disrespectful and ordered him to say "decline" instead, but Zito said he couldn't pronounce it.

"You'll have to excuse me," he said. "I recline (sic) to answer . . . I refuse to recline to answer." And he pronounced it "recline" from there on.

Zito refused to tell anything about his dealing with two labor unionists, Joseph Glimco of Teamsters Local 555 in Chicago, and Fred Tom Smith, also known as Juke Box Smitty, of Chicago Local 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Kennedy produced documents which, he said, showed that Glimco and Smith had financial interests in a juke box-coin machine firm known as the Automatic Phonograph Machine Co. of Illinois.

He also produced a copy of a letter from Zito dated in 1948 to a "Dear Mike" of the A.M.I. Phonographs, Chicago, stating that "we have received our charter for a union" and asking for copies of the bylaws and contracts used by Mike.

Kennedy said Mike is Michael Spagnola of Chicago.

Walkout Won't Halt Testings

CAPE CANAVERAL — If 1,500 members of the Transport Workers Union walk off their jobs here March 1, vital missile testing won't stop — unless the strike drags on for weeks.

Pan American World Airways, their employer, has a standby setup — used in other strikes — under which supervisors do essential work and keep the missiles firing.

Officials of PAA, which runs Cape Canaveral and the Atlantic Missile Range for the Air Force, estimate missile testing can go on for "several weeks" without the TWU.

Past TWU-PAA strikes have averaged about two days.

The emergency setup can also fill in for members of other unions who observe strikers' picket lines, the officials said.

Local officials of PAA could not be reached for comment Wednesday night but Richard Mitchell, the firm's local vice president has said many times that PAA's emergency setup can run the Cape and the Range for "several weeks."

Mitchell pointed out that last summer, when the 1,500 TWU members walked off for 10 days in a dispute about working conditions, no missile firings were delayed.

Maintenance work fell behind but PAA supervisors delivered missile fuel, ran trucks and other machines; and handled all the vital jobs.

Mr. Nixon, Find My Boy Friend . . .

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. —(AP)— Like so many of those summer friendships, this one seemed to have fizzled. The boy didn't write — until, that is, the girl located him by writing to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The principals, each 12, are Lynne Smith, Trenton, N.J., and Cort Kloke, 12, eighth-grader at South Pasadena Junior High.

Cort let it be known that he knew the vice president.

His mother, Mrs. Eloise Kloke, was on duty in Washington with the President's Committee on Government Contracts, of which Nixon is chairman.

Instead of returning to the capital at summer's end, Cort came here. His mother had been appointed West Coast regional director of the contracts committee.

Recently the vice president received this note:

"Mr. Nixon: I am a person who believes in getting right to the point. First of all I have a boy friend I met at day camp. His name is Cort Kloke (you know him). He didn't write to me when he had promised to.

"Could you send me the address of Mrs. Kloke's section where she works?

"Sincerely,
Miss Lynne Smith
413 Saxican Dr.
Trenton, N.J."

The vice president's staff forwarded the note to Mrs. Kloke here. Marilyn Matthews of the staff wrote, "I thought you'd know better than I how to handle it."

Mrs. Kloke says she decided Cort must have elaborated on the one-handshake meeting he had with her boss. She suggested Cort write to Lynne.

"Things kept getting in the way," he explained Wednesday between practice sessions with his basketball outside their home.

His letter to Lynne has not been disclosed. He got an airmailed reply Tuesday. It included Lynne's photograph, inscribed:

"To Cort—with all my luck."

All but EAL In Terminal By Friday

All but one of Miami's major domestic and international airlines will be doing business Friday from the new 20th Street Terminal.

Three of the "Big Four"—Pan American, National and Delta — will be handling all their arrivals and departures from the new 26-million dollar International Terminal, along with a multitude of domestic and Latin American carriers.

Only Eastern Air Lines, which operates its own terminal on 36th St. and has no international flights from Miami, will be absent when the new building opens. Eastern has said its recent strike shutdown "set it back several weeks" and it will move "within about two weeks."

No Traces Found of 2 Trawlers

HALIFAX, N.S. — (UPI) — A Russian fishing vessel gave searchers shortlived hope Wednesday that they had found one of two trawlers that disappeared with 48 men aboard in the midst of the winter's worst weather in the iceberg-studded North Atlantic.

A U.S. Navy plane reported sighting an overturned trawler about 60 miles from the point where the Icelandic trawler Judi radioed an SOS last Saturday that it was threatened with capsizing by a top-heavy load of ice and towering seas.

The Coast Guard cutter Castle Rock veered immediately toward the position of the sighting and reported that the "overturned trawler" is a Russian fishing vessel and was not in trouble.

A Newfoundland fishing boat, The Blue Wave, with 17 men aboard, also was missing in the same general area of the North Atlantic, south of the spot where a Danish passenger-cargo ship hit an iceberg and disappeared with 95 persons aboard 12 days ago.

Two other vessels also reported trouble from the bitter cold, freezing spray and gale-force winds that churned up mountainous waves.

37½ Hour Week Is Main Issue

Company Cites Cooling-Off Law

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

The Transport Workers Union announced Wednesday some 7,000 employes of Pan American World Airways have authorized a systemwide strike "on or before" March 1, threatening Miami's tourist economy with a second major airline shutdown.

The union, however, did not say whether or when a strike would be called, and the airline held out hope of the possibility of a fact-finding board being appointed by President Eisenhower in a last-minute effort to reach agreement.

Pan American flies some 2,000 passengers a day in and out of Miami, and a shutdown of the huge airline would be a severe jolt to Greater Miami's tourist season economy, still recovering from a 38-day Eastern Air Lines strike in November and December.

A strike would put some 8,000 Pan American maintenance workers, ground service employes, stewards and stewardesses out of work—about 3,000 of them based in Miami and another 1,000 at the crucial Cape Canaveral Missile Test Center.

Pan American would not say whether it would close down operations all over its ocean-spanning system in the event of a TWU strike, but a union spokesman here said, "They would have to halt operations. They couldn't fly safely without us."

The airline, which has some 150 planes that fly routes over the Atlantic, Pacific and to Latin America, warned that any strike before March 1 would violate the 30-day cooling-off period provided by the Railway Labor Act.

The 30-day period began Jan. 31, when mediation between the TWU and PAA ended without a settlement over issues of a new contract. The old TWU contract with Pan American ended Dec. 1.

The union in Miami said, however, that if Pan American violates the "status quo" of working conditions and wages before the 30-day period is up, the union can disregard the cooling-off regulation.

The TWU announced in New York that some 7,000 maintenance workers and port stewards had voted four-to-one in favor of a strike. A mail vote among an additional 1,000 flight stewards and stewardesses has not been completed, the union said.

The union said about 90 per cent of eligible workers voted in 11 U.S. cities and at San Juan, Puerto Rico, Honolulu and Wake Island.

They rejected Pan American's offer of a 25-cent-an-hour wage hike over a two-year period, the union said, and voted to authorize the strike. The union negotiating committee recommended the action after collapse of mediation talks in New York.

Central issue in the dispute is the union's demand for a decrease in hours from 40 to 37½ a week, as well as a wage increase. The TWU said it wanted the reduction in working hours — so far not agreed to by the airline — to protect maintenance jobs threatened by the lower maintenance requirements of jet airliners.

The airline said its 40-hour week was "standard throughout the industry," and that its wage increase offer was "on a par with other airlines."

The union said, however, "it isn't enough."

If the union decides to call a strike, the only way to stall it beyond the 30-day cooling-off period would be for the President to appoint a fact-finding board, holding up a strike until the board can make a study and recommendations for a settlement.

A Miami TWU spokesman, however, said he considered this "highly unlikely."

How Tourists Look at Us After Last Year

We're Cheaper, More Courteous--and Warmer

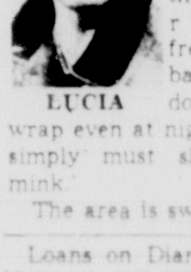
By LUCIA LEWIS

What's Florida like this year in the eyes of a tourist?

Lucia Lewis, travel editor of The Chicago Daily News, spent several days in the South Florida area and found things considerably different from last year. Here are her impressions.

There will be no more winter. Not here, anyway.

This is the kind of weather Florida brags about — and cried for last winter.



LUCIA

It's clear and sunny, temperatures range from 75 to 80, the breeze from the ocean is just right — refreshing but so balmy that you don't need a wrap even at night, unless you simply must show off that mink.

The area is swinging into its peak season now and prices will be at their highest in February and March. But Miami Beach is in a chastened mood and this looks like "Be Gentle to Tourists" year.

Last year's miserable weather which weaned many habitues to other areas, the airline strikes of early winter, new developments in other states and the Caribbean islands, all have taught that you can't shear a sheep too close.

In short, you get excellent value in room rates, with some attractive gimmicks added.

Many hotels are swinging to the "modified American" plan which includes breakfast and dinner with your rate. For two in a room, the really posh glitter places get $16 to $22 a day a person, varying with location of the room.

If you don't want to be a captive diner and eat in one place all the time, the rates range from around $14 to $18 or $20 per person. So it almost pays to take the modified American plan even if you eat elsewhere occasionally.

A third person in the room gets in for around $8 a day European or $10 a day with meals. Many places have half rates for children.

Now if you think this leaves you not knowing where your third meal is coming from you would be calorie-wise not to look for it. A reasonably late breakfast is a banquet in these parts that sees you cosily up to dinner time.

Get-acquainted cocktail parties, the elimination of irritating extras like charges for cushioned mats to keep you from getting corrugations while sunning on a chaise lounge, no required minimum at night clubs, lots of free entertainment, more parking lots at low rates so you don't pay a doorman every time, and many more courtesies generally make the Beach a lot more pleasant than it was in the dizzy and sky-high season of 1957.

The rates are not peanuts, of course, but there are hundreds of lower priced hotels, resorts and apartments all over town.

55 Uninjured As Plane Sinks

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay —(AP)— An Argentine passenger seaplane carrying 55 persons hit an object in the harbor here Wednesday and sank in six minutes. All 49 passengers and the crew of six were saved. No injuries were reported.

Nearby boats picked up the 55, including some passengers who had jumped from the plane into the water.

Dulles Cheerful

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The State Department press office reported Wednesday that Secretary John Foster Dulles had a restful day at Walter Reed Hospital and "is in a cheerful mood." Dulles is to undergo an operation for hernia.

Swollen Rivers Pounding Levees in Indiana and Ohio

Main St. in Findlay, Ohio, Is Awash With Blanchard River Flood Waters
. . . it takes seven miles of driving to reach dry spot five blocks down street

Storm's Sweeping Eastward

COLUMBUS, Ohio —(UPI) — Flood crests spawned by the second mammoth storm of the winter pounded against levees and kept more than 3,000 persons from their homes in Indiana and Ohio Wednesday.

The storm, which hit the mid-continent with a deadly combination of floods, tornadoes, blizzards and ice, had moved off to the East, giving way to numbing cold.

It left a heavy legacy of death, including 22 persons who perished in a tornado which swept St. Louis as it slept Tuesday. There were also three weather-blamed deaths each in Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin, two each in Arizona and Indiana, and one each in Iowa, New York state and Pennsylvania, for a total of 41.

Temperatures slid to 26 degrees below zero at International Falls, Minn., and were well below zero from Montana and Wisconsin into Nebraska. Wisconsin dug out of a paralyzing 10-inch blizzard, while Chicago continued a week-long battle against ice which slicked the city's sidewalks and caused more than 1,600 injuries.

Thousands of school children continued to enjoy vacations through the frozen storm belt.

Major flood threats arose on Indiana's Wabash River and the swollen Sandusky River in Ohio. More flood dangers, however, built up in Michigan and Illinois.

In Indiana, the Wabash was at its highest point in 46 years. The crest moved slowly across north central Hoosierland, forcing 400 families — roughly 1,600 persons — to flee their homes.

At Logansport, Ind., the next city in the crest's path, five families were evacuated, portions of the business district were flooded, and Civil Defense crews worked around the clock to strengthen the levees.

Many Logansport homes were without heat and the city's schools were closed. Georgetown, eight miles downstream from Logansport, was cut off from the outside world. Sixty residents were evacuated.

The river also was going down at Wabash after hitting its greatest crest since 1913. Thirty-five persons were given overnight shelter, but the flood waters even invaded a Red Cross evacuation center set up in the city's armory.

The crest was not expected to hit West Terre Haute until Saturday, but residents already were asking Gov. Harold Handley for emergency shipments of 40,000 sandbags to repair a damaged levee. Throughout the state, evacuations were reported in at last 10 counties.

In Ohio, fighting its second major flood in less than a month, an ice jam was dynamited to take pressure off the beleaguered city of Fremont.

German Advisers At Talks?

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Western powers will recommend to Russia that East and West Germany be permitted to send advisers to the proposed Big Four conference on Berlin and Germany, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

The plan to give Communist East Germany and free West Germany advisory roles will be spelled out in an Allied note expected to be sent to Moscow next week. As of now, the note does not say whether the German representatives actually would sit at the conference table.

Diplomatic informants said the idea would be for the West Germans to advise the British, French and U.S. delegations. Similarly, the East Germans would be present for consultations with Russian officials.

The Allied proposal was disclosed as Mayor Willy Brandt of West Germany reported that President Eisenhower had assured him the U.S. "will defend the people of Free Berlin against any effort to destroy their freedom."

Brandt said after a meeting with the President that Eisenhower told him no Communist threat could push the U.S. out of Berlin or block it from carrying out its responsibilities to the people there.

The Allies will reject the Soviet call for a treaty that would isolate and neutralize Germany, perhaps putting the country under a U.N. protectorate. They contend this would only perpetuate division of Germany.

Instead, they will suggest a foreign ministers conference sometime this spring to discuss the Berlin problem within the framework of the overall issue of German unity and European security. It will be left to Russia to suggest a specific date for the meeting.

Kennedy Gets Applause

By WILLIAM M. BLAIR
The New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower carried his "live within your means" fight into the camp of an enemy Wednesday.

He told the country's rural electric cooperatives their achievements could be torpedoed and the free enterprise system destroyed by continued reliance upon federal subsidies they and other groups now receive.

The President was followed to the same platform by a Democratic presidential hopeful, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. He said the administration lacked the leadership that developed the federal rural electrification program.

By contrast with the reception accorded Sen. Kennedy at the annual meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, the President got a cool one. However, nearly 8,000 persons heard the President, while only about 6,000 were there for Kennedy.

Eisenhower received four bursts of applause: One when he entered as the U.S. Marine Band played "Hail to the Chief," one when he was introduced and another as he finished.

He also won a light burst near the end of his 10-minute speech when he told the co-ops he liked to think their program, "which lighted the farm homes of America, will also help to illuminate the path to sound finance, good government and responsible leadership."

Kennedy was interrupted seven times by applause. He pledged Congress "would not go back on our word" in raising interest rates on federal loans to co-ops, the key issue between the administration and the Democrats controlling Congress.

Kennedy asserted that the administration had followed "one consistant theme: Slow down, hold back, stretch out.

"It is not a battle between the 'spenders' and the 'savers' —for REA is a form of saving —saving hours and lives on the farm, saving farms for our nation's needs, and saving and returning to the government every dollar it loans with interest."

Delegates to the meeting were expected to adopt today a resolution condemning the administration's proposal to raise interest rates charged by the REA and urge electric co-ops to get part of their financing from private sources.

The resolution asserts that the administration's proposals would "send the rural electric systems to Wall Street bankers." Another resolution calls for legislation to restore the independence of the REA administrator in the Department of Agriculture and free him from "veto" power by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson on big loans.

Bingo Bill Advances

DENVER —(AP)— The Colorado House of Representatives gave its final approval Wednesday to a bill legalizing bingo and raffles as a veteran legislator called for wide open gambling in the state.

The House action came by a 60-0 vote without debate.

The measure, which permits fraternal, charitable and religious institutions to conduct bingo and raffles, now goes to the Senate for approval. A constitutional amendment for bingo was ratified by Colorado voters Nov. 4.

Attorney Flies to Nye's Aid

A Chicago attorney flew through Miami Wednesday, bound for Cuba to plan the defense of Alan Robert Nye, a Coral Gables flier accused of conspiring to assassinate Fidel Castro.

While the lawyer, Joseph Sullivan, was en route to Havana where Nye is held, a top-ranking Cuban patriot leader said the former Navy pilot's ultimate punishment probably will amount to "being kicked out of Cuba."

Nye, according to the Castro government, has confessed a plot to kill the revolutionary leader for $100,000. Nye has denied the confession, but the rebels say they have tape recordings of the admission, and of his conversation with a U.S. embassy official who advised him to deny the confession and change his story.

Sullivan would not say whether he had been retained by Nye's mother. He said he will meet with government leaders and the prisoner and "decide then how long I will stay and what should be done."

Sullivan, who makes his home at Whiting, Ind., near Chicago, said he is a friend of Nye's mother, Mrs. Daniel Lynch, who sent a personal letter to Fidel Castro seeking mercy for her son.

The "reprieve" from earlier rebel declarations that Nye would be executed for his part in the conspiracy came from Commandante Ernest (Che) Guerva, who led the revolutionary forces in Las Villas province.

Since issuing a parade of conflicting stories and statements, Nye has refused to see newsmen. Guerva said Wednesday that no one will be permitted to see Nye before his trial, except his attorney, his family and officials of the U.S. embassy.

U.S. Loses Bridge Lead To Italians

NEW YORK — (AP) — Italy, defending champions in the 1959 World Contract Bridge Tournament, overwhelmed the American team Wednesday to win a smashing 41-to-7 international match point (I.M.P.) victory.

With the win, the Italians again took over the lead in the individual team play tournament. One I.M.P. equals an average of 100 regular points.

At the end of 84 hands in the 156 - hand championship tournament, Italy leads the U.S. by an I.M.P. score of 122 to 110.

At the start of paly Wednesday, the U.S. held a commanding lead over Italy with an I.M.P. score of 103 to 81.

The American team achieved this lead by two impressive victories — one over Italy, the other over Argentina, the Latin American Champions.

But Wednesday the Italians displayed the quality of bridge that brought them two previous world championships, and America's lead quickly disappeared.

This was the fifth day of play in the tournament. To win, a team must have outscored both its opponents at the end of the 156 hands.

Representing the U.S. is Sam Fry Jr., Harry Fishbein, Leonard Harmon and Lee Haze, all of New York; Sidney Lazard of New Orleans, and Ivar Stakgold, of Washington. Charles Solomon, of Philadelphia, is the non-playing American captain.

The Town Crier

EVERY DAY I learn something. Now I know why people give me a dirty sneering laugh when I say: "No, I can't get your traffic violation voided. It can't be done." Evidently they knew better.

For all at once we hear of 1,800 voided traffic tickets by Metro judges since they started work last March.

I was in Municipal Court Wednesday morning, listening to the craziest trial of the semester. A filling station operator thought a man stole a used tire. After about 30 minutes of wasted questioning the man admitted the tire wasn't worth anything anyway.

"It had a hole in it," he explained.

Asked Judge Francis Sobieski: "Would it have worked if copies of The Herald, which told about me fixing traffic tickets while I was in the hospital, were placed over the hole?"

'Twas an ambiguous attempt at sarcasm which nobody understood; and nobody laughed except a few court attaches who are duty-bound. But for the record, The Herald never used such a story, but did tell of Judge Sobieski's wife's traffic ticket being voided by a Metro judge.

* * *

Ticket Voiding

One Metro judge was quoted as saying he wishes he didn't have the power to void tickets. But County Attorney Darrey Davis says he hasn't, that "nobody has." But State Attorney Dick Gerstein says his office has such power.

Who's confuseder than whom?

Metro is asking how to get a void-proof law. It's simple, as they do it in City of Miami. The traffic officer must account to three departments for every ticket in his book. Once he writes it he cannot void it. Nor can the chief of police, the state attorney, or anybody else.

It must go through Municipal Court and a record made of its disposition. The chief can recommend that a trial be delayed, if a quick trial would be an obvious hardship. He can stand good for appearance bond. He can point out to the city attorney that a mistake has been made. And the attorney in turn can point out this error to the judge. But the judge's decision—and only his —is final.

I happen to be a critic of our state law which takes a man's license for three moving violations within a 12-month period. It should be easier on minor offenses, tougher on recklessness. But that doesn't excuse wholesale voiding. In fact, nothing does.

He's Still Spry

Jim McMartin of Miami Shores golf club is 74. He met me as I came off the ninth green with a bit of cheerful information relative to the facts of life on the links. "I played 36 holes Sunday and 27 yesterday," he said pridefully. "I wanted to go 36 yesterday but the young fellows conked out on me." The boys in the clubhouse told me Jim shot 81-79, to win the seniors tournament.

National Summary

Snow occurred Wednesday morning over the northern and inter-mountain region while rain fell over California with scattered thunderstorms and some hail.

Moderate to heavy amounts of rain were observed over southern half of California.

Except for showers in the Gulf regions and snow flurries near the lee shores of the Great Lakes in portions of Pennsylvania and New York State, fair skies are expected over most of the region from the plains into the east.

A warming trend from the Rockies across the upper Midwest should spread across the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys while in the cold pattern over the east, temperatures are likely to dip to 15 to 20 below zero overnight in upper New England.

Moderate to heavy showers expected over southern California are likely to spread into Arizona while moderate snows spreading over Nevada are expected to contribute locally heavy accumulations in portions of Utah.

Road Opened At Vero

8.9 Mile Stretch Of Highway

By THELMA FROSCHER
Herald Correspondent

VERO BEACH — The 8.9 miles of SR A1A north of Vero Beach to Wabasso Beach is now open to traffic.

The former narrow dirt road has been rebuilt by the state road department into a 24-foot-wide bituminous-surfaced highway.

Indian River County built about one-quarter mile of tie-in road to connect the north end of the improved A1A to the winding marl A1A that continues to the Sebastian Inlet.

The state road department now is planting the shoulders of the new road with grass.

The work should be finished in about three weeks, according to John Saxon, project engineer.

The motorist traveling north on A1A who does not wish to continue north on the marl road may turn west on Wabasso Beach Road and continue north on four-laned U.S. 1.

That will involve crossing the Wabasso bridge over the Indian River. Only one car at a time can cross the drawbridge there.

Stricter Zoning Is Urged

FORT PIERCE — Members of the Fort Pierce Beach Association asked the city commission for stricter zoning Monday night, when the city's new zoning ordinance came up for first reading.

Lee Nelson, representing the Fort Pierce Beach Association, urged further upgrading, stating that zoning would play an important part in the beach development. The new proposed zoning is stricter than regulations now in effect.

The commission passed the ordinance on first reading, with Mayor James L. Howe pointing out that it can be amended before it comes up for a second and final reading.

The commission received a request from employes of Southern Bell Telephone, that the one-hour parking signs on Citrus Avenue, in the vicinity of the telephone building, be removed.

Mrs. Margaret King, representing the telephone workers, said that the new regulation causes a hardship for the workers.

City Manager Floyd Glisson said the one-hour parking signs were put up after he received a petition signed by 80 residents, who complained that they were unable to park in front of their homes, and sometimes unable to get in and out of their driveways, because of telephone employees' cars.

The city commission said they would notify the telephone workers of their decision later this week.

The city commission received a request for a 20-year bus franchise from Joseph Resciniti.

The city has been without bus service for several years, with the last two tries ending in financial disaster for the operators.

Vero Man Is Jailed

When Vero Beach police arrested him, Verlin Messer, 26, had his sedan loaded to return to his former home at Copperhill, Tenn. In it, police said, were stolen tools valued at $173 and six bags of Indian River citrus fruit from a grove owned by F. B. Woods south of SR 60.

Lawyers Defend Appraisal Bills At Board Meeting

By ANNE WILDER
Herald Correspondent

FORT PIERCE — Several attorneys appeared before the St. Lucie County Commission Wednesday with a spirited defense for the bills turned in by appraisers, in the recent Okeechobee Road right-of-way condemnation suits.

County Attorney Ralph Wilson told the commission that the bills submitted by the defense appraisers were much higher than those submitted by the county and court appraisers, and the State Road Department is unwilling to okay them. He said in such cases that the court is asked to determine the fees.

Appraisal bills questioned included one of $5,252 from Henry Jernigan and one of $1,725 from Otis Kelley, both of Fort Pierce; and a bill of $1,968 from Walter R. Puckett of West Palm Beach.

Attorney Angus Sumner, who defended several suits in the condemnation, said the amounts charged were fair. "Mr. Jernigan and Mr. Kelley worked hard on my parcels," he said "we got good verdicts. I do not think the bills are out of reason — in fact, I told them the fees they charged were too low."

Attorney Thad Clarton said the matter should not be submitted to the court. "We got the best appraisers, they did their job all the way, and their charges were reasonable. Why should they have to bring lawsuits to collect their pay." He suggested that the county commission recommend to the court that the fees be paid, adding that he was sure the court would follow such a recommendation.

The commission has two possible courses of action, and will decide by next Wednesday which action to take.

They can either recommend that the matter be turned over to the court for a decision; or they can recommend to the State Road Department that the bills be approved.

However, Attorney Ralph Wilson indicated he saw no chance of the SRD approving the appraisal bills in question. And secondary funds cannot be used ~~for the~~ payments without SRD approval.

Henry Jernigan was the only appraiser at the Wednesday meeting. He said briefly that he was employed by 12 or 14 attorneys and a fee of $75 a day had been agreed upon. He said his bill represented an accurate statement of the time he had spent, and felt it was proper and should be paid. "I don't feel I should be shortchanged," he commented.

William Ceely Rites Today

VERO BEACH — Services for William Joseph Ceely, 77, will be held at 2 p.m. today at Floyd Chapel. Masonic rites will follow at Crestlawn.

A retired railroad engineer, he moved to Vero Beach three years ago from Union City, N.J. and was a 32nd-degree Mason. He died Tuesday.

Survivors include his wife, Janet, and two sons, Warren of Bellview, Wash. and Robert of Vero Beach.

County, Cities Request 60 Bills in Brevard

MELBOURNE — Brevard County and municipal governments are expected to have 60 local bills for consideration of the 1959 State Legislature, Rep. James H. Pruitt said Wednesday, after compiling a list of proposed special acts received during countywide hearings.

The representative said that he and Sen. Douglas Stenstrom were given information on 16 county government bills and 44 from Brevard's municipalities.

"All governments having local legislation," Pruitt said, "should advertise them by March 2. After April 1, we will not accept bills for introduction during the coming session unless they cover an emergency situation that could not be seen in advance."

Most of the 60 bills will bring the various governments up to date and help them meet the demands of a zooming population, the lawmaker said.

Pruitt gave this run-down on the important local bills expected to be introduced:

Rockledge and Palm Bay want to name municipal judges, taking that duty away from the mayors.

A hospital tax district is being eyed by Cocoa area officials for Wuesthoff Memorial, and another one in that area for the Cape Canaveral Hospital at Cocoa Beach. Road and bridge tax districts will be asked to back up bond issues for a Sebastian Inlet bridge and for a City Point causeway.

New charters are wanted by Titusville and Cocoa Beach. Charter changes are expected to be sought by Melbourne, Eau Gallie, Cocoa and Indialantic.

The Melbourne and Indialantic charter changes will have to do with annexation and other items to bring them up to date.

Eau Gallie's bill would change that section dealing with recalling elected officials, and Cocoa is interested in allowing residents to vote on whether the city should have either the city manager or the mayor-council type of government.

One new town may be permitted by the Legislature this session, a bid will be made for residents in subdivisions south of Patrick Air Force Base to have their area incorporated.

Across Banana River

Board May Back Temporary Road

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

COCOA—Three Brevard County commissioners Wednesday indicated they favor building a temporary causeway across the Banana River if plans for a permanent causeway can't be worked out immediately.

The temporary road "could be carrying traffic in six months," commissioner Bernard Parrish of Titusville said.

Completion of a permanent causeway is probably three years off.

The indications came at an unusual joint meeting of the commission and the Port Canaveral Authority at which the authority gave the county a causeway right of way across the river. The right of way is fill dredged up by canal construction.

Port Commissioners led by Commissioner G. W. Laycock urged the county to ask the state to build the proposed causeway as a section of State Rd. A1A, thus giving it the status of a "primary road."

The road is "essential to the development of the port" said Laycock and Col. H. C. Gee, chief consulting engineer for the port.

But county commission Chairman Max Rodes of Melbourne and Parrish said there is little possibility the state would grant the request. The state probably won't reroute A1A until a new road is built, they explained.

The temporary causeway proposal grew out of a commission - authority agreement to "explore every possibility" for building the causeway, which commissioners and authority members agreed is needed for the port and for Cape Canaveral traffic.

Parrish, and commissioners Joe Wickham of Eau Gallie and Fred Fisher of Merritt Island, said the road could be built with county forces if a temporary bridge could be placed over the Banana River channel.

In addition to the A1A rerouting and temporary causeway proposals, the county commission is working on a plan for a toll causeway connecting Port Canaveral and Cocoa.

Lowery Forfeits $100 Bond

STUART — Martin County Judge Harris R. Lowery Jr., who is under suspension by Gov. Leroy Collins on charges of drunkenness, failed to appear in court Monday on a charge of possession of an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor on Jan. 16.

Lowery was scheduled to appear before County Judge Evans Crary Jr., who was named by Gov. Collins to the bench after Lowery was suspended.

His bond of $100 was forfeited. Sheriff Roy C. Baker said that persons so charged do not automatically lose their license to drive. Only a charge and conviction of driving while intoxicated would result in losing a driver's license.

The Senate will meet in April and review Lowery's suspension. If the suspension is upheld, Crary will serve the remainder of Lowery's term through January 1961. If not, Lowery could be returned to the bench and get back pay for the suspension period.

Lowery was suspended by Gov. Collins for being, "drunk on the bench" at West Palm Beach Nov. 7, 1958.

Vero Seeks Standby Power

Herald Service

VERO BEACH — Standby electric power for the Vero Beach municipal system will be sought from the Orlando Utilities Commission.

The Vero Beach City Council Tuesday night approved a suggestion of Mayor Harry C. Offut Jr. that since Orlando now has a plant within 30 miles north of Vero Beach that an agreement for electric power in an emergency be attempted.

The council also approved his recommendation that they investigate the possibilities of obtaining repair crews from the Orlando system, Florida Power Corp. at St. Petersburg, Jacksonville Municipal Electric Co. or the Tampa Power Co.

In the event of a hurricane or similar disaster these other cities probably would not be in the path of the same storm, the mayor pointed out.

Public Hearing Held at Lakeland By Commission

LAKELAND—(UPI)—Florida citrus growers and processors clashed Wednesday over a proposal to levy citrus advertising taxes directly on the grower.

The taxes presently are collected on each box of citrus going through packing plants and other gathering points.

The Florida Citrus Commission held a public hearing to help the commission decide whether it should ask the legislature to levy the tax on the person who first puts oranges and grapefruit into a prime channel of commerce.

Processors argued that it was not fair to force them to pay a growers' tax. They said that about 35 per cent of citrus advertising taxes now are paid by processors while the remaining 65 per cent are paid by growers' cooperatives.

The growers argued that they were satisfied with the present procedure and did not want to be obligated with the paper work involved in paying the taxes to the state.

The commission voted to refer the proposal to its legislative committee for further study. Earlier, committee chairman Key Scales Jr. of Weirsdale said he expected to be able to produce a complete draft of the committee's legislative program by the March meeting.

W. J. Steed, attorney for the commission, told the hearing that he could write a legislative bill that legally would put the advertising tax on a grower level.

But Counts Johnson, an attorney for Florida Citrus Mutual, argued that a tax on the growers probably would be unconstitutional because some growers sell their crops on-the-tree.

In these cases, Johnson said, the tax would fail to become an excise tax and become a property tax and thus be unconstitutional.

H. R. Cloudy, vice president of Minute Maid Corp. and chairman of the Florida Canners Association's legislative committee, proposed that the processors be exempt from the tax and allowed to use the money for their own personal advertising.

This stand was supported by Herb Apple of the Birdseye division of General Foods. He said processors work on a very slim profit margin and need the money to advertise brand names.

Marvin Walker, general manager of the Florida citrus growers cooperative at Lake Wales, took the side of the growers. He said his organization always takes taxes into consideration when paying grower members for their crops.

Missile 'Duds' Can Be Success

ATLANTA —(UPI) —Maj. Kenneth Grine, public information officer at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., said Tuesday night that many missile firings reported as failures were actually scientific successes.

Grine addressed members of the Atlanta professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity on problems connected with missile launchings at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Group Seeks State Bank Charter for Stuart

STUART — A group of prominent Martin County business and professional men have been holding organizational meetings in an effort to obtain a State Commercial Bank charter for Stuart, said M. P. Nelson, realtor, who is spokesman for the group.

Nelson said that more than 50 residents have indicated their desire to join in the effort to obtain a state bank charter. He added that the proposed board will consist of local people and will be owned and operated by Martin county citizens.

"Our aim," said Nelson, "is to make this a People's Bank and offer additional commercial banking services needed in this fast growing area."

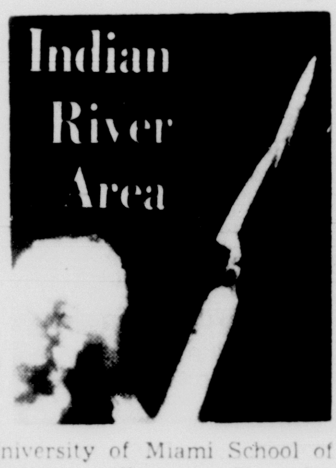
The group is headed by Fred J. Ryan of Port Sewall, Grant Chamberlain, local flower grower and distributor of Palm City; John R. Wolf, owner of the Anchorage of Rio; Thomas G. Schreckengost, president of the Stuart Paint and Supply Co., Nelson, and other area business and professional men.

The bank will be capitalized at $450,000.

Plans will be drawn soon for a modern bank building with modern facilities including offstreet parking.

Nelson said that the organizing group plans to appoint experienced banking personnel as administrative bank heads. He added that a recent survey indicated that Stuart is one of the two cities of its size on the east coast of Florida that is being served by only one bank.

"It is inevitable that additional banking services will be needed," Nelson said, "and it might as well be organized by a representative local group of business and professional residents of Martin county."



Daily Paper

COCOA — The Cocoa Tribune Wednesday announced it will become a daily newspaper next summer and change its name to the Daily Tribune.

The paper — only newspaper published in central Brevard — now publishes three times a week.

Mr. S. H. Holderman, Tribune publisher for nearly 42 years, said, "we believe that area has grown large enough to support a daily newspaper."

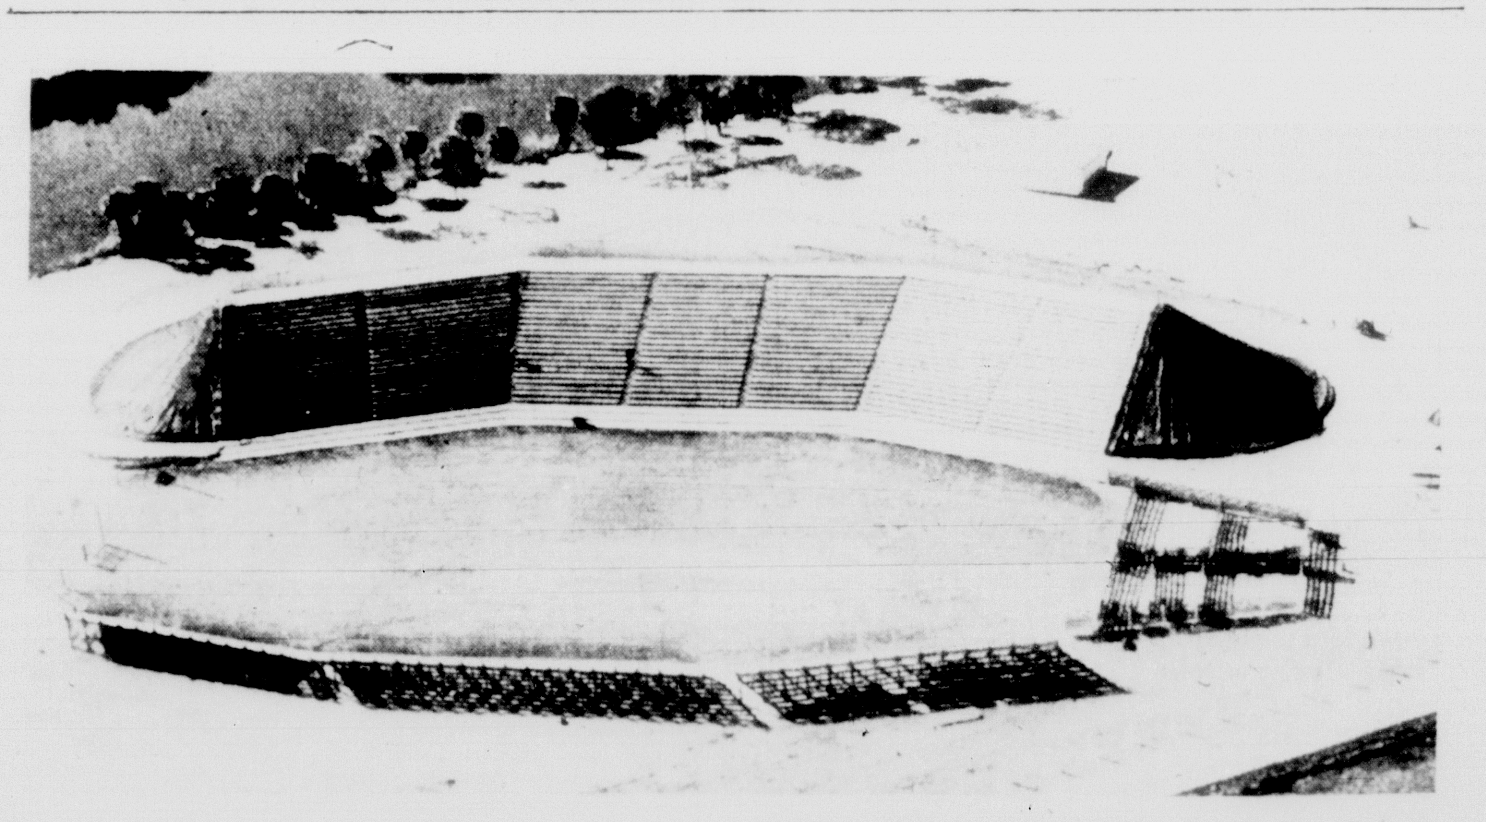
'White Way'

MELBOURNE — The Melbourne Planning and Zoning Board has suggested the city investigate the possibility of creating a "white way" on downtown streets — U.S. 1, Strawbridge Ave. and New Haven Ave.

City Commissioner E. (Bill) Buss said he will discuss the proposed program with Florida Power and Light Co. officials.



New Stadium

This new stadium which seats 8,000 persons will be the scene of a rodeo on Saturday, Feb. 28 and Sunday, March 1. It is located in Martin County at Indiantown, Fla., 35 miles from West Palm Beach. Overall long range plans call for the addition of a baseball diamond and football field. The stadium is situated on the banks of the St. Lucie Canal. The grandstand has reinforced concrete seats and will accommodate 6,000 persons. The temporary bleacher seats in the foreground can handle an additional 2,000 spectators.

Spotlighting Sports

JIMMY BURNS

Herald Sports Editor

Sports Editor 'Converted,' He's Auto Racing Fan Now

Public admission of having become a race fan appeared to be the only way of making Bill France concentrate exclusively on driving, while we were hurtling around his Daytona International Speedway track at 142 m.p.h.

FRANCE

It was an unsolicited indoctrination in speed, as France took me on a tour of the modern $3,000,000 racing plant which is certain to become a popular tourist lure for Florida. The International Speedway with its 31 degree banked two and a half mile track will become the same thing to auto racing as Hialeah is to the turf sport.

"We'll try out the track in a few minutes," Bill confided as he drove his convertible along the outside rim road, circling above the track. It is used for safety and maintenanace and workmen were getting in last licks on the fence as Marshall Teague warmed up his Sumar Special, a speedway type car with a Offenhouser moteor.

Urging us back into his car, France explained, "If Teague blows something we ain't gonna be here.' He drove on around, warning the workmen to take cover behind trucks when Teague warmed up and put his foot down in an all out effort.

Teague, who Monday had attained a speed of 171 m.p.h., fell short in this test. On one lap his speed was announced as 170.068 m.p.h., and his car sounded like an angry hornet.

When Teague went to the pits for a checkup, France, who handles a car as accurately as Cary Middlecoff does a putter, drove down off the rim road.

* * *

This Is It, Fellows

FOR A moment, I hoped Bill would forget the promised ride around the track. Instead he wheeled through a tunnel, leading under the track to the infield, and eased onto the track.

On the straightaway everything seemed fine, although the wind whipped into the rear seat where Grayson and I clutched each other for comfort. Then we hit the first curve and the striped asphalt seemed to be coming into the car.

France turned halfway round and inquired, "How is it fellows — you aren't scared?"

In weak voices we replied, "No," and then we hit the straightaway again and as a repeat trip around the curve loomed, France popped a question at me. "Are you a race fan, now?"

"Yeah," I replied, hoping this would make Bill face the track and keep both hands on the wheel.

When we came off the track to let Teague make another bid for a record, I asked Clive Hansard, the front seat passenger, how fast we'd been going?

"When I quit looking the speedometer needle had hit 140," he replied.

And, believe it or not the wind suction in the rear seat was so great that it pulled an envelope from my side coat pocket onto the front seat.

* * *

Why France Built Speedway

PHYSICAL CONSTRUCTION of the track on 448 acres, near the Volusia Kennel club, was started last April. France exhausted seven years of planning and six different financing plans in getting ready.

"How'd you get the idea for such a track?" Bill was asked.

"I tired of having people tell me they would become race fans, if there was some way of seeing the racing cars all of the time," Bill, whose own stock car driving dates back into the 30s, said.

"You can see every minute of the action here, from the five grandstands and bleachers, with seats for 30,000. You have a good view from the infield, where you sit in your own car."

* * *

IN DEVOTING a lifetime to driving cars and later promoting races, France made hundreds of friends. Their co-operation helped make his dream come true. The city leased him the land which includes a mile-long lake and a sports car course. Sixteen hundred persons bought 430,000 shares of stock at a buck each.

HULMAN

A favor rendered Clint Murchison, Texas multi-millionaire was repaid many fold. France approached Murchison about borrowing some machinery. Clint learned Bill was having trouble financially and helped him to get a $500,000 loan.

Don Smith of Pompano gambled in moving the dirt, a tremendous undertaking. Tony Hulman, owner of the Indianapolis Speedway, instead of regarding this track as a rival sent his superintendent, Clarence Cagle, here to help with the opening. Now Daytona will have big-time racing five months of the year.

* * *

Expect 60,000 Feb. 22

The first big program is upcoming Feb. 20-21-22. The 500-mile International Sweepstakes will be held on the latter date, a Sunday, and France thinks 60,000 will attend.

"If we can gross $750,000 a year, we can make a little money," France mused hopefully.

Right now, he's happy over the fact he can meet bills through a $200,000 advance sale of tickets.

Marshall Teague Dies In Daytona Smackup

By Herald Wire Services

DAYTONA BEACH—Veteran race car driver Marshall Teague was killed Wednesday in a spectacular crackup of his Sumar Special which gained him prominence in the 1957 Indianapolis Speedway Classic.

Officials said the Sumar Special, the same type car Teague sped to seventh place in the Indianapolis "500" two years ago, flipped end-over-end during a warmup run over the 2½-mile lighting-fast asphalt track.

The Daytona Beach driver was just preparing to set a world enclosed race track record of more than 177 miles-per-hour when the front end of the big car nosed into the surface and somersaulted.

Only two days earlier, Teague set an American record of 171.82 MPH. He said he planned to make some adjustments before trying to break the old world mark of 176.818 MPH set by Tony Bettenhausen in Monza, Italy last June.

The wreck was a tragic opening to the annual NASCAR Speed Weeks which winds up Feb. 19-22 with championship races for modified and regular track models.

The new track had just been completed and replaced the old four-mile beach and road track used in previous years. It was the first fatality here in several years and one of the few in the history of this resort city.

However, Teague, national stock car champion in 1952 and 1954, was not entered in the program which began with time trials Feb. 7. He was practicing for a big-car race scheduled here in April.

Joe Eppman, NASCAR timer, said Teague was only warming up the car which had developed trouble Tuesday when one of the innter-tubesballooned. The car was owned by Chapman Root, wealthy Ormond Beach sportsman.

As Teague came into the first turn the car flipped. Teague, married and father of a 14-year-old daughter, was hurled through the canopy of the machine.

Although no official word as to the cause of the accident was known immediately, observers said it looked as if the vehicle was too heavy in front.

Harland Fengler of Dayton, Ohio, chief stewart of the U.S. Automobile Club, said "it looks like he lost it." In racing slang this means the driver lost control of the car.

Bill France, president of the speedway, said "we think the track is designed for the utmost safety. We can see no more possibility of other fatalities than there would normally be."

Orange Bowl: Huh?

Sooners: Satisfy Us 'In Writing'

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

University of Oklahoma officials Wednesday threw the second punch in their cross-country "newspaper fight" with the Orange Bowl Committee.

Again, the startled OB Committeemen were caught with their guards down.

The Oklahoma regents demanded — in a statement to newspapermen — assurance "in writing" of a satisfactory solution to problems which they say have come up in the Sooners' recent appearances in Orange Bowl games.

Otherwise, proclaimed the regents, Oklahoma's football team will not play in the Orange Bowl following the 1960 season or any other time.

Stephen A. Lynch Jr., new Orange Bowl president, in Boston Wednesday, replied:

"When either the University of Oklahoma or the Big Eight Conference gets in touch with us by the proper method . . . in writing . . . then the Orange Bowl committee will consider their protest on its merits.

"I was unaware," added Lynch, "that any problems existed before the last game (Jan. 1 of this year)."

A white-hot controversy was touched off in the last game when ground-level spectators complained Oklahoma players blocked their view by refusing to sit in the dugout.

Guarantee of a solution of the problems, OU's Regents ruled, most be signed by the Orange Bowl Coroton, a representative of the Big Eight Conference and Sooner Athletic Director Bud Wilkenson.

Fumed Ernie Seiler, OB general manager and vice president:

"We haven't received the first word or line of complaint from Oklahoma or the conference.

"We don't know what they're protesting.

"If Oklahoma has a gripe why don't they let us know about it directly?"

In a Jan. 15 recommendation to his Regents, Dr. George L. Gross, Oklahoma's president, said, "I want to go on record to this board (regents) that our team will not go back to Miami until such time as there is a clear understanding about our behavior on the sidelines."

Dr. Cross added the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at ground level. He also criticized what he termed inflated prices charged Oklahoma fans.

Although the Regents refused Wednesday to list any specific "problem," an OU spokesman reiterated that Oklahoma fans were complaining of high prices and poor hospitality.

Said John R. Willoughby, general manager of Ivanhoe Hotel in swank Bal Harbour where the Sooner players and official family was quartered: "They certainly could have charged them only $16.45 per person daily. And that included three meals from their no complaints with us. We own menu, and tips."

Under the present three-year contract with the Big Eight, Oklahoma would be eligible to return just once more — on Jan. 1, 1961.

The conference has a rule that no member may appear in a post-season game two consecutive years. Thus the second-place team represents the conference when one team wins two years in a row.

Because the recent game was the "silver anniversary" contest, the rule was waived at the request of Orange Bowl officials this year when Oklahoma met and defeated Syracuse, 21-6. The previous New Year's Day, the Sooners had defeated Duke, 48-21.

Actually, the Sooners have no negotiating powers — the OB's contract is with the Big Eight.

Wednesday, one Orange Bowl committeeman said flatly:

"It seems fairly evident Oklahoma doesn't want to come back under any circumstances . . . and is looking for every excuse to get sentiment on its side."

* * *

. . . But the Players Had Wonderful Time

Here's how University of Oklahoma players feel about Miami and their Orange Bowl appearances:

* * *

DICK CORBITT, guard—"The only thing I disliked was the attitude of the fans who didn't like the way we knelt along the sidelines. But they didn't realize we do that every game we play, including the Orange Bowl last year. On the whole, the people were pretty nice to us."

* * *

* * *

MICKEY JOHNSON, center—"The people who ran the bowl treated us fine . . . but I didn't like the gripes some fans put up about us not sitting on the benches in the dugout. That's tradition with us."

* * *

JOE RECTOR, Oklahoma—"It's a thrill just to be able to go. It's sure a lot different from how we live in Oklahoma."

Idun Romps at Hialeah, But First Landing Bows

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

Idun won the $26,975 Columbiana Wednesday, but First Landing, in his Hialeah and 1959 debut, finished second in the Coral Reef purse.

A throng of 19,599 watched Octopus beat First Landing by a good two and three quarter lengths in the afternoon's sixth race. First Landing, juvenile champion of 1958 and winner of 10 of 11 starts, was handled by Jockey Eddie Arcaro.

Idun, champion filly of 1957 and 1958, also was making her '59 debut. But Bill Hartack was luckier than Arcaro as Idun raced the seven-furlong Columbiana in 1:23.1.

Woodlawn, handled by Sammy Boulmetis, finished second with Happy Princess third. Mare's Beau was fourth in the 15-horse field.

Florida-bred Betty Linn took fifth, and then came Wonder Star, Big Effort, Mlle. Dianne, Dandy Blitzen, Indian Maid, Edna Allen, Miss J. G., A Glitter, Paris Picnic and Ramadel.

Jockey Tommy Root, aboard Mare's Beau, claimed foul against Happy Princess, alleging his horse was carried out in the stretch turn. The stewards, after viewing the film, disallowed the claim.

Idun paid $5.30, $3.90 and $3.70. Woodlawn was $19.40 and $9.80, and Happy Princess returned $4.70.

First Landing was not extended in his seven-furlong trek and Arcaro worked him a mile in 1:37.3.

Octopus, hero of the recent Hibiscus, never tarried a step. Octopus raced the distance in 1:22.3, fastest seven-eighths time of the meeting and only three fifths of a second off the track record.

Octopus, well-handled by Steve Brooks, paid $8.10, $2.50 and $2.20. First Landing returned $2.30 and $2.10. Moony was $2.40 to show.

Brooks said, "I figured if we were going to beat First Landing, this was the day. I had a hunch he would not run his first race out."

"We had no excuses in the running," said Arcaro. "I thought the horse ran as well as could be expected after his long layoff. This race should do him a lot of good."

UF's MacBeth Likely to Play

JACKSONVILLE—(UPI)—Only one of the four University of Florida football players ineligible to take part in spring drills because of poor grades is expected to regain his eligibility by fall.

That was the word from Florida Coach Bob Woodruff at a local sportsmen's club dinner Tuesday night.

Woodruff said Fullback Jon MacBeth of Pensacola had the best chance of making the grade because the other players were entering their senior year scholastically.

He said academic standards of students who have been in school six semesters are more strict than on underclassmen. MacBeth will be a junior next fall.

The other players declared ineligible were Fullbacks Sonny Giles of Jacksonville and Clive Yates of Miami and Guard Vic Miranda of Miami.

"I expect MacBeth to be eligible by next fall," Woodruff said, "But the requirements on the other three are going to be harder for them to meet."

Ex-Governor of Georgia's Brother Dies in Store Fire

JACKSONVILLE — (UPI) — Grocery operator L. H. (Howard) Griffin, brother of former Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, suffocated in an early morning fire which swept through his one-story establishment Wednesday.

The 54-year-old victim, who came here from Bainbridge, Ga., two years ago, was found sprawled on the floor of the Buffalo Ave. Supermarket after fire had spread from the building to an adjoining garage.

Griffin also was a brother of Georgia State Rep. R. A. (Cheney) Griffin of Bainbridge and Carl of Montgomery, Ala.

It was the second fire death in the Griffin family in recent years. Marvin Griffin, whose gubernatorial term expired last year, lost a child in the tragic Winecoff Hotel fire in Atlanta Dec. 7, 1946.

Car Insurance

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Hearings on increased automobile liability insurance rates were postponed here Wednesday until Thursday at 2 p.m. on request of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters.

Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson granted the delay to enable Tallahassee Attorney J. Lewis Hall and attorneys for the bureau to confer on their appeal of Larson's recent order denying the rate hikes.

The bureau petitioned Larson for increases of 26.7 per cent for the state generally and 33.3 per cent for Dade County.

Geriatrics Bill

ST. PETERSBURG — (AP) — U.S. Rep. William C. Cramer said Wednesday he will introduce legislation which would authorize a 1,500-bed addition to Bay Pines Veterans Hospital here. The addition would include a clinic for the study of geriatrics and geriatric treatment.

Cramer said the geriatric clinic would be the first Veterans Administration facility established for a study of the relationship between aged persons and such diseases as heart ailments, cancer, tuberculosis and diabetes.

1934 Escape

SACRAMENTO — (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown held a hearing Tuesday for Jack Elam, who escaped from a Florida prison 25 years ago. The governor said his decision on whether to extradite Elam would not be made for several days.

Elam, convicted in Gadsden County, Florida, Dec. 11, 1933, for assault with intent to commit murder, claimed he was innocent and said he had a clean record since his escape in 1934.

Hotel to Open

JACKSONVILLE — (AP) — The Robert Myer Hotel, largest commercial hotel in Florida, will open March 20. Roland Mumford, executive vice president of the chain, said Wednesday. The 20-story downtown hotel will have 536 bedrooms, ballroom with a capacity of 1,400 and underground parking for 190 cars.

A TOUR of USO and military installations in Florida will be made by Commissioner Norman S. Marshall, national commander of the Salvation Army. The tour will start Friday at Jacksonville. He will visit Naval and Air Force installations in the Jacksonville and Orlando areas and USOs in those cities and at St. Augustine.

Ill Actor Recovering

Haircut 12 Bits

JACKSONVILLE — (AP) — Haircuts in many Jacksonville barbershops now cost $1.50. Robert Odum and Warren H. Folks, spokesmen for downtown operators, said increasing costs of operating made the jump from $1.25 necessary.

Collins Rapped on 'Mix' Stand

By the Associated Press

Two state legislators Wednesday strongly criticized Gov. LeRoy Collins' leadership in the state's efforts to stave off or slow down public school integration.

Reaction came after a speech by Collins at Tampa in which he said there is no legislative magic by which Floridians "can make ourselves immune from the laws of the U.S. or cause some disagreeable Supreme Court decision to go away."

Sen. W. Randolph Hodges of Cedar Key commented, "it's mighty hard for a Legislature to do anything to maintain segregation without the help and leadership of a governor who is honestly interested in maintaining it."

And Rep. George Stallings of Duval County charged Collins is violating his campaign promise "to do everything in his power to keep the school system segregated."

Collins proposed a course on the racial issue "by which we will not permit ourselves to be so hopped up by racial antagonists that our energies will be exhausted . . . and our state's progress perverted."

Sen. Verle A. Pope of St. Augustine, who has been a legislative leader for the Collins' administration, said he didn't think the people should be misled about what could be accomplished by legislation "but I do feel we can enact legislation that will serve to greatly delay the day of public school integration."

Pope and other legislators said they felt the people themselves should make the decision whether they want to accept some integration.

Attorney Gen. Richard W. Ervin and School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey have proposed a plan whereby parents would be given the right to withdraw their children from an integrated school and send them to a private school with help of a state grant. Such a plan would have to be voted on by the people.

Collins has declined to comment directly on the Bailey-Ervin plan pending receipt of recommendations from his racial advisory committee.

Senate President Designate Dewey M. Johnson of Quincy said he felt it was the responsibility of the Legislature to exhaust every avenue to carry out the will of the people "and we all know what that is now."

House Speaker Designate Thomas Beasley said Collins' remarks "lend comfort to the enemies of our way of life.

"I'm no more willing to say the forces trying to push integration on us can prevail than I would say we would have to bow down to a decision outlawing religious freedom."

Beasley said if Collins continued talking along this line "he'll incur such bad feeling in the Legislature his chances of getting anything through the Legislature would be slim."

"The Legislature should, and I believe will, set up the mechanics of a program whereby the people will have the opportunity to make the decision," he said.

Rep. William V. Chappell Jr., of Marion County said, "I'm not ready to admit we're licked yet, and won't until we've tried every possible move to get around the unconstitutional decision of the U.S. Supreme Court."

And Sen. John Rawls of Marianna commented, "I don't think we can achieve anything by throwing in the sponge. I frankly don't know what the Legislature can do, but we should try by every honorable and lawful means."

Rep. John Mathews Jr., of Duval County said he's not certain there is no legislative method for preserving segregation.

"I have been studying with interest the parent option bill," he said.

Rep. George Hollohan of Dade said southerners don't need to become submissive.

"We need to take a middle ground and merely do whatever can be done to preserve segregation by lawful means," he said.

However, he cautioned against destroying the public school system.

PIRATE QUEEN is Miss Mary Louise Lee, a Tampa school teacher. She was crowned queen of the Gasparilla Krew at the annual coronation ball at Tampa Tuesday. The ball was the social feature of Gasparilla Days there.

Health Officers Urge Shots

JACKSONVILLE —(AP)— The Florida Health Officers Conference Wednesday recommended that teenagers and adults be immunized against typhoid fever and small pox.

It also recommended that use of dangerous insecticides be controlled by regulation or law; and that a study be made by the State Health Department of types of equipment and tests used in public schools for eye testing.

Other recommendations were that health officers exercise care in recommended hospitalization of indigents to keep within available funds:

Regulations be made clear as to requirements for lifeguards and equipment at beaches.

The sanitary code be modified to strengthen it, especially in kindergartens, schools, migratory labor camps and places for child care.

In-service training and professional improvements be sought in various categories of health workers.

Directors of mental health clinics be encouraged to confer with health officers.

Steps be taken to keep full supplies of polio vaccine.

Carter Wins Back Driver License

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Jerry W. Carter, 71, chairman of the State Railroad and Public Utilities Commission, passed his driver's re-examination Wednesday and got his license back.

State Patrol Trooper Jimmy Hill, who flunked Carter on his first try Feb. 3, said Carter came back with flying colors "and can drive as well as anyone on the highway as far as his license is concerned."

Only restriction on Carter's new license is that he cannot drive without his eye glasses.

He lost his license Dec. 17 after he was involved in an automobile collision here and paid a $25 fine for failing to yield the right of way.

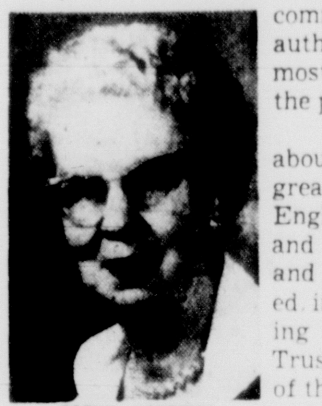
Old English Silver Exhibition Delights Four Arts Crowds

By HELEN VAN HOY SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

THE PALM BEACHES—Best valentine of all—typical Palm Beach weather—has descended upon us (at this writing.) Blue skies, golden dripping sunshine, sapphire seas—all that sort of thing. When we have it we take it for granted; when we lose it we moan, wail, and whine.

The exhibition of antique English silver at the Society of the Four Arts is drawing delighted crowds and comments. Mrs. Edwin B. Tower, an authority on silver, was one of the most interested of the spectators at the preview tea.



MRS. SMITH

She was chatting with friends about the three Pauls who were great silversmiths – Paul Storr of England, Paul de Lamerie of France, and Paul Revere of America. Storr and de Lamerie are well represented in this rich and beautiful showing of silver lent by the National Trust of England, taken from three of the great houses of that country.

There are 47 pieces in all, impressive, imposing, and reflecting great wealth and arrogance. The pieces large and small are arranged in glass cabinets so that you may look but not touch.

Mrs. Tower called attention to a beautiful chocolate pot with no spout. Instead the chocolate was poured from a round hole in the top. The hole was kept covered to prevent a film from forming over the chocolate.

She said the art of applying gilt over silver, exemplified in the show, was not practiced any more though in recent years there have been attempts to revvie it.

They Collected Georgian Silver

ALSO VIEWING THE SILVER with knowledgeable interest were Anita (Mrs. F. Earl) Wallace and Neva (Mrs. George S.) Brockway, of West Palm Beach, both of whom have Georgian silver in their collections.

Mrs. James Cameron Clarke, art chairman, was happy at the success of the show. For the preview she was wearing a scarlet three-quarter length coat over a white frock.

Carol Jean Casey—model child. She was with her momma, Jackie (Mrs. J. W.) Casey III when Jackie, who has modeled went over to tell the well known New York photographer that she just couldn't pose for pictures.

Carol Jean's little brother was expected any day. The photographer was disappointed, but he looked at Carol Jean and brightened. He had been needing a tiny blond girl with straight hair. So Carol Jean was put to work next day. A good start on a career, and none too soon, for time goes by and Carol Jean was two last September.

Emily Babcock Writes at Sunrise

YOU MAY CALL HER a "rising young writer." Emily (Mrs. Allen) Babcock who writes stories and articles for slick publications gets up every morning at 4.

That's the time she loves best. The family hasn't stirred. She watches the sunrise over the lake, and she gets her reading in at that time. She reads to analyze stories, to observe techniques, and to keep up with what's going on in the magazine world.

"Then about six o'clock everybody lets the dogs and cats out, and they have a great time running up and down the lake front.

"They are joined by our four Siamese cats; and soon it's time to get the family up, Allen to the office and the children to school. But I've had two or three lovely hours."

Mrs. Babcock (she's called Sug, short for Sugar) has an article in the February number of "House Beautiful." It's all about recipes, and how they reflect the periods in which they were used.

Witty and most readable, the article gives examples of her own favorite recipes taken from depression years when she was a birde, war years when butter was an ugly word, and today, when the sky is the limit as far as rich ingredients are concerned.

Sug's been writing for a number of years, and her success has been a pleasure to her many friends. A sustaining member of the Junior Welfare League, Sug has three children, "Trotty," 16; "Mawee," 14; and Michael, 10, so that early rising is a necessity.

Her father, the late L. Trevette Lockwood, was city manager of Palm Beach for 30 years.

* * *

It's Party and Museum Time

PARTIES CONTINUE to dot the social landscape. Mrs. Bruce Jones and Mrs. M. E. Rinker gave a large party at the Sailfish Club recently.

Dolores (Mrs. Alan) Brombacher used attractive Valentine decorations for her two-table bridge party at her home on Plymouth Rd.

All indications are that the Junior Welfare League will have its Junior Museum in Dreher Park. Plans first must be approved by the City Park Commission and there are a few other yards of red tape to be unrolled before the site is "signed, sealed and delivered."

Plans call for a handsome $100,000 building which will include a planetarium. John Ripley Fornes of the National Association of Museums is expected March 1 to begin a drive for funds. Donations to the building will be tax exempt.

Meantime a small jewel of a museum will be set up in a cottage in Palm Beach to serve as show case—a sample—of the sort of articles the permanent museum will offer.

Thumbtack Operator Makes Good

MAURICE CHEVALIER who is appearing in Palm Beach March 1 under the banner of Mary Howes for "An Evening with Maurice Chevalier" at the Four Arts, began life as an humble worker. He was an apprentice engraver, carpenter and joiner and operator of a machine in a thumbtack factory.

So whenever you are tempted to say a bad word when you hammer your thumb instead of the tack, just remember that the thumbtack operator may yet attain international fame as the dispenser of amour. Maurice did.

★ LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF PUBLIC AUCTION SALE OF FIVE AUTOMOBILES DADE COUNTY, FLORIDA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Dade County, Florida, will offer for sale at public auction to be held and conducted at the South front door of the County Courthouse in Miami, Florida, on the 20th day of February, 1959, at 10:00 o'clock in the morning, five (5) county-owned passenger automobiles particularly described as follows:

1) 1 used 1957 Ford Fairlane 500 Victoria Town Sedan, model 57A, Identification No. C7AV 162269, Raven Black and White.
(2) 1 used 1957 Ford Fairlane 500 Victoria Town Sedan, model 57A, Identification No. C7AV 157175, Flame Red and White.
3) 1 used 1957 Ford Fairlane 500 Victoria Town Sedan, model 57A, Identification No. C7AV 157166, Raven Black and Inca Gold.
4) 1 used 1957 Plymouth Belvedere 8 sports Sedan Model 69, Identification No. 22426828 Gold and White.
(5) 1 used 1957 Chevrolet Belaire 4 door sedan, Model No. 2403, Identification No. VC 57 A 190511, Gray and White.

Each said automobile will be offered for sale separately. All automobiles will be offered for sale for cash only, and no bid for any automobile will be accepted, received or considered of any amount less than the amount of the highest sealed bid heretofore received by the County Commission on January 20, 1959, for such automobiles respectively. Each successful bidder shall deposit an amount equal to twenty-five (25%) percent of his bid at the time of acceptance of the bid, and shall pay the entire remaining amount of the bid within forty-eight (48) hours thereafter. Said automobiles presently bear X series license plates, the purchaser or purchasers shall forthwith and immediately provide new license plates at his or their own expense. Said automobiles may be viewed by arrangement with the County Manager's office.

The county reserves the right to reject any or all bids, without cause, if deemed in the public interest.

By JIM BISHOP
Herald Columnist

HAVANA, Cuba—The sun came straight down on the little square like a hot lid. It stilled the deep green leaves of the umbrella trees and the palms drooped with their arms at their sides.

They shouted in the heat and ran bases and each side had seven outfielders. Behind them stood the old Iglesia de Cerra. This is the Church of the Country. The stone is gray with age. In the dark cool of the doorway, the little man watched and smiled.

Bishop Muller
. . . 'they mix up'

He is Alfredo Monsignor Muller, auxiliary bishop of Havana, the man who was quoted as saying that the execution of the Batista officers "is necessary."

He is 58, almost blond, and speaks confusing English.

He is one of the happiest men I have met. What makes him happy is that he was born in this poor parish, and he has lived to see himself become the bishop of the area.

I introduced myself and he said "Oh, yes" as though he knew the name. This was a courtesy.

He led me up the alley in the sun to his small, simple study. He motioned me to one of the two rockers and asked his secretary to bring us a small Cuban coffee.

It was served in tiny cups with gold rims and it was thick and hot and sweet. He spoke between the kissing sips, the words coming slowly, selectively, with spaces for thinking.

"I deed not say," he said with little jabs of the index finger, "ees necessary. De church Catolica is not for — how you say?—capital crime."

"Capital punishment," I said.

"No, no. Puneeshment is sometimes necessary. Like preeson. You know what ees preeson? Sometimes bad man must go away until he die. Preeson. No libertad. But to keel, to shoot de man, that is against Church Catolica. De reporters from United States, they mix up, they mix up my words" — he pointed to his chest—"you comprehend?"

"Yes," I said. He kept smiling politely. "You think that life imprisonment is sometimes necessary, but not execution."

The smile died. "Empreesonment? What is thees word?"

"Never mind," I said. "I understand. Tell me, is the new government Communist?

The boyish grin came back. "You"—he pointed tentatively at my chest—"should know dat in Cooba Communism never een preponderance. Castro not Communist."

"Batista said he thought you were his friend. Was he a good man?"

The bishop thought about this. "I marry heem maybe twelf year ago. He not vary good man for Cooba. Is not very good Catolica too. Senora Batista, yes. Not him. Castro is better man as him. Mucho."

We finished the tiny coffees.

The old boards creaked underfoot. He led the way out. The boys saw him this time and stopped playing ball.

"De church," he said to me over the sea of brown and black faces, "always pardone. Never keel." He extended his hand. I took it. "When you home," he said softly, "you weel please to do de favor for me to say a prayer for me."

"Sure," I said. "Sure" . . .

Congress Space Group Visits 'Cape'

CAPE CANAVERAL — (UPI)— Chairman Overton Brooks (D., La.) and 14 other members of the House Space Committee arrived here Wednesday for a "field trip" to the missile test center after hearings on the state of the nation's missile program.

Brooks, who presented the House bill to create the Air Force Missile Test Center 10 years ago, said he and his group are "interested in seeing the facilities — the launching pads, and other things."

Brooks reiterated his conviction that "we are behind Russia in missile development and we are very anxious to catch up." He said that "anything we can do to speed up this program, we want to do."

Brooks said that after two weeks of hearings in Washington on the nation's missile progress, "we are summing it up by making this field trip."

Jukebox Tycoons Take 5th

Probers Eye Hood Tieups

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senate racket probers ran into a barrage of Fifth Amendment pleas Wednesday in questioning alleged underworld figures about their tieups with the coin machine business.

The non-talking witnesses were John Vitale of St. Louis, Frank Zito of Springfield, Ill., Mike Genovese of Gibsonia, Pa., and Joseph Salardino of Denver, Colo.

The committee is attempting to show that hoodlums have muscled into the lucrative jukebox-coin machine industry, often in connivance with corrupt union officials.

The four witnesses, who said they might incriminate themselves if they answered questions, were described by Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy as racketeers with long criminal records.

A fifth witness, Raymond Patriarca, Providence, R.I., rattled off answers to all questions. He acknowledged being a partner in a cigaret vending machine business in Providence.

Zito and Genovese both refused to tell whether they had attended a meeting at Apalachin, N.Y., which police raiders called a criminal convention.

Genovese refused, among other things, to talk about whether he had been involved in gun-running to Cuba during the Castro revolt.

Thee Italian-born Zito, 66, who spoke broken English, got into a hassle for saying he "refused" to answer questions.

Chairman John McClellan (D., Ark.) called Zito's replies disrespectful and ordered him to say "decline" instead, but Zito said he couldn't pronounce it.

"You'll have to excuse me," he said. "I recline (sic) to answer . . . I refuse to recline to answer." And he pronounced it "recline" from there on.

Zito refused to tell anything about his dealing with two labor unionists, Joseph Glimco of Teamsters Local 555 in Chicago, and Fred Tom Smith, also known as Juke Box Smitty, of Chicago Local 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Kennedy produced documents which, he said, showed that Glimco and Smith had financial interests in a juke box-coin machine firm known as the Automatic Phonograph Machine Co. of Illinois.

He also produced a copy of a letter from Zito dated in 1948 to a "Dear Mike" of the A.M.I. Phonographs, Chicago, stating that "we have received our charter for a union" and asking for copies of the bylaws and contracts used by Mike.

Kennedy said Mike is Michael Spagnola of Chicago.

Israel Accepts Reid as Envoy

The New York Times Service

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector —Israel has accepted Ogden R. Reid, former president and editor of The New York Herald Tribune, as the next U.S. ambassador to Israel.

The State Department, following diplomatic procedure, submitted Reid's name to the Israel government for agreement. Reid's appointment still must be approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Transport Union Threatens Tieup

Strike Voted at PAA; Could Come March 1

37½ Hour Week Is Main Issue

Company Cites Cooling-Off Law

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

The Transport Workers Union announced Wednesday some 7,000 employes of Pan American World Airways have authorized a systemwide strike "on or before" March 1, threatening Miami's tourist economy with a second major airline shutdown.

The union, however, did not say whether or when a strike would be called, and the airline held out hope of the possibility of a fact-finding board being appointed by President Eisenhower in a last-minute effort to reach agreement.

Pan American flies some 2,000 passengers a day in and out of Miami, and a shutdown of the huge airline would be a severe jolt to Greater Miami's tourist season economy, still recovering from a 38-day Eastern Air Lines strike in November and December.

A strike would put some 8,000 Pan American maintenance workers, ground service employes, stewards and stewardesses out of work—about 3,000 of them based in Miami and another 1,000 at the crucial Cape Canaveral Missile Test Center.

Pan American would not say whether it would close down operations all over its ocean-spanning system in the event of a TWU strike, but a union spokesman here said, "They would have to halt operations. They couldn't fly safely without us."

The airline, which has some 150 planes that fly routes over the Atlantic, Pacific and to Latin America, warned that any strike before March 1 would violate the 30-day cooling-off period provided by the Railway Labor Act.

The 30-day period began Jan. 31, when mediation between the TWU and PAA ended without a settlement over issues of a new contract. The old TWU contract with Pan American ended Dec. 1.

The union in Miami said, however, that if Pan American violates the "status quo" of working conditions and wages before the 30-day period is up, the union can disregard the cooling-off regulation.

The TWU announced in New York that some 7,000 maintenance workers and port stewards had voted four-to-one in favor of a strike. A mail vote among an additional 1,000 flight stewards and stewardesses has not been completed, the union said.

The union said about 90 per cent of eligible workers voted in 11 U.S. cities and at San Juan, Puerto Rico, Honolulu and Wake Island.

They rejected Pan American's offer of a 25-cent-an-hour wage hike over a two-year period, the union said, and voted to authorize the strike. The union negotiating committee recommended the action after collapse of mediation talks in New York.

Central issue in the dispute is the union's demand for a decrease in hours from 40 to 37½ a week, as well as a wage increase. The TWU said it wanted the reduction in working hours — so far not agreed to by the airline — to protect maintenance jobs threatened by the lower maintenance requirements of jet airliners.

The airline said its 40-hour week was "standard throughout the industry," and that its wage increase offer was "on a par with other airlines."

The union said, however, "it isn't enough."

If the union decides to call a strike, the only way to stall it beyond the 30-day cooling-off period would be for the President to appoint a fact-finding board, holding up a strike until the board can make a study and recommendations for a settlement.

A Miami TWU spokesman, however, said he considered this "highly unlikely."

Walkout Won't Halt Testings

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

CAPE CANAVERAL — If 1,500 members of the Transport Workers Union walk off their jobs here March 1, vital missile testing won't stop — unless the strike drags on for weeks.

Pan American World Airways, their employer, has a standby setup — used in other strikes — under which supervisors do essential work and keep the missiles firing.

Officials of PAA, which runs Cape Canaveral and the Atlantic Missile Range for the Air Force, estimate missile testing can go on for "several weeks" without the TWU.

Past TWU-PAA strikes have averaged about two days.

The emergency setup can also fill in for members of other unions who observe strikers' picket lines, the officials said.

Local officials of PAA could not be reached for comment Wednesday night but Richard Mitchell, the firm's local vice president has said many times that PAA's emergency setup can run the Cape and the Range for "several weeks."

Mitchell pointed out that last summer, when the 1,500 TWU members walked off for 10 days in a dispute about working conditions, no missile firings were delayed.

Maintenance work fell behind but PAA supervisors delivered missile fuel, ran trucks and other machines, and handled all the vital jobs.

—Quote (Charles V. Mathis)

Mr. Nixon, Find My Boy Friend . . .

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. —(AP)— Like so many of those summer friendships, this one seemed to have fizzled. The boy didn't write — until, that is, the girl located him by writing to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The principals, each 12, are Lynne Smith, Trenton, N.J., and Cort Kloke, 12, eighth-grader at South Pasadena Junior High.

They met last summer while attending Winnewald, a New Jersey farm camp.

Cort let it be known that he knew the vice president.

His mother, Mrs. Eloise Kloke, was on duty in Washington with the President's Committee on Government Contracts, of which Nixon is chairman.

Instead of returning to the capital at summer's end, Cort came here. His mother had been appointed West Coast regional director of the contracts committee.

Recently the vice president received this note:

"Mr. Nixon: I am a person who believes in getting right to the point. First of all I have a boy friend I met at day camp. His name is Cort Kloke (you know him). He didn't write to me when he had promised to.

"Could you send me the address of Mrs. Kloke's section where she works?

"Sincerely,
Miss Lynne Smith
413 Saxican Dr.
Trenton, N.J."

The vice president's staff forwarded the note to Mrs. Kloke here. Marilyn Matthews of the staff wrote, "I thought you'd know better than I how to handle it."

Mrs. Kloke says she decided Cort must have elaborated on the one-handshake meeting he had with her boss. She suggested Cort write to Lynne.

"Things kept getting in the way," he explained Wednesday between practice sessions with his basketball outside their home.

His letter to Lynne has not been disclosed. He got an airmailed reply Tuesday. It included Lynne's photograph, inscribed:

"To Cort—with all my luck."

All but EAL In Terminal By Friday

All but one of Miami's major domestic and international airlines will be doing business Friday from the new 20th Street Terminal.

Three of the "Big Four"—Pan American, National and Delta — will be handling all their arrivals and departures from the new 26-million dollar International Terminal, along with a multitude of domestic and Latin American carriers.

Only Eastern Air Lines, which operates its own terminal on 36th St. and has no international flights from Miami, will be absent when the new building opens. Eastern has said its recent strike shutdown "set it back several weeks" and it will move "within about two weeks."

Blast Kills 5 French Miners

METZ, France — (UPI) — A fire damp explosion killed five miners in a coal mine in eastern France where 11 miners lost their lives last November.

The accident happened in the St. Charles Mine in Petite Rossell Coal basin near the Saar border.

No Traces Found of 2 Trawlers

HALIFAX, N.S. — (UPI) — A Russian fishing vessel gave searchers shortlived hope Wednesday that they had found one of two trawlers that disappeared with 48 men aboard in the midst of the winter's worst weather in the iceberg-studded North Atlantic.

A U.S. Navy plane reported sighting an overturned trawler about 60 miles from the point where the Icelandic trawler Judi radioed an SOS last Saturday that it was threatened with capsizing by a top-heavy load of ice and towering seas.

The Coast Guard cutter Castle Rock veered immediately toward the position of the sighting and reported that the "overturned trawler" is a Russian fishing vessel and was not in trouble.

A Newfoundland fishing boat, The Blue Wave, with 17 men aboard, also was missing in the same general area of the North Atlantic, south of the spot where a Danish passenger-cargo ship hit an iceberg and disappeared with 95 persons aboard 12 days ago.

Two other vessels also reported trouble from the bitter cold, freezing spray and gale-force winds that churned up mountainous waves.

Good Ol' Winter Time

55 Uninjured As Plane Sinks

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — (AP) — An Argentine passenger seaplane carrying 55 persons hit an object in the harbor here Wednesday and sank in six minutes. All 49 passengers and the crew of six were saved. No injuries were reported.

Nearby boats picked up the 55, including some passengers who had jumped from the plane into the water.

The four-engine Aerolineas Argentinas plane was coming in from Buenos Aires.

How Tourists Look at Us After Last Year

We're Cheaper, More Courteous--and Warmer

By LUCIA LEWIS

What's Florida like this year in the eyes of a tourist?

Lucia Lewis, travel editor of The Chicago Daily News, spent several days in the South Florida area and found things considerably different from last year. Here are her impressions.

There will be no more winter. Not here, anyway.

This is the kind of weather Florida brags about — and cried for last winter.

LUCIA

It's clear and sunny, temperatures range from 75 to 80, the breeze from the ocean is just right — refreshing but so balmy that you don't need a wrap even at night, unless you simply must show off that mink.

The area is swinging into its peak season now and prices will be at their highest in February and March. But Miami Beach is in a chastened mood and this looks like "Be Gentle to Tourists" year.

Last year's miserable weather which weaned many habitues to other areas, the airline strikes of early winter, new developments in other states and the Caribbean islands, all have taught that you can't shear a sheep too close.

In short, you get excellent value in room rates, with some attractive gimmicks added.

Many hotels are swinging to the "modified American" plan which includes breakfast and dinner with your rate. For two in a room, the really posh glitter places get $16 to $22 a day a person, varying with location of the room.

If you don't want to be a captive diner and eat in one place all the time, the rates range from around $14 to $18 or $20 per person. So it almost pays to take the modified American plan even if you eat elsewhere occasionally.

A third person in the room gets in for around $8 a day European or $10 a day with meals. Many places have half rates for children.

Now if you think this leaves you not knowing where your third meal is coming from you would be calorie-wise not to look for it. A reasonably late breakfast is a banquet in these parts that sees you cosily up to dinner time.

Get-acquainted cocktail parties, the elimination of irritating extras like charges for cushioned mats to keep you from getting corrugations while sunning on a chaise lounge, no required minimum at night clubs, lots of free entertainment, more parking lots at low rates so you don't pay a doorman every time, and many more courtesies generally make the Beach a lot more pleasant than it was in the dizzy and sky-high season of 1957.

The rates are not peanuts, of course, but there are hundreds of lower priced hotels, resorts and apartments all over town.

Swollen Rivers Pounding Levees in Indiana and Ohio

Associated Press Wirephoto

Main St. in Findlay, Ohio, Is Awash With Blanchard River Flood Waters

. . . it takes seven miles of driving to reach dry spot five blocks down street

Storm's Sweeping Eastward

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (UPI) — Flood crests spawned by the second mammoth storm of the winter pounded against levees and kept more than 3,000 persons from their homes in Indiana and Ohio Wednesday.

The storm, which hit the mid-continent with a deadly combination of floods, tornadoes, blizzards and ice, had moved off to the East, giving way to numbing cold.

It left a heavy legacy of death, including 22 persons who perished in a tornado which swept St. Louis as it slept Tuesday. There were also three weather-blamed deaths each in Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin, two each in Arizona and Indiana, and one each in Iowa, New York state and Pennsylvania, for a total of 41.

Temperatures slid to 26 degrees below zero at International Falls, Minn., and were well below zero from Montana and Wisconsin into Nebraska. Wisconsin dug out of a paralyzing 10-inch blizzard, while Chicago continued a week-long battle against ice which slicked the city's sidewalks and caused more than 1,600 injuries.

Thousands of school children continued to enjoy vacations through the frozen storm belt.

Major flood threats arose on Indiana's Wabash River and the swollen Sandusky River in Ohio. More flood dangers, however, built up in Michigan and Illinois.

In Indiana, the Wabash was at its highest point in 46 years. The crest moved slowly across north central Hoosierland, forcing 400 families — roughly 1,600 persons — to flee their homes.

At Logansport, Ind., the next city in the crest's path, five families were evacuated, portions of the business district were flooded, and Civil Defense crews worked around the clock to strengthen the levees.

Many Logansport homes were without heat and the city's schools were closed. Georgetown, eight miles downstream from Logansport, was cut off from the outside world. Sixty residents were evacuated.

The river also was going down at Wabash after hitting its greatest crest since 1913. Thirty-five persons were given overnight shelter, but the flood waters even invaded a Red Cross evacuation center set up in the city's armory.

The crest was not expected to hit West Terre Haute until Saturday, but residents already were asking Gov. Harold Handley for emergency shipments of 40,000 sandbags to repair a damaged levee. Throughout the state, evacuations were reported in at last 10 counties.

In Ohio, fighting its second major flood in less than a month, an ice jam was dynamited to take pressure off the beleaguered city of Fremont.

German Advisers At Talks?

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Western powers will recommend to Russia that East and West Germany be permitted to send advisers to the proposed Big Four conference on Berlin and Germany, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

The plan to give Communist East Germany and free West Germany advisory roles will be spelled out in an Allied note expected to be sent to Moscow next week. As of now, the note does not say whether the German representatives actually would sit at the conference table.

Diplomatic informants said the idea would be for the West Germans to advise the British, French and U.S. delegations. Similarly, the East Germans would be present for consultations with Russian officials.

The Allied proposal was disclosed as Mayor Willy Brandt of West Germany reported that President Eisenhower had assured him the U.S. "will defend the people of Free Berlin against any effort to destroy their freedom."

Brandt said after a meeting with the President that Eisenhower told him no Communist threat could push the U.S. out of Berlin or block it from carrying out its responsibilities to the people there.

The Allies will reject the Soviet call for a treaty that would isolate and neutralize Germany, perhaps putting the country under a U.N. protectorate. They contend this would only perpetuate division of Germany.

Instead, they will suggest a foreign ministers conference sometime this spring to discuss the Berlin problem within the framework of the overall issue of German unity and European security. It will be left to Russia to suggest a specific date for the meeting.

Kennedy Gets Applause

Co-ops Cool as Ike Slaps at Subsidies

By WILLIAM M. BLAIR

The New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower carried his "live within your means" fight into the camp of an enemy Wednesday.

He told the country's rural electric cooperatives their achievements could be torpedoed and the free enterprise system destroyed by continued reliance upon federal subsidies they and other groups now receive.

The President was followed to the same platform by a Democratic presidential hopeful, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. He said the administration lacked the leadership that developed the federal rural electrification program.

By contrast with the reception accorded Sen. Kennedy at the annual meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, the President got a cool one. However, nearly 8,000 persons heard the President, while only about 6,000 were there for Kennedy.

Eisenhower received four bursts of applause: One when he entered as the U.S. Marine Band played "Hail to the Chief," one when he was introduced and another as he finished.

He also won a light burst near the end of his 10-minute speech when he told the co-ops he liked to think their program, "which lighted the farm homes of America, will also help to illuminate the path to sound finance, good government and responsible leadership."

Kennedy was interrupted seven times by applause. He pledged Congress "would not go back on our word" in raising interest rates on federal loans to co-ops, the key issue between the administration and the Democrats controlling Congress.

Kennedy asserted that the administration had followed "one consistant theme: Slow down, hold back, stretch out.

"It is not a battle between the 'spenders' and the 'savers' for REA is a form of saving — saving hours and lives on the farm, saving farms for our nation's needs, and saving and returning to the government every dollar it loans with interest."

Delegates to the meeting were expected to adopt today a resolution condemning the administration's proposal to raise interest rates charged by the REA and urge electric co-ops to get part of their financing from private sources.

The resolution asserts that the administration's proposals would "send the rural electric systems to Wall Street bankers." Another resolution calls for legislation to restore the independence of the REA administrator in the Department of Agriculture and free him from "veto" power by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson on big loans.

Bingo Bill Advances

DENVER — (AP) — The Colorado House of Representatives gave its final approval Wednesday to a bill legalizing bingo and raffles as a veteran legislator called for wide open gambling in the state.

The House action came by a 60-0 vote without debate.

The measure, which permits fraternal, charitable and religious institutions to conduct bingo and raffles, now goes to the Senate for approval. A constitutional amendment for bingo was ratified by Colorado voters Nov. 4.

Attorney Flies to Nye's Aid

A Chicago attorney flew through Miami Wednesday, bound for Cuba to plan the defense of Alan Robert Nye, a Coral Gables flier accused of conspiring to assassinate Fidel Castro.

While the lawyer, Joseph Sullivan, was en route to Havana where Nye is held, a top-ranking Cuban patriot leader said the former Navy pilot's ultimate punishment probably will amount to "being kicked out of Cuba."

Nye, according to the Castro government, has confessed a plot to kill the revolutionary leader for $100,000. Nye has denied the confession, but the rebels say they have tape recordings of the admission, and of his conversation with a U.S. embassy official who advised him to deny the confession and change his story.

Sullivan would not say whether he had been retained by Nye's mother. He said he will meet with government leaders and the prisoner and "decide then how long I will stay and what should be done."

Sullivan, who makes his home at Whiting, Ind., near Chicago, said he is a friend of Nye's mother, Mrs. Daniel Lynch, who sent a personal letter to Fidel Castro seeking mercy for her son.

The "reprieve" from earlier rebel declarations that Nye would be executed for his part in the conspiracy came from Commandante Ernest (Che) Guerva, who led the revolutionary forces in Las Villas province.

Since issuing a parade of conflicting stories and statements, Nye has refused to see newsmen. Guerva said Wednesday that no one will be permitted to see Nye before his trial, except his attorney, his family and officials of the U.S. embassy.

U.S. Loses Bridge Lead To Italians

NEW YORK — (AP) — Italy, defending champions in the 1959 World Contract Bridge Tournament, overwhelmed the American team Wednesday to win a smashing 41-to-7 international match point (I.M.P.) victory.

With the win, the Italians again took over the lead in the individual team play tournament. One I.M.P. equals an average of 100 regular points.

At the end of 84 hands in the 156 - hand championship tournament, Italy leads the U.S. by an I.M.P. score of 122 to 110.

At the start of paly Wednesday, the U.S. held a commanding lead over Italy with an I.M.P. score of 103 to 81.

The American team achieved this lead by two impressive victories — one over Italy, the other over Argentina, the Latin American Champions.

But Wednesday the Italians displayed the quality of bridge that brought them two previous world championships, and America's lead quickly disappeared.

This was the fifth day of play in the tournament. To win, a team must have outscored both its opponents at the end of the 156 hands.

Representing the U.S. is Sam Fry Jr., Harry Fishbein, Leonard Harmon and Lee Haze, all of New York; Sidney Lazard of New Orleans, and Ivar Stakgold, of Washington. Charles Solomon, of Philadelphia, is the non-playing American captain.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

BELL

EVERY DAY I learn something. Now I know why people give me a dirty sneering laugh when I say: "No, I can't get your traffic violation voided. It can't be done." Evidently they knew better.

For all at once we hear of 1,800 voided traffic tickets by Metro judges since they started work last March.

I was in Municipal Court Wednesday morning, listening to the craziest trial of the semester. A filling station operator thought a man stole a used tire. After about 30 minutes of wasted questioning the man admitted the tire wasn't worth anything anyway.

"It had a hole in it," he explained.

Asked Judge Francis Sobieski: "Would it have worked if copies of The Herald, which told about me fixing traffic tickets while I was in the hospital, were placed over the hole?"

'Twas an ambiguous attempt at sarcasm which nobody understood; and nobody laughed except a few court attaches who are duty-bound. But for the record, The Herald never used such a story, but did tell of Judge Sobieski's wife's traffic ticket being voided by a Metro judge.

* * *

Ticket Voiding

One Metro judge was quoted as saying he wishes he didn't have the power to void tickets. But County Attorney Darrey Davis says he hasn't, that "nobody has." But State Attorney Dick Gerstein says his office has such power.

Who's confuseder than whom?

Metro is asking how to get a void-proof law. It's simple, as they do it in City of Miami. The traffic officer must account to three departments for every ticket in his book. Once he writes it he cannot void it. Nor can the chief of police, the state attorney, or anybody else.

It must go through Municipal Court and a record made of its disposition. The chief can recommend that a trial be delayed, if a quick trial would be an obvious hardship. He can stand good for appearance bond. He can point out to the city attorney that a mistake has been made. And the attorney in turn can point out this error to the judge. But the judge's decision — and only his — is final.

I happen to be a critic of our state law which takes a man's license for three moving violations within a 12-month period. It should be easier on minor offenses, tougher on recklessness. But that doesn't excuse wholesale voiding. In fact, nothing does.

He's Still Spry

Jim McMartin of Miami Shores golf club is 74. He met me as I came off the ninth green with a bit of cheerful information relative to the facts of life on the links. "I played 36 holes Sunday and 27 yesterday," he said pridefully. "I wanted to go 36 yesterday but the young fellows conked out on me." The boys in the clubhouse told me Jim shot 81-79 to win the seniors tournament.

National Summary

Snow occurred Wednesday morning over the northern and inter-mountain region while rain fell over California with scattered thunderstorms and some hail.

Moderate to heavy amounts of rain were observed over southern half of California.

Except for showers in the Gulf regions and snow flurries near the lee shores of the Great Lakes in portions of Pennsylvania and New York State, fair skies are expected over most of the region from the plains into the east.

A warming trend from the Rockies across the upper Midwest should spread across the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys while in the cold pattern over the east, temperatures are likely to dip to 15 to 20 below zero overnight in upper New England.

Moderate to heavy showers expected over southern California are likely to spread into Arizona while moderate snows spreading over Nevada are expected to contribute locally heavy accumulations in portions of Utah.

A pattern of partly cloudy skies in the Pacific Northwest is expected to give way to rains in Washington State with snow reaching the Rocky Mountains from Montana into New Mexico.

Utility Board Again Fails On Unanimous Budget OK

ONLY FAIR, remarks Gov. LeRoy Collins as he pays a $2 award to Mrs. Katie May Youmans of Tampa at the Florida State Fair in Tampa Tuesday. Mrs. Youmans shows the governor the certificate she won at the 1908 fair, stating she was entitled to the two dollars as a prize in a grammar school composition contest.

Where Do Lines Go?

Joint Antenna Plan Hits Snag

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES — The proposed community TV antenna for Naples ran hard aground Wednesday on an objection from Mayor Pro Tem Archie Turner.

A letter from Frank B. Watson, Fort Myers attorney, representing Vumore Corp., of Oklahoma City, brought a suggestion the city issue a permit conditioned on the firm erecting its service lines on utility poles of the Florida Power and Light Co.

"I take exception," said Turner, "to forcing the utility company to let them use its poles."

Arnie Haynes said the FP&L "doesn't want to fool with it, but if the council wants, it will go along. A. E. Canant, (the FP&L Naples manager), doesn't want to create a hazard for the linemen going up and down the poles."

The company had suggested monitoring Miami TV channels and micro-waving the programs across the state to towers at Immokalee, Fort Myers, and Naples.

"They can't get into Fort Myers so they want to get Naples," said Turner, speaking of Vumore.

"There's more in this than meets the eye," said Haynes, manager of the only theater in Naples. "They want to get into Naples, then when all the antennas are down, or falling down, they'll raise the rates. They'll put on the World Series and raise rates."

"They can't do that," protested Dave Pfaff of Radio Station WNOG. "The Federal Communications Commission won't let them."

"They said $3.50 to $7.50 a month," said Turner, "but there's nothing that says they won't say $15 a month."

"They won't serve all the people," added Haynes. "Just the ones they can economically reach."

The question was tabled.

Anglers On Bridges Criticized

KEY WEST — If County Commissioner Clarence Higgs has his way anglers who clutter up bridges along the Overseas Highway and endanger their lives are going to be removed.

Higgs told the Commission Tuesday night that fishermen were angling from the bridge railings instead of using the catwalks designed for that purpose. He asked that something be done about it.

Sheriff John Spottswood said officers have no authority to handle the situation since there are no laws forbidding the practice.

He said something may come out of the next session of the Legislature.

Chairman Gerald Saunders suggested that deputies and highway patrolmen ask fishermen to practice their sport away from the narrow ledges bordering the many bridges along the highway.

But Higgs pushed through a motion to contact the State Road Department for sterner measures which may be taken immediately against the bridge angling offenders.

Scroll Given Manager Of Naples

Herald Bureau

NAPLES — A testimonal scroll, honoring Fred M. Lowdermilk on completion of his 10th year at city manager, was presented to him at a Council meeting Wednesday.

The mayor was visibly moved by the surprise presentation.

Mayor pro tem Archie Turner made the award drawn up by Mrs. Betty McLenon, deputy city clerk, and signed by all city employees.

Lowdermilk tanked the employes and councilmen who had made possible his successful term and reminded them "There's still work to be done."

"I had a Model A hunting truck I used for six months when I first came," Lowdermilk recalled. "It took that long before the city could get a car in the budget, and then it was a used car."

The anniversary was brought to Council attention by Dr. Francis Ford, who urged all to read "the fine article in The Miami Herald on Fred." Ford also read an editorial from the Collier County News of January, 1949, complimenting the city on obtaining Lowdermilk's services.

Final Decision Due On Merger

NAPLES — The final decision on merger of the Men's and Women's Republican Clubs will be made at a woman's group meeting tonight at GOP headquarters.

The merger was approved Monday by the men, and is intended to strengthen party organization in Naples and Collier County.

The party maintains headquarters at Crayton Cove.

Feuding Officials Have Brief Truce

NAPLES—Cooperation between the sometimes-feuding Dr. Francis Ford city councilman and Fred Lowdermilk city manager was nipped in the bud here Wednesday by Archie Turner, mayor pro tem.

Lowdermilk couldn't find his glasses to read some correspondence and Dr. Ford proffered his own spectacles. The manager donned them and began reading when Turner interjected:

"Who says they don't see eye to eye?"

Lowdermilk quickly doffed the specs and began to read unaided.

"You shouldn't have said that," remonstrated Dr. Ford. "Then he wouldn't have taken them off."

"I can still hold it far enough away to read," Lowdermilk protested, and went on without glasses.

Marathon Airstrip Deed Filed

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — Title to the Marathon airstrip has been turned over to the county by the State Road Department, County Attorney Paul Sawyer reported to the Monroe County Commission.

The deed transfer climaxes months of negotiations to bring the air facility, located along U.S. 1 on Vaca Key, under county jurisdiction.

Sawyer told the commission at its Tuesday night meeting the deed was clear of any restrictions, except those affecting use of the field in case of national emergency.

The commission voted to record the deed and authorized Harold Wilde, county airport consultant, to open negotiations with the Civil Aeronautics Administration for clearance of certain interests in the field, still held by the federal government.

Once that is taken care of, Wilde said, the county will be able to procede with any plans it has for the airstrip in Marathon.

The County Commission also:

APPROVED a motion of Clarence Higgs that telegrams be sent to the Florida Congressional delegation urging approval of a bill to build 500 units in Key West under the Capehart housing law.

REFERRED to the road committee a request from the SRD to use up to $10,500 from county secondary road funds for an aerial photographic survey of Monroe County.

AUTHORIZED the SRD to grant contracts on three county construction projects. South Roosevelt Blvd. improvement near the Naval Hospital to Powell Bros. for $216,528; Fifth St. on Stock Island to Charley Toppino & Sons, Inc., for $83,662; and a swing span job on the Seven-Mile bridge to Florida Keys Builders for $87,145.

School Show Will Open On Friday

UPPER KEYS — "Around the World in a Daze," the annual Coral Shores School Sketch Book, will have two performances, on Friday and Saturday. Curtain time is 8:08 p.m.

Billed as an "hilarious" musical comedy, this variety show features a cast of 100, from first graders to adults.

The story concerns a prize of a trip around the world and scenes are laid in Paris, Egypt, Germany, Japan and the Smokey Mountains.

Highlights include a "sultan's harem," where the "girls" are businessmen of the area, a hillbilly number, in which members of the PTA are featured, and specialty numbers.

It is directed by Irene Jones of Empire Productions. Pianist is Genevieve Kerrick, and makeup is by Jessie Wightman.

Proceeds will go for uniforms and equipment for the school band. Tickets may be purchased at the door or from student salesmen.

'Operational Survival'

Wanted: A Plan for Collier To Handle 75,000 Refugees

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES — Planning to meet a disaster unequalled in American history — enemy attack in which most Florida cities may become targets and 70 per cent of the state's resources are destroyed — is sought in a "basic operational survival plan" for Collier County.

The plan presented for Collier County Commission study attempts to set up ways of meeting a disaster in which 75,000 refugees from Miami, plus 5,000 casualties and 1,111 patients from Dade hospitals, will have to be received in a county with an estimated 14,000 population.

Part of the answer is to have 35,000 refugees "move north to establish shelter areas within the boundaries of Lee and Charlotte counties." Nevertheless, the report admits "assimilation of five times the county's normal population will require a number of days."

* * *

Complicating the problem is the fact the eastern half of the county over which the refugees would arrive has only one highway, the Tamiami Trail, from which the county's other main highway shoots off at Carnestown heading north to Immokalee and on into Hendry County.

Also, although it is assumed prevailing winds will protect the county against atomic fallout, should the radiation danger seem to be heading this way it is intended to evacuate the 14,000 local residents as well.

To meet such fantastic problems some stringest rules are required. They include conscription of manpower, regulation of all food and clothing stocks outside private homes, and care and feeding the thousands of refugees.

* * *

Taking up this heavy burden will be an overall government — the Civil Defense Council—including the County Commission, school superintendent and the mayors of Naples and Everglades.

The unit basic to civil defense will be the block warden with his assistant, eight to 15 wardens and two messengers with lightly populated areas to be consolidated into one unit for several blocks.

Further details are spelled out in the 32 pages and six maps of the basic plan which will be augmented by 11 other annexes covering health, intelligence, public affairs, rescue, wardens, welfare, radiological defense, government continuity, manpower, religious affairs and training.

Detailed planning has advanced to the point of providing portable emergency hospitals "now on order" for use at Lake Park School here and proposing transfer of 60 per cent of the Community Hospital staff to man the emergency units.

* * *

Other details, including specifications for feeding refugees, remain to be worked out in many cases although the plan spells out details of transportation control.

These details include draining and storage of gas and oil from private vehicles for civil use as well as collection of batteries and spark plugs.

"Conversion of water transport to steam, utilizing wood as fuel, and of such transport as may be feasible," the report decides, "will be given high priority."

The plan will be gone over at a meeting of the Civil Defense Council and county officials to be announced.

Highway Not 4-Lane, Say Police

MARATHON — Automobile drivers who believe Key Vaca has a four-lane highway may be in for a traffic citation or worse, a state highway patrolman has warned.

Cpl. George Bennett said motorists who persist in using the parking aprons at the side of U.S. 1 are courting an accident. A number of near-accidents have been reported.

What appears to be extra lanes is actually a temporary parking and distress area. White lanes, however, have been marked off by the State Road Department, to make the road appear multi-laned.

Highway patrolmen are seeking suggestions from residents as to how the distress area can be clearly marked as to its real purpose.

Several have complained to patrolmen about drivers who use the parking area as a second lane, or for passing other vehicles. A solid white line denotes the beginning of the parking lane.

Using the distress area as a lane is a violation of the state motor vehicle code.

The disputed area was added to the present main stem of the Keys while repaving several months ago. It was done, Bennett said, to improve the shoulders of the road.

Bank Marks A Birthday

NAPLES — The tenth anniversary of the opening of the Bank of Naples will be observed Saturday.

The bank began operations with a staff of four, capital of $75,000 and deposits of $108,483. Today it has a staff of 22, capital of $499,269 and deposits of $8,042,901.

Saturday's anniversary will be marked by a lobby display of orchids and unusual foliage plants from Caribbean Gardens. Refreshments will be served in the lobby from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

Vero Man Is Jailed

When Vero Beach police arrested him, Verlin Messer, 26, had his sedan loaded to return to his former home at Copperhill, Tenn. In it, police said, were stolen tools valued at $173 and six bags of Indian River citrus fruit from a grove owned by F. B. Woods south of SR 60.

Items Questioned In Heated Session

By HARRY CAICEDO
Key West Bureau Chief

KEY WEST—A second meeting of the utility board Wednesday failed to produce unanimous agreement on legality of an amended 1958-59 budget for the City Electric System, presumed approved in December.

After the meeting, the city members of the board, Mayor Delio Cobo and Commissioner Bill Chappell, sent a telegram to the system's trustee, reiterating disapproval of the budget, and questioning the "validity of expenditures made, or to be made, under proposed amended budget."

A letter from Andrew Rodriguez, controller of the system, read at the meeting, said that "any expenditures contained in the amended budget were those provided for in the original budget, which was in effect before the amended one."

Horace O'Bryant, board chairman, said there seemed to be no question then about validity of expense vouchers approved the day before, and challenged by Chappell.

The validity of the amended budget itself, however, appeared to hinge on Chappell's failure to vote when it came up for approval in December. At that time he "passed" on the vote, because he said he lacked information on the budget.

The budget was considered approved on three "Yes" votes, which Chappell says is short of two-thirds of the board, required under a governing ordinance.

Wednesday Chappell prevented Attorney Ignatius Lester from offering an oral legal opinion on the status of Chappell's "pass" vote. Chappell asked by what authority Lester could offer an opinion, since he is not the regular board attorney.

O'Bryant said the board would obtain a written legal opinion from its attorney, J. Lancelot Lester, who was ill Wednesday.

The wire sent by Cobo and Chappell went to Robert Faltings of the Miami Beach First National Bank. He is trust officer, under a 1955 bond issue, for the City Electric System.

The message read in part that the undersigned, as governing body members of the utility board . . . disapprove, repeat, do not approve the proposed amended budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1958 and ending March 31, 1959."

Objections to this budget are apart from questions raised by Cobo, Chappell, and other city officials concerning the 1959-60 budget, which was passed Wednesday.

Chappell, who spearheaded objections to the budget, termed it "inflated and out of proportion to the expected revenue and community growth." Cobo concurred with his remarks.

"I feel a considerable number of accounts could be reduced and more dollars funneled into retiring the indebtedness to increase the city's equity in the system," Chappell declared.

Chappell wanted to know about $15,000 under "miscellaneous" and $35,000 pegged for overtime, "$10,000 more than asked last year."

Rosam explained the miscellaneous account covers expenditures which do not fall under other titles. Some expenses included he said, are assorted dues, $6,000; meals, $5,000; and Chamber of Commerce membership, $800.

The overtime fund covers payments for work done out of regular hours in cases of breakdowns and emergencies, he said. The increase over last year is justified by the extension of service and an increase in employes, Rosam said.

Under further questioning by Chappell, Rosam said a "normal contingency fund" of $28,000 was to handle expenses not anticipated when the budget is drawn up.

"Isn't that taken care of in the miscellaneous fund?" Chappell asked.

"No sir," Rosam replied.

Chappell also objected to a $2,000 increase in the advertising account and got support from a spectator, T. J. Knowles.

"Advertising is just a waste of money," Knowles said, "anybody who wants to buy electricity has no place else to buy it anyway."

High Rates Charge Out Of Answer

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — The sentence about electric rates in Key West, which sparked a hassle between the City Commission and the utility board, has been withdrawn by its author.

State Attorney Phil O'Connell filed an amended answer in Circuit Court Wednesday to have deleted from his original answer the sentence "The rates for electricity now in effect (in Key West) are among the highest in the U.S."

The statement was contained in O'Connell's answer for the state in the validation of a $2,750,000 municipal improvement revenue certificate bond issue. On the Basis of that declaration, the City Commission called for a public hearing on the City Electric System's 1959-60 operating budget.

During the hearing, held Tuesday and Wednesday, Merville Rosam, manager of the system, and Horace O'Bryant, utility board chairman, declared Key West's power rates compared favorably with others in Florida.

"Mr. O'Connell may call our rates the highest in the U.S., but that doesn't make it so," Rosam said.

O'Connell, of West Palm Beach 15th judicial district state attorney, was assigned to the validation here after this district's state attorney, J. Lancelot Lester, disqualified himself.

Lester is also attorney for the utility board.

City Board Shuffles The Deck

Herald Bureau

NAPLES — Rex Lehman, former city councilman, was reappointed to the council Wednesday to succeed Bill Berry, who resigned to become city attorney.

Berry succeeded Kirby Smith, who has passed an Air Force physical exam for service in Alaska.

In the fast shuffle of resignations and appointments, Berry also resigned as deputy city judge and was succeeded by George E. (Toby) Carroll, a law associate of Harold S. Smith, city judge.

The council, in the absence of Mayor W. Roy Smith, delayed appointment of Lehman to committee posts formerly held by Berry, but seemed in agreement he would replace the ex-councilman.

Lehman served on the council from 1946 to 1950 and has been active in city recreation work. He is a retired landscaper. His wife, Mrs. Elsie Lehman, has been city clerk for many years.

2 Rental Car Agencies Looted

WEST PALM BEACH — Thieves looted two rental car agencies here overnight — one for the second time in less than a week—the Sheriff's Department reported Wednesday.

They broke into the Avis Agency and made off with approximately $181, and the Hertz Agency where they obtained $58, police said. Last Saturday bandits held up two employes of Avis and escaped with about $180, police said.

Spotlighting Sports

JIMMY BURNS

Herald Sports Editor

Herald Sports Editor Jimmy Burns has been at Daytona Beach looking over the new speedway layout. Today's column was written before the tragic death of driver Marshall Teague. Burns left Dayton, en route to Miami, shortly before the fatal accident occurred.

Sports Editor 'Converted.' He's Auto Racing Fan Now

DAYTONA BEACH — After years of shunning auto race thrills, I became an enthusiast in a few scary moments here Tuesday.

Public admission of having become a race fan appeared to be the only way of making Bill France concentrate exclusively on driving, while we were hurtling around his Daytona International Speedway track at 142 m.p.h.

It was an unsolicited indoctrination in speed, as France took me on a tour of the modern $3,000,000 racing plant which is certain to become a popular tourist lure for Florida. The International Speedway with its 31 degree banked two and a half mile track will become the same thing to auto racing as Hialeah is to the turf sport.

FRANCE

"We'll try out the track in a few minutes," Bill confided as he drove his convertible along the outside rim road, circling above the track. It is used for safety and maintenanace and workmen were getting in last licks on the fence as Marshall Teague warmed up his Sumar Special, a speedway type car with a Offenhouser moteor.

Urging us back into his car, France explained, "If Teague blows something we ain't gonna be here.' He drove on around, warning the workmen to take cover behind trucks when Teague warmed up and put his foot down in an all out effort.

Teague, who Monday had attained a speed of 171 m.p.h., fell short in this test. On one lap his speed was announced as 170.068 m.p.h., and his car sounded like an angry hornet.

When Teague went to the pits for a checkup, France, who handles a car as accurately as Cary Middlecoff does a putter, drove down off the rim road.

* * *

This Is It, Fellows

FOR A moment, I hoped Bill would forget the promised ride around the track. Instead he wheeled through a tunnel, leading under the track to the infield, and eased onto the track.

On the straightaway everything seemed fine, although the wind whipped into the rear seat where Grayson and I clutched each other for comfort. Then we hit the first curve and the striped asphalt seemed to be coming into the car.

France turned halfway round and inquired, "How is it fellows — you aren't scared?"

In weak voices we replied, "No," and then we hit the straightaway again and as a repeat trip around the curve loomed, France popped a question at me. "Are you a race fan, now?"

"Yeah," I replied, hoping this would make Bill face the track and keep both hands on the wheel.

When we came off the track to let Teague make another bid for a record, I asked Clive Hansard, the front seat passenger, how fast we'd been going?

"When I quit looking the speedometer needle had hit 140," he replied.

And, believe it or not the wind suction in the rear seat was so great that it pulled an envelope from my side coat pocket onto the front seat.

* * *

Why France Built Speedway

PHYSICAL CONSTRUCTION of the track on 448 acres, near the Volusia Kennel club, was started last April. France exhausted seven years of planning and six different financing plans in getting ready.

"How'd you get the idea for such a track?" Bill was asked.

"I tired of having people tell me they would become race fans, if there was some way of seeing the racing cars all of the time," Bill, whose own stock car driving dates back into the 30s, said.

"You can see every minute of the action here from the five grandstands and bleachers, with seats for 30,000. You have a good view from the infield, where you sit in your own car."

* * *

IN DEVOTING a lifetime to driving cars and later promoting races, France made hundreds of friends. Their co-operation helped make his dream come true. The city leased him the land which includes a mile-long lake and a sports car course. Sixteen hundred persons bought 430,000 shares of stock at a buck each.

HULMAN

A favor rendered Clint Murchison, Texas multi-millionaire was repaid many fold. France approached Murchison about borrowing some machinery. Clint learned Bill was having trouble financially and helped him to get a $500,000 loan.

Don Smith of Pompano gambled in moving the dirt, a tremendous undertaking. Tony Hulman, owner of the Indianapolis Speedway, instead of regarding this track as a rival sent his superintendent, Clarence Cagle, here to help with the opening. Now Daytona will have big-time racing five months of the year.

* * *

Expect 60,000 Feb. 22

The first big program is upcoming Feb. 20-21-22. The 500-mile International Sweepstakes will be held on the latter date, a Sunday, and France thinks 60,000 will attend.

"If we can gross $750,000 a year, we can make a little money," France mused hopefully.

Right now, he's happy over the fact he can meet bills through a $200,000 advance sale of tickets.

Marshall Teague Dies In Daytona Smackup

By Herald Wire Services

DAYTONA BEACH—Veteran race car driver Marshall Teague was killed Wednesday in a spectacular crackup of his Sumar Special which gained him prominence in the 1957 Indianapolis Speedway Classic.

Teague, 37, was thrown through the top of the big Indianapolis-type racer at the west turn of the recently-opened Daytona Beach International Speedway.

Officials said the Sumar Special, the same type car Teague sped to seventh place in the Indianapolis "500" two years ago, flipped end-over-end during a warmup run over the 2½-mile lighting-fast asphalt track.

The Daytona Beach driver was just preparing to set a world enclosed race track record of more than 177 miles-per-hour when the front end of the big car nosed into the surface and somersaulted.

Only two days earlier, Teague set an American record of 171.82 MPH. He said he planned to make some adjustments before trying to break the old world mark of 176.818 MPH set by Tony Bettenhausen in Monza, Italy last June.

The wreck was a tragic opening to the annual NASCAR Speed Weeks which winds up Feb. 19-22 with championship races for modified and regular track models.

The new track had just been completed and replaced the old four-mile beach and road track used in previous years. It was the first fatality here in several years and one of the few in the history of this resort city.

However, Teague, national stock car champion in 1952 and 1954, was not entered in the program which began with time trials Feb. 7. He was practicing for a big-car race scheduled here in April.

Joe Eppman, NASCAR timer, said Teague was only warming up the car which had developed trouble Tuesday when one of the innter-tubes balooned. The car was owned by Chapman Root, wealthy Ormond Beach sportsman.

As Teague came into the first turn the car flipped. Teague, married and father of a 14-year-old daughter, was hurled through the canopy of the machine.

Although no official word as to the cause of the accident was known immediately, observers said it looked as if the vehicle was too heavy in front.

Harland Fengler of Dayton, Ohio, chief stewart of the U.S. Automobile Club, said "it looks like he lost it." In racing slang this means the driver lost control of the car.

Bill France, president of the speedway, said "we think the track is designed for the utmost safety. We can see no more possibility of other fatalities than there would normally be."

Orange Bowl: Huh?

Sooners: Satisfy Us 'In Writing'

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

University of Oklahoma officials Wednesday threw the second punch in their cross-country "newspaper fight" with the Orange Bowl Committee.

Again, the startled OB Committeemen were caught with their guards down.

The Oklahoma regents demanded — in a statement to newspapermen — assurance "in writing" of a satisfactory solution to problems which they say have come up in the Sooners' recent appearances in Orange Bowl games.

Otherwise, proclaimed the regents, Oklahoma's football team will not play in the Orange Bowl following the 1960 season or any other time.

Stephen A. Lynch Jr., new Orange Bowl president, in Boston Wednesday, replied:

"When either the University of Oklahoma or the Big Eight Conference gets in touch with us by the proper method . . . in writing . . . then the Orange Bowl committee will consider their protest on its merits.

"I was unaware," added Lynch, "that any problems existed before the last game (Jan. 1 of this year)."

A white-hot controversy was touched off in the last game when ground-level spectators complained Oklahoma players blocked their view by refusing to sit in the dugout.

Guarantee of a solution of the problems, OU's Regents ruled, most be signed by the Orange Bowl Coroton, a representative of the Big Eight Conference and Sooner Athletic Director Bud Wilkenson.

Fumed Ernie Seiler, OB general manager and vice president:

"We haven't received the first word or line of complaint from Oklahoma or the conference.

"We don't know what they're protesting.

"If Oklahoma has a gripe why don't they let us know about it directly?"

In a Jan. 15 recommendation to his Regents, Dr. George L. Gross, Oklahoma's president, said, "I want to go on record to this board (regents) that our team will not go back to Miami until such time as there is a clear understanding about our behavior on the sidelines."

Dr. Cross added the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at ground level. He also criticized what he termed inflated prices charged Oklahoma fans.

Although the Regents refused Wednesday to list any specific "problem," an OU spokesman reiterated that Oklahoma fans were complaining of high prices and poor hospitality.

Said John R. Willoughby, general manager of Ivanhoe Hotel in swank Bal Harbour where the Sooner players and official family was quartered: "They certainly could have charged them only $16.45 per person daily. And that included three meals from their no complaints with us. We own menu, and tips."

Under the present three-year contract with the Big Eight, Oklahoma would be eligible to return just once more — on Jan. 1, 1961.

The conference has a rule that no member may appear in a post-season game two consecutive years. Thus the second-place team represents the conference when one team wins two years in a row.

Because the recent game was the "silver anniversary" contest, the rule was waived at the request of Orange Bowl officials this year when Oklahoma met and defeated Syracuse, 21-6. The previous New Year's Day, the Sooners had defeated Duke, 48-21.

Actually, the Sooners have no negotiating powers — the OB's contract is with the Big Eight.

Wednesday, one Orange Bowl committeeman said flatly:

"It seems fairly evident Oklahoma doesn't want to come back under any circumstances . . . and is looking for every excuse to get sentiment on its side."

* * *

. . . But the Players Had Wonderful Time

Here's how University of Oklahoma players feel about Miami and their Orange Bowl appearances:

* * *

DICK CORBITT, guard—"The only thing I disliked was the attitude of the fans who didn't like the way we knelt along the sidelines. But they didn't realize we do that every game we play, including the Orange Bowl last year. On the whole, the people were pretty nice to us."

* * *

* * *

MICKEY JOHNSON, center—"The people who ran the bowl treated us fine . . . but I didn't like the gripes some fans put up about us not sitting on the benches in the dugout. That's tradition with us."

* * *

JOE RECTOR, Oklahoma—"It's a thrill just to be able to go. It's sure a lot different from how we live in Oklahoma."

Idun Romps at Hialeah, But First Landing Bows

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

Idun won the $26,975 Columbiana Wednesday, but First Landing, in his Hialeah and 1959 debut, finished second in the Coral Reef purse.

A throng of 19,599 watched Octopus beat First Landing by a good two and three quarter lengths in the afternoon's sixth race. First Landing, juvenile champion of 1958 and winner of 10 of 11 starts, was handled by Jockey Eddie Arcaro.

Idun, champion filly of 1957 and 1958, also was making her '59 debut. But Bill Hartack was luckier than Arcaro as Idun raced the seven-furlong Columbiana in 1:23.1.

Woodlawn, handled by Sammy Boulmetis, finished second with Happy Princess third. Mare's Beau was fourth in the 15-horse field.

Florida-bred Betty Linn took fifth, and then came Wonder Star, Big Effort, Mlle. Dianne, Dandy Blitzen, Indian Maid, Edna Allen, Miss J. G., A Glitter, Paris Picnic and Ramadel.

Jockey Tommy Root, aboard Mare's Beau, claimed foul against Happy Princess, alleging his horse was carried out in the stretch turn. The stewards, after viewing the film, disallowed the claim.

Idun paid $5.30, $3.90 and $3.70. Woodlawn was $19.40 and $9.80, and Happy Princess returned $4.70.

First Landing was not extended in his seven-furlong trek and Arcaro worked him a mile in 1:37.3.

Octopus, hero of the recent Hibiscus, never tarried a step. Octopus raced the distance in 1:22.3, fastest seven-eighths time of the meeting and only three fifths of a second off the track record.

Octopus, well-handled by Steve Brooks, paid $8.10, $2.50 and $2.20. First Landing returned $2.30 and $2.10. Moony was $2.40 to show.

Brooks said, "I figured if we were going to beat First Landing, this was the day. I had a hunch he would not run his first race out."

"We had no excuses in the running," said Arcaro. "I thought the horse ran as well as could be expected after his long layoff. This race should do him a lot of good."

UF's MacBeth Likely to Play

JACKSONVILLE—(UPI)—Only one of the four University of Florida football players ineligible to take part in spring drills because of poor grades is expected to regain his eligibility by fall.

That was the word from Florida Coach Bob Woodruff at a local sportsmen's club dinner Tuesday night.

Woodruff said Fullback Jon MacBeth of Pensacola had the best chance of making the grade because the other players were entering their senior year scholastically.

He said academic standards of students who have been in school six semesters are more strict than on underclassmen. MacBeth will be a junior next fall.

The other players declared ineligible were Fullbacks Sonny Giles of Jacksonville and Clive Yates of Miami and Guard Vic Miranda of Miami.

"I expect MacBeth to be eligible by next fall," Woodruff said. "But the requirements on the other three are going to be harder for them to meet."

Transport Union Threatens Tieup

Strike Voted at PAA; Could Come March 1

37½ Hour Week Is Main Issue

Company Cites Cooling-Off Law

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

The Transport Workers Union announced Wednesday some 7,000 employes of Pan American World Airways have authorized a systemwide strike "on or before" March 1, threatening Miami's tourist economy with a second major airline shutdown.

The union, however, did not say whether or when a strike would be called, and the airline held out hope of the possibility of a fact-finding board being appointed by President Eisenhower in a last-minute effort to reach agreement.

Pan American flies some 2,000 passengers a day in and out of Miami, and a shutdown of the huge airline would be a severe jolt to Greater Miami's tourist season economy, still recovering from a 38-day Eastern Air Lines strike in November and December.

A strike would put some 8,000 Pan American maintenance workers, ground service employes, stewards and stewardesses out of work—about 3,000 of them based in Miami and another 1,000 at the crucial Cape Canaveral Missile Test Center.

Pan American would not say whether it would close down operations all over its ocean-spanning system in the event of a TWU strike, but a union spokesman here said, "They would have to halt operations. They couldn't fly safely without us."

The airline, which has some 150 planes that fly routes over the Atlantic, Pacific and to Latin America, warned that any strike before March 1 would violate the 30-day cooling-off period provided by the Railway Labor Act.

The 30-day period began Jan. 31, when mediation between the TWU and PAA ended without a settlement over issues of a new contract. The old TWU contract with Pan American ended Dec. 1.

The union in Miami said, however, that if Pan American violates the "status quo" of working conditions and wages before the 30-day period is up, the union can disregard the cooling-off regulation.

The TWU announced in New York that some 7,000 maintenance workers and port stewards had voted four-to-one in favor of a strike. A mail vote among an additional 1,000 flight stewards and stewardesses has not been completed, the union said.

The union said about 90 per cent of eligible workers voted in 11 U.S. cities and at San Juan, Puerto Rico, Honolulu and Wake Island.

They rejected Pan American's offer of a 25-cent-an-hour wage hike over a two-year period, the union said, and voted to authorize the strike. The union negotiating committee recommended the action after collapse of mediation talks in New York.

Central issue in the dispute is the union's demand for a decrease in hours from 40 to 37½ a week, as well as a wage increase. The TWU said it wanted the reduction in working hours — so far not agreed to by the airline — to protect maintenance jobs threatened by the lower maintenance requirements of jet airliners.

The airline said its 40-hour week was "standard throughout the industry," and that its wage increase offer was "on a par with other airlines."

The union said, however, "it isn't enough."

If the union decides to call a strike, the only way to stall it beyond the 30-day cooling-off period would be for the President to appoint a fact-finding board, holding up a strike until the board can make a study and recommendations for a settlement.

A Miami TWU spokesman, however, said he considered this "highly unlikely."

Cuban Bishop: 'I Didn't Say To Kill Them'

By JIM BISHOP
Herald Columnist

HAVANA, Cuba—The sun came straight down on the little square like a hot lid. It stilled the deep green leaves of the umbrella trees and the palms drooped with their arms at their sides.

They shouted in the heat and ran bases and each side had seven outfielders. Behind them stood the old Iglesia de Cerra. This is the Church of the Country. The stone is gray with age. In the dark cool of the doorway, the little man watched and smiled.

Bishop Muller
. . . 'they mix up'

He is Alfredo Monsignor Muller, auxiliary bishop of Havana, the man who was quoted as saying that the execution of the Batista officers "is necessary."

He is 58, almost blond, and speaks confusing English.

He is one of the happiest men I have met. What makes him happy is that he was born in this poor parish, and he has lived to see himself become the bishop of the area.

I introduced myself and he said "Oh, yes" as though he knew the name. This was a courtesy.

He led me up the alley in the sun to his small, simple study. He motioned me to one of the two rockers and asked his secretary to bring us a small Cuban coffee.

It was served in tiny cups with gold rims and it was thick and hot and sweet. He spoke between the kissing sips, the words coming slowly, selectively, with spaces for thinking.

"I deed not say," he said with little jabs of the index finger, "ees necessary. De church Catolica is not for — how you say?—capital crime."

"Capital punishment," I said.

"No, no. Puneeshment is sometimes necessary. Like preeson. You know what ees preeson? Sometimes bad man must go away until he die. Preeson. No libertad. But to keel, to shoot de man, that is against Church Catolica. De reporters from United States, they mix up, they mix up my words" — he pointed to his chest—"you comprehend?"

"Yes," I said. He kept smiling politely. "You think that life imprisonment is sometimes necessary, but not execution."

The smile died. "Empreesonment? What is thees word?"

"Never mind," I said. "I understand. Tell me, is the new government Communist?

The boyish grin came back. "You"—he pointed tentatively at my chest—"should know dat in Cooba Communism never een preponderance. Castro not Communist."

"Batista said he thought you were his friend. Was he a good man?"

The bishop thought about this. "I marry heem maybe twelf year ago. He not vary good man for Cooba. Is not very good Catolica too. Senora Batista, yes. Not him. Castro is better man as him. Mucho."

We finished the tiny coffees.

The old boards creaked underfoot. He led the way out. The boys saw him this time and stopped playing ball.

"De church," he said to me over the sea of brown and black faces, "always pardone. Never keel." He extended his hand. I took it. "When you home," he said softly, "you weel please to do de favor for me to say a prayer for me."

"Sure," I said. "Sure" . . .

Jukebox Tycoons Take 5th

Probers Eye Hood Tieups

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senate racket probers ran into a barrage of Fifth Amendment pleas Wednesday in questioning alleged underworld figures about their tieups with the coin machine business.

The non-talking witnesses were John Vitale of St. Louis, Frank Zito of Springfield, Ill., Mike Genovese of Gibsonia, Pa., and Joseph Salardino of Denver, Colo.

The committee is attempting to show that hoodlums have muscled into the lucrative jukebox-coin machine industry, often in connivance with corrupt union officials.

The four witnesses, who said they might incriminate themselves if they answered questions, were described by Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy as racketeers with long criminal records.

A fifth witness, Raymond Patriarca, Providence, R.I., rattled off answers to all questions. He acknowledged being a partner in a cigaret vending machine business in Providence.

Zito and Genovese both refused to tell whether they had attended a meeting at Apalachin, N.Y., which police raiders called a criminal convention.

Genovese refused, among other things, to talk about whether he had been involved in gun-running to Cuba during the Castro revolt.

Thee Italian-born Zito, 66, who spoke broken English, got into a hassle for saying he "refused" to answer questions.

Chairman John McClellan (D., Ark.) called Zito's replies disrespectful and ordered him to say "decline" instead, but Zito said he couldn't pronounce it.

"You'll have to excuse me," he said, "I recline (sic) to answer . . . I refuse to recline to answer." And he pronounced it "recline" from there on.

Zito refused to tell anything about his dealing with two labor unionists, Joseph Glimco of Teamsters Local 555 in Chicago, and Fred Tom Smith, also known as Juke Box Smitty, of Chicago Local 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Kennedy produced documents which, he said, showed that Glimco and Smith had financial interests in a juke box-coin machine firm known as the Automatic Phonograph Machine Co. of Illinois.

He also produced a copy of a letter from Zito dated in 1948 to a "Dear Mike" of the A.M.I. Phonographs, Chicago, stating that "we have received our charter for a union" and asking for copies of the bylaws and contracts used by Mike.

Kennedy said Mike is Michael Spagnola of Chicago.

No Traces Found of 2 Trawlers

HALIFAX, N.S. — (UPI) — A Russian fishing vessel gave searchers shortlived hope Wednesday that they had found one of two trawlers that disappeared with 48 men aboard in the midst of the winter's worst weather in the iceberg-studded North Atlantic.

A U.S. Navy plane reported sighting an overturned trawler about 60 miles from the point where the Icelandic trawler Judi radioed an SOS last Saturday that it was threatened with capsizing by a top-heavy load of ice and towering seas.

The Coast Guard cutter Castle Rock veered immediately toward the position of the sighting and reported that the "overturned trawler" is a Russian fishing vessel and was not in trouble.

A Newfoundland fishing boat, The Blue Wave, with 17 men aboard, also was missing in the same general area of the North Atlantic, south of the spot where a Danish passenger-cargo ship hit an iceberg and disappeared with 95 persons aboard 12 days ago.

Two other vessels also reported trouble from the bitter cold, freezing spray and gale-force winds that churned up mountainous waves.

55 Uninjured As Plane Sinks

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — (AP) — An Argentine passenger seaplane carrying 55 persons hit an object in the harbor here Wednesday and sank in six minutes. All 49 passengers and the crew of six were saved. No injuries were reported.

Nearby boats picked up the 55, including some passengers who had jumped from the plane into the water.

The four-engine Aerolineas Argentinas plane was coming in from Buenos Aires.

Mr. Nixon, Find My Boy Friend . . .

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. —(AP)— Like so many of those summer friendships, this one seemed to have fizzled. The boy didn't write — until, that is, the girl located him by writing to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The principals, each 12, are Lynne Smith, Trenton, N.J., and Cort Kloke, 12, eighth-grader at South Pasadena Junior High.

They met last summer while attending Winnewald, a New Jersey farm camp.

Cort let it be known that he knew the vice president.

His mother, Mrs. Eloise Kloke, was on duty in Washington with the President's Committee on Government Contracts, of which Nixon is chairman.

Instead of returning to the capital at summer's end, Cort came here. His mother had been appointed West Coast regional director of the contracts committee.

Recently the vice president received this note:

"Mr. Nixon: I am a person who believes in getting right to the point. First of all I have a boy friend I met at day camp. His name is Cort Kloke (you know him). He didn't write to me when he had promised to.

"Could you send me the address of Mrs. Kloke's section where she works?

"Sincerely,
Miss Lynne Smith
413 Saxican Dr.
Trenton, N.J."

The vice president's staff forwarded the note to Mrs. Kloke here. Marilyn Matthews of the staff wrote, "I thought you'd know better than I how to handle it."

Mrs. Kloke says she decided Cort must have elaborated on the one-handshake meeting he had with her boss. She suggested Cort write to Lynne.

"Things kept getting in the way," he explained Wednesday between practice sessions with his basketball outside their home.

His letter to Lynne has not been disclosed. He got an airmailed reply Tuesday. It included Lynne's photograph, inscribed:

"To Cort—with all my luck."

All but EAL In Terminal By Friday

All but one of Miami's major domestic and international airlines will be doing business Friday from the new 20th Street Terminal.

Three of the "Big Four"—Pan American, National and Delta — will be handling all their arrivals and departures from the new 26-million dollar International Terminal, along with a multitude of domestic and Latin American carriers.

Only Eastern Air Lines, which operates its own terminal on 36th St. and has no international flights from Miami, will be absent when the new building opens. Eastern has said its recent strike shutdown "set it back several weeks" and it will move "within about two weeks."

Broward Bars U.S. School Aid

Other Broward News, 18A, 6B, 1C, Broward Section

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — The County School Board turned thumbs down Wednesday on a proposed $15,000 federal aid to education grant.

The money would have been used to supplement science, mathematics and literature equipment.

Board members rejected the offer by a 4-1 vote. Dean Dessenberger cast the dissenting vote, saying he thought action should be deferred until the public had a chance to voice an opinion.

Several educators, including an assistant county superintendent, Dr. Thord Marshall, favored the plan.

Their views were vigorously opposed by Superintendent Raymond Maxwell who referred to "federal control," and told the board: "Don't think accepting federal aid won't change your way of life."

Board Members John Calvin and Mrs. Virginia Young also expressed strong opposition to the proposal.

Calvin maintained that "education is a responsibility of the state," and Mrs. Young contended that "our needs, while critical, can be met on a local level."

Calvin added: "I think we ought to dump the offer. Once the federal government has its toe in the door, we're lost."

Charles Forman, an officer of the County Taxpayers Association, commented:

"There's no such thing as federal aid without strings being attached. You don't get anything free. When the federal government steps in, life, as we know it, ceases to be."

Dessenberger pointed out that if Broward County doesn't accept the money it would go to another county.

"We live under state control every day," he added. "This law excludes federal control. We need the money and should take advantage of this offer."

The board also awarded a $1,214,802 contract for a new Pompano Beach high school to the Ken Smith Construction Co. of Daytona Beach. Work is to start in about two weeks and is to be completed in 11 months.

School planners said the 1,800-capacity building "should be the finest high school in the county."

Smith's bid was the lowest of eight submitted.

How Tourists Look at Us After Last Year

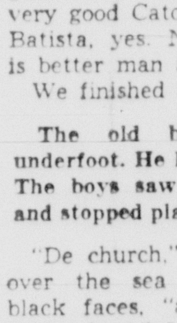
We're Cheaper, More Courteous--and Warmer

By LUCIA LEWIS

What's Florida like this year in the eyes of a tourist?

Lucia Lewis, travel editor of The Chicago Daily News, spent several days in the South Florida area and found things considerably different from last year. Here are her impressions.

There will be no more winter. Not here, anyway.



LUCIA

This is the kind of weather Florida brags about — and cried for last winter.

It's clear and sunny, temperatures range from 75 to 80, the breeze from the ocean is just right — refreshing but so balmy that you don't need a wrap even at night, unless you simply must show off that mink.

The area is swinging into its peak season now and prices will be at their highest in February and March. But Miami Beach is in a chastened mood and this looks like "Be Gentle to Tourists" year.

Last year's miserable weather which weaned many habitues to other areas, the airline strikes of early winter, new developments in other states and the Caribbean islands, all have taught that you can't shear a sheep too close.

In short, you get excellent value in room rates, with some attractive gimmicks added.

Many hotels are swinging to the "modified American" plan which includes breakfast and dinner with your rate. For two in a room, the really posh glitter places get $16 to $22 a day a person, varying with location of the room.

If you don't want to be a captive diner and eat in one place all the time, the rates range from around $14 to $18 or $20 per person. So it almost pays to take the modified American plan even if you eat elsewhere occasionally.

A third person in the room gets in for around $8 a day European or $10 a day with meals. Many places have half rates for children.

Now if you think this leaves you not knowing where your third meal is coming from you would be calorie-wise not to look for it. A reasonably late breakfast is a banquet in these parts that sees you cosily up to dinner time.

Get-acquainted cocktail parties, the elimination of irritating extras like charges for cushioned mats to keep you from getting corrugations while sunning on a chaise lounge, no required minimum at night clubs, lots of free entertainment, more parking lots at low rates so you don't pay a doorman every time, and many more courtesies generally make the Beach a lot more pleasant than it was in the dizzy and sky-high season of 1957.

The rates are not peanuts, of course, but there are hundreds of lower priced hotels, resorts and apartments all over town.

German Advisers At Talks?

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Western powers will recommend to Russia that East and West Germany be permitted to send advisers to the proposed Big Four conference on Berlin and Germany, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

The plan to give Communist East Germany and free West Germany advisory roles will be spelled out in an Allied note expected to be sent to Moscow next week. As of now, the note does not say whether the German representatives actually would sit at the conference table.

Diplomatic informants said the idea would be for the West Germans to advise the British, French and U.S. delegations. Similarly, the East Germans would be present for consultations with Russian officials.

The Allied proposal was disclosed as Mayor Willy Brandt of West Germany reported that President Eisenhower had assured him the U.S. "will defend the people of Free Berlin against any effort to destroy their freedom."

Brandt said after a meeting with the President that Eisenhower told him no Communist threat could push the U.S. out of Berlin or block it from carrying out its responsibilities to the people there.

The Allies will reject the Soviet call for a treaty that would isolate and neutralize Germany, perhaps putting the country under a U.N. protectorate. They contend this would only perpetuate division of Germany.

Instead, they will suggest a foreign ministers conference sometime this spring to discuss the Berlin problem within the framework of the overall issue of German unity and European security. It will be left to Russia to suggest a specific date for the meeting.

Kennedy Gets Applause

Co-ops Cool as Ike Slaps at Subsidies

By WILLIAM M. BLAIR
The New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower carried his "live within your means" fight into the camp of an enemy Wednesday.

He told the country's rural electric cooperatives their achievements could be torpedoed and the free enterprise system destroyed by continued reliance upon federal subsidies they and other groups now receive.

The President was followed to the same platform by a Democratic presidential hopeful, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. He said the administration lacked the leadership that developed the federal rural electrification program.

By contrast with the reception accorded Sen. Kennedy at the annual meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, the President got a cool one. However, nearly 8,000 persons heard the President, while only about 6,000 were there for Kennedy.

Eisenhower received four bursts of applause: One when he entered as the U.S. Marine Band played "Hail to the Chief," one when he was introduced and another as he finished.

He also won a light burst near the end of his 10-minute speech when he told the co-ops he liked to think their program, "which lighted the farm homes of America, will also help to illuminate the path to sound finance, good government and responsible leadership."

Kennedy was interrupted seven times by applause. He pledged Congress "would not go back on our word" in raising interest rates on federal loans to co-ops, the key issue between the administration and the Democrats controlling Congress.

Kennedy asserted that the administration had followed "one consistant theme: Slow down, hold back, stretch out.

"It is not a battle between the 'spenders' and the 'savers' —for REA is a form of saving —saving hours and lives on the farm, saving farms for our nation's needs, and saving and returning to the government every dollar it loans with interest."

Delegates to the meeting were expected to adopt today a resolution condemning the administration's proposal to raise interest rates charged by the REA and urge electric co-ops to get part of their financing from private sources.

The resolution asserts that the administration's proposals would "send the rural electric systems to Wall Street bankers." Another resolution calls for legislation to restore the independence of the REA administrator in the Department of Agriculture and free him from "veto" power by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson on big loans.

Bingo Bill Advances

DENVER —(AP)— The Colorado House of Representatives gave its final approval Wednesday to a bill legalizing bingo and raffles as a veteran legislator called for wide open gambling in the state.

The House action came by a 60-0 vote without debate.

The measure, which permits fraternal, charitable and religious institutions to conduct bingo and raffles, now goes to the Senate for approval. A constitutional amendment for bingo was ratified by Colorado voters Nov. 4.

Attorney Flies to Nye's Aid

A Chicago attorney flew through Miami Wednesday, bound for Cuba to plan the defense of Alan Robert Nye, a Coral Gables flier accused of conspiring to assassinate Fidel Castro.

While the lawyer, Joseph Sullivan, was en route to Havana where Nye is held, a top-ranking Cuban patriot leader said the former Navy pilot's ultimate punishment probably will amount to "being kicked out of Cuba."

Nye, according to the Castro government, has confessed a plot to kill the revolutionary leader for $100,000. Nye has denied the confession, but the rebels say they have tape recordings of the admission, and of his conversation with a U.S. embassy official who advised him to deny the confession and change his story.

Sullivan would not say whether he had been retained by Nye's mother. He said he will meet with government leaders and the prisoner and "decide then how long I will stay and what should be done."

Sullivan, who makes his home at Whiting, Ind., near Chicago, said he is a friend of Nye's mother, Mrs. Daniel Lynch, who sent a personal letter to Fidel Castro seeking mercy for her son.

The "reprieve" from earlier rebel declarations that Nye would be executed for his part in the conspiracy came from Commandante Ernest (Che) Guerva, who led the revolutionary forces in Las Villas province.

Since issuing a parade of conflicting stories and statements, Nye has refused to see newsmen. Guerva said Wednesday that no one will be permitted to see Nye before his trial, except his attorney, his family and officials of the U.S. embassy.

Storm's Sweeping Eastward

COLUMBUS, Ohio —(UPI) — Flood crests spawned by the second mammoth storm of the winter pounded against levees and kept more than 3,000 persons from their homes in Indiana and Ohio Wednesday.

The storm, which hit the mid-continent with a deadly combination of floods, tornadoes, blizzards and ice, had moved off to the East, giving way to numbing cold.

It left a heavy legacy of death, including 22 persons who perished in a tornado which swept St. Louis as it slept Tuesday. There were also three weather-blamed deaths each in Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin, two each in Arizona and Indiana, and one each in Iowa, New York state and Pennsylvania, for a total of 41.

Temperatures slid to 26 degrees below zero at International Falls, Minn., and were well below zero from Montana and Wisconsin into Nebraska. Wisconsin dug out of a paralyzing 10-inch blizzard, while Chicago continued a week-long battle against ice which slicked the city's sidewalks and caused more than 1,600 injuries.

Thousands of school children continued to enjoy vacations through the frozen storm belt.

Major flood threats arose on Indiana's Wabash River and the swollen Sandusky River in Ohio. More flood dangers, however, built up in Michigan and Illinois.

In Indiana, the Wabash was at its highest point in 46 years. The crest moved slowly across north central Hoosierland, forcing 400 families — roughly 1,600 persons — to flee their homes.

At Logansport, Ind., the next city in the crest's path, five families were evacuated, portions of the business district were flooded, and Civil Defense crews worked around the clock to strengthen the levees.

Many Logansport homes were without heat and the city's schools were closed. Georgetown, eight miles downstream from Logansport, was cut off from the outside world. Sixty residents were evacuated.

The river also was going down at Wabash after hitting its greatest crest since 1913. Thirty-five persons were given overnight shelter, but the flood waters even invaded a Red Cross evacuation center set up in the city's armory.

The crest was not expected to hit West Terre Haute until Saturday, but residents already were asking Gov. Harold Handley for emergency shipments of 40,000 sandbags to repair a damaged levee. Throughout the state, evacuations were reported in at last 10 counties.

In Ohio, fighting its second major flood in less than a month, an ice jam was dynamited to take pressure off the beleaguered city of Fremont.

The Sandusky drove 1,500 persons from their homes at Fremont.

U.S. Loses Bridge Lead To Italians

NEW YORK — (AP) — Italy, defending champions in the 1959 World Contract Bridge Tournament, overwhelmed the American team Wednesday to win a smashing 41-to-7 international match point (I.M.P.) victory.

With the win, the Italians again took over the lead in the individual team play tournament. One I.M.P. equals an average of 100 regular points.

At the end of 84 hands in the 156 - hand championship tournament, Italy leads the U.S. by an I.M.P. score of 122 to 110.

At the start of paly Wednesday, the U.S. held a commanding lead over Italy with an I.M.P. score of 103 to 81.

The American team achieved this lead by two impressive victories — one over Italy, the other over Argentina, the Latin American Champions.

But Wednesday the Italians displayed the quality of bridge that brought them two previous world championships, and America's lead quickly disappeared.

This was the fifth day of play in the tournament. To win, a team must have outscored both its opponents at the end of the 156 hands.

Representing the U.S. is Sam Fry Jr., Harry Fishbein, Leonard Harmon and Lee Haze, all of New York; Sidney Lazard of New Orleans, and Ivar Stakgold, of Washington. Charles Solomon, of Philadelphia, is the non-playing American captain.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

EVERY DAY I learn something. Now I know why people give me a dirty sneering laugh when I say: "No, I can't get your traffic violation voided. It can't be done." Evidently they knew better.

BELL

For all at once we hear of 1,800 voided traffic tickets by Metro judges since they started work last March.

I was in Municipal Court Wednesday morning, listening to the craziest trial of the semester. A filling station operator thought a man stole a used tire. After about 30 minutes of wasted questioning the man admitted the tire wasn't worth anything anyway.

"It had a hole in it," he explained.

Asked Judge Francis Sobieski: "Would it have worked if copies of The Herald, which told about me fixing traffic tickets while I was in the hospital, were placed over the hole?"

'Twas an ambiguous attempt at sarcasm which nobody understood; and nobody laughed except a few court attaches who are duty-bound. But for the record, The Herald never used such a story, but did tell of Judge Sobieski's wife's traffic ticket being voided by a Metro judge.

* * *

Ticket Voiding

One Metro judge was quoted as saying he wishes he didn't have the power to void tickets. But County Attorney Darrey Davis says he hasn't, that "nobody has." But State Attorney Dick Gerstein says his office has such power.

Who's confuseder than whom?

Metro is asking how to get a void-proof law. It's simple, as they do it in City of Miami. The traffic officer must account to three departments for every ticket in his book. Once he writes it he cannot void it. Nor can the chief of police, the state attorney, or anybody else.

It must go through Municipal Court and a record made of its disposition. The chief can recommend that a trial be delayed, if a quick trial would be an obvious hardship. He can stand good for appearance bond. He can point out to the city attorney that a mistake has been made. And the attorney in turn can point out this error to the judge. But the judge's decision—and only his —is final.

I happen to be a critic of our state law which takes a man's license for three moving violations within a 12-month period. It should be easier on minor offenses, tougher on recklessness. But that doesn't excuse wholesale voiding. In fact, nothing does.

The boys in the clubhouse told me Jim shot 81-79 to win the seniors tournament.

Pompano Rejects Election, Sets New Balloting Dates

Take a Look At New 'Y'

The men who have finally gotten a new YMCA building for Fort Lauderdale, after 10 years of determined effort, still can't quite believe it's true. They are not so far up in the clouds, though, that they've stopped searching for money.

The fund still is short quite a few thousand dollars, and they're looking even beyond that for another $50,000 or so to build the swimming pool right away.

An open house for the new building will be held around the middle of March, and the directors hope that in the throngs taking their first look at the structure, some people will be moved to make sizable donations.

The building, which is only the first phase of the overall program, is handsome, durable and functional. Contractor Harry Muapin has made certain that the Y got a dollar's worth of value for every buck that has gone into it, at the same time saving about $50,000 on the cost. It houses a beautiful big gym, located on the second floor, and locker rooms, shower and exercise rooms on the ground floor.

This structure is going to mean much to Fort Lauderdale, as a center of community youth activity of the most wholesome kind—and yet, it's doubtful if half the people in town have ever seen it. If you haven't, take a look. One must agree—it's hard to believe . . .

Today it's ideal for 'I Want A Girl,' or 'In The Good Old Summer Time.' Fort Lauderdale is to be (someday) the Shangri-La, even though right now 'It's A Long, Long—' . . . well, the noise stopped. Can't go on with that song until the "maestro' gives the beat again."

There's a poet! Music out of a pile driver . . .

IF COUNTY SCHOOL officials are ready to look around for a president for the junior college, what's the matter with Jim Burnsted, the adult and vocational education director?

He's been studying junior college work and operation for years. He concentrated on it during two semesters and two summer sessions at UCLA, working under authorities on the subject. He's spent 12 years in his present job and 11 as dean of the University of Miami center here, and has done an outstanding job. His certificate qualifies him as a junior college administrator; he knows the area and the school system thoroughly. He is scheduled to get a Ph. Car-Truck Crash Kills 16-Year-Old

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — A 16-year-old boy was killed near Margate early Wednesday when his small car swerved out of control and hit an oncoming farm truck.

The victim was identified as Michael P. Moran, 1201 Atkins St., Petoskey, Mich. The Highway Patrol logged the time of death as 12:10 a.m.

Trooper William McCrary said Moran was headed south on State Rd. 7 about three miles north of Margate.

His vehicle swerved across the center line into the side of a truck driven by Charles Hemphill, 22, of Delray Beach, McCrary said. Hemphill, a laborer for Dell farms, was reported unhurt.

New Home Ruined by Vandalism

Herald Bureau

POMPANO BEACH — Vandals did an estimated $3,000 damage to an $18,000 furnished model home, 1096 SW 13th Ave., in Pompano Isles.

Owner Lee Risatti estimated "at least 10 gallons" of turquoise paint had been splattered through every room of the two-bedroom home, and on every piece of furniture.

Risatti said the damage was done between 7 p.m. and midnight Tuesday.

"They must have hauled the paint in with a truck," Risatti surmised, "because they used plenty of it." No paint cans were left behind.

The house is two months old, and had just been newly furnished.

Risatti said he didn't think it was a case of juvenile mischeviousness because the job was too well done. "They took their time," Risatti said," and didn't miss a thing."

The Broward sheriff's office is investigating.

Iranian: Unity Will Lick Reds

By HENRY KINNEY
Herald Staff Writer

MARGATE—There are no camels in the streets of Iran, the young son-in-law of the shah said Wednesday.

"You cannot see any country in the Middle East that has progressed as we have," Ardeshir Zahedi said.

Zahedi, who married the daughter of the shah of Iran, is here studying South Florida agriculture and building methods.

"The way we have come, when you are in Iran I don't think you feel that you're in a country of the Middle East.

"His Imperial Majesty is the one who has done it. He has forced us to progress," Zahedi said.

He added that his country and the U.S. can resist Communist threats if they stand together.

"We both have the same aim. We are fighting for the same thing . . .

"Understanding is the most important thing.

"If we put our hands together we will be stronger," he said.

Zahedi married Princess Shshnaz and is the father of 14-month-old Princess Mahnaz. He is here with Ebrahim Kashani, the governor of the Central Bank of Iran, and Dr. Houshang Ram, president of Bank Omran in Tehran.

Kashani said the greatest thing the U.S. could contribute to Iran is experience.

The group explained that Iran has undertaken a broad program of housing. It is providing homes for low-income workers and middle-income families, aid to villagers who want to modernize their communities, and help for small contractors.

"Bring in your capital and mix it with ours," Zahedi urged Americans in general. He said a mixing of foreign and native capital would help the countries of the Middle East achieve more stable government.

Zahedi studied agriculture at Logan University in Utah for six years.

The Iranians are here as guests of Ibec Housing Corp., which is building homes in Iran and in Puerto Rico. They arrived here Tuesday from Puerto Rico and go to New York Friday for conferences with Winthrop Rockefeller, Ibec board chairman.

Write-In Lack Violated Charter

By CLARENCE ZAITZ
North Broward Bureau

POMPANO BEACH—The City Commission Wednesday invalidated Tuesday's primary election, and called a special primary for March 3, and a special general election March 10.

The primary balloting was thrown out because the election violated the city charter by not providing an opportunity for write-in votes.

(Joseph Finnegan and Dwight Miller were victors in Tuesday's primary when 687 votes were cast.)

It took several hours of legal study by City Attorney Eugene Betts and a conversation with the state attorney general's office to get enough legal interpretation for the commission to act.

Commissioner Woodrow W. Cheshire brought up the issue when he declined to vote on certification of Tuesday's election because "there was no polling place set up in District three.'

Cheshire maintained the commission could be accused of depriving voters of their right to nominate a candidate, by not providing the opportunity to vote.

According to City Hall employes, more than a dozen persons wanted to vote in District Three Tuesday, but could not.

Although Commissioner G. T. Hull was unopposed for reelection to District Three, the charter provides an opportunity for the electors to nominate other candidates, in the primary.

"The charter does not allow for write-in votes in a general election," Cheshire said, "so we could be accused of trying to deny the voters their right to nominate a candidate."

Wilson Wright, an election specialist in the attorney general's office, told Betts there "should have been a line for a write-in candidate in the District One primary."

It was also Wright's opinion there was no need for an election in District Three because there was only one candidate.

Upon further clarification of the charter, the commission decided the voters were entitled to nominate their candidates in District Three, too.

Wright pointed out the law provides a 10-day period after elections during which a voter could contest the election by virtue of the charter violation.

The commission agreed to abandon plans for next Tuesday's general election, because the 10-day period for contesting the primary would not have expired.

City Clerk Mrs. Winifred Sharp said she had planned the write-in space for the District One machines, but was told "no" by County Registrar Easter Gates.

The city's charter provisions on municipal elections varies with the state statutes which govern county elections.

Only Hull voted against invalidation of the election "because the people had ample time (to become candidates) and the candidates have spent a lot of time and money in the campaign."

Voter registration books will be reopened, and residents may still register until Feb. 20.

The commission decided candidates will not be required to qualify all over again, and that no additional candidates may file for election.

Elect Not Name Judge? Pompano Eyes Change

By CLARENCE ZAITZ
North Broward Bureau

POMPANO BEACH — The City Commission is seriously considering a change in the city charter to allow for election of the municipal judge rather than his appointment by the commission.

Commissioner Woodrow W. Cheshire proposed the change Wednesday. The commission authorized City Attorney Eugene Betts to prepare a charter amendment.

If the commission approves the amendment, it would be submitted to the Legislature for approval, then put to a referendum of Pompano voters.

In support of his recommendation, Cheshire said "the municipal judge should be answerable to the public as a whole, and not just the City Commission."

The charter change would set precedent. Betts said he knew of no other municipality in the state which elects its municipal judge.

Commissioner Robert Kester and Vice Mayor Alice Linder cautioned the job could "fall into a highly political category," if the change is approved.

Whatever final action the commission takes, it will not affect the pending appointment of a municipal judge.

The commission interviewed 12 applicants for the municipal judgeship Monday, but have not yet made an appointment.

Employes Picketing Creighton's

By GREG TAYLOR

FORT LAUDERDALE — Employes went on strike against Creighton's Restaurant here Wednesday and a union official said pickets will be there 24 hours a day.

The restaurant is the first one to be struck by Local 339 of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes and Bartenders Union. The union is trying to organize all hotels and restaurants in Broward County.

Paul McCafpland, union secretary, said the strike was over the firing of a waitress who has joined the union after eight years with Creighton's here and in other cities.

Charles Creighton, owner, made no comment on the situation.

McCafpland said the restaurant is being staffed by employes from Daytona and St. Petersburg.

Monday night 41 waitresses and kitchen employes walked out of the restaurant. The union secretary said it had been agreed earlier that all employes would quit if one was fired.

McCafpland said the union now represents 50 of 75 eligible employes at Creighton's.

He said, "Creighton has refused to recognize the union. When he does we will negotiate wages and working conditions."

Attorney Must Pay

FORT LAUDERDALE — A Circuit Court suit against Attorney James Welch has been decided in favor of the plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. White of Mississippi.

They complained that Welch wrote them a check for $1,125 last June which was returned "account closed."

Young Mother A Suicide

'If You Don't Love Me, I'll Drink . . . Poison'

FORT LAUDERDALE—(AP)—An 18-year-old mother died Wednesday from poison she took while trying to get her husband to say if he loved her.

Medical Examiner Jack Mickley ruled a suicide the death of Mrs. Betty Susanne Gushee, who had a one-year-old boy and expected another child.

Police said she drank a glassful of weed killer containing arsenic after an argument with her husband, Robert Gushee Jr., Tuesday night.

Officers quoted Gushee as saying that after the argument she asked him repeatedly if he loved her and he declined to answer.

She handed him a note reading "I have in my hand a glass of poison. Arsenic poison. If you don't answer me I'll know you don't love me. If you don't love me, I'll drink this poison and kill myself."

She drank it.

Teague's Death Is a Reminder Drivers Take Calculated Risks

IT WAS a saddening surprise Wednesday—news that Marshal Teague had been killed while driving his Sumar Special at Daytona Beach's International Epeedway.

I just had returned from Daytona, where Tuesday I not only watched Teague attempt to set a speed record, but also sped around the track with Bill France, the man who built it. That experience now seems inconsequential, even if it was scary at the time.

We chatted with Teague briefly after he halted his record bids for the day. Observers had noted something was wrong with one of the tires of his intriguing racing machine.

Prior to this, I told France I had become an auto race fan. It seemed the only way of making Bill concentrate exclusively on his driving while we were hurtling around the Speedway.

FRANCE

It was an unsolicited indoctrination in speed, as France took me on a tour of the modern $3,000,000 racing plant which is certain to become a popular tourist lure for Florida. The International Speedway with its 31-degree banked two-and-a-half-mile track will become the same thing to auto racing that Hialeah is to the turf sport.

"We'll try out the track in a few minutes," Bill confided as he drove his convertible along the outside rim road, circling above the track. It is used for safety and maintenance and workmen were getting in last licks on the fence as Teague warmed up his Sumar Special, a speedway type car with an Offenhauser motor.

Urging us back into his car, France explained, "If Teague blows something we ain't gonna be here." He drove on around, warning the workmen to take cover behind trucks when Teague warmed up and put his foot down in an all-out effort.

Teague, who Monday had attained a speed of 171 m.p.h., fell short in this test. On one lap his speed was announced as 170.068 m.p.h., and his car sounded like an angry hornet.

When Teague went to the pits for a checkup, France, who handles a car as accurately as Cary Middlecoff does a putter, drove down off the rim road.

This Is It, Fellows

FOR A moment, I hoped Bill would forget the promised ride around the track. Instead he wheeled through a tunnel, leading under the track to the infield, and eased onto the track.

On the straightaway everything seemed fine, although the wind whipped into the rear seat where Grayson and I clutched each other for comfort. Then we hit the first curve and the striped asphalt seemed to be coming into the car.

France turned halfway round and inquired, "How is it, fellows—you aren't scared?"

In weak voices we replied, "No," and then we hit the straightaway again and as a repeat trip around the curve loomed, France popped a question at me. "Are you a race fan now?"

"Yeah," I replied, hoping this would make Bill face the track and keep both hands on the wheel.

When we came off the track to let Teague make another bid for a record, I asked Clive Hansard, the front seat passenger, how fast we'd been going.

"When I quit looking the speedometer needle had hit 135," he replied.

And, believe it or not, the wind suction in the rear seat was so great that it pulled an envelope from my side coat pocket onto the front seat.

* * *

Why France Built Speedway

PHYSICAL CONSTRUCTION of the track on 448 acres, near the Volusia Kennel club, was started last April. France exhausted seven years of planning and six different financing plans in getting ready.

"How'd you get the idea for such a track?" Bill was asked.

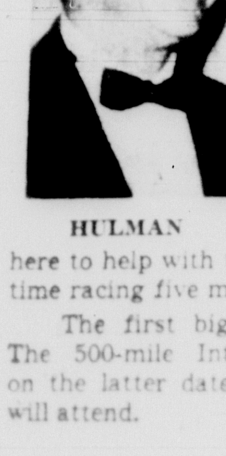
"I tired of having people tell me they would become race fans if there was some way of seeing the racing cars all of the time," Bill, whose own stock car driving dates back into the 30s, said.

"You can see every minute of the action here from the five grandstands and bleachers, with seats for 30,000. You have a good view from the infield, where you sit in your own car."

* * *

Bill's Friends Co-operated

IN DEVOTING a lifetime to driving cars and later promoting races, France made hundreds of friends. Their co-operation helped make his dream come true. The city leased him the land which includes a mile-long lake and a sports car course. Sixteen hundred persons bought 430,000 shares of stock at a buck each.



HULMAN

A favor rendered Clint Murchison, Texas multi-millionaire was repaid many fold. France approached Murchison about borrowing some machinery. Clint learned Bill was having trouble financially and helped him to get a $500,000 loan.

Don Smith of Pompano gambled in moving the dirt, a tremendous undertaking. Tony Hulman, owner of the Indianapolis Speedway, instead of regarding this track as a rival sent his superintendent, Clarence Cagle, here to help with the opening. Now Daytona will have big-time racing five months of the year.

The first big program is upcoming Feb. 20-21-22. The 500-mile International Sweepstakes will be held on the latter date, a Sunday, and France thinks 60,000 will attend.

Brown Floors Busso While Retaining Title

HOUSTON — (AP) — A ninth round knockdown helped Champion Joe Brown retain his lightweight crown Wednesday night against a game Johnny Busso. All three officials gave Brown the victory on a wide margin.

Brown landed a strong left to the stomach late in the first round but the challenger replied with a right to the head. Both earlier had missed frequently at long range while shooting for big punches. Busso opened by landing two lefts and a right to Brown's body but without damage.

Busso opened the second round by landing two sharp left jabs to the champion's nose and Brown came back with two good hooks to the chin. A strong right by Brown glanced off Busso's jaw. Both fighters kept pressing hard.

Busso landed a right to the stomach before both fighters landed frequently while slugging away in the center of the ring midway in the third.

Brown followed with a terrific right to the chin and the champion smiled broadly. Brown followed with several good punches and Busso's nose began to bleed.

Brown danced away from three Busso punches before the challenger struck with a right to the stomach in the fourth. A booming straight right by the champion jarred Busso but he kept his balance.

Two left jabs in the seventh struck Busso on the nose but Busso came through with a long right. Brown then dodged another, nearly fell, but recovered quickly for a strong right to the head. Hard rights then were exchanged and Brown landed two lefts to the chin.

Busso opened the eighth by forcing Brown near the ropes where a series of body blows were exchanged. Brown kept working on the challenger's nose with his left and then landed solidly on the same spot with a good short right. Busso came back with a left hook and a straight right.

A straight right by Brown knocked Busso off his feet and almost through the ropes in the ninth but the challenger brushed the referee aside and charged back.

Orange Bowl: Huh?

Sooners: Satisfy Us 'In Writing'

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

University of Oklahoma officials Wednesday threw the second punch in their cross-country "newspaper fight" with the Orange Bowl Committee.

Again, the startled OB Committeemen were caught with their guards down.

The Oklahoma regents demanded — in a statement to newspapermen — assurance "in writing" of a satisfactory solution to problems which they say have come up in the Sooners' recent appearances in Orange Bowl games.

Otherwise, proclaimed the regents, Oklahoma's football team will not play in the Orange Bowl following the 1960 season or any other time.

Stephen A. Lynch Jr., new Orange Bowl president, in Boston Wednesday, replied:

"When either the University of Oklahoma or the Big Eight Conference gets in touch with us by the proper method . . . in writing . . . then the Orange Bowl committee will consider their protest on its merits.

"I was unaware," added Lynch, "that any problems existed before the last game (Jan. 1 of this year)."

A white-hot controversy was touched off in the last game when ground-level spectators complained Oklahoma players blocked their view by refusing to sit in the dugout.

Guarantee of a solution of the problems, OU's Regents ruled, most be signed by the Orange Bowl Coroton, a representative of the Big Eight Conference and Sooner Athletic Director Bud Wilkenson.

Fumed Ernie Seiler, OB general manager and vice president:

"We haven't received the first word or line of complaint from Oklahoma or the conference.

"We don't know what they're protesting.

"If Oklahoma has a gripe why don't they let us know about it directly?"

In a Jan. 15 recommendation to his Regents, Dr. George L. Gross, Oklahoma's president, said, "I want to go on record to this board (regents) that our team will not go back to Miami until such time as there is a clear understanding about our behavior on the sidelines."

Dr. Cross added the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at ground level. He also criticized what he termed inflated prices charged Oklahoma fans.

Although the Regents refused Wednesday to list any specific "problem," an OU spokesman reiterated that Oklahoma fans were complaining of high prices and poor hospitality.

Said John R. Willoughby, general manager of Ivanhoe Hotel in swank Bal Harbour where the Sooner players and official family was quartered: "They certainly could have charged them only $16.45 per person daily. And that included three meals from their no complaints with us. We own menu, and tips."

Under the present three-year contract with the Big Eight, Oklahoma would be eligible to return just once more — on Jan. 1, 1961.

The conference has a rule that no member may appear in a post-season game two consecutive years. Thus the second-place team represents the conference when one team wins two years in a row.

Because the recent game was the "silver anniversary" contest, the rule was waived at the request of Orange Bowl officials this year when Oklahoma met and defeated Syracuse, 21-6. The previous New Year's Day, the Sooners had defeated Duke, 48-21.

Actually, the Sooners have no negotiating powers — the OB's contract is with the Big Eight.

Wednesday, one Orange Bowl committeeman said flatly:

"It seems fairly evident Oklahoma doesn't want to come back under any circumstances . . . and is looking for every excuse to get sentiment on its side."

* * *

. . . But the Players Had Wonderful Time

Here's how University of Oklahoma players feel about Miami and their Orange Bowl appearances:

* * *

DICK CORBITT, guard—"The only thing I disliked was the attitude of the fans who didn't like the way we knelt along the sidelines. But they didn't realize we do that every game we play, including the Orange Bowl last year. On the whole, the people were pretty nice to us."

* * *

* * *

MICKEY JOHNSON, center—"The people who ran the bowl treated us fine . . . but I didn't like the gripes some fans put up about us not sitting on the benches in the dugout. That's tradition with us."

* * *

JOE RECTOR, Oklahoma—"It's a thrill just to be able to go. It's sure a lot different from how we live in Oklahoma."

Idun Romps at Hialeah, But First Landing Bows

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

Idun won the $26,975 Columbiana Wednesday, but First Landing, in his Hialeah and 1959 debut, finished second in the Coral Reef purse.

A throng of 19,599 watched Octopus beat First Landing by a good two and three quarter lengths in the afternoon's sixth race. First Landing, juvenile champion of 1958 and winner of 10 of 11 starts, was handled by Jockey Eddie Arcaro.

Idun, champion filly of 1957 and 1958, also was making her '59 debut. But Bill Hartack was luckier than Arcaro as Idun raced the seven-furlong Columbiana in 1:23.1.

Woodlawn, handled by Sammy Boulmetis, finished second with Happy Princess third. Mare's Beau was fourth in the 15-horse field.

Florida-bred Betty Linn took fifth, and then came Wonder Star, Big Effort, Mlle. Dianne, Dandy Blitzen, Indian Maid, Edna Allen, Miss J. G., A Glitter, Paris Picnic and Ramadel.

Jockey Tommy Root, aboard Mare's Beau, claimed foul against Happy Princess, alleging his horse was carried out in the stretch turn. The stewards, after viewing the film, disallowed the claim.

Idun paid $5.30, $3.90 and $3.70, Woodlawn was $19.40 and $9.80, and Happy Princess returned $4.70.

First Landing was not extended in his seven-furlong trek and Arcaro worked him a mile in 1:37.3.

Octopus, hero of the recent Hibiscus, never tarried a step. Octopus raced the distance in 1:22.3, fastest seven-eighths time of the meeting and only three fifths of a second off the track record.

Octopus, well-handled by Steve Brooks, paid $8.10, $2.50 and $2.20. First Landing returned $2.30 and $2.10. Moony was $2.40 to show.

Brooks said, "I figured if we were going to beat First Landing, this was the day. I had a hunch he would not run his first race out."

"We had no excuses in the running," said Arcaro. "I thought the horse ran as well as could be expected after his long layoff. This race should do him a lot of good."

Kelly Petillo

Ex-500 Ace Eyes Pardon

INDIANAPOLIS —(UPI)— Criminal Court Judge Richard Salb said Wednesday he will ask Gov. Harold Handley to grant an executive pardon to Kelly Petillo, 1935 winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race who has spent most of the last 10 years in prison for slashing his former secretary with a knife.

Salb said he will recommend freedom and "I hope to see you out by race day May 30."

Petillo, now 55, was sentenced to 1 to 10 years in 1949. He was paroled in 1956 with orders to get out of Indiana and stay out. He was arrested as a parole violator when he showed up at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in 1957.

Port Officials Drop Plan to Curb Bids

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Port Everglades commissioners Wednesday dropped a proposal to restrict construction work to local contractors on the advice of Attorney Ted Cabot.

Commissioner Robert McConnaughey, who proposed the idea last week, said he was just "speculating out loud" when he made the suggestion.

Manager R. T. Spangler had warned that its adoption would eliminate competitive bidding.

McConnaughey said Wednesday the Port should define what the charter means by responsible bidders.

In other action, the board:

AGREED to take bids on extra work needed at the expansion of its administration center. Architect J. K. Pownall said ceiling and floor tile should be matched, and that the port would be allowed a rebate on the original contract. Commissioner Fred Stevens, who dissented, asked why the need was overlooked in the first place.

HEARD Commissioner Igor Dart deny making any prediction that Spangler intended to retire soon.

ASKED for bid tabulation on $750,000 in excess liability insurance coverage. The apparent low bid came from Cobb and Warner, who offered $1.435 per each $1,000 gross operating revenue through American Fire and Casualty Co., of Orlando.

ADOPTED an insurance recommendation of the attorney general that public bodies get the best coverage at the least cost without favoritism. McConnaughey recommended against canceling and rewriting fire policies that expire in May and June. Gerald Richardson, former insurance counselor, commended that board's actions.

REFERRED to Spangler a request from the Winsborough Corp. of Miami for space to locate a glass processing plant at the port.

SET 7 p.m. Feb. 19 for a meeting with Attorney Clarke Walden on charter revisions.

Candidate Asks for Rivalry

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

WEST HOLLYWOOD — Unlike some political hopefuls who dream of sweeping into office unopposed, Pembroke Pines' lone candidate for mayor is appealing for opposition.

So far, Dr. Walter Seth Kipnis, retired physician and long-time backer of a city plan, is the only name listed for mayor in an incorporation referendum this month.

And he would like to remedy this situation.

"I've contacted several persons to see if they would run against me. But so far all have refused," he said Wednesday.

Dr. Kipnis believes more candidates provide a healthier political atmosphere.

"It's embarrassing. I hope additional names will be tossed in the ring before the Feb. 17 deadline for filing," he said.

Incorporationists, snubbing an over-all West Hollywood creation of a city plan, will place its battle to form a separate municipality before the public Feb. 28.

At the same time, ballots will will be cast for a mayor, seven aldermen, a city clerk and town marshal.

"We've made a careful study of public opinion. I believe voters wholeheartedly favor incorporation," Dr. Kipnis said.

Backers of the movement fear the more exclusive zoning and building regulations here may be lost if the community is tied to West Hollywood.

Homes range from $15,000 to $35,000.

West Hollywood has included Pembroke Pines in proposed boundaries of its incorporation action.

Only 180 persons will be eligible to vote on the proposed incorporation of this tiny community, located north of Pembroke Rd. and west of Sunshine State Parkway.

Of these, 120 favorable votes are needed to pass incorporation.

Freeholders will mark ballots in a carport at 13th St. and 69th Ave.

Ten candidates have filed for aldermen, two for town clerk, and one for marshal.

Except for the clerk's post, the municipal jobs will be unsalaried.

They're in 'Fix' Over 1870 Report Filed by Surveyor

By PAT MANGAN
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Back in 1870 a lonely surveyor worked in North Broward County staking out an area that now is Lighthouse Point.

Whether he knew exactly where he was, has become a key issue in a lawsuit involving hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property.

Judge Richard Sauls Wednesday heard the first of two days of testimony in a suit by Hillsboro Land Co. against Stephen Calder, A. H. Burket and Maude M. Burket to quiet title to 23 acres of developed property in Lighthouse Point, including the yacht basin.

The land company says it bought the property in question in 1953. Calder claims he bought it from the Burkets in 1955. The second sale was made after the land was subdivided and resold, the plaintiffs say . . .

The company's suit says the Calder claim appears to be based on a claim that the property is in Government Lot Four. The plaintiffs say it's in Lot Three. Lake Placid is the dividing point between the two.

In question is the surveyor's position in relation to the lake when he was making his notes for a government survey.

"There are many errors in his notes," according to the testimony of Gene Stoner, a surveyor testifying for the land company.

The plaintiffs are contending that the reference points described by the surveyor when he said he was beside a lake actually point to a high, sandy ridge to the west.

Wednesday Dr. Taylor R. Alexander, head of the department of botany at the University of Miami, testified that Dade County pine trees in the area are from 80 to 100 years old. He said they cannot survive in a salt area.

Also introduced was geological testimony designed to prove the area was dry in 1870 and had been for several hundred years.

Attorneys for Calder objected to the geological testimony on the ground they had not known it was to be introduced and had no chance to prepare to refute it.

Charge: False Arrest

Sheriff, 2 Deputies Found Not Guilty

FORT LAUDERDALE—Sheriff J. A. Lloyd and deputies Earl Clay and Frank Crowley were found not guilty of a false arrest charge Wednesday by a Circuit Court jury.

The six-man panel was ready with its verdict about 15 minutes after the two-day argument before Judge James Walden.

Lloyd, represented by Clayton Nance and J. Herbert Burke, county commissioner, said: "It would have been a travesty on justice if the plaintiff had prevailed."

An adverse decision would have undermined the department's achievements in the West Hollywood area, the sheriff said.

The suit was brought by Edward Nortmann, 63, of 1711 SW 60th Ter., who was arrested in July 1957 at a service station operated by his two sons at 2800 S. State Rd. 7.

During the trial, Nortmann told of his imprisonment in Cincinnati in 1944 on a liquor theft charge. He said he received two concurrent nine-month terms.

In an earlier deposition, Nortmann denied any felony record. He explained in court that he thought a felony involved at least one year in jail.

He told Nance he had never asked for restoration of his civil rights because he didn't know he'd lost them. He was represented by Attorney Howard Duncanson.

Hollywood Paper Will Be a Daily

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — The Hollywood Sun-Tattler, a tri-weekly newspaper, will convert to daily publication effective March 2.

The announcement of plans to publish each week day except Saturday came from co-publishers Wilmont E. Day and G. W. McCall. They said a Saturday edition will be added later.

The newspaper was founded as a weekly in 1935, converted to a semi-weekly in November, 1951, and became a tri-weekly, publishing Monday, Wednesday and Friday, in October, 1957.

Injured Man Found on Tracks

POMPANO BEACH — Harry W. Brown, an itinerant laborer, was in critical condition at Holy Cross Hospital Wednesday from injuries believed caused by a train or a brutal beating.

School Boats May Float Back 'Home'

FORT LAUDERDALE — A County School Board member recommended Wednesday that two Navy training boats leased from the Navy "be sent back to wherever we got them."

Mrs. Virginia Young made the motion, and other board members indicated they agreed.

Action was postponed, however, until the State Conservation Department decides whether it wants to take the 78-footers off the board's hands.

Arthur Wolfe, an assistant superintendent, said the Conservation Department "wants the boats but doesn't have the money to buy them."

Board member Dean Dessenberger suggested the State Department be given the vessels "on a deferred payment plan, if necessary."

School officials acquired the boats last November for classroom purposes, but now feel the cost of operating and maintaining them is too great.

While the boats were free, approximately $9,000 has already been spent on them by the board.

Wolfe told the board that five batteries, expected to cost $175, are needed now to keep the vessels operating.

The board deferred action pending a report from Wolfe next Wednesday.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC AUCTION
SALE OF FIVE AUTOMOBILES
DADE COUNTY, FLORIDA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Dade County, Florida, will offer for sale at public auction to be held and conducted at the South front door of the County Courthouse in Miami, Florida, on the 20th day of February, 1959, at 10:00 o'clock in the morning, five (5) county-owned passenger automobiles particularly described as follows:

1) 1 used 1957 Ford Fairlane 500 Victoria Town Sedan, model 57A, Identification No. C7AV 162269, Raven Black and White.
2) 1 used 1957 Ford Fairlane 500 Victoria Town Sedan, model 57A, Identification No. C7AV 157175, Flame Red and White.
3) 1 used 1957 Ford Fairlane 500 Victoria Town Sedan, model 57A, Identification No. C7AV 157166, Raven Black and Inca Gold.
4) 1 used 1957 Plymouth Belvedere 8 sports Sedan Model 69, Identification No. 22426328, Gold and White.
(5) 1 used 1957 Chevrolet Belaire 4 door sedan, Model No. 2403, Identification No. VC 57 A 190511, Gray and White.

Each said automobile will be offered for sale separately. All automobiles will be offered for sale for cash only, and no bid for any automobile will be accepted, received or considered of any amount less than the amount of the highest sealed bid heretofore received by the County Commission on January 20, 1959, for such automobiles respectively. Each successful bidder shall deposit an amount equal to twenty-five (25%) percent of his bid at the time of acceptance of the bid, and shall pay the entire remaining amount of the bid within forty-eight (48) hours thereafter. Said automobiles presently bear X series license plates; the purchaser or purchasers shall forthwith and immediately provide new license plates at his or their own expense. Said automobiles may be viewed by arrangement with the County Manager's office.

The county reserves the right to reject any or all bids, without cause, if deemed in the public interest.

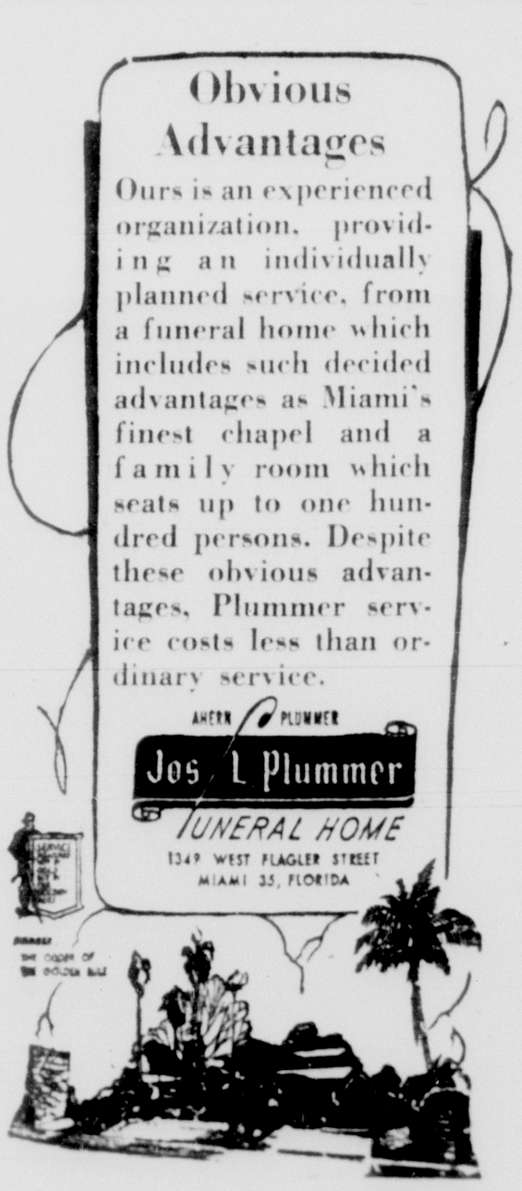
MORTUARY-CREMATORY SERVICE
MIAMI'S LARGEST



Obvious Advantages

Ours is an experienced organization, providing an individually planned service, from a funeral home which includes such decided advantages as Miami's finest chapel and a family room which seats up to one hundred persons. Despite these obvious advantages, Plummer service costs less than ordinary service.

Capital Punishment: Is It Right, Needed? Officials Look at Law

By GREG TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Is Florida's law which provides capital punishment morally right, or practically effective, in preventing heinous crimes?

Men in Broward County who deal with crime, on the right side of it, take opposing sides.

You can find a defense attorney who believes it's necessary in some cases and a detective who thinks it's not effective as a deterrent to crime.

In expressing their opinions they raise such examples as a man who normally "wouldn't hurt a fly" can sizzle in the chair for going berserk just once. Or, if a jury is wrong, justice can't be righted for the innocent man who is put to death.

On the other side, it's felt "eye-for-an-eye" retaliation is justified against some killers. And some believe the existence of a death penalty prevents the murder rate from rising.

A group of eight law officers, lawyers, judges and a psychologist were surveyed in light of speculation that Gov. LeRoy Collins will recommend capital punishment be abolished.

Death is now the penalty for first degree murder and rape unless the jury recommends mercy. On occasion, the governor has said he questions the law on moral and humanitarian grounds.

Whether the existence of a capital punishment law deters crime has long been debated.

★ ★ ★

BEN GRIGSBY, chief criminal investigator in the sheriff's office, doesn't think it's an effective deterrent to crime. "If anything, it keeps juries from bringing a conviction verdict in some cases," he said.

Grigsby feels capital punishment should be involved on the hired killer, however.

Most cases of murder, he said, are committed by a guy who loses his mind in a fit of passion, but most of his life he "wouldn't hurt a fly."

★ ★ ★

"THE POSSIBILITY of a death sentence really does prevent heinous crimes," Fort Lauderdale POLICE CHIEF J. LESTER HOLT said.

Holt said he's sure criminals are aware of what punishments confront them. He pointed to instances where persons committing capital crimes in more than one state turn themselves in to the state where there is no capital punishment.

And he said statements by captured criminals clearly show that life sentences are not effective deterrents, because of hope for escape or parole.

★ ★ ★

A DIFFERENT THOUGHT ON THE MATTER haunted JOHN TOLAR, president of the Broward Bar Association. He spoke of it personally and not as head of the Bar, which hasn't taken a stand.

"Juries are not always right," he said. "If a man is put to death and later new evidence shows he was not guilty, there is no way to correct the mistake."

Tolar says it's better to let a portion of the guilty go free than to put one innocent man to death.

★ ★ ★

ASSISTANT STATE ATTORNEY QUENTIN V. LONG does not agree with the jury-mistake argument.

"Most of the time the prosecution has a tight case or it doesn't bring a murder charge to trial. And if there is any doubt about guilt the jury is supposed to find the defendant not guilty."

Long points out that capital punishment is not often inflicted. But it's always there and has a restraining effect, he said.

"A person who ~~plots~~ a murder and carries it out does not deserve to live," said Long.

★ ★ ★

RAY SANDSTROM, A CRIMINAL LAWYER, said, "I believe in it, but not on a wholesale basis." He advocates a change in the way the jury recommends the death penalty.

Now, a majority of the jurors must recommend mercy for the convicted to escape the electric chair. No action on mercy means death.

Instead, reasoned Sandstrom, the law should require a majority of the jury to specifically ask for death. This, he thinks, would make the jurors contemplate the seriousness of what they are asking.

But when a person is brutally murdered, the slayer deserves "eye-for-an-eye" retaliation, Sandstrom said.

★ ★ ★

THE MENTAL CONDITION OF THE ACCUSED is a big factor in the issue. DR. HENRY J. BESSETTE, director of Broward Mental Hygiene Clinic, made this comment:

"In a moment of rage or passion, I doubt that a person stops to think of the ultimate penalty."

He said that premeditated killing is a sign of severe mental disturbance. The psychologist said a mental institution is not always the answer.

But he feels the whole emphasis in the system of justice is on a means of rehabilitation rather than punishment. It is becoming more a form of reconstructing criminals into worthwhile citizens, rather than rule by fear, which is what punishment is, Bessette said.

★ ★ ★

LAWYER TOLAR MENTIONED another point. He feels there are many competent men who are reluctant to serve as circuit judges because of a repugnance to capital punishment.

Two judges here did not regard it in that light, however.

"I haven't had to deal with it too much," said CIRCUIT JUDGE OTIS FARRINGTON.

"If a jury brings in a proper finding, the judge simply follows the law."

Judge Farrington added that he always has felt there was at least some deterrent to crime in capital punishment. "But I haven't resolved in my mind whether this is a justification for having it."

Retired from criminal cases, JUDGE GEORGE TEDDER SR. said, "I've never made up my mind about it." And the 79-year-old jurist added, "I'm too old to start now."

In 25 years on the bench, Judge Tedder pronounced the death sentence five times.

Otis Farrington
... "some deterrent"

Ben Grigsby
... "yes, for hired killer"

J. Lester Holt

County Business Face Begins to Smile Again

By HENRY KINNEY
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — A steady build-up from a January that was definitely under par appears to be in progress across the business face of Broward County.

February is the hope to save the season.

Tourists are arriving in increasing numbers—though not yet in wholesale lots—and trade is up in both building and real estate.

As the winter season began to get off the ground, the first reliable measurement of January conditions, the state's sales tax collection figures, showed that all resort areas did less business than in January 1958.

Broward dropped from $1,146,159 to $1,108,322, about $38,000 or three per cent. Dade fell from $3,982,164 to $3,908,836, Palm Beach County from $766,680 to $756,490. Pinellas from $1,136,628 to $1,123,710.

The industrial counties of Hillsborough and Duval made some gains, the former about $54,000 and the latter a substantial $167,000. Volusia remained about even; it had a gain of $180.

★ ★ ★

CONSTRUCTION VOLUME in the unincorporated areas of the county during January was less than that for the same month of the previous year, but Fort Lauderdale, Pompano Beach and Hollywood showed gains. The gain in real estate sales in the county was a healthy 10 million dollars from the figure of January 1958, and nearly six million dollars from January of the record year of 1957.

Sales last month totaled $50,852,100, according to the Fort Lauderdale Board of Realtors.

In Fort Lauderdale the building permit volume was up from $4,251,747 to $4,935,167. In Pompano Beach it was up from $754,573 to $1,099,533; in Hollywood from $748,950 to $1,082,374, and in West Hollywood from $1,772,478 to $1,939,552.

The drop in construction in the unincorporated areas exceeded $665,000, from $6,471,993 to $5,806,724.

Hotel and apartment owners and others with their fingers on the pulse of the tourist industry said a noticeable upturn has developed within the last 10 days. There are not yet any "no vacancy" signs, and business is no better than at this time last year, but there is general agreement that the upswing definitely has begun.

The observation of Les Burch, executive secretary of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, that "people are streaming in," seemed to sum up the situation.

Forrest Crane, Fort Lauderdale publicity-advertising director, said signs here point to a "good six-week season starting about Feb. 15" if the present weather holds.

★ ★ ★

REPORTS FROM THE LAGO-MAR HOTEL at the south end of Fort Lauderdale Beach and the Galt Ocean Mile at the north end added up to the same thing—a noticeable jump in room rentals within the last few days.

Lago-Mar Owner Bert Stephens said many guests are coming in without reservations, "or they'll call you from New York in the morning to say they'll be in that night." Crane said other operators have made the same observation.

The Fort Lauderdale City Commission has been asked by its advertising committee to release $15,000 in contingency funds for tourist promotion during the coming months, part of it to be used at once.

Representatives of the hotel, apartment house and real estate industries, invited to meet with the committee, suggested that the money be put to work without delay.

Some $1,300 of it has been earmarked for daily telegrams to television and radio stations informing them of local temperatures.

A companion move in this direction was made by private enterprise. The First National Bank launched a program of daily announcements of the temperatures on radio stations in a dozen major Eastern and Midwestern population centers.

Valentines Lose Their Hearts

By TOM VINCIGUERRA
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "... Though you're schizoid and neurotic, plagued wtih episodes and psychotic . . . I love you anyway."

No, that's not conversation in a bug house. It's a "love" message on one of the many "different" valentines on store counters this year.

If the old sage is kidding about love conquering all, there's going to be some angry bosses, wives, husbands and lovers this year.

On one valentine, a misguided miss asks her beau: "When they ask me what I see in you, what shall I tell them?"

Another brightly colored trick has newlyweds doing some soul-searching:

"Tell me," she asks (little hearts floating over her pointed head), "if you had it to do all over again — could you still fall in love with yourself?"

Imagine sending this beaut to the neighborhood working girl, who spends every last penny to keep up with the fashions: "It's just too bad that Paris hasn't found a hat to cover your face."

There's a lot of the "old fashioned" valentines around, and they pack the sentimental punch of the old days. They're getting bigger too.

One beribboned job that you couldn't get in your mail box has a large satin-covered heart in the center. It's for Mom and Pop. The message does honor to St. Valentine. The cards are selling from five cents to a buck (including baby's first valentine). If you want to give the woman a gift too, you can get the cards for as high as $5 with some real jewelry hanging around a dame's neck.

'I Can Enjoy It'

His Golden Success Flabbergasted Author

By TOM VINCIGUERRA
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — No one was more surprised than Harry Golden when his book, Only In America, hit the best seller list.

"I was flabbergasted," said Golden, a short round man with an infectious exuberance for life. "Most of that stuff had already seen the light of day; I had written it years ago."

That "stuff," a compilation of breezy tales about New York's East Side and cogent observations, has sold 204,000 copies, and has been read by some three and a half million people.

Golden, publisher of the Charlotte, N. C., paper, "Israelite," relaxed in his room at the Hollywood Beach Hotel, where he spoke at the annual fund-raising dinner of the Jewish Welfare Federation.

Harry Golden
. . . "2 Cents" more

"This never happens twice, no matter how good you are. I'm enjoying being a Cinderella at 57. When it happens at 17, you have a long life of frustration ahead, but I can sit back and enjoy it."

The "Israelite," previously in demand by editors and college professors, now is sought by thousands of "Only In America" fans. The paper contains stories and anecdotes of the immigrant east, as well as editorial comment on current events.

"Subscriptions have doubled to 36,000," said Golden. "I have to expand now. The "Israelite" has subscribers in Europe and the American embassy in Russia. Golden recently took on another task, writing a syndicated column.

Married to a Roman Catholic, Golden has three sons, including Harry, Jr., feature writer for the Detroit Free Press.

Golden moved to Charlotte in 1940. One of five children, he attended College of The City of New York. His father, writer for one of the first New York Yiddish papers, "wrote the first sports story in a foreign language newspaper."

Golden, an avid reader all his life, has another book in the works. The title, "For 2 Cents Plain," was inspired by his memories of the street seltzer vendors in New York's East Side.

"For two cents you got seltzer — plain. For three cents you could get some syrup in it."

Of his writings, Golden says: "I don't preach, give answers or promise salvation — just like to write reminiscences."

He considers Mark Twain the greatest American writer, and believes only Twain's humor will endure in America.

"Racial and ethnic humor are on the way out. The immigrants have become middle class people now."

Other Golden views:

Manned space flight—"Must come. Other planets will be explored. Eventually the Earth will be a museum populated only by caretakers. Folks will visit on occasions — like Fourth of July."

Integration — "History has put an end to segregation, not the Supreme Court. You can't write about Uncle Remus with Dr. (Ralph) Bunche around. If the NAACP disappeared, the movement wouldn't miss a beat."

West Berlin crisis — "Almost an inane foreign police. Cost a fortune, getting very little out of it."

The reporter's future — "You'll never make any money, but you'll never leave newspaper work."

Juveniles Ruining Railroad Property

POMPANO BEACH — "We've been plagued with juveniles for the last 10 years, and it seems to be getting worse."

That was the observation of R.I. Zipperer, special agent for the Seaboard Airline Railroad. He was commenting on a recent rash of vandalism in the Pompano area, where juveniles had thrown switches, and placed obstructions on the SAL tracks.

Throwing rocks at trains is about the biggest problem the agents have to contend with, Zipperer said.

At first the kids toss rocks at trackside railroad signals, he explained, then they start stoning windows on passenger trains. "Down in Hollywood they've been using BB guns quite a lot," he explained.

"And up at West Palm Beach, the kids have been tossing pulpwood off parked freight cars, onto the tracks."

Most of the incidents occur during daylight hours.

At Homestead, the SAL is bothered with a different problem. "We frequently find transient farm workers sleeping on the railroad tracks," Zipperer explained. He said it is not unusual to find one, stretched comfortably between the tracks, his head resting on a rail.

Guards to Mark 'Muster Day'

FORT LAUDERDALE—The local units of the National Guard announce that Muster Day, national recognition of the guard's activities, will be Feb. 22.

Company B of the 202nd armored medical battallion and Company G of the 211th Infantry Regiment with a combined force of 144 men have no particular plans for the celebration. The theme of the day is "Sleep Well Tonight . . . Your National Guard Is Awake."

Doggett Heads Group on Wages

DEERFIELD BEACH — Howard Doggett has been named chairman of the City Hall wage study committee by Mayor Paul Stalter.

Doggett replaces Hal G. Mullen, who resigned as chairman after his election to the City Commission.

American Workers Gain Most in Last 10 Years

WILMINGTON, Del. — (UPI) — American industrial workers have achieved economic and cultural gains in the last 10 years never before seen in such a short period of time, according to a survey of more than 3,000 DuPont employes.

The survey revealed in the company's employe magazine, "Better Living," showed that the number of workers owning their own homes climbed from 50 per cent in 1948 to 73 per cent in 1958.

The value of the average home rose from just under $9,000 to $15,000.

On the cultural side, the report disclosed an increase in church and charity work, more interest in community needs, greater enthusiasm for reading and more effective planning for children as well as a trend to more schooling.

Your Potato in Future May Be Older Than You

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Some day you may be able to buy "fresh" meats and vegetables that are months and years old.

The food industry and the government are putting great emphasis today on developing new methods and improving older ones for the preservation and storage of food.

The new field includes atomic irradiation, antibiotic and chemical preservation and dehydration by "freeze drying." They will supplement present methods of canning, freezing and cooking.

The U.S. Army is building a new food processing center at the Sharpe General Depot in Lathrop, Calif. This new center, scheduled for completion in mid-1960, will boast a 24-million-electron-volt linear accelerator and a high density cobalt-60 gamma source.

Research in food irradiation has been underway for several years under direction of the Army Quartermaster Corps, in cooperation with the Departments of Defense and Agriculture, the Atomic Energy Commission and various private industrial and research groups.

Indefinite preservation of food by atomic radiation would be a boon to all nations, particularly those where refrigeration presents a problem.

Through irradiation, bacteria which cause food decay are destroyed. However, in order to sterilize by atomic energy, foods must be packaged to protect them from becoming contaminated by the irradiation process.

Tests show that foods thus irradiated can be consumed by humans and animals without harmful effects.

Industry sources point out that there are many problems still to be ironed out before food irradiation becomes commercially economical and feasible.

One big hitch is the fact that while radiation kills bacteria, the enzymes in living food tissues which change the flavor and odor of food remain active.

Most foods come through the radiation process unchanged in taste and food value. But some foods, such as steak, don't taste the same, while milk and orange juice lose some of their food value.

Studies at the Army's ionizing radiation center will concentrate on perfecting the process for meats, fish, vegetables and fruits, according to a spokesman for Ford, Bacon & Davis Inc., consulting engineers on the project.

The goal is to develop a means of preserving food without freezing, cooking or other processing so that it may be taken "fresh" from sterile containers and cooked and served as desired, he explained.

When the problems are solved, housewives will be able to store foods that are now considered perishable for long periods without refrigeration. Troops could carry irradiated foods for indefinite periods in light plastic wrappings.

Gen. A. T. McNamara, Quartermaster General, said the ultimate benefits of such a process will be to provide a greater year-round variety of nourishing foods, cut refrigeration requirements, reduce food losses from spoilage and assure better control of certain food-borne disease.

The impact on the food processing industry would be great if research into new preservation methods led to a process which supplanted certain canned and frozen foods.

"Greater short-term importance is to be found in the possibility that low doses of radiation will retard the rate of spoilage of fruits and vegetables to be canned or frozen," a food industry official explained.

"In this way radiation would supplement rather than supplant present preservation methods."

Hayfever Researcher Leads a Dog's Life

ANN ARBOR, Mich. —(AP)— Pansy is a dog who really leads a dog's life—she has what one doctor calls "the worst case of hayfever allergy I have ever seen in man or beast."

In fact, of the three major signs of ragweed allergy — hayfever, bronchial asthma and skin eruptions — poor Pansy suffers from all three, despite the fact each is quite rare in animals.

The flop-eared terrier was sent to the University of Michigan Medical Center by her owner last summer for relief of her condition. There, she received anti-histamines, epinephrine, balms and ointments. She did get relief, and she was so grateful she adopted the doctor who treated her.

He is Dr. Roy Patterson, an instructor in internal medicine and a member of the team of allergy researchers at Michigan. Pansy is now one of his most trusted assistants, lending herself enthusiastically to any research project he has in mind.

Patterson said, "In discovering what helps Pansy, we will learn more about helping humans who are suffering allergies. If we can help her, we can help anybody."

DUANE JONES

Hoosiers Can Swap Lincoln for Jones

HAVE YOU NOTICED the close resemblance between Abraham Lincoln and me?

It's truly remarkable.

I'm not referring to our unattractive faces, or of our devotion to hard work.

It's true that he was once President of the U. S., and I was once president of the Huntington County Boys' 4-H Club.

But that was only coincidental.

I'm thinking of our great love for honesty.

I thought of this Monday while driving behind a car from Indiana. The car had a 1959 auto tag and at the bottom was the inscription "Lincoln Year."

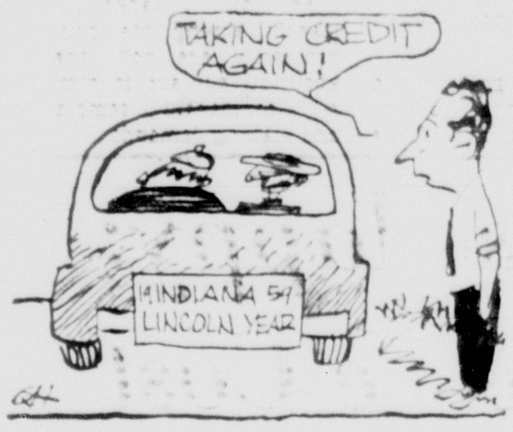
"Ye gads," I thought. "Now those Hoosiers are taking credit for Abe Lincoln."..

* * *

Indiana Accident

IT'S TRUE THAT ABE LIVED in Indiana several years. But he wasn't born there.

And his going there was accidental. I know that to be a fact.



Abe was living in Kentucky and was returning a borrowed law book one night when he got on the wrong trail and ended up in Southern Indiana. He didn't go there by choice.

The reason I mention this is that I'm an honest man and am irked with all the claims being made by Hoosiers.

Ask any Hoosier the origin of basketball and he'll tell you Indiana. That's not true.

He'll also tell you football was invented by Knute Rockne and that the first game was played at Notre Dame. That's not true, either.

* * *

A Lot of Corn

HOOSIERS ALSO CLAIM all rights to the song "Stardust," just because Hoagy Carmichael, a Brooklyn boy, wrote it while flunking a music appreciation course at Indiana University.

A fellow from Indiana will bet you his last team of mules that auto racing originated at the Indianapolis Speedway.

Hoosiers also take credit for corn. This, too, is a falsehood, but I must admit (or confess) that a lot of corn comes out of Indiana.

But the people there have no right to claim Abe Lincoln. That's not fair. They can claim me, if they like. I was born there. And I'll probably go down in history as the 20th century Lincoln.

But they shouldn't lead the rest of the world to believe Indiana produced the real Lincoln.

They should consider the feelings of people who live in Lincoln, Neb.

McArthur High Scores ...10-Acre Touchdown

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

FRAN

McARTHUR HIGH SCHOOL, which has been hoping to gain a football stadium, now has lost its gridiron — temporarily.

The football field is located on 10 acres which School Board officials recently discovered actually is the property of a developing company.

However, McArthur's loss is also its gain, says A. G. Ryll principal.

J. N. McArthur, prominent dairyman, who donated all the property for the school has turned over another 10 acres for an athletic field.

"The swith is to our advantage," Ryll commented. "The new land fronts on Hollywood Blvd., and is much closer to the school."

Meanwhile, the football team, which has been dressing in the gym and hiking to a field some distance from the school, is hoping the new tract will be cleared in time for spring practice.

And Ryll is relieved that work on a long-sought stadium had not begun on the old plot.

Lack of a stadium has been the biggest setback to the athletic program, he said.

"Our program is very popular but we have to use the stadium in Hollywood for our games. That really cuts down on attendance," he said.

After the football field is cleared, Ryll plans to renew efforts to get a stadium here.

"I am hoping that civic clubs will help with the project," he said.

VOICE OF BROWARD

Opera Language Switch A Note-Worthy Project

THE EDITOR: It was exceedingly interesting to read the article concerning James C. Thompson and his views on changing the language of the opera.

Mr. Thompson's recommendations for making the opera more easily understood and popular are very much appreciated, however, I think it should be pointed out that the question of translation of text from the original to English should be more carefully considered. Mr. Thompson obviously approached this subject from the office of business management—and such statements cannot readily fall in line with the musician or singer.

When opera music is composed the composer has the sound and the intonation, rhythm and characteristics of the language he intends using in mind—thus the words and music are welded together to make harmonious, complete music with both orchestration and voice. When the libretto is changed the result is usually discord between singing and music, and most of the value of the work is lost . . . or, at its best, is merely an imitation of very different sounds trying to fit into the original musical score. Translations of German opera libretto into English have never been successful because of the vast gaps between the two languages.

Of course, it is not impossible to use suitable words in translation to fit the musical notes and phrases — but in such cases the exact meaning, dramatic force and poetic intention is then completely twisted, and we are in fact unable to hear the work in anything like the manner intended by the composer.

Similarly we might say that ballet choreography should be changed and more easily understandable steps included—or we might imagine the Parthenon rebuilt with modern sculptures. Such innovations may bring more speedy popularity to ballet and architecture and, in the same way, English words might make opera more acceptable, but only at the cost of ruination of the works performed.

Although some translated works are heard all over the world, it is known that among the true connoisseurs only original libretti are demanded, and in most opera houses the operas are heard as intended by their creators. Sir Thomas Beecham is most adamant about this same topic and he flatly refused to use any other than original score and text.

It is understandable that works given in a "foreign" language do not "put over" the dramatic plot when the aduience are unable to follow the words. But usually, as with the ballet, a written synopsis is included in the program, and this is usually sufficient to follow a good outline of the play. After all, opera is not just drama . . . Essentially it is musical and should be kept exactly that way.

The solution to Mr. Thompson's problem — which I also have at heart—is to encourage more opera composition with English as the original language, and we can then leave Verdi, Mozart and Tschaikowsky just as they are and in all their glory.

Next June, in England, Roger Sacheveral Coke, a very brilliant British composer, is giving the premiere of his new opera "The Cenci" based on Shelley's dramatic poem. This is a rare occasion, but with the progressive growth of opera appreciation there now seems a more urgent need to develop new opera composers . . . And if every word must be understood, then let us hope these developments can take place here and in Great Britain.

Yours Sincerely,
LEONARD M. BOUCHER
Director: Fort Lauderdale Ballet and Drama Theatre

Pie Sliced Into Too Many Cuts

EDITOR: Henry Kinney's article in today's issue (Jan. 30) hardly puts the finger on the more basic reason for the current business slump, which . . . by the way, is not the exclusive plan of the hotels . . .

Retail business outlets in common with the hotels and motels, abound in such great numbers that what once was shared by the comparative few, is now split among the many. We are top heavy. The pie is sliced into too many cuts . . .

With this the cost of operation continues to climb. I don't know the answer, but the law of supply and demand will ultimately solve it for all of us.

A-spiring Plastic

GRAFTON, Mass. —(UPI) —A plastic church steeple, permanently colored and decay-proof, has been installed atop the new St. Andrew's Episcopal Church here.

The steeple, designed by architect Doak Martin, weighs only 600 pounds and is 27 feet tall.

The Rev. A. Raymond Smith, pastor of St. Andrews, said cost of the all-plastic steeple was only about two-thirds that of a regular steeple and will provide a major saving in painting and maintenance bills.

City Manager's Aide at Home In New Job

By PAT MANGAN
Herald Staff Writer

Selden Kent
... glad to be back

FORT LAUDERDALE — Selden Kent came home when he came to work as Fort Lauderdale's assistant city manager.

He's a true Floridain, a native of Miami, a graduate of Miami High where he was president of the senior class, and of the University of Florida where he took undergraduate and graduate work in public administration.

Kent, who's 28, is joining a staff noteworthy for its youth in responsible positions. City Manager William J. Veeder is 35, Administrative Assistant Roger Line is 24, Assistant City Attorney Robert O'Toole is 33, and Frank Patrizio, an intern in the office from the University of Pennsylvania, is 26.

Kent, in the best Chamber of Commerce style, has admiring things to say about Florida's weather in comparison to that in his last post, Phoenix. The winters are warmer here, he avers.

His wife, Frances, born in Florida and reared in Arizona, is already enthusiastic about coming here.

"I know I'm going to like it," she said as they drove into town.

The Kents, who have two children, Caroline, 2, and Davie, three months, are living at 400 SW 12th St.

Kent describes himself as a frustrated sports writer who still is an interested follower of all sports. He plays tennis and golf, Frances enjoys swimming and they both are enthusiastic about bridge.

Nothing would please Kent more than to remain in Florida with a city of his own to manage some day.

"But I'm in no hurry to move on. I've got a lot to learn first," he said.

He finds the growth problems here amazing.

"We thought it was staggering in Phoenix, but this outstrips it," he said.

This is not his first experience in Fort Lauderdale. Kent interned here in the summer of 1952 before completing his graduate work. He went on to a year's administrative internship in Phoenix, spent two years on the staff of the International City Managers' Association in Chicago, then returned to Phoenix as an administrative analyst before moving back to Florida.

Line Drawn On Pursuit In Deerfield

DEERFIELD BEACH — This city has one additional complication to the "hot pursuit" problem that plagues most Broward police departments which have no such right.

While most are concerned with getting authority to pursue traffic offenders across city lines, Deerfield is concerned about crossing county lines.

Any northbound hot pursuit hits Palm Beach County about the same time it passes the north city limits.

Assistant City Attorney Richard Morrision said he is seeking a clarification on the county-line matter from Attorney General Richard Ervin.

The right to hot pursuit will be one of the charter changes Deerfield will seek from the Legislature.

Morrision wants to be certain the right will extend into Palm Beach County.

Bolita Nearly Dormant in Broward County

Cuban Revolution, Arrest Rate Cited

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

Broward County bolita operations are nearly dormant, city and county police reported Wednesday.

But they said bolita could spring up again overnight.

The sheriff's office and police departments throughout the county reported "very few" arrests in recent weeks.

"We haven't made a case in several months," said Hollywood police Chief Phil Thompson.

"It looks like the bolita people are switching to moonshine operations," commented Sheriff J. A. Lloyd.

"We've confiscated four stills in the last 10 days, but seldom make a bolita arrest."

Fort Lauderdale Police Chief Lester Holt said the discontinuance of bolita number throwing in Cuba apparently has slowed up activities here.

"I understand they're using numbers from winning horse track tickets," he continued. "But I'm told it hasn't been successful. The people who play bolita don't trust the new system, and I don't blame them."

Holt said his men seldom find bolita tickets on Negroes arrested on other charges. "That used to be common, but no more," he added.

Detective George Decker of the Pompano Beach Police Department and Chief Arthur Cole of Deerfield Beach reported "little activity."

"We've made several arrests this winter, but bolita certainly isn't rampant," Decker added. "There's very little of it up here."

"There's none to speak of here," commented the Deerfield chief. "We haven't had any trouble in several months."

Chief Thompson pointed out that there aren't many Negroes in Hollywood, but didn't deny that bolita exists.

"They all play it, but I don't think it's thrown here," he added. "We haven't made a bolita arrest in several months. They're keeping it under cover."

Sheriff Lloyd said his vice squad "has been keeping a close check," but hasn't found much since the Cuban revolution.

"It's not a serious problem at this time, but I can't say the game is losing its popularity," Lloyd added.

"It could spring up overnight. But I don't think so. We've been pushing hard and I think we've got it under control."

Police Chief Robert Aiken of Hallandale said he believed the game was "nonexistent" in his town.

"There are two reasons for it," he added. "The Cuban revolution, and the fact that we made 40 bolita arrests in the last six or seven months of 1958."

Aiken warned, however, that "it'll be back if we don't hold it in check."

Rescue Workers Needed for New Civil Defense

By ART ROBINSON
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — The county's new Civil Defense director has announced the entire setup is being revamped so that it can function in the event of a natural disaster or one caused by enemy action.

Oliver Lovendahl appealed for volunteers for police and sheriff's auxiliary units to provide more manpower.

More volunteers, he said, also are needed for rescue units, communications work and warden services. He urged the county's fire chiefs to start training programs for rescue workers.

Lovendahl said the county has not had a civil defense organization that could function and he hopes one will be ready in a few weeks. It will need the cooperation of the various city commissions in making men and equipment available.

He named chairmen to head the various divisions and asked them to prepare plans which can be put into effect when disaster strikes.

Sheriff J. A. Lloyd was put in charge of the law enforcement division, assisted by Fort Lauderdale Police Chief J. Lester Holt. Lovendahl said he will ask the American Legion to contribute men and material for rescue units. Other appointments made Monday night:

Ralph Nelson, Oakland Park, wardens chairman, James E. Knight, Fort Lauderdale, communications; John V. Kipp, supervisor of transportation for the School Board, transportation; and C. R. Saunders, manpower. The Red Cross chapter will handle welfare work.

A Health Center For Healthy

Believed to be the first of its kind in the country, the purpose of the center is to show that senility is not an inevitable result of growing old. It's for healthy persons 60 years old and over.

Dr. John J. Hanlon, director of Public Health Services for the Philadelphia Department of Health, said the center will prove that senility can be prevented through the kind of services it offers.

Included in its program are group discussions, arts and crafts and other forms of recreation geared to the needs of older persons. It also provides services for health rehabilitation and employment for the oldsters.

Hanlon said the staff includes an occupational therapist, recreation leaders, a psychiatrist, psychologist, psychiatric social worker, public health nurse, physician and a clerk.

Unit to Hear Palsy Director

FORT LAUDERDALE — Dr. J. Gordon McAllister, medical director of United Cerebral Palsy of Broward County, will speak before the parents' unit Monday at the UCP Center, 1000 S. Federal Hwy.

He will discuss surgery for cerebral palsy. The unit meets at 8:30 p.m. All parents of children with cerebral palsy are invited.

Masons, Shrine Plan Barbecue

DEERFIELD BEACH — Plans are nearly complete for a gigantic barbecue Feb. 21 to be sponsored by the Deerfield Beach Masonic Lodge and the Gold Coast Shrine Club.

The event is slated for Pioneer Park, and barbecue will be served from noon till 8 p.m. Tickets are available from members of both clubs.

Lions to Sponsor Valentine Meal

WEST HOLLYWOOD — The West Broward Lions Club Auxiliary will sponsor a St. Valentine's day dinner, Saturday at the Miramar Elementary School.

Proceeds will go toward sight conservation.

Jaycees Ask Sunday Curbs

FORT LAUDERDALE — The Fort Lauderdale Junior Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution discouraging the opening of "excessive commercial enterprises" on Sunday.

The resolution suggested Lauderdale and Broward citizens limit Sunday business to "reasonable proportion and along the lines of good taste."

You Can Pick Up Phone And Beauty Will Grow

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — In a short time you'll be able to order plants and shrubs just like you now call the butcher and order meat.

It'll work something like this:

"Hello.

"Is this Joe's Garden Nursery?

"This is Mary Smith. I'd like to order a prime hibiscus, two choice azaleas, and a fancy bougainvillea."

When you hang up the nurseryman will prepare your order and deliver it to your home.

"It's part of a new grading system being set up at the University of Florida," explained Lewis Watson, assistant county agricultural agent. "It should be in effect in a couple months."

Watson referred to the system in telling of advances being made in the state's nursery business.

"It's becoming big business," he added. "Sales have almost doubled in the last five years."

There are approximately 230 nurseries in Broward County alone, and last year local sales exceeded $3.5 million. The state's total was estimated at $33 million.

Watson said the growth has been healthy. "Competition is always good," he added. "The growth and expansion are eliminating some nurseries which shouldn't be in business."

"Watson was referring, he said, to nurseries which "are only interested in making a fast buck."

He added, however, that most local nurseries are operated by conscientious people who want to satisfy their customers.

Watson, who spends most of his time working with nurserymen and garden supply stores, pointed out that his personal services are available to any Broward County resident waiting them.

The agent is an expert on plant production, fertilization, insect and disease control, and other phases of plant life.

Watson pointed out that chinch bug control is still one of the area's biggest problems.

"They've become immune to new insecticides," he explained. "They thrive on dry lawns."

Watson warned, however, that wet lawns are equally dangerous.

He said a person should water lawns during winter months only when necessary — once every week or two. During summer months, a person shouldn't sprinkle more than one every four days.

It's Dedication Day For 8-Year-Old School

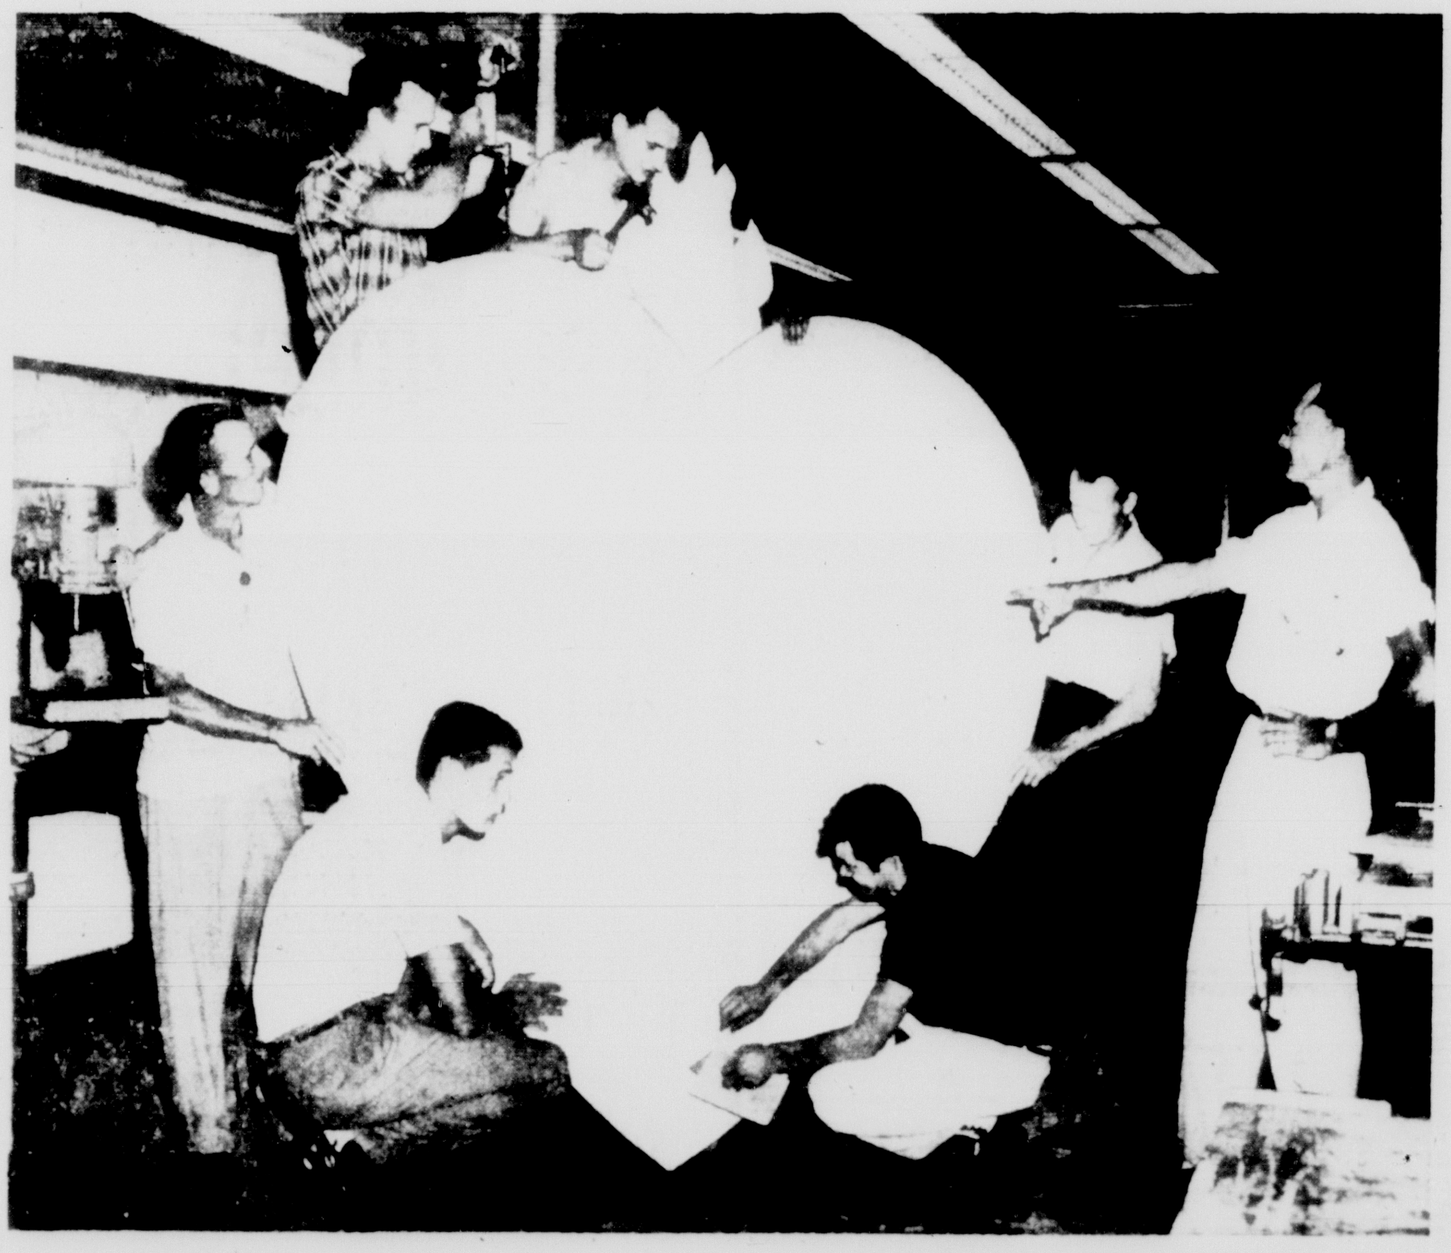
FORT LAUDERDALE — Eight-year-old Croissant Park Elementary School finally will be dedicated today.

Officials of the school and the Parent-Teacher Association will take the opportunity afforded by the recent completion of the cafetorium and five additional classrooms to dedicate the original building, completed in 1951.

School Board Chairman Wesley Parrish will deliver the principal talk. Present board members have been invited, plus three men who were on the board in 1951— A. J. Musselman of Fort Lauderdale, R. A. Poole of Pompano Beach and Jake Watson of Hollywood.

PTA President David F. Dix will conduct the program, starting at 8 p.m.

Chester Scott will accept the school for the community, John Edwards for the pupils, Mrs. Hubert C. Smith for the PTA, and Mrs. Clara Louise Smith, principal, for the school staff.



Helping Hearts

Ex-Guard: Walls DO a Prison Make

By PAT MANGAN
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Lt. Joe Mackey, administrative assistant to the police chief, spent two years at Alcatraz.

He also put in eight months in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth and another eight months in the Washington, D.C., district jail.

Mackey was a "correctional officer" or guard.

His charges included such notorious criminals as Alvin Karpis, who was an associate of "Ma" Barker, Machine-Gun Kelly and "the Birdman of Leavenworth," who raised canaries in his Leavenworth cell until he was transferred to the medical section of Alcatraz.

Kelly, Mackey said, was an intelligent man who created no disciplinary problem and who probably would have stood a chance of parole had he not become so notorious before he was jailed.

The work of a prison guard is "trying if you're too wrapped up in the welfare of your fellow man," Mackey said. "There's misery before your eyes all the time."

The work lacks a sense of accomplishment, too, he said. "Once the prisoners get on the path, too many stay on it and come back to prison."

A notable exception was the man who served 18 years in Alcatraz until his full release, went to work in a bar his wife owned and never got in trouble again.

The greatest crosses a prisoner bears are lack of freedom and the deadly boredom of an unvarying routine, Mackey said. Other factors are secondary, he believes — even constant surveillance, bad food and separation from the opposite sex.

In Alcatraz, which has become a punishment prison, surveillance is constant. Two armed guards accompany prisoners to the shower.

Reaction to surveillance and boredom takes odd twists, Mackey said. Food becomes an obsession. Prisoners gamble their desserts on the outcome of sporting events. They connive for things like extra soap, articles they don't even want.

One Leavenworth prisoner was so overcome by routine that only a month before he was to complete a 15-year sentence, he ran off from the honor farm. Four days later he came back voluntarily.

Lt. Joe Mackey
. . . 'misery all the time'

He hadn't been anywhere in particular, hadn't talked to anyone. He just succumbed to an overwhelming desire for a change of scene.

Alcatraz is a grim island with a population of hardened criminals, "the end of the line for escape artists and ill-adjusted prisoners."

Yet once in a while they can laugh.

Mackey recalls the five-year-old son of a prison employe who lived on the island. Some families do. The little boy wandered down to a gate that separated his play yard from the trustees' work area.

The gate was closed by an ordinary padlock. "If I unlock this gate, will you make a break for it?" the little boy asked a burly prisoner.

Two popular concepts about prisons are not true of the institutions he worked in, Mackey said. Gurads do not show favoritism to prisoners; it would mean serious trouble, he said, though a certain amount of congeniality may develop.

Secondly, Mackey said, leaders among the prisoners ordinarily are not "sneaky" about it, but are loud-mouthed, constantly complaining and making demands.

Deerfield Mayor Now Available

DEERFIELD BEACH—Mayor Paul Stalter has announced he'll maintain daily office hours at City Hall from Tuesday through Friday, to accommodate the public.

"I'll be available at City Hall from 10 a.m. till noon each of those days," he told local residents at a recent City Commission meeting.

He's Happy: Disease Cost Only a Leg

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — A rare disease, almost unheard of in the U.S. has cost a Hollywood man his leg.

Had it not been for a lucky break, it might have cost him his life.

A team of doctors who treated the mystery ailment for eights months said that cure of mycetoma pedis, sometimes called madura foot, is rare, short of amputation.

Odds were a million to one that it ever would be found here.

"Not more than 50 cases have ever been reported in the U.S.," said one of the physicians. "It is usually found in India or some areas in South America, Africa and Mexico.

"But this patient had never been out of the U.S. We can't figure out where he got it."

The disease is not contagious. Infection comes when an open wound is contacted by the germ, most often found in damp climates.

Doctors from here, Miami and St. Louis consulted over possible cures for the deadly fungus which eats through the skin muscle and bone until the infected limb deteriorates.

Last month they gave up the battle as a dangerous secondary infection set in and amputated the right leg.

"The doctors were wonderful," said the 30-year-old man as he left Memorial Hospital last week. "They are even helping me get an artificial leg."

A service case, he was treated free of charge during his lengthy hospitalization.

The disease causes gradual swelling and external sores on the affected parts, but it is not too painful.

Doctors said the patient apparently walked around for 10 months before he sought medical attention. Had he continued much longer infection could have killed, they said.

But last July, he fell from a ladder at work, breaking his ankle. When doctors checked the bone, they found the much more serious fungus.

"It was slowly eating his leg away," said one of the doctors.

Doctors theorize that the dangerous bug must have found its way to a Louisiana marshland where the man went on a hunting trip in October 1957.

As he strolled the woods, he scratched his leg against brush.

He paid no attention to the minor cut at that time, but doctors believe it may have cost him his leg.

A Chance For Ride To Moon

FORT LAUDERDALE — Man's first trip to the moon may originate from Fort Lauderdale next week.

The occasion is the annual Science Fair at Stranahan Junior High School, starting Tuesday and running through Friday.

"It could happen," laughed Rowland Conner, a teacher in charge of publicizing the fair.

"We're to have a number of space projects and they should be good if they're anything like those we had last year."

Conner said the fair will be open to adults from 7 to 9 p.m. each day.

Classifications include space, chemistry, zoology, botany, geology, electricity, magnetism, biology, conservation, mathematics and others.

Several hundred projects are expected.

Professional Help Listed

FORT LAUDERDALE — Companies seeking professional personnel were reminded Saturday to check with the State Employment Service.

The FSES reported that it placed more than 200 professional men and women in positions here in 1958. It now has some 500 applications on file from qualified technical, administrative and managerial employes.

Part of Normal Life

Pinball Machines Aid Mental Cases

PUEBLO, Colo. (UPI) — Pinball machines are helping psychiatrists and therapists to straighten tilted personalities at the Colorado State Hospital.

Hospital officials maintain that the devices, subject of frequent controversy in law enforcement circles, have great therapeutic value for the mentally disturbed.

The state mental institution now has 14 pinball machines which were donated by Denver County authorities who confiscated them for betting "payoffs." Otherwise the devices are legal in Colorado.

All the machines are installed in the hospital recreation hall.

"When the bells ring and the lights flash, we know someone is having fun," observes Mrs. Ward Lockhart, who has charge of rehabilitation.

She explained that the hospital rewires the machines so they can be operated without using coins.

Mrs. Lockhart pointed out that pinball machines are a type of recreation associated with normal life — not institutional life — and therein lies their chief therapeutic value.

TEENS TALKING

Biology Class Now 'Oyster' of Sophs

By MARY RUNYAN
Herald Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Dissecting those ugly little bivalve mullusks in biology class suddenly has taken on new charm for Lauderdale High sophs.

Especially for Kathy Zurburg and Pete Zwick, who Vicki Fuhrer and Bobbie Stevens report found a fancy pearl in a fresh-water clam recently.

According to Vicki this is real "wampum," which she explains is a modern-day slang term for money which actually dates back to the American Indians who used the shells of hard clams for money, calling them wampum.

It seems the fancy pearl, if more regularly shaped, would be worth about $350. Of course the young "moneybags" have certain ideas about that pearl, which to date must remain a secret to the column.

Vicki and Barb Roman tell us that it's time again for the Flying L Follies, which this year will be Feb. 21.

Theme is Musical Madcaps, with 20 clubs taking part in the affair, which everyone knows is highlighted by the crowning of 1959's Miss Fort Lauderdale High School.

A preliminary studentwide nomination has been held and the finalists voted. But the name of the winning Lauderdale High lovely won't be revealed until the big night, when she officially begins her reign.

This is the girl who for a week will symbolize the typical LHS gal and represent the school at public functions.

Saturday, being for sweethearts only, is the night of the Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y Sweetheart Dance at IOOF Hall. Various clubs have put up candidates for king and queen to be chosen that night. The Rovers will provide the music and there will be additional entertainment. Festivities begin at 7:30 p.m.

Pompano Beach Actors Organize

RAY JOHNSON excitedly reports that at last Pompano Beach High has its own chapter of Thespians (this is part of the National Honorary Drama Society and that he has been named president. Officers serving with Ray include Richard Smith, vice president; Terry Thompson, secretary-treasurer, and Richard Rieth, recorder.

Miss Martha Wray and Mrs. Helen Creech will be faculty sponsors of the new chapter.

The Parent-Teacher Student Association is sponsoring a square dance after its meeting tonight in the school auditorium. Annual tea, tossed by seniors for their parents, is scheduled Feb. 22.

Wheels Turning For Showboat

ELABORATE PLANS are in the making for the Anchor-Wheel clubs' presentation of the Stranahan Showboat Feb. 21 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

According to Carole Migdon, every club and member of the student body will have an opportunity to take part in the presentation in some form.

Carole reports that Miss Showboat's crowning will highlight the affair. Girls entering this contest are being sponsored by the various clubs at SHS but will be selected by the audience.

"Dear Diary" will be the Theme of the Future Homemakers' of America annual fashion show planned for next month.

Members of FHA and other members of the school will model outfits, which they either have made or have worn to the different school functions throughout the year.

Uniform Spirit Tops in Corps

FROM CONNIE ANDERSON at McArthur High we hear that if you take a good look at the cadet corps, you'll see dollar signs in the girls eyes, with uniforms shadowed behind. The girls have been working to earn new uniforms with bake sales, dances, car washes, and a future variety show.

At last the juniors are sure of class rings. Monday everything was in a turmoil as the juniors spent hours deciding on the type of ring.

Those cans of candy that have been on sale by the juniors are all gone. But the important thing is that now the junior prom is a sure thing—it was through candy proceeds that the dance will become a reality.

A new club has been organized by the McArthurites.

It's for boys only and is the Key Club. Officers are Roger Hass, president; Vernon Cope, vice president; Bill Burkhardt, treasurer, and Gerald Guinn, secretary.

Sue Pansa of McArthur High reports that a library club has been organized by Mrs. Helen White, the school's librarian. Its officers are Harold Buckland, president; Jerry Ellis, vice president; Val Broderson, secretary, and Gerry Strachen, reporter.

Halloween came a little late this year but the spooks were still around. Actually, the drill corps initiated their trainees. Their formal costumes were upside-down skirts, fruit hanging from their necks, dad's old T-shirts, painted faces, weird hair styles, rope belts and many other hideous ideas thought up by the marching band members.

TEENAGERS OF THE WEEK

STRANAHAN'S FRAN HARWELL, a junior, is in the spotlight this week for her many contributions to the school and her ability for leadership.

Fran is a member of the Juniorettes, is parliamentarian for Future Teachers of America, chairman of the art committee for the student council, and a junior exchange girl to Lauderdale High.

* * *

FOR A SECOND YEAR ANN BRENNAN takes a bow as teen of the week from Pompano Beach High. Ann is a senior, member of Keyettes, and a cheerleader. She is active in Tri-Hi-Y and in most campus organizations.

* * *

LHS SALUTES LYN CHAFFE as student of the week. A senior, Lyn has been a member of the Anchor Club for two years. She is parliamentarian of Press Club, is a member of Beta Tri-Hi-Y and is makeup editor for the high school paper, The Navigator. Lyn has been chairman of several successful class and club projects at LHS and also maintains high grades.

* * *

FRAN FEVRIER, a sophomore, is McArthur's choice this week. She is a member of the Spanish Club, Junior honor Society, secretary of her class and a member of the tennis team. But in addition she was chosen because of her sensational sense of humor and her sparkling personality.

CHARMING VISITOR in Fort Lauderdale was Wenzola McLendon, society editor of The Washington Post who has the White House on her social "beat." Mrs. McLendon vacationed here while her husband, Cmdr. J. B. McLendon, was at Port Everglades on his submarine tender. Offduty he was a guest with his wife at the Yankee Clipper Hotel.

Cypress Club to Go Polynesian

POMPANO BEACH — Members of the Cypress Creek Country Club, which is under construction, will give a Polynesian party at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Imperial House.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson E. Cole, 1100 S. Ocean Blvd., are co-chairmen of the event. Dinner and dancing will follow the cocktail party.

Committee members include Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Finnegan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nushawg and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Nichols.

The party is among a series planned during the months of construction of the private golf and country club, which will be located west of Pompano Beach.

Robert Horton, Good Western Scout
. . . 'hands' on TV lost their props

'Wagon' Loses Coffee, Smokes

NEW YORK —(UPI)— The rules for TV survival being what they are, the rugged characters in the "Wagon Train" western no longer can smoke cigarets or drink coffee.

Handsome Robert Horton, who plays Flint McCullough on the show, explained the ban during a recent visit to New York.

"We heard that a tea company was interested in sponsoring the show, so we gave up coffee-drinking. The cigarets went when someone decided it could hurt a future sale of the show — say, to a cigar company," said Horton.

By this line of reasoning, those horses may have to go. Auto sponsors, you know.

Anyhow, such prohibitions cause one to wonder what the "Wagon Train" actors do with their hands.

"Well," said Horton, "that's where the acting comes in. Ward Bond will be talking to me and I'll be picking splinters out of my hand. It's very casual-looking. Or else I'll tighten a saddle strap. We keep our hands occupied with realistic movements of one sort or another. It calls for a little more imagination, that's all."

A UCLA graduate who majored in dramatic literature, Horton is working on his master's thesis — a paper on modern theater. He is a native of Los Angeles and grew to his present-day proportions despite an apparently shaky start.

"By the time I was 14," he said, "I had three major operations, five broken arms, plus the usual childhood sicknesses. I was always laid up with something. But I've been lucky on 'Wagon Train.'

"No accidents to speak of — except the other day, when a horse fell on me. I was knocked out for a few seconds, but that was all. No broken bones."

He Played Montgomery And Fooled the Nazis

NEW YORK (UPI)— Clifton James, an elderly Englishman with sharply-defined facial features, was having a quiet meal in a restaurant when a stranger walked over, leaned down and asked in a loud voice, "Is it or isn't it?"

"No, it isn't," James replied in a matter-of-fact tone.

"Damn!" shouted the stranger. "You've just lost me a round of drinks."

James, an actor, is used to this, for his resemblance to Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery is remarkable. It afforded him the dangerous honor of working as Monty's double for five months during the pre-invasion planning of 1944.

After the war and his impersonation of Monty were well behind him, James wrote a book about his experience and the book, "I Was Monty's Double," now has been translated into a motion picture with the same title. James plays his wartime role in the jazzed-up film version, which stars John Mills and Cecil Parker.

The true-life story began when British Intelligence agents saw a picture of James in a newspaper and promptly snatched him away from his wife and his desk in the Royal Army Pay Corps.

"They told me I was to play Montgomery," James said during a recent visit to New York. "They told me he was an awful man but I looked just like him and I said, 'Thank you very much.'"

The idea was for James, as Montgomery, to visit Gibraltar and North Africa and, by word and deed, make certain enemy agents pick up the impression that the Allied Second Front would be opened in the south of France rather than at Normandy.

The ruse worked, as shown by post-war reports. But it worked because James learned his part well and played it perfectly.

He studied Montgomery's every move, examined every voice characteristic. James had to give up smoking, since Monty couldn't tolerate cigarette smoke.

He had to learn the rudiments of being a general and, because of a World War I wound that left him with only four fingers on his right hand, James had to wear a plastic finger.

"There was nine years' difference in our ages," said James, "and I think I look more like him now than I did then. But once they put on a beret, I was able to pass muster physically. Our height was exact — 5 feet, 9-inches. But Monty is a brisk character, quick-moving, like a bird. He has a powerful personality and I had to rise up to it because my own personality is not that of an army general."

When he had learned his role, James was flown to Gibraltar and exposed to enemy agents. "I remember some German agents looked me over very carefully at Gibraltar. They were checking my battle ribbons. If one was missing, or out of place, they'd have known it and our little scheme would have fizzled.

"I kept talking about Plan 303 when I was with the brass. There was no such thing, of course, but we made sure the Nazis heard about Plan 303."

When D-Day put Allied troops on French soil via the Normandy beaches, James was unceremoniously stripped of his general's uniform and flown, in frayed civilian clothing, to London from Cairo.

He was congratulated by everyone from Prime Minister Churchill on down and ordered back to his regular outfit — with instructions to say not a word to anyone.

Now that the wraps are off, he's enjoying the experience for the first time.

New Categories?

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Officials for Hollywood's coveted "Oscar" are expected to add two categories by next year. One will be for best comedian or comedienne and one for best musical picture.

Film 'a Flop'

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — The documentary film that Roberto Rossellini made in India (which brought on the scandal of his romance with a married woman and subsequent troubles with Ingrid) is being termed "a complete flop" by Rome critics.

Hedy Lamarr Explains Illness

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Hedy Lamarr, ill and broke after five husbands and little happiness, says her illness has stemmed from emotional shock starting with the serious bicycle accident of her son.

The Kremlin Gets Theater

MOSCOW —(AP)— The 60-year-old Moscow Art Theater won the honor of opening the new 1,200 seat theater within the Kremlin.

It was picked to present N. Pogodin's play "The Kremlin Chimes" there on the eve of the 41st anniversary of the October revolution, Nov. 6.

The new air-conditioned theater was rebuilt from the former Sverdlov club and is the first showhouse inside the Kremlin walls.

Jayne Mansfield Likes Spending

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Jane Mansfield is poo-pooing the alarm of friends over the way she and Mickey Hargitay are spending money re-decorating Rudy Vallee's old Bel Air mansion they purchased.

"Well, that's why they print money," said Jane, "so people can spend it."

Ballet Dancers, The Leonard Bouchers
. . . they're training daughter, Odette, 12

The Boucher Family Really on Its Toes

By MARGARET WALKER
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Show a coal miner a ballet he can understand and he'll like it.

Outstanding English Ballet Dancer Leonard Boucher, whose wife is Ballerina Helene Mladova, presented a ballet in a mining district in England which was so widly acclaimed the miners stood cheering on their chairs.

Boucher, who moved to Fort Lauderdale recently with his wife and 12-year-old daughter, Odette, produced the first full-length ballet on television for the British Broadcasting Co. In 1952 this was a new medium being brought before a tremendous audience.

"What do they want to see?" This was a weighty question for Boucher, who wrote an original script, designed the sets and costumes and choreographed the entire production.

"I considered first the male viewer," said the dancer, who discarded a pure classical ballet in favor of something the people knew about. Since army life was familiar to men, he reasoned, he wrote a story about it and set the ballet within the framework of his play.

"It was so popular it was declared the greatest ballet ever to be presented on TV," said Boucher.

Dedicated to his profession, the dancer hopes to create here a ballet and drama theater which will coordinate the two arts.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Boucher have been trained by the world's greatest teachers and have danced in many outstanding ballets all over the world. Both appeared in the popular motion picture, "The Red Shoes."

One of Boucher's teachers was Volkova, ballet mistress of the Royal Danish Ballet.

"There's nothing mysterious and highbrow about ballet," declared Boucher, who also points out that there's nothing effeminate about male dancers.

"I have taught many athletes — skaters, boxers, baseball players," he said, "and all of them said it was the hardest thing they had ever done."

Male dancers must be trained by men, he said, for this strenuous form of physical art requires extreme masculinity. Boucher describes the male dancer's role as having "a very masculine elegance."

In contrast, the ballerina's role is one of lightness, grace, fluidity of movement . . . "She is ethereal, hardly exists, whereas the male dancer must be more technical. The art of the ballerina consists in concealing her technique," he added.

In the training the Bouchers will give here, music will play a vital part. "As someone said, 'Dancing reveals all the mystery that music conceals.' The artist has to interpret that mystery and give it to the audience in movement."

The Bouchers came to this country to perform and lecture for the Minneapolis Institute of Arts. In Chicago and New York, Boucher was choreographer and director of a ballet-mime set to music. They came to Fort Lauderdale a few months ago.

"The setting here is conducive to artistic creation," said Boucher, who is writing a film script set along the streets and canals of Fort Lauderdale.

Arrangers Sing New Tune

Records Spinning A Money Melody

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Say what you will about our popular records, the fact remains that they are making money for an army of singers, guitar players, large and small record companies, agents, publishers and song writers.

And now the arrangers want a share of the pie.

The American Society of Music Arrangers, an elite organization made up of about 250 members, has started nagging the record companies for a system of payment based on royalties. At present, arrangers are paid a flat fee. The royalties go to the performers, publishers and song writers.

Eddy Manson, a noted harmonicist and ASMA president, is the driving force behind the campaign, which recently picked up the all-important support of the American Federation of Musicians.

work," said Manson. "And all music must be arranged — even rock 'n' roll. We are the co-composers, for we take the melody and decide how it should be played. The ideas for hit records, the sounds, the overall design of the record is the arranger's responsibility.

"Yet, whether the record sells in the hundreds or the millions, he is paid a flat fee. Why, he doesn't even get his name printed on the label most of the time.

"We believe the time has come for the arranger's element of creativity to be rewarded. If the arranger is cut in on the royalty scale, his added responsibility can only serve to improve the quality of our popular music."

Indications are that the arrangers will have a tough time getting royalties. In recently completed negotiations, the record companies did agree to list the arranger's name on each record and to give him a 20 per cent pay raise spread over a five-year period.

They also agreed to a system of repayments if pieces they arranged years ago are re-recorded in the future.

"They agreed to everything, it seems, but the thing we want most — a royalty system," Manson said.

Dean Martin Wanted For 'Seven Saints'

HOLLYWOOD — (UPI) — Attention Dean Martin in Las Vegas! You're wanted for still another movie. Howard Hawks, who directed you in "Rio Bravo" wants you again for "Gold of Seven Saints" by Steve Frazier.

Ever since Jack Warner saw "Rio Bravo" he made up his mind he'd like to keep Howard Hawks right in the family, so he's signed him to a multiple picture deal. Right off the bat, Hawks signified he wanted the "Saints" story to direct.

Knowing how much you liked working with Howard in "Rio Bravo," I just kind of have a feeling that Hawks has a better chance than any other producer now bidding for your services of getting you, Dino. Another little tip I can give on this is that Leigh Brackett has the script ready to go anytime.

★ ★ ★

JOE MANKIEWICZ has been in town very quietly conferring with Sam Spiegel about directing "Suddenly Last Summer." This is Elizabeth Taylor's next picture, and she will have Vivien Leigh as her co-star.

I told you that Sam was dickering with Vivien many years ago. In fact, he told me I broke the story first.

So far no leading man has been named for "Suddenly Last Summer." Elizabeth will have Delbert Mann directing for "Two for the Seesaw," the Ray Stark-Eliot Hyman epic, unless unexpected happens. "Seesaw" follows "Summer" for Liz.

★ ★ ★

FELICIA FARR, who hasn't checked in at her home base since she made "3:10 to Yuma," is back on the Columbia lot to play opposite Cornel Wilde in "Dancing Buckets" (what's a dancing bucket?)

Anyway, it appears that Felicia is going to be kept busy because she reports to Otto Preminger about playing Mary in "Anatomy of a Murder" immediately after the "Buckets" job.

By the way, if anybody had any doubts of the way Felicia feels about Jack Lemmon, and vice versa, they found out about these two at the Milton Berles' wingding last week. Such smooching on the dance floor! And at the table.

MY DAUGHTER Harriet returned from Europe full of praise for Haya Harareet in "Ben Hur." Haya is in Tel-Aviv now with her engineer-husband, but she'll arrive here in June to discuss the Frank Sinatra picture, "Never So Few." Her husband plans to accompany her to do some additional work at the California School of Technology.

The name Haya Harareet means "mountain animal" in Hebrew. When she was first signed they wanted to change her name, but Willy Wyler pointed out that when Gina Lollobrigida was first signed there was difficulty with her name, but later there were no complaints.

Willy, by the way, whose contract was up in January for "Ben Hur," remains at MGM for the remainder of the year.

★ ★ ★

DELIGHTED that Stanley Kramer Co. likes Ava Gardner, and I am glad she's changing her tactics — if it's true.

Anyhoo, George Thomas Jr., who is a reliable publicity director and a good friend of mine, writes: "You were right about the Melbourne weather, but wrong about Ava Gardner's disposition in your recent story about 'On the Beach.' Ava, Gregory Peck, Fred Astaire, Tony Perkins and Donna Anderson worked outdoors through the worst local heat wave in 50 years. Ava took the heat and the work as well as anyone."

I am glad Ava took the heat, but I must say the clipping George sent me about Ava's popularity with the Australian press doesn't prove a thing. It's merely a story about the filming of the picture.

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random.

Mrs. Patia Power, who still hasn't been told of her son Tyrone's death, has gone to Boston to live with her daughter, Mrs. Anne Hardenbergh.

Rhonda Fleming worked in the most dramatic scenes of "The Big Circus" with a burning fever and feeling awful — she had flu.

At the Harry Karl dinner at which he was made "man of the year" by the Leukemia Research Foundation of California, the Ritz brothers previewed their new act.

★ ★ ★

Jerry Wald's protege, Pat Crest, has been tested by Warner Bros., for "A Summer Place."

Tony Martin's pals and admirers have been visiting the Desert Inn. It seems funny to say Tony Martin and the Desert Inn, he was at the Flamingo for so long and still owns 2½ per cent.

While Zsa Zsa Gabor was at Lake Tahoe for 10 days engagement, she toiled over a hot tape recorder, pouring out her memoirs for the book which Gerold Frank is co-authoring.

Dean Martin, who has subbed for the ailing Frank Sinatra time after time, opened his show at the Sands with the line, "I don't know whether I'm here for Frank or for my own show."

Brigitte Bardot sings! She and the boyfriend, Sasha Distel, will record "I Remember It Well" from "Gigi," in Paris for Phillips Records.

Dan O'Herlihy, whose car was wrecked on his way to the showing of "Imitation of Life" in which he appears, has been promised a private showing any time he wishes.

Lauderdale Waitress To Try Channel Swim

By DICK MEYER
Herald Staff Writer

Broward Sports

FORT LAUDERDALE — A Fort Lauderdale waitress today will dip into the ocean in front of the Lauderdale Beach Hotel, where she works, for a round trip swim to Lauderdale-By-The-Sea.

Christa Herbig, 22, is stepping up her training program for a September try at swimming the English Channel.

Ocean City, N.J., where she formerly worked, is interested in sponsoring the channel swim, but Miss Herbig would as soon represent Fort Lauderdale or another area sunspot.

Christa came to Fort Lauderdale because friends told her ours is Florida's best beach.

She came to this country four years ago from the old German university city of Heidelberg.

The stocky (140 pounds and 5-foot-3) fraulein wants to become the first German girl to conquer the channel.

"This is the highest a swimmer can do," she explained, with a strong hint of accent.

She dives into the Atlantic for a two-hour swim. Longer today, as the nautical journey is being lenthened "for time is getting short."

The auburn-haired girl isn't concerned that the channel bid will match her against talented masculine swimmers.

Christa is used to beating men. She did last July 26 in winning a 23-mile marathon swim from Mays Landing, N.J., to Ocean City.

The trip lasted 14 hours and 40 minutes. About half way down, the tide turned, and Christa's trainer waved her into a cove, where she treaded water for several hours until conditions improved. By that time, the men had tired from fighting the current, and Christa came in first.

Miss Herbig doesn't discourage easily. She went 10 miles in a marathon swim last summer using the breaststroke, the only stroke she knew at the time. She now knows the freestyle crawl, supposedly best for distance swimming.

The new Fort Lauderdale resident is what Americans call an outdoor girl and what Europeans call normal. Before leaving Germany, she devoted vacations to such outings as a four-week bike hike to Italy with a girl friend. They slept in a tent.

She will work here until April, and then go to Tampico, Mexico, for a 31-mile race. A 42-mile tune-up competition at Lake George, N.Y., will follow.

The easily-smiling aquatic miss figures her channel swim attempt will cost about $2,000 — mostly for transportation. She hopes for a sponsor, but is saving every penny she can from her salary and tips.

Christa will spend about a month in either France or England before the September race. She doesn't know whether tide and weather conditions will dictate a France-to-England or an England-to-France crossing.

"I've put on 20 pounds since last summer," she admits, "but I won't try to lose weight until after I swim the channel. Maybe I should say until after I TRY to swim the channel — but I think I will make it. I'm going to try awfully hard."

Christa pooh-poohed the idea that swimming helps develop the figure and takes off pounds.

She chuckled at the thought.

"Did you ever take a good look at a duck?"

First Pro Game

LEXINGTON, Ky. —(UPI) — The Phoenix Handicap, which is run at Keeneland, is the oldest stakes race still run in the U. S. It was first held here in 1831.

Dragons to Get Diamond Soon

FORT LAUDERDALE — Paul Kruse, Stranhan athletic director, plans to schedule Dragon home games this year on a baseball field being constructed on the school campus.

"The diamond won't be ready by March 20, when our season starts, but we intend to be playing there later in the season," Kruse said.

The new sports facility, north of the football practice field, is being built by the School Board maintenance department. It will be 300 feet down the left and right field lines to a four-foot chain link fence.

A sprinkling system already is completed.

Coach Harold Beasley's nine will use Holiday Park for practice and for early season games until the job is finished.

Little League teams also are eyeing the field as a possible site for their summer contests.

Because of Stranahan's improved track and field accommodations, the school was named to host the Broward County meet April 13-14. Asphalt runways have been added for pole vault and broad jump events.

The school's long-range plans include a swimming pool. A new gymnasium was opened this basketball season.

Bosco in State Meet

They'd Get Lift Out of Team Title

FORT LAUDERDALE — Coach Al Christensen will take a five-member Bosco Club team to Jacksonville Feb. 21 for the state weightlifting championships.

Christensen is pleased particularly with the progress of Lon Holy, whose recent two-hand snatch of 260 pounds unofficially broke by 15 pounds the Florida heavyweight record. Holy's three lifts of 845 pounds matched the state mark.

The Fort Lauderdale team will be comprised of Don Barton, 148-pound class; Walt Jacobsen, 181-pound class; Phil Herzog, 198-pound class; and Holy and Bill Ruthven, heavyweights.

Some Bosco members will compete in the Mr. Florida physique contest March 28 at the Young Circle Amphitheater in Hollywood. A Miss Venus beauty contest also will be decided at that time.

Christensen and his wife, Vera, are accepting entries for both contests. Al once held the Mr. Florida title.

Jalopies To Race Saturday

HOLLYWOOD — A 15-lap jalopy race in which 25 cars are to helter-skelter after the checkered flag spices a Saturday night auto race program at the Hollywood Speedway.

An eight-event card of sportsman-modified amateur competition begins at 8:15.

Favored in the 30-lap pro feature is Al Ford of Miami, who drives a modified V8.

Also out to improve their point standings are Bobby Johns, Rod Perry, Freddie Sweikert, Herbie Tillman, Bill Ludwig, Al Gorham and others.

Wrestler Rocca To Take a Bow

Other matches send the Fabulous Moolah against Ella Waldek and Dick Steinborn and Ray Villmar against Eddie Graham and Steve Stanely in a tag team match. Action starts at 8:45.

Visitors To Compete On Links

HOLLYWOOD — Billed as the only golf tournament for Florida's winter visitors, the third annual Hollywood Apartment and Hotel Association Tourney begins today at Orange Brook.

Trophies and prizes will be awarded in the A, B and C flights of men's and women's divisions of the 54-hole medal play event.

Tournament director Roy Sample said Hollywood apartment and hotel guests may play without paying an entry fee. HAAHA members also are eligible.

Final rounds must be played before March 5. Trophies and prizes will be presented March 8, or will be mailed to home addresses.

By JIM BISHOP
Herald Columnist

HAVANA, Cuba—The sun came straight down on the little square like a hot lid. It stilled the deep green leaves of the umbrella trees and the palms drooped with their arms at their sides.

They shouted in the heat and ran bases and each side had seven outfielders. Behind them stood the old Iglesia de Cerra. This is the Church of the Country. The stone is gray with age. In the dark cool of the doorway, the little man watched and smiled.

He is Alfredo Monsignor Muller, auxiliary bishop of Havana, the man who was quoted as saying that the execution of the Batista officers "is necessary."

He is 58, almost blond, and speaks confusing English.

He is one of the happiest men I have met. What makes him happy is that he was born in this poor parish, and he has lived to see himself become the bishop of the area.

I introduced myself and he said "Oh, yes" as though he knew the name. This was a courtesy.

He led me up the alley in the sun to his small, simple study. He motioned me to one of the two rockers and asked his secretary to bring us a small Cuban coffee.

It was served in tiny cups with gold rims and it was thick and hot and sweet. He spoke between the kissing sips, the words coming slowly, selectively, with spaces for thinking.

"I deed not say," he said with little jabs of the index finger, "ees necessary. De church Catolica is not for — how you say?—capital crime."

"Capital, punishment," I said.

"No, no. Puneeshment is sometimes necessary. Like preeson. You know what ees preeson? Sometimes bad man must go away until he die. Preeson. No libertad. But to keel, to shoot de man, that is against Church Catolica. De reporters from United States, they mix up, they mix up my words" — he pointed to his chest—"you comprehend?"

Bishop Muller
. . . 'they mix up'

"Yes," I said. He kept smiling politely. "You think that life imprisonment is sometimes necessary, but not execution."

The smile died. "Empreesonment? What is thees word?"

"Never mind," I said. "I understand. Tell me, is the new government Communist?

The boyish grin came back. "You"—he pointed tentatively at my chest—"should know dat in Cooba Communism never een preponderance. Castro not Communist."

"Batista said he thought you were his friend. Was he a good man?"

The bishop thought about this. "I marry heem maybe twelf year ago. He not vary good man for Cooba. Is not very good Catolica too. Senora Batista, yes. Not him. Castro is better man as him. Mucho."

We finished the tiny coffees.

The old boards creaked underfoot. He led the way out. The boys saw him this time and stopped playing ball.

"De church," he said to me over the sea of brown and black faces, "always pardone. Never keel." He extended his hand. I took it. "When you home," he said softly, "you weel please to do de favor for me to say a prayer for me."

"Sure," I said. "Sure" . . .

Congress Space Group Visits 'Cape'

CAPE CANAVERAL — (UPI)— Chairman Overton Brooks (D., La.) and 14 other members of the House Space Committee arrived here Wednesday for a "field trip" to the missile test center after hearings on the state of the nation's missile program.

Brooks, who presented the House bill to create the Air Force Missile Test Center 10 years ago, said he and his group are "interested in seeing the facilities — the launching pads, and other things."

Brooks reiterated his conviction that "we are behind Russia in missile development and we are very anxious to catch up." He said that "anything we can do to speed up this program, we want to do."

Brooks said that after two weeks of hearings in Washington on the nation's missile progress, "we are summing it up by making this field trip."

'Critical' School Pix? Nix!

Lensman Told: Shoot New Ones

More Palm Beach News On 18A, 6B, 1C, 11C

WEST PALM BEACH — The County School Board Wednesday refused to allow a Miami television camerman to take pictures of a Boynton Beach school that has been criticized as a fire hazard.

School Supt. Howell Watkins said it has always been a policy to prohibit pictures of a critical nature.

"To allow pictures to be taken of the Boynton Beach Elementary School would only be making a mountain out of a molehill," Board Member Harold A. Turner said.

"There's no doubt about it, Turner said, "this school is in pretty bad shape. But, there's also some politics involved."

City officials complained to the board last week about the unsafe condition of the school's east building and asked that it be repaired or condemned.

Most of the criticism centered around the lack of a phone or fire warning system, an accumulation of clothes and burlap bags inside the main entrance and the general disrepair of the building.

Watkins informed the board, "We have taken care of most of these things and are working on the rest."

He said he would ask that the ancient building get a general overahuling this summer.

After hearing Watkins' report, the board decided to write to Television Station WTVJ outlining its fire prevention program, giving reasons for not allowing the pictures and to invite the station to take pictures of "any of our new school projects."

The board also:

APPROVED final plans for a $104,160, eight room addition to the North Palm Beach Village Elementary School.

OKAYED preliminary plans for the addition to two classrooms and a science room at Lake Shore High School Belle Glade, costing $43,000, and revised preliminary plans for the addition of six rooms costing $84,660 to the Jupiter School.

CHANGED its mind about selling two lots near the Canal Point school after receiving written objection from parents, and awarded a contract for a cafeteria for the school.

ASKED Architect Ed Wortman to expedite work on the Riviera Beach High School gym so it may be finished in time to be used for several basketball games this season.

Tremor Hits In Arizona

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. — (AP)— A jolt shook the Flagstaff area Wednesday morning, about 15 hours after a similar tremor rocked the Texas Panhandle and southeastern New Mexico.

Homes in all sections of the northern Arizona community bucked and swayed. Dishes rattled in the cupboards.

The Texas tremor, accompanied by two distinct blasts, shook an area from 100 miles northeast of Amarillo to Roswell, N.M., 200 miles southwest. Flagstaff is about 750 miles west of the Texas Panhandle.

Witnesses Clam Up on Juke Boxes

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senate racket probers ran into a barrage of Fifth Amendment pleas Wednesday in questioning alleged underworld figures about their tieups with the coin machine business.

The non-talking witnesses were John Vitale of St. Louis, Frank Zito of Springfield, Ill., Mike Genovese of Gibsonia, Pa., and Joseph Salardino of Denver, Colo.

The committee is attempting to show that hoodlums have muscled into the lucrative jukebox-coin machine industry, often in connivance with corrupt union officials.

The four witnesses, who said they might incriminate themselves if they answered questions, were described by Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy as racketeers with long criminal records.

A fifth witness, Raymond Patriarca, Providence, R.I., rattled off answers to all questions. He acknowledged being a partner in a cigaret vending machine business in Providence.

Zito refused to tell anything about his dealing with two labor unionists, Joseph Glimco of Teamsters Local 555 in Chicago, and Fred Tom Smith, also known as Juke Box Smitty, of Chicago Local 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Kennedy produced documents which, he said, showed that Glimco and Smith had financial interests in a juke box-coin machine firm known as the Automatic Phonograph Machine Co. of Illinois.

Mr. Nixon, Find My Boy Friend . . .

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. —(AP)— Like so many of those summer friendships, this one seemed to have fizzled. The boy didn't write — until, that is, the girl located him by writing to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The principals, each 12, are Lynne Smith, Trenton, N.J., and Cort Kloke, 12, eighth-grader at South Pasadena Junior High.

Cort let it be known that he knew the vice president.

His mother, Mrs. Eloise Kloke, was on duty in Washington with the President's Committee on Government Contracts, of which Nixon is chairman.

Instead of returning to the capital at summer's end, Cort came here. His mother had been appointed West Coast regional director of the contracts committee.

Recently the vice president received this note:

"Mr. Nixon: I am a person who believes in getting right to the point. First of all I have a boy friend I met at day camp. His name is Cort Kloke (you know him). He didn't write to me when he had promised to.

"Could you send me the address of Mrs. Kloke's section where she works?

"Sincerely,
Miss Lynne Smith
413 Saxican Dr.
Trenton, N.J."

The vice president's staff forwarded the note to Mrs. Kloke here. Marilyn Matthews of the staff wrote, "I thought you'd know better than I how to handle it."

Mrs. Kloke says she decided Cort must have elaborated on the one-handshake meeting he had with her boss. She suggested Cort write to Lynne.

"Things kept getting in the way," he explained Wednesday between practice sessions with his basketball outside their home.

His letter to Lynne has not been disclosed. He got an air-mailed reply Tuesday. It included Lynne's photograph, inscribed:

"To Cort—with all my luck."

All but EAL In Terminal By Friday

All but one of Miami's major domestic and international airlines will be doing business Friday from the new 20th Street Terminal.

Three of the "Big Four"—Pan American, National and Delta — will be handling all their arrivals and departures from the new 26-million dollar International Terminal, along with a multitude of domestic and Latin American carriers.

Only Eastern Air Lines, which operates its own terminal on 36th St. and has no international flights from Miami, will be absent when the new building opens. Eastern has said its recent strike shutdown "set it back several weeks" and it will move "within about two weeks."

No Traces Found of 2 Trawlers

HALIFAX, N.S. — (UPI) — A Russian fishing vessel gave searchers shortlived hope Wednesday that they had found one of two trawlers that disappeared with 48 men aboard in the midst of the winter's worst weather in the iceberg-studded North Atlantic.

A U.S. Navy plane reported sighting an overturned trawler about 60 miles from the point where the Icelandic trawler Judi radioed an SOS last Saturday that it was threatened with capsizing by a top-heavy load of ice and towering seas.

The Coast Guard cutter Castle Rock veered immediately toward the position of the sighting and reported that the "overturned trawler" is a Russian fishing vessel and was not in trouble.

A Newfoundland fishing boat, The Blue Wave, with 17 men aboard, also was missing in the same general area of the North Atlantic, south of the spot where a Danish passenger-cargo ship hit an iceberg and disappeared with 95 persons aboard 12 days ago.

Two other vessels also reported trouble from the bitter cold, freezing spray and gale-force winds that churned up mountainous waves.

37½ Hour Week Is Main Issue

Company Cites Cooling-Off Law

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

The Transport Workers Union announced Wednesday some 7,000 employes of Pan American World Airways have authorized a systemwide strike "on or before" March 1, threatening Miami's tourist economy with a second major airline shutdown.

The union, however, did not say whether or when a strike would be called, and the airline held out hope of the possibility of a fact-finding board being appointed by President Eisenhower in a last-minute effort to reach agreement.

Pan American flies some 2,000 passengers a day in and out of Miami, and a shutdown of the huge airline would be a severe jolt to Greater Miami's tourist season economy, still recovering from a 38-day Eastern Air Lines strike in November and December.

A strike would put some 8,000 Pan American maintenance workers, ground service employes, stewards and stewardesses out of work—about 3,000 of them based in Miami and another 1,000 at the crucial Cape Canaveral Missile Test Center.

Pan American would not say whether it would close down operations all over its ocean-spanning system in the event of a TWU strike, but a union spokesman here said, "They would have to halt operations. They couldn't fly safely without us."

The airline, which has some 150 planes that fly routes over the Atlantic, Pacific and to Latin America, warned that any strike before March 1 would violate the 30-day cooling-off period provided by the Railway Labor Act.

The 30-day period began Jan. 31, when mediation between the TWU and PAA ended without a settlement over issues of a new contract. The old TWU contract with Pan American ended Dec. 1.

The union in Miami said, however, that if Pan American violates the "status quo" of working conditions and wages before the 30-day period is up, the union can disregard the cooling-off regulation.

The TWU announced in New York that some 7,000 maintenance workers and port stewards had voted four-to-one in favor of a strike. A mail vote among an additional 1,000 flight stewards and stewardesses has not been completed, the union said.

The union said about 90 per cent of eligible workers voted in 11 U.S. cities and at San Juan, Puerto Rico, Honolulu and Wake Island.

They rejected Pan American's offer of a 25-cent-an-hour wage hike over a two-year period, the union said, and voted to authorize the strike. The union negotiating committee recommended the action after collapse of mediation talks in New York.

Central issue in the dispute is the union's demand for a decrease in hours from 40 to 37½ a week, as well as a wage increase. The TWU said it wanted the reduction in working hours — so far not agreed to by the airline — to protect maintenance jobs threatened by the lower maintenance requirements of jet airliners.

The airline said its 40-hour week was "standard throughout the industry," and that its wage increase offer was "on a par with other airlines."

The union said, however, "it isn't enough."

If the union decides to call a strike, the only way to stall it beyond the 30-day cooling-off period would be for the President to appoint a fact-finding board, holding up a strike until the board can make a study and recommendations for a settlement.

A Miami TWU spokesman, however, said he considered this "highly unlikely."

How Tourists Look at Us After Last Year

We're Cheaper, More Courteous--and Warmer

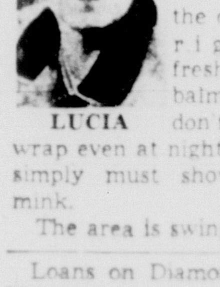
By LUCIA LEWIS

What's Florida like this year in the eyes of a tourist?

Lucia Lewis, travel editor of The Chicago Daily News, spent several days in the South Florida area and found things considerably different from last year. Here are her impressions.

There will be no more winter. Not here, anyway.

This is the kind of weather Florida brags about — and cried for last winter.



LUCIA

It's clear and sunny, temperatures range from 75 to 80, the breeze from the ocean is just right — refreshing but so balmy that you don't need a wrap even at night, unless you simply must show off that mink.

The area is swinging into its peak season now and prices will be at their highest in February and March. But Miami Beach is in a chastened mood and this looks like "Be Gentle to Tourists" year.

Last year's miserable weather which weaned many habitues to other areas, the airline strikes of early winter, new developments in other states and the Caribbean islands, all have taught that you can't shear a sheep too close.

In short, you get excellent value in room rates, with some attractive gimmicks added.

Many hotels are swinging to the "modified American" plan which includes breakfast and dinner with your rate. For two in a room, the really posh glitter places get $16 to $22 a day a person, varying with location of the room.

If you don't want to be a captive diner and eat in one place all the time, the rates range from around $14 to $18 or $20 per person. So it almost pays to take the modified American plan even if you eat elsewhere occasionally.

A third person in the room gets in for around $8 a day European or $10 a day with meals. Many places have half rates for children.

Now if you think this leaves you not knowing where your third meal is coming from you would be calorie-wise not to look for it. A reasonably late breakfast is a banquet in these parts that sees you cosily up to dinner time.

Get-acquainted cocktail parties, the elimination of irritating extras like charges for cushioned mats to keep you from getting corrugations while sunning on a chaise lounge, no required minimum at night clubs, lots of free entertainment, more parking lots at low rates so you don't pay a doorman every time, and many more courtesies generally make the Beach a lot more pleasant than it was in the dizzy and sky-high season of 1957.

The rates are not peanuts, of course, but there are hundreds of lower priced hotels, resorts and apartments all over town.

Swollen Rivers Pounding Levees in Indiana and Ohio

Associated Press Wirephoto

Main St. in Findlay, Ohio, Is Awash With Blanchard River Flood Waters

. . . it takes seven miles of driving to reach dry spot five blocks down street

Storm's Sweeping Eastward

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (UPI) — Flood crests spawned by the second mammoth storm of the winter pounded against levees and kept more than 3,000 persons from their homes in Indiana and Ohio Wednesday.

The storm, which hit the mid-continent with a deadly combination of floods, tornadoes, blizzards and ice, had moved off to the East, giving way to numbing cold.

It left a heavy legacy of death, including 22 persons who perished in a tornado which swept St. Louis as it slept Tuesday. There were also three weather-blamed deaths each in Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin, two each in Arizona and Indiana, and one each in Iowa, New York state and Pennsylvania, for a total of 41.

Temperatures slid to 26 degrees below zero at International Falls, Minn., and were well below zero from Montana and Wisconsin into Nebraska. Wisconsin dug out of a paralyzing 10-inch blizzard, while Chicago continued a week-long battle against ice which slicked the city's sidewalks and caused more than 1,600 injuries.

Thousands of school children continued to enjoy vacations through the frozen storm belt.

Major flood threats arose on Indiana's Wabash River and the swollen Sandusky River in Ohio. More flood dangers, however, built up in Michigan and Illinois.

In Indiana, the Wabash was at its highest point in 46 years. The crest moved slowly across north central Hoosierland, forcing 400 families — roughly 1,600 persons — to flee their homes.

At Logansport, Ind., the next city in the crest's path, five families were evacuated, portions of the business district were flooded, and Civil Defense crews worked around the clock to strengthen the levees.

Many Logansport homes were without heat and the city's schools were closed. Georgetown, eight miles downstream from Logansport, was cut off from the outside world. Sixty residents were evacuated.

The river also was going down at Wabash after hitting its greatest crest since 1913. Thirty-five persons were given overnight shelter, but the flood waters even invaded a Red Cross evacuation center set up in the city's armory.

The crest was not expected to hit West Terre Haute until Saturday, but residents already were asking Gov. Harold Handley for emergency shipments of 40,000 sandbags to repair a damaged levee. Throughout the state, evacuations were reported in at last 10 counties.

In Ohio, fighting its second major flood in less than a month, an ice jam was dynamited to take pressure off the beleaguered city of Fremont.

German Advisers At Talks?

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Western powers will recommend to Russia that East and West Germany be permitted to send advisers to the proposed Big Four conference on Berlin and Germany, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

The plan to give Communist East Germany and free West Germany advisory roles will be spelled out in an Allied note expected to be sent to Moscow next week. As of now, the note does not say whether the German representatives actually would sit at the conference table.

Diplomatic informants said the idea would be for the West Germans to advise the British, French and U.S. delegations. Similarly, the East Germans would be present for consultations with Russian officials.

The Allied proposal was disclosed as Mayor Willy Brandt of West Germany reported that President Eisenhower had assured him the U.S. "will defend the people of Free Berlin against any effort to destroy their freedom."

Brandt said after a meeting with the President that Eisenhower told him no Communist threat could push the U.S. out of Berlin or block it from carrying out its responsibilities to the people there.

The Allies will reject the Soviet call for a treaty that would isolate and neutralize Germany, perhaps putting the country under a U.N. protectorate. They contend this would only perpetuate division of Germany.

Instead, they will suggest a foreign ministers conference sometime this spring to discuss the Berlin problem within the framework of the overall issue of German unity and European security. It will be left to Russia to suggest a specific date for the meeting.

Kennedy Gets Applause

Co-ops Cool as Ike Slaps at Subsidies

By WILLIAM M. BLAIR

The New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower carried his "live within your means" fight into the camp of an enemy Wednesday.

He told the country's rural electric cooperatives their achievements could be torpedoed and the free enterprise system destroyed by continued reliance upon federal subsidies they and other groups now receive.

The President was followed to the same platform by a Democratic presidential hopeful, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. He said the administration lacked the leadership that developed the federal rural electrification program.

By contrast with the reception accorded Sen. Kennedy at the annual meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, the President got a cool one. However, nearly 8,000 persons heard the President, while only about 6,000 were there for Kennedy.

Eisenhower received four bursts of applause: One when he entered as the U.S. Marine Band played "Hail to the Chief," one when he was introduced and another as he finished.

He also won a light burst near the end of his 10-minute speech when he told the co-ops he liked to think their program, "which lighted the farm homes of America, will also help to illuminate the path to sound finance, good government and responsible leadership."

Kennedy was interrupted seven times by applause. He pledged Congress "would not go back on our word" in raising interest rates on federal loans to co-ops, the key issue between the administration and the Democrats controlling Congress.

Kennedy asserted that the administration had followed "one consistant theme: Slow down, hold back, stretch out.

"It is not a battle between the 'spenders' and the 'savers' — for REA is a form of saving — saving hours and lives on the farm, saving farms for our nation's needs, and saving and returning to the government every dollar it loans with interest."

Delegates to the meeting were expected to adopt today a resolution condemning the administration's proposal to raise interest rates charged by the REA and urge electric co-ops to get part of their financing from private sources.

The resolution asserts that the administration's proposals would "send the rural electric systems to Wall Street bankers." Another resolution calls for legislation to restore the independence of the REA administrator in the Department of Agriculture and free him from "veto" power by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson on big loans.

Bingo Bill Advances

DENVER — (AP) — The Colorado House of Representatives gave its final approval Wednesday to a bill legalizing bingo and raffles as a veteran legislator called for wide open gambling in the state.

The House action came by a 60-0 vote without debate.

The measure, which permits fraternal, charitable and religious institutions to conduct bingo and raffles, now goes to the Senate for approval. A constitutional amendment for bingo was ratified by Colorado voters Nov. 4.

Attorney Flies to Nye's Aid

A Chicago attorney flew through Miami Wednesday, bound for Cuba to plan the defense of Alan Robert Nye, a Coral Gables flier accused of conspiring to assassinate Fidel Castro.

While the lawyer, Joseph Sullivan, was en route to Havana where Nye is held, a top-ranking Cuban patriot leader said the former Navy pilot's ultimate punishment probably will amount to "being kicked out of Cuba."

Nye, according to the Castro government, has confessed a plot to kill the revolutionary leader for $100,000. Nye has denied the confession, but the rebels say they have tape recordings of the admission, and of his conversation with a U.S. embassy official who advised him to deny the confession and change his story.

Sullivan would not say whether he had been retained by Nye's mother. He said he will meet with government leaders and the prisoner and "decide then how long I will stay and what should be done."

Sullivan, who makes his home at Whiting, Ind., near Chicago, said he is a friend of Nye's mother, Mrs. Daniel Lynch, who sent a personal letter to Fidel Castro seeking mercy for her son.

The "reprieve" from earlier rebel declarations that Nye would be executed for his part in the conspiracy came from Commandante Ernest (Che) Guerva, who led the revolutionary forces in Las Villas province.

Since issuing a parade of conflicting stories and statements, Nye has refused to see newsmen. Guerva said Wednesday that no one will be permitted to see Nye before his trial, except his attorney, his family and officials of the U.S. embassy.

U.S. Loses Bridge Lead To Italians

NEW YORK — (AP) — Italy, defending champions in the 1959 World Contract Bridge Tournament, overwhelmed the American team Wednesday to win a smashing 41-to-7 international match point (I.M.P.) victory.

With the win, the Italians again took over the lead in the individual team play tournament. One I.M.P. equals an average of 100 regular points.

At the end of 84 hands in the 156 - hand championship tournament, Italy leads the U.S. by an I.M.P. score of 122 to 110.

At the start of paly Wednesday, the U.S. held a commanding lead over Italy with an I.M.P. score of 103 to 81.

The American team achieved this lead by two impressive victories — one over Italy, the other over Argentina, the Latin American Champions.

But Wednesday the Italians displayed the quality of bridge that brought them two previous world championships, and America's lead quickly disappeared.

This was the fifth day of play in the tournament. To win, a team must have outscored both its opponents at the end of the 156 hands.

Representing the U.S. is Sam Fry Jr., Harry Fishbein, Leonard Harmon and Lee Haze, all of New York; Sidney Lazard of New Orleans, and Ivar Stakgold, of Washington. Charles Solomon, of Philadelphia, is the non-playing American captain.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

EVERY DAY I learn something. Now I know why people give me a dirty sneering laugh when I say: "No, I can't get your traffic violation voided. It can't be done." Evidently they knew better.

BELL

For all at once we hear of 1,800 voided traffic tickets by Metro judges since they started work last March.

I was in Municipal Court Wednesday morning, listening to the craziest trial of the semester. A filling station operator thought a man stole a used tire. After about 30 minutes of wasted questioning the man admitted the tire wasn't worth anything anyway.

"It had a hole in it," he explained.

Asked Judge Francis Sobieski: "Would it have worked if copies of The Herald, which told about me fixing traffic tickets while I was in the hospital, were placed over the hole?"

'Twas an ambiguous attempt at sarcasm which nobody understood; and nobody laughed except a few court attaches who are duty-bound. But for the record, The Herald never used such a story, but did tell of Judge Sobieski's wife's traffic ticket being voided by a Metro judge.

★ ★ ★

Ticket Voiding

One Metro judge was quoted as saying he wishes he didn't have the power to void tickets. But County Attorney Darrey Davis says he hasn't, that "nobody has." But State Attorney Dick Gerstein says his office has such power.

Who's confuseder than whom?

Metro is asking how to get a void-proof law. It's simple, as they do it in City of Miami. The traffic officer must account to three departments for every ticket in his book. Once he writes it he cannot void it. Nor can the chief of police, the state attorney, or anybody else.

It must go through Municipal Court and a record made of its disposition. The chief can recommend that a trial be delayed, if a quick trial would be an obvious hardship. He can stand good for appearance bond. He can point out to the city attorney that a mistake has been made. And the attorney in turn can point out this error to the judge. But the judge's decision—and only his—is final.

I happen to be a critic of our state law which takes a man's license for three moving violations within a 12-month period. It should be easier on minor offenses, tougher on recklessness. But that doesn't excuse wholesale voiding. In fact, nothing does.

. . . Pahokee brothers were afflicted at birth

Victims of Muscular Distrophy

Crippled Boys Face Life Smiling

By VENA T. SCHRODER
Herald Correspondent

PAHOKEE — Dale Thomas, 11, and his brother Stevie, 9 and victims of muscular distrophy.

Dale doesn't walk any more and Stevie's legs are gradually becoming useless to him. These boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thomas, have been afflicted since birth. Mrs. Thomas said it runs in the male line of her family. Her brother was similarly afflicted.

Stevie still manages with the aid of braces to attend school. However, he switched from Pahokee Elementary School to Royal Palm School because normal boys his age were a bit too rough for him. Dale is taught by a home teacher who gives him instruction twice a week.

Dale can't play football, hike or hunt like most boys his age but he can push himself along on the floor or on the lawn with amazing dexterity. He loves nature and the outdoors and on pretty days he will spend the entire day in the yard exploring nature and day dreaming.

"I would like so much to ride a horse," he said wistfully. "But I guess I'll just study hard and enjoy the things I can do."

"I think I'll be a cowboy anyway," Stevie piped up.

"Sometimes the boys turn the living room floor into a wrestling ring," Mrs. Thomas said smiling. They are pretty evenly matched and they tumble and roll all over the place.

"We try to go to Sunday School and Church every Sunday," she added, "but it's a big job to get four children ready especially when one is just a baby and two are almost helpless," she said.

The Thomases have two daughters, Patricia, 13, and Sue, 3.

"The boys go fishing sometimes when friends come and take them," Mrs. Thomas said. "This is a real treat — Dale loves fishing. The school children come in sometimes and sing and play games, and the boys enjoy television."

The boys are taken into West Palm Beach to the Crippled Children's Clinic weekly and their mother gives them daily massages.

Mr. Thomas, a furniture salesman cannot afford many luxuries for his family. The walls of their homes are unceiled and the exterior is covered with tar paper, but there is a spirit of love and happiness even in affliction and financial difficulties.

Musicarnival Opens With 'The King and I'

By HELEN VAN HOY SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — Arena of the mammoth Musicarnival tent will be occupied for the next two weeks by the royal court of Siam. Musicarnival season opened Tuesday night with "The King and I" (Rodgers and Hammerstein.)

A benefit for the American Cancer Society, the opening brought out a large and fashionable crowd from Palm Beach.

The show is familiar and the lilting tunes fall pleasantly on the ear. Irene Manning as Anna, the English school teacher who went to Siam to teach the multitudinous brood of the King, is lovely to look at and delightful to hear. In her 1860s costumes she might have stepped directly from the pages of Godey's Ladies Book.

William Chapman is masterful as the semi-barbaric King with shaved head and unbuttoned shirt. His wild dance with Anna is a show stopper.

First nighters also liked tiny Asaka Tomita, a japanese girl who came to the U.S. two years ago with her American husband and now lives in Miami. Member of the Miami Opera Guild, she has been studying at the University of Miami. She has a background of radio, TV, and opera work in Tokyo. A coloratura soprano, she uses her voice to excellent advantage.

Tom Batten and Joy Clements are other singing principals as the star-crossed lovers, and you will also like Larry Brown, who doubles as the ship captain and the visiting English dignitary. Bobby Tee, a local boy, is good as the crown prince.

The cast is large and the big arena is alive with dancing girls, members of the court, and the royal children, show stoppers and heart stealers — in all a colorful crew.

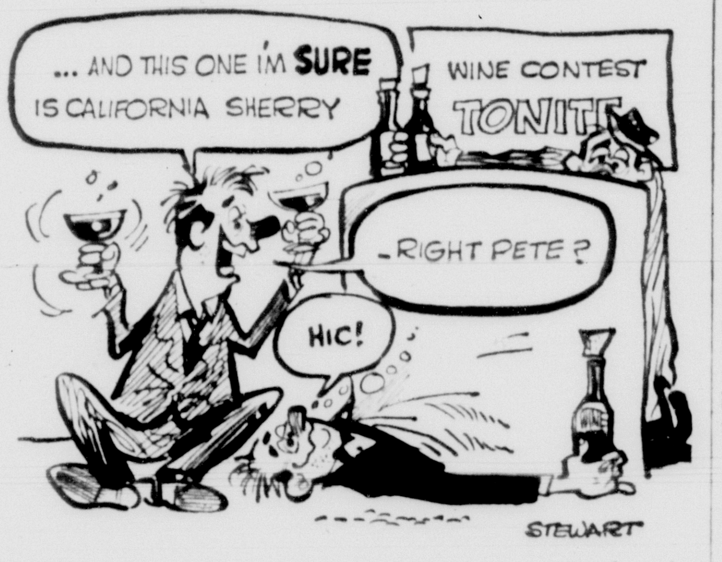
At the beginning of Tuesday's night's show Mrs. Raymond Emery, benefit chairman, thanked her aides prettily. At the close of the show as the cars were leaving, there was John L. Price, young Musicarnival operator, standing in the spotlight made by the headlights, waving each car goodby and saying, "Thank you for coming."

How's Your Wine Palate? Tasters Barely Pass Test

By BILL BECK
Delray Bureau Chief



BOCA RATON — You don't have to be a professional to enjoy this wine tasting game.

You get four glasses of wine at a time. In each case, two contain the most expensive foreign brands of that variety—say champagne — and the other two are premium California vintages.

Your job is to determine whether they are foreign or domestic. Prize for a perfect score is a case of champagne.

It's harder than you think. A group of 35 corporation executives and reporters indulged in this sport at the Boca Raton hotel Tuesday.

The certified results released Wednesday showed that the group scored an unimpressive 52 per cent on the test.

That's only slightly better than the law of averages would allow if the testers had simply guessed and not even bothered with the tasting.

When it came to listing the wines in order of individual preference, a California wine was first in the chablis, claret and dry sherry divisions and ran second to piper Heidsieck in the champagne category.

Using a scoring system with four points for first, three for second and so on, the foreign wines edged out their California counterparts 595-588.

This was good news for the host, the Wine Institute of San Francisco — and was about what was expected.

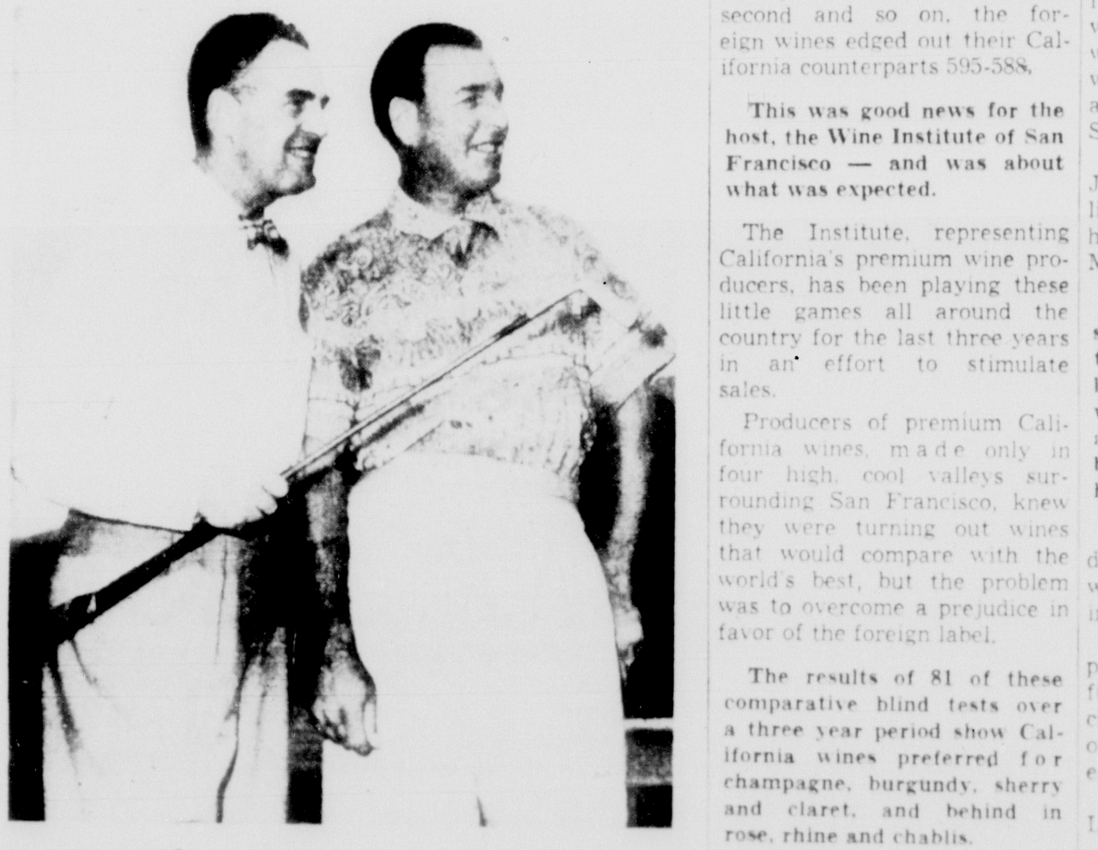
The Institute, representing California's premium wine producers, has been playing these little games all around the country for the last three years in an effort to stimulate sales.

Producers of premium California wines, made only in four high, cool valleys surrounding San Francisco, knew they were turning out wines that would compare with the world's best, but the problem was to overcome a prejudice in favor of the foreign label.

The results of 81 of these comparative blind tests over a three year period show California wines preferred for champagne, burgundy, sherry and claret, and behind in rose, rhine and chablis.

In all cases the scores were fairly close.

The Institute's theory is that if you can't tell the difference, why pay more. The average price of the California wines served here was $3.04, compared with $6.43 for the foreign vintages.



THAT'S NOT A BATON in the hand of Bandleader Fred Waring (left), it's a putter, and he's using it in the National Amateur Mixed Foursomes Championship Tournament at the Tequesta Country Club, Jupiter. Golf Pro Harry Obitz accompanies him. Waring and his Pennsylvanians will perform Feb. 22 at the Heart Ball at the Fontainebleau Hotel, Miami Beach, and in "Hi Fi Holiday" at the Royal Poinciana Playhouse Feb. 23-28.

Cuba Buying Dogs?

7 Bloodhounds Reputedly Sold

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Is the new Cuban government of Fidel Castro buying up bloodhounds like the Batista regime that preceded it?

There were indications here Wednesday night that it might be doing that very thing.

There was an unconfirmed report here that the Castro government had ordered all the bloodhounds available in the kennels of Emry Pickren, a local private detective and former deputy sheriff, and that it had flown in a plane to take the private eye and the dogs to Cuba.

The way the report had it, Pickren made available seven of his prized bloodhounds at a price of $1,000 each — leaving "Old Holmes," a bloodhound with a statewide reputation, to hold down the kennels here.

It was not possible to confirm the bloodhound transaction late Wednesday night but at Pickren's home it was said he was in Cuba and the date of his return was not definite.

It would have been no task for the new Cuban government to find out that Pickren had bloodhounds. About a year and a half ago the Batista regime purchased dogs from Pickren and flew in a special plane to take them to Cuba.

Pickren's Old Holmes won a widespread reputation in Florida by running down fleeing criminals when other dogs couldn't do it.

Nobody had anything definite on why the Castro regime wanted the bloodhounds, but one wag suggested maybe it was to track down the hounds Pickren sold to the Batista regime.

4-Year-Old Suffocates Under Bed

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — A four-year-old Greenacres boy was suffocated Wednesday when he crawled under a bed with a plastic bag over his face and the bed fell on him, the Sheriff's Department reported.

The child was identified as James Pepper Williams, who lived at 545 Walker Dr. with his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams.

Deputy Sheriff Gene Ellis said the child had been sent to bed about 2 p.m. An hour later when the boy's mother went to the bedroom she found a corner of the bed which had been propped up with a block had fallen, Ellis said.

The body of the boy was under the bed, with a plastic bag with which he had been playing, covering his face.

The Lake Worth Fire Department rescue squad made a futile attempt to revive the child. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Palm Beach General Hospital in Lake Worth.

The body was taken to the Lake Worth Funeral Home.

Watermelon Thief Faces Assault Trial

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — A 21-year-old suburban West Gate resident who was accused of joining with two others in the theft of 400 watermelons was convicted Wednesday on two charges of grand larceny.

Criminal Court Judge Hugh Macmillan immediately remanded Leamon Johnson, the defendant, to the custody of Sheriff John F. Kirk.

Johnson has been held in jail on a charge of rape, on which he faces trial Feb. 24 in Cirucit Court.

The state charged in the Criminal Court case that Johnson joined with Robert Specht and Thomas Brooker in the theft of 400 watermelons from Seth Plank and W. H. Hooker last June.

The other defendants were sentenced earlier.

Johnson can get up to 10 years in prison on the larceny counts and faces a possible death sentence in the upcoming rape trial.

Children Win Damage Suits

WEST PALM BEACH — Three suits seeking a total of $7,500 damages and involving injuries to three children in a Lake Park auto accident were settled in Circuit Court Wednesday.

The suits were filed for Darlene, Debra and Edward R. Henkel, through their father, Walter R. Henkle, and named Bert Ernest Askunas as defendant.

They charged a car driven by Askunas struck another car in which the children were riding, injuring all three.

Under an order of compromise signed by Judge R. O. Morrow, a settlement of $1,400 was made in the case of Darlene and Debra and $250 as regards Edward. The defendant in each instance denied any liability.

'Box' Sued For $100,000

WEST PALM BEACH — Carl and Mary Gustason, doing business as the "Box of Chicken," in the Delray Beach area, were named defendants Wednesday in a $100,000 Circuit Court damage action.

The suit was filed by Tylene Tompf, of Delray Beach, who charged on last June 24 the defendants had negligently permitted a rubber mat containing 519 large holes to be placed outside the door of their establishment.

National Defense Week

PB Public Is Invited To Inspect Navy Sub

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH—The U.S.S. Chivo, a guppy type, snorkel equipped submarine from Key West, will be at the port here Friday through Sunday in observance of National Defense Week.

The announcement was made by the reserve Officers Association, which is sponsoring the observance.

Crew of the craft, which was commissioned in Jan. 1945, and was assigned to Pearl Harbor at the end of World War II, consists of 80 officers and en listed men with Lt. Cmdr. W. D. Dietrichson in command.

The public will be permitted to visit aboard the Chivo from 1 to 4 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Details of the sub's quartering here are being handled by Lt. Cmdr. Arthur E. Boule Jr., commanding officer of the Navy and Marine Reserve Training Center in Riviera Beach.

Commander Boule said open house will be held at the Reserve Center Monday from 8:15 to 9 p.m., and coffee and doughnuts will be served. He pointed out 350 officers and enlisted men, Navy reservists, Seabees and Marine Corps personnel in Palm Beach Co. use the training center weekly.

Confession Read Over Objections

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — A 12-man jury will begin deliberating the fate of accused killer Kenneth Thiery about noon today.

THIERY

The 17-year-old Norwood, Ohio, youth did not take the stand in his own defense Wednesday, and his transcribed confession that he beat a screaming Negro porter to death because "I wanted to make him be quiet" was admitted in open court over strong defense objections.

Thiery is charged with the first degree murder of John K. Brown Jr., 27, during an attempted robbery at the Guaranty Bldg. last October.

The state rested its case at 3:30 Wednesday after putting eight more witnesses on the stand. The first was Thiery's young wife, Joyce, 15, who linked the alleged murder weapon — a billy-type club — with her husband.

The defense rested after a 10-minute recess without putting Thiery or any witnesses on the stand.

The trial reconvenes in Circuit Court at 9:30 a.m. today before Judge Culver Smith with summations to the jury by State Attorney Phil O'Connell and Defense Attorney Garlon Davis.

O'Connell said he will ask the death penalty for the accused killer.

The defense lost five major legal skirmishes during Wednesday's proceedings. The moves were directed at the testimony of Thiery's wife, the admission of the confession, and the submission of the alleged murder weapon and burglary tools as evidence.

Earlier, Thiery's wife testified the couple came to West Palm Beach in August. She identified the gun used in the attempted robbery, also the billy club, and her husband's bloodstained clothes.

The 15-year-old also told the court her husband came home "shaking" the night of the beating and attempted robbery.

The confession was read to the jury after the lunch recess. in it, the youth said he went to the Guaranty Bldg. to try to rob the offices for money to leave town. He said he knew the porter had the keys to the offices.

Thiery brought the club "for protection" and "a revolver to scare the guy," according to the written statement.

In his statement he said he came across Brown cleaning a second floor elevator. The billy club was hidden under his coat and the gun in his hand.

He said he was "waving the gun around to scare him" when Brown "started to scream and I hit him . . . he was still yelling . . . I hit him until he fell."

The state used Deputy Sheriff George Moore and Paul Bidez of the FBI's Washington laboratory to show the blood on Thiery's clothes and the billy club matched Brown's type A.

Teague's Death Is a Reminder Drivers Take Calculated Risks

IT WAS a saddening surprise Wednesday—news that Marshal Teague had been killed while driving his Sumar Special at Daytona Beach's International Epeedway.

I just had returned from Daytona, where Tuesday I not only watched Teague attempt to set a speed record, but also sped around the track with Bill France, the man who built it. That experience now seems inconsequential, even if it was scary at the time.

We chatted with Teague briefly after he halted his record bids for the day. Observers had noted something was wrong with one of the tires of his intriguing racing machine.

Prior to this, I told France I had become an auto race fan. It seemed the only way of making Bill concentrate exclusively on his driving while we were hurtling around the Speedway.

It was an unsolicited indoctrination in speed, as France took me on a tour of the modern $3,000,000 racing plant which is certain to become a popular tourist lure for Florida. The International Speedway with its 31-degree banked two-and-a-half-mile track will become the same thing to auto racing that Hialeah is to the turf sport.

FRANCE

"We'll try out the track in a few minutes," Bill confided as he drove his convertible along the outside rim road, circling above the track. It is used for safety and maintenance and workmen were getting in last licks on the fence as Teague warmed up his Sumar Special, a speedway type car with an Offenhauser motor.

Urging us back into his car, France explained, "If Teague blows something we ain't gonna be here." He drove on around, warning the workmen to take cover behind trucks when Teague warmed up and put his foot down in an all-out effort.

Teague, who Monday had attained a speed of 171 m.p.h., fell short in this test. On one lap his speed was announced as 170.068 m.p.h., and his car sounded like an angry hornet.

When Teague went to the pits for a checkup, France, who handles a car as accurately as Cary Middlecoff does a putter, drove down off the rim road.

This Is It, Fellows

FOR A moment, I hoped Bill would forget the promised ride around the track. Instead he wheeled through a tunnel, leading under the track to the infield, and eased onto the track.

On the straightaway everything seemed fine, although the wind whipped into the rear seat where Grayson and I clutched each other for comfort. Then we hit the first curve and the striped asphalt seemed to be coming into the car.

France turned halfway round and inquired, "How is it, fellows—you aren't scared?"

In weak voices we replied, "No," and then we hit the straightaway again and as a repeat trip around the curve loomed, France popped a question at me. "Are you a race fan now?"

"Yeah," I replied, hoping this would make Bill face the track and keep both hands on the wheel.

When we came off the track to let Teague make another bid for a record, I asked Clive Hansard, the front seat passenger, how fast we'd been going.

"When I quit looking the speedometer needle had hit 135," he replied.

And, believe it or not, the wind suction in the rear seat was so great that it pulled an envelope from my side coat pocket onto the front seat.

Why France Built Speedway

PHYSICAL CONSTRUCTION of the track on 448 acres, near the Volusia Kennel club, was started last April. France exhausted seven years of planning and six different financing plans in getting ready.

"How'd you get the idea for such a track?" Bill was asked.

"I tired of having people tell me they would become race fans if there was some way of seeing the racing cars all of the time," Bill, whose own stock car driving dates back into the 30s, said.

"You can see every minute of the action here from the five grandstands and bleachers, with seats for 30,000. You have a good view from the infield, where you sit in your own car."

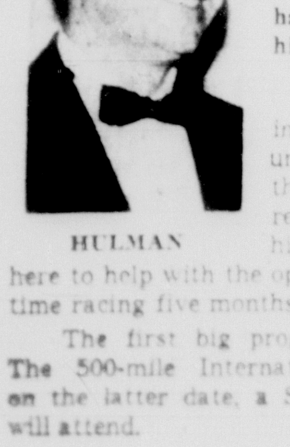
Bill's Friends Co-operated

IN DEVOTING a lifetime to driving cars and later promoting races, France made hundreds of friends. Their co-operation helped make his dream come true. The city leased him the land which includes a mile-long lake and a sports car course. Sixteen hundred persons bought 430,000 shares of stock at a buck each.



HULMAN

A favor rendered Clint Murchison, Texas multi-millionaire was repaid many fold. France approached Murchison about borrowing some machinery. Clint learned Bill was having trouble financially and helped him to get a $500,000 loan.

Don Smith of Pompano gambled in moving the dirt, a tremendous undertaking. Tony Hulman, owner of the Indianapolis Speedway, instead of regarding this track as a rival sent his superintendent, Clarence Cagle, here to help with the opening. Now Daytona will have big-time racing five months of the year.

The first big program is upcoming Feb. 20-21-22. The 500-mile International Sweepstakes will be held on the latter date, a Sunday, and France thinks 60,000 will attend.

Brown Floors Busso While Retaining Title

HOUSTON — (AP) — A ninth round knockdown helped Champion Joe Brown retain his lightweight crown Wednesday night against a game Johnny Busso. All three officials gave Brown the victory on a wide margin.

Brown landed a strong left to the stomach late in the first round but the challenger replied with a right to the head. Both earlier had missed frequently at long range while shooting for big punches. Busso opened by landing two lefts and a right to Brown's body but without damage.

Busso opened the second round by landing two sharp left jabs to the champion's nose and Brown came back with two good hooks to the chin. A strong right by Brown glanced off Busso's jaw. Both fighters kept pressing hard.

Busso landed a right to the stomach before both fighters landed frequently while slugging away in the center of the ring midway in the third.

Brown followed with a terrific right to the chin and the champion smiled broadly. Brown followed with several good punches and Busso's nose began to bleed.

Brown danced away from three Busso punches before the challenger struck with a right to the stomach in the fourth. A booming straight right by the champion jarred Busso but he kept his balance.

Two left jabs in the seventh struck Busso on the nose but Busso came through with a long right. Brown then dodged another, nearly fell, but recovered quickly for a strong right to the head. Hard rights then were exchanged and Brown landed two lefts to the chin.

Busso opened the eighth by forcing Brown near the ropes where a series of body blows were exchanged. Brown kept working on the challenger's nose with his left and then landed solidly on the same spot with a good short right. Busso came back with a left hook and a straight right.

A straight right by Brown knocked Busso off his feet and almost through the ropes in the ninth but the challenger brushed the referee aside and charged back.

Orange Bowl: Huh?

Sooners: Satisfy Us 'In Writing'

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

University of Oklahoma officials Wednesday threw the second punch in their cross-country "newspaper fight" with the Orange Bowl Committee.

Again, the startled OB Committeemen were caught with their guards down.

The Oklahoma regents demanded — in a statement to newspapermen — assurance "in writing" of a satisfactory solution to problems which they say have come up in the Sooners' recent appearances in Orange Bowl games.

Otherwise, proclaimed the regents, Oklahoma's football team will not play in the Orange Bowl following the 1960 season or any other time.

Stephen A. Lynch Jr., new Orange Bowl president, in Boston Wednesday, replied:

"When either the University of Oklahoma or the Big Eight Conference gets in touch with us by the proper method . . . in writing . . . then the Orange Bowl committee will consider their protest on its merits.

"I was unaware," added Lynch, "that any problems existed before the last game (Jan. 1 of this year)."

A white-hot controversy was touched off in the last game when ground-level spectators complained Oklahoma players blocked their view by refusing to sit in the dugout.

Guarantee of a solution of the problems, OU's Regents ruled, most be signed by the Orange Bowl Coroton, a representative of the Big Eight Conference and Sooner Athletic Director Bud Wilkenson.

Fumed Ernie Seiler, OB general manager and vice president:

"We haven't received the first word or line of complaint from Oklahoma or the conference.

"We don't know what they're protesting.

"If Oklahoma has a gripe why don't they let us know about it directly?"

In a Jan. 15 recommendation to his Regents, Dr. George L. Gross, Oklahoma's president, said, "I want to go on record to this board (regents) that our team will not go back to Miami until such time as there is a clear understanding about our behavior on the sidelines."

Dr. Cross added the Orange Bowl had no business selling tickets to spectators at ground level. He also criticized what he termed inflated prices charged Oklahoma fans.

Although the Regents refused Wednesday to list any specific "problem," an OU spokesman reiterated that Oklahoma fans were complaining of high prices and poor hospitality.

Said John R. Willoughby, general manager of Ivanhoe Hotel in swank Bal Harbour where the Sooner players and official family was quartered: "They certainly could have charged them only $16.45 per person daily. And that included three meals from their no complaints with us. We own menu, and tips."

Under the present three-year contract with the Big Eight, Oklahoma would be eligible to return just once more — on Jan. 1, 1961.

The conference has a rule that no member may appear in a post-season game two consecutive years. Thus the second-place team represents the conference when one team wins two years in a row.

Because the recent game was the "silver anniversary" contest, the rule was waived at the request of Orange Bowl officials this year when Oklahoma met and defeated Syracuse, 21-6. The previous New Year's Day, the Sooners had defeated Duke, 48-21.

Actually, the Sooners have no negotiating powers — the OB's contract is with the Big Eight.

Wednesday, one Orange Bowl committeeman said flatly:

"It seems fairly evident Oklahoma doesn't want to come back under any circumstances . . . and is looking for every excuse to get sentiment on its side."

. . . But the Players Had Wonderful Time

Here's how University of Oklahoma players feel about Miami and their Orange Bowl appearances:

* * *

DICK CORBITT, guard—"The only thing I disliked was the attitude of the fans who didn't like the way we knelt along the sidelines. But they didn't realize we do that every game we play, including the Orange Bowl last year. On the whole, the people were pretty nice to us."

* * *

* * *

MICKEY JOHNSON, center—"The people who ran the bowl treated us fine . . . but I didn't like the gripes some fans put up about us not sitting on the benches in the dugout. That's tradition with us."

* * *

JOE RECTOR, Oklahoma—"It's a thrill just to be able to go. It's sure a lot different from how we live in Oklahoma."

Idun Romps at Hialeah, But First Landing Bows

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

Idun won the $26,975 Columbiana Wednesday, but First Landing, in his Hialeah and 1959 debut, finished second in the Coral Reef purse.

A throng of 19,599 watched Octopus beat First Landing by a good two and three quarter lengths in the afternoon's sixth race. First Landing, juvenile champion of 1958 and winner of 10 of 11 starts, was handled by Jockey Eddie Arcaro.

Idun, champion filly of 1957 and 1958, also was making her '59 debut. But Bill Hartack was luckier than Arcaro as Idun raced the seven-furlong Columbiana in 1:23.1.

Woodlawn, handled by Sammy Boulmetis, finished second with Happy Princess third. Mare's Beau was fourth in the 15-horse field.

Florida-bred Betty Linn took fifth, and then came Wonder Star, Big Effort, Mlle. Dianne, Dandy Blitzen, Indian Maid, Edna Allen, Miss J. G., A Glitter, Paris Picnic and Ramadel.

Jockey Tommy Root, aboard Mare's Beau, claimed foul against Happy Princess, alleging his horse was carried out in the stretch turn. The stewards, after viewing the film, disallowed the claim.

Idun paid $5.30, $3.90 and $3.70, Woodlawn was $19.40 and $9.80, and Happy Princess returned $4.70.

First Landing was not extended in his seven-furlong trek and Arcaro worked him a mile in 1:37.3.

Octopus, hero of the recent Hibiscus, never tarried a step. Octopus raced the distance in 1:22.3, fastest seven-eighths time of the meeting and only three fifths of a second off the track record.

Octopus, well-handled by Steve Brooks, paid $8.10, $2.50 and $2.20. First Landing returned $2.30 and $2.10. Moony was $2.40 to show.

Brooks said, "I figured if we were going to beat First Landing, this was the day. I had a hunch he would not run his first race out."

"We had no excuses in the running," said Arcaro. "I thought the horse ran as well as could be expected after his long layoff. This race should do him a lot of good."

Kelly Petillo

Ex-500 Ace Eyes Pardon

INDIANAPOLIS —(UPI)— Criminal Court Judge Richard Salb said Wednesday he will ask Gov. Harold Handley to grant an executive pardon to Kelly Petillo, 1935 winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race who has spent most of the last 10 years in prison for slashing his former secretary with a knife.

Salb said he will recommend freedom and "I hope to see you out by race day May 30."

Petillo, now 55, was sentenced to 1 to 10 years in 1949. He was paroled in 1956 with orders to get out of Indiana and stay out. He was arrested as a parole violator when he showed up at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in 1957.

Jockey White Hurt

AAU Boxing Listed

BOSTON — (AP) — The National AAU boxing championship for 1959 will be held in Toledo.
